The Commission, by order dated September 8, 1952, having granted said application, as amended, except that the issuance and sale of the preferred stock and the bonds were not to be consummated until the results of competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, were made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order or orders issued, for which purpose jurisdiction was reserved; and the Commission, by order dated September 16, 1952, having released jurisdiction with respect to the issuance and sale of the preferred stock; and

SAN FRANCISCO STOCK EXCHANGE

RECORD DISPOSAL PLAN

The Securities and Exchange Commission today announced that it had declared effective a revised Plan filed on August 18, 1952, by the San Francisco Stock Exchange pursuant to § 240.17a-6 (Rule X-17A-6) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, for the disposal of all applications, reports and documents filed with that Exchange prior to January 1, 1947, pursuant to sections 12, 13, 14 and 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, or any rule or regulation promulgated by the Commission pursuant to any of such sections. The Plan also provides for the regular disposition of similar material which has been on file with the Exchange more than five years, as soon as practicable after January 1st of each year.

The purpose of the Plan is to alleviate the record storage problem of the Exchange and to facilitate the availability of material filed with the Exchange within five years. Information contained in the material to be disposed of by the Exchange is on file with the Commission where it will continue to be available.

The original Plan of this Exchange, which was declared effective on June 25, 1951, and discussed in Securities Exchange Act Release No. 4621, did not make provision for the disposal of any material filed pursuant to section 14 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and limited the material which could be disposed of under section 12 of that act. Under the revised Plan, the Exchange will be permitted to dispose of all applications, reports and documents filed prior to January 1, 1947, pursuant to sections 12, 13, 14 and 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, or the rules and regulations thereunder.

The Text of the Commission's action follows:

The Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, particularly sections 17 (a), 23 (a) and 24 (b) thereof and Rule X-17A-6 thereunder, having due regard for the public interest and for the protection of investors, and deeming it necessary in the public interest, for the protection of investors and for the exercise of the functions vested in it, does hereby declare effective the revised Plan filed on August 18, 1952 by the San Francisco Stock Exchange pursuant to Rule X-17A-6, on condition that if at any time it appears to the Commission necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors so to do, the Commission may suspend or terminate the effectiveness of the said revised Plan by sending at least 10 days' written notice to the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

The Commission finds that Rule X-17A-6 and this action taken thereunder have the effect of granting exemption and relieving restriction, and that this action may be and is hereby declared to be effective September 19, 1952.

By the Commission.

VOLUME 17 NUMBER 191

Washington, Tuesday, September 30, 1952

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

IMPOSING IMPORT FEES ON SHELLED AND PREPARED ALMONDS

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

1. WHEREAS, pursuant to section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as added by section 31 of the act of August 24, 1935, 49 Stat. 773, reenacted by section 1 of the act of June 3, 1937, 50 Stat. 246, and amended by section 3 of the act of July 3, 1948, 62 Stat. 1248, and section 3 of the act of June 28, 1950, 64 Stat. 261 (7 U. S. C. 624), I caused the United States Tariff Commission to make an investigation to determine whether certain tree nuts are being or are practically certain to be imported into the United States under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, certain programs or operations undertaken by the Department of Agriculture with respect to such nuts, or to reduce substantially the amount of any product processed in the United States from such nuts with respect to which any such program or operation is being undertaken; and

2. WHEREAS the Commission instituted such investigation on April 13, 1950, and on November 24, 1950 reported to me that there was at that time no basis for any action under the said section 22 with respect to imports of such nuts, but that it was continuing the investigation; and

3. WHEREAS, after further investigation, including a public hearing, the Commission, on November 28, 1951, reported to me regarding the need for action under the said section 22 in order to protect the programs of the United States Department of Agriculture for the crop year 1951–52 with respect to almonds, pecans, filberts, and walnuts, in which report the Commission found that the imposition of a specified fee on imports of shelled almonds and of blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds (not including almond paste) entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption during the period October 1, 1951 to September 30, 1952, inclusive, in excess of a specified aggregate quantity, was necessary to prevent imports of such almonds from rendering ineffective or materially interfering with the program undertaken by the Department of Agriculture with respect to almonds; and

4. WHEREAS, in accordance with the Commission's recommendation in the said report of November 28, 1951, on December 10, 1951 I issued a proclamation pursuant to the said section 22 imposing a fee on imports of shelled almonds and on blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption during the period October 1, 1951 to September 30, 1952, inclusive, in excess of a certain aggregate quantity, as specified in the Commission's recommendation; and

5. WHEREAS the Commission continued the said investigation for the purpose of reporting to the President regarding any later action which might be found to be necessary to carry out the purposes of the said section 22; and

6. WHEREAS, after further investigation, including a hearing, for the purpose of determining what action, if any, should be taken under the said section 22 with respect to imports of certain tree nuts, to prevent imports of such nuts from entering during the 1952–53 crop year under such conditions and in such quantities as to render or tend to render ineffective, or materially interfere with, programs undertaken by the Department of Agriculture with respect to almonds, filberts, walnuts, or pecans, or to reduce substantially the amount of any product processed in the United States from domestic almonds, filberts, walnuts, or pecans, the Commission reported to me on September 25, 1952 its findings resulting from such investigation; and

7. WHEREAS, on the basis of such further investigation and report of the Commission, I find that shelled almonds, blanched, roasted, or otherwise prepared or preserved almonds (not including almond paste) are practically certain to be imported into the United States during the period October 1, 1952 to September 30, 1953, both dates inclusive, under such conditions and in such quan-

(b) For foreign material. Three-tenths of 1 percent (0.30%);

(c) For particles and dust. 1 percent; and,

(d) For other defects. 5 percent, including not more than three-fifths of this amount, or 3 percent, for serious damage.

Select Sheller Run, U. S. Standard Sheller Run, U. S. No. 1 Whole and Broken may be designated as: "U. S. No. 1 Mixed;" "U. S. Select Sheller Run Mixed;" "U. S. Standard Sheller Run Mixed;" or "U. S. No. 1 Whole and Broken Mixed," respectively; but no lot of any of these grades may include more than 1 percent of bitter almonds mixed with sweet almonds.

(c) Unclassified. Unclassified consists of shelled almonds which have not been classified in accordance with any of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(d) Size requirements. The size may be specified in terms of range in count of whole almond kernels per ounce or in terms of minimum, or minimum and maximum diameter. When a range in count is specified, the whole kernels shall be fairly uniform in size, and the average count per ounce shall be within the range specified. Doubles and broken kernels shall not be used in determining counts. Permissible count ranges per ounce are shown below but a narrower or wider range may be specified: Provided, That the kernels are fairly uniform in size.

16 to 18, inclusive.
18 to 20, inclusive.
20 to 22, inclusive.
22 to 24, inclusive.
23 to 25, inclusive.
24 to 26, inclusive.
26 to 28, inclusive.
27 to 30, inclusive.
30 to 34, inclusive.
36 to 40, inclusive.
40 to 50, inclusive.
50 and smaller.

(e) Tolerances for size. When a range is specified as, for example, "18/20," no tolerance for counts above or below the range shall be allowed.

(1) When the minimum, or minimum and maximum diameters are specified, a total tolerance of not more than 10 percent, by weight, may fail to meet the specified size requirements: Provided, That not more than one-half of this amount, or 5 percent, may be below the minimum size specified.

(f) Application of tolerances. The tolerances for the grades are to be applied to the entire lot, and a composite sample shall be taken for determining the grade. However, any container or group of containers in which the almonds are found to be materially inferior to those in the majority of the containers shall be considered a separate lot.

(g) Definitions. (1) "Similar varietal characteristics" means that the kernels are similar in shape and appearance. For example, long types shall not be mixed with short types, or broad types mixed with narrow types, and bitter almonds shall not be mixed with sweet almonds. Color of the kernels shall not be considered, since there is often a marked difference in color of kernels of the same variety.

(2) "Whole" means that there is less than one-eighth of the kernel chipped off or missing, and that the general contour of the kernel is not materially affected by the missing part.

(3) "Clean" means that the kernel is practically free from dirt and other foreign substance.

(4) "Well dried" means that the kernel is firm and brittle, and not pliable or leathery.

(5) "Decay" means that the kernel is putrid or decomposed.

(6) "Rancidity" means that the kernel is noticeably rancid to the taste.

(7) "Insect injury" means that the insect, web, or frass is present or there is visible evidence of insect injury.

(8) "Foreign material" means pieces of shell, hulls or other foreign matter which will not pass through a round opening 3/64 of an inch in diameter.

(9) "Doubles" means kernels that developed in shells containing two kernels. One side of a double kernel is flat or concave.

(10) "Split or broken kernels" means seven-eighths or less of complete whole kernels but which will not pass through a round opening 9/64 of an inch in diameter.

(11) "Particles and dust" means fragments of almond kernels or other material which will pass through a round opening 3/64 of an inch in diameter.

(12) "Injury" means any defect which more than slightly affects the appearance of the individual almond, or the general appearance of the lot. The following shall be considered as injury:

(i) Chipped and scratched kernels, when the general appearance of the lot is more than slightly affected, or when the affected area on an individual kernel aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter.

(13) "Damage" means any defect which materially affects the appearance of the individual kernel, or the general appearance of the lot, or the edible or shipping quality of the almonds. Any one of the following defects or combination thereof, the seriousness of which exceeds the maximum allowed for any one defect shall be considered as damage:

(i) Chipped and scratched kernels, when the general appearance of the lot is materially affected, or when the affected area on an individual kernel aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-quarter inch in diameter;

(ii) Mold, when affecting the kernel, except when white or grayish in color and easily rubbed off with the fingers;

(iii) Gum, when a film of shiny, resinous appearing substance covers more than one-eighth of the surface of the kernel;

(iv) Shriveling, when the kernel is excessively thin for its size, or when materially withered, shrunken, leathery, tough or partially developed, provided that partially developed kernels are not considered damaged if more than three-fourths of the pellicle is filled with meat; and,

(v) Brown spot on the kernel, either single or multiple, when the affected area aggregates more than the equivalent of a circle one-eighth inch in diameter.

(14) "Serious damage" means any defect which makes a kernel or piece of kernel unsuitable for human consumption, and includes decay, rancidity, insect injury and damage by mold.

(15) "Diameter" means the greatest dimension of the kernel, or piece of kernel at right angles to the longitudinal axis. Diameter shall be determined by passing the kernel, or piece of kernel through a round opening.

(16) "Fairly uniform in size" means that, in a representative sample, the weight of 10 percent, by count, of the largest whole kernels shall not exceed 1.70 times the weight of 10 percent, by count, of the smallest whole kernels.

(h) Effective time. The United States Standards for Shelled Almonds contained in this section and which supersede the United States Standards for Shelled Almonds effective August 23, 1951, shall become effective thirty (30) days after the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Since they do not require substantial or extensive preparation by the persons affected, it is impractical and unnecessary to delay the effective date of these amended rules and regulations. Therefore, pursuant to authority contained in said Order No. 34, the following amendments to the rules and regulations are hereby issued, to be effective on and after the first day of October 1952.

1. Delete § 934.102 and renumber §§ 934.103, 934.104, and 934.105 as §§ 934.102, 934.103, and 934.104. Change the references to these sections in § 934.101 accordingly.

2. In the new § 934.102 add to the list of milk products "unsweetened condensed milk (except concentrated milk)".

3. Add the following paragraph (now § 934.102 (d)) to the new § 934.103:

(c) All fluid milk products disposed of to and used by a livestock farmer for animal feed, except milk suitable for human consumption as milk, shall be classified as Class II milk.

4. Amend the table of standard weights in § 934.141 to provide the following standard weights for flavored milk and flavored skim milk minus the quantity of syrup or other flavoring material, to be used in the absence of specific net weights:

PART 943—MILK IN THE NORTH TEXAS MARKETING AREA

ORDER AMENDING ORDER, AS AMENDED, REGULATING HANDLING

Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order, and of the previously issued amendment thereto and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order, as amended, effective not later than October 1, 1952. Any delay beyond October 1, 1952, in the effective date of this order amending the order, as amended, will seriously disrupt the orderly marketing of milk for the North Texas marketing area. The changes effected by this order amending the order, as amended, do not require of persons affected, substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found that good cause exists for making this order effective October 1, 1952 (see sec. 4 (c) Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing or shipping milk covered by this order amending the order, as amended, which is marketed within the North Texas marketing area) of more than 50 percent of the milk which is marketed within the said marketing area, refused or failed to sign the proposed marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the said marketing area, and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said proposed marketing agreement tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the said marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order amending the order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who, during the determined representative period (August 1952), were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the said marketing area.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered that on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the North Texas marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. Delete § 943.51 (a) (3) and substitute therefor the following:

(3) For each of the months of October 1952 through February 1953 the amount to be added to the basic formula price shall be $2.66 in lieu of $2.20, and for the month of March 1953 such amount shall be $2.43 in lieu of $2.20.

(Sec. 5, 49 Stat. 753, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup. 608c)

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of September 1952, to be effective on and after the 1st day of October 1952.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

1. Delete § 996.102 and renumber §§ 996.103, 996.104, and 996.105 as §§ 996.102, 996.103, and 996.104. Change the references to these sections in § 996.101 accordingly.

2. In the new § 996.102 add to the list of milk products "unsweetened condensed milk (except concentrated milk)".

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Findings and determinations. In accordance with the provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of September 9, 1952 (17 F. R. 8459) notice that the market administrator under Order No. 99, regulating the handling of milk in the Worcester, Massachusetts, marketing area (7 CFR Part 999), was considering the issuance of proposed amendments to the rules and regulations (7 CFR 999.101 et seq.) issued by him to effectuate the terms and provisions of that order.

The aforesaid notice specified that all persons who desired to submit data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed amendments to the rules and regulations should submit them in writing to the market administrator in time to be received not later than 5:15 p. m., September 22, 1952. It is hereby found and determined that the amendments to the rules and regulations herein set forth are necessary to effectuate the terms and provisions of Order No. 99, as amended, and as further amended September 1, 1952. Since they do not require substantial or extensive preparation by the persons affected, it is impractical and unnecessary to delay the effective date of these amended rules and regulations. Therefore, pursuant to authority contained in said Order No. 99, the following amendments to the rules and regulations are hereby issued, to be effective on and after the first day of October 1952.

1. Delete § 999.102 and renumber §§ 999.103, 999.104, and 999.105 as §§ 999.102, 999.103, and 999.104. Change the references to these sections in § 999.101 accordingly.

[B. A. I. Order 309, Amdt. 13]

CHANGES IN AREAS QUARANTINED BECAUSE OF VESICULAR EXANTHEMA

Pursuant to the authority conferred by sections 1 and 3 of the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended (21 U. S. C. 123 and 125), sections 1 and 2 of the act of February 2, 1903, as amended (21 U. S. C. 111 and 120), and section 7 of the act of May 29, 1884, as amended (21 U. S. C. 117), § 76.10 in Part 76 of Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, containing a notice of the existence in certain areas of the swine disease known as vesicular exanthema and establishing a quarantine because of such disease, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 76.10 Notice and quarantine. (a) Notice is hereby given that the contagious, infectious and communicable disease of swine known as vesicular exanthema exists in the following areas:

The State of California;
Talbot County in Georgia;
Cook and St. Clair Counties and Oswego Township in Kendall County in Illinois;
City of Baltimore in Maryland;
Burlington, Gloucester, Hudson, Morris, and Ocean Counties in New Jersey;
New York County and Clarkstown Township in Rockland County, in New York;
Oklahoma County in Oklahoma;
Townships 1 and 2 North, Range 1 East of Willamette Meridian, in Multnomah County in Oregon.

(b) The Secretary of Agriculture, having determined that swine in the States named in paragraph (a) of this section are affected with the contagious, infectious and communicable disease known as vesicular exanthema and that it is necessary to quarantine the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and the following additional areas in such States, in order to prevent the spread of said disease from such States, hereby quarantines the areas specified in paragraph (a) of this section and in addition Bergen, Essex, Hunterdon, and Union Counties in New Jersey.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective upon issuance. This amendment includes within the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist, and in which a quarantine has been established.

Talbot County in Georgia;
St. Clair County and Oswego Township in Kendall County in Illinois;
City of Baltimore, in Maryland.

Hereafter, all of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 8322) apply with respect to shipments of swine and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from those localities.

This amendment excludes from the areas in which vesicular exanthema has been found to exist, and in which a quarantine has been established.

Muscogee County in Georgia;
Sedgwick County in Kansas;
Kaw Township in Jackson County in Missouri;
Ashland, Benson, Florence, Loveland, May, McHugh, Moorhead, Omaha, Balston, and Union Townships in Douglas County; Platte Township in Dodge County; and Alda Township in Hall County in Nebraska.

Hereafter, none of the restrictions of the quarantine and regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, Subpart B, as amended (17 F. R. 7070, 8322) apply with respect to shipments of swine, and carcasses, parts and offal of swine from these localities.

The foregoing amendment in part relieves restrictions presently imposed and must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to such restrictions. In part the amendment imposes further restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of vesicular exanthema, a communicable disease of swine, and to this extent it must be made effective immediately to accomplish its purpose in the public interest. Accordingly, under section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003) it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the foregoing amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

ADJUSTED CEILING PRICES; ELIMINATION OF WOOD AND WOOD PRODUCTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 7 to Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, GCPR, permits retail coal dealers to increase their ceiling prices by various amounts as set forth hereafter. The increases result from the findings in a nationwide sample survey made of the retail coal industry under the OPS industry earnings standard and from a study of recent wage increases granted to drivers and helpers. The results of the survey show the earnings on net worth of the industry are less than 85 percent of the average of the three best years in the period 1946–49. The industry, therefore, qualifies for an adjustment of ceiling prices under the provisions of the industry earnings standard.

The earnings survey disclosed that those dealers who primarily sell anthracite and are located along the Atlantic Seaboard have suffered a greater reduction in their earnings on net worth than those whose sales are predominantly bituminous coals, and accordingly, a greater increase is allowed the anthracite dealers. As there are many dealers who handle both types of fuel irrespective of their location, OPS has determined that the increase should be permitted on the type of solid fuel sold rather than the geographical location of the seller. The adjustment figure includes an allowance for recent wage increases. Dealers' payrolls have shown substantial increases, largely as a result of driver and helper pay raises and recognition has been given to these wage increases in the ceiling price adjustment in order to reflect present conditions.

In determining the increase to be allowed on solid fuels other than anthracite and bituminous, i. e., briquets, coke, packaged fuels, etc., which account for about 4 percent of total sales, it was found that a ceiling price increase midway between the two major fuels reflecting the average increase granted under the industry earnings standard would be justified under the standard and fair to the dealers and consumers. In the case of all solid fuels the increases allowed are approximately two percent of the selling prices.

This amendment permits all sellers of solid fuels at retail to increase their ceiling prices by the following amounts on all grades and sizes:

	Cents per net ton
Anthracite	35
Bituminous coal	25
All other solid fuels	30

The regulation is further amended by deleting from coverage wood and wood products used for fuel as the prices of these products are now provided for in SR 87, GCPR.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, is further amended as follows:

1. Section 2 (c) is amended by deleting from the coverage of this supplementary regulation "and (8) wood and wood products used for fuel," so that section 2 (c) will read as follows:

(c) "Solid fuel" or "solid fuels" means: (1) Bituminous coal, including all bituminous, semi-bituminous, sub-bituminous and cannel coal; (2) lignite coal; (3) Virginia anthracite; (4) Pennsylvania anthracite; (5) all coke, including beehive, oven, low temperature, semi-distilled coal and petroleum coke; (6) all briquets and packaged fuel made from coke or coal; (7) sea coal used for foundry facings.

2. Section 3 of Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, is further amended by adding a new paragraph (h) as follows:

(h) Each retail coal dealer may add to the ceiling price previously established under this supplementary regulation; (1) For each size and kind of anthracite, an amount of 35 cents per net ton; (2) For each size and kind of bituminous coal, an amount of 25 cents per net ton; (3) For all other solid fuels, an amount of 30 cents per net ton.

Effective date. This amendment to SR 2, Revision 1, to the GCPR, shall become effective October 1, 1952.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplemental Regulation 63, Amdt. 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 33]

GCPR, SR–63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

AMPR 33—SOUTHERN NEW JERSEY MILK MARKETING AREAS

MODIFICATION OF CEILING PRICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 738) this Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 33, pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 9559), and pursuant to Delegation of Authority No. 41 (16 F. R. 12679), is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation 33, effective September 4, 1952, established ceiling prices for sales of milk products for fluid consumption by processors and distributors in New Jersey Milk Marketing Areas I and II. These ceilings were established at the GCPR base period level, to which was added a uniform adjustment of one-fourth ($0.0025) cent per sales point. As stated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying AMPR 33, this adjustment was determined by examining prices in effect during the period January 1, 1950 through June 30, 1950, and adding increases and deducting decreases in costs of (1) direct labor, including distribution labor and commission, (2) cans, cases and containers and (3) raw milk and other agricultural commodities or products thereof.

On September 16, 1952, the Director of the Office of Milk Industry for the State of New Jersey, in Order No. 52–2, authorized an increase in the producer's price of Class I fluid milk from $5.87 per hundredweight to $6.07 per hundredweight, to become effective October 1, 1952. Accordingly, a petition was filed with the Regional Director of Office of Price Stabilization by a representative number of milk processors and distributors in the areas covered by AMPR 33 requesting further adjustment of prices based upon this new price to the producer.

The Regional Director has carefully examined the effect of this increase upon the price structure of processors and distributors in the light of the criteria established by Supplementary Regulation 63. Upon the basis of such examination it has been determined that an additional adjustment of three-fourths cent per sales point, effective October 1, 1952, is required to meet such criteria. This amendment therefore modifies the adjustment authorized by AMPR 33 from one-fourth cent to one cent per sales point.

In formulating this amendment the Regional Director has consulted with industry representatives to the extent practicable and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable statutory standards.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

AMPR 33 is amended in the following respects:

1. The first sentence of section 4 (a) is amended by changing the words "one-fourth ($0.0025) cent" to read "one ($0.01) cent."

2. Section 4 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Reporting of ceiling prices. You shall report the ceiling prices resulting from the application of the uniform adjustment specified in section 4 (a) to the Regional Office of the Office of Price Stabilization, Commercial Trust Building, Philadelphia 2, Pennsylvania, by registered mail, return receipt requested, within 5 days after the effective date of this regulation. Such report must also be filed within 5 days after the affective date of any amendment hereto which modifies the adjustment authorized by section 4 (a). The report shall be filed on OPS Public Form 124, which may be obtained from the above mentioned office. Unless the required report is filed within the period specified by this paragraph you shall not thereafter sell at the ceiling price computed pursuant to this section, until such report has been received by the Office of Price Stabilization as shown by your return receipt.

3. Section 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 7. Producer prices upon which ceiling prices are based. The producer price for Class I, Grade B Milk, 3.5 percent butterfat, upon which ceiling prices established under this regulation are based is $6.07 per hundredweight.

Effective date. This Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 33, pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective October 1, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Regional Director, Region III.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

SUSPENSION OF PROCESSING OF MUTUALLY EXCLUSIVE APPLICATIONS

In the matter of amendment of footnote 10, § 1.371 of Part I of the Commission's rules and regulations (Temporary Processing Procedure for Television Broadcast Applications).

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of September 1952:

The Commission having under consideration various means to expedite the processing of television broadcast applications in order to bring television service as rapidly as possible to areas presently without such service and to bring additional service to areas presently without a choice of television services; and

It appearing that under the existing provisions of its Temporary Processing Procedure for Television Broadcast Applications the Commission has, since July 1, 1952, designated for hearing 65 applications for new television broadcast stations and has sent pre-hearing letters to 168 applicants, and

It further appearing that the number of applications heretofore designated for hearing when added to the number of applications which have been the subject of pre-hearing letters and which are presently awaiting designation for hearing total a number sufficient to occupy the time and consideration of the Commission's hearing examiners and other staff members engaged in hearing work for many months to come; and

It further appearing that further consideration of mutually exclusive applications which cannot be granted without a hearing would, during the coming months, serve no purpose other than to create an additional backlog of hearing cases which cannot be set for hearing for some months to come; that during the coming months the Commission could spend its time more purposefully by considering non-competitive applications for television stations the grants of which, if the applicants are duly qualified, will result in the extension of television service throughout the country; and that the modification of the above Temporary Processing Procedure for a limited period of time to effectuate said purpose would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity; and

It further appearing that, while the amendment proposed herein is procedural in nature and that while the public notice and the 30 day effectuation requirements of sections 4 (a) and 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act are not applicable herein, the Commission is desirous of affording interested parties reasonable notice of said modification of its existing procedure;

It is ordered, That, effective October 15, 1952, footnote 10 of § 1.371 is amended by adding after paragraph (k) the following paragraph (l) reading as follows:

(l) Commencing October 15, 1952, and until further order of the Commission, processing of mutually exclusive applications in Group A-2 and in Group B is suspended.

PART 1—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

SUSPENSION OF OPERATOR LICENSES

In the matter of delegation of authority to the Staff to issue orders suspending radio operator licenses and to designate suspension matters for hearing.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 17th day of September 1952:

The Commission having under consideration the means of expediting its enforcement functions and procedures;

It appearing, that under section 303 (m) (1) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the Commission has authority to suspend the license of any operator upon proof sufficient to satisfy the Commission that the licensee has committed any of the acts listed in that section; and

It further appearing, that under section 303 (m) (2) of the act a suspension order becomes effective fifteen (15) days after the date of its receipt by the licensee unless a hearing is requested in which event the suspension order is held in abeyance pending the conclusion of such hearing; and

It further appearing, that the issuance of suspension orders of operator licenses pursuant to section 303 (m) (1) of the act and the designation of suspension matters for hearing, if one is requested pursuant to section 303 (m) (2), are functions which should be delegated to the staff in the interest of expediting enforcement procedures in connection with the administration of the rules of the Commission governing amateur and commercial operators; and

It further appearing, that the rules governing amateur operators and those governing commercial operators are administered by the Commission's Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau and Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau, respectively;

It is ordered, Under the authority contained in section 5 (d) (1) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that effective immediately (1) authority is delegated to the Chief, Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau to issue, in accordance with section 303 (m) (1) of the act, orders suspending the licenses of amateur operators and, if a hearing thereon is requested pursuant to section 303 (m) (2) of the act, to designate such matters for hearings; and (2) authority is delegated to the Chief, Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau to issue, in accordance with section 303 (m) (1) of the act, orders suspending the licenses of commercial operators and, if a hearing thereon is requested pursuant to section 303 (m) (2) of the act, to designate such matters for hearing.

It is further ordered, Pursuant to authority granted by sections 4 (i), 303 (r) and 303 (m) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, that, effective immediately, § 1.404 of the Commission's rules is amended as follows:

§ 1.404 Suspension of operator licenses. Whenever it appears that grounds exist for suspension of an operator license, as provided in section 303 (m) of the act, the Chief of the Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau, with respect to amateur operator licenses, or the Chief of the Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau, with respect to commercial operator licenses, pursuant to authority delegated by the Commission, issue an order suspending the operator license. No order of suspension of any operator's license shall take effect until 15 days' notice in writing thereof, stating the cause for the proposed suspension, has been given to the operator licensee, who may make written application to the Commission at any time within said 15 days for a hearing upon such order. The notice to the operator licensee shall not be effective until actually received by him, and from that time he shall have 15 days in which to mail the said application. In the event that physical conditions prevent mailing of the application before the expiration of the 15-day period, the application shall then be mailed as soon as possible thereafter, accompanied by a satisfactory explanation of the delay. Upon receipt by the Commission of such application for hearing, said order of suspension shall be designated for hearing by the Chief, Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau or the Chief, Field Engineering and Monitoring Bureau, as the case may be, pursuant to authority delegated by the Commission, and said order of suspension shall be held in abeyance until the conclusion of the hearing, which shall be conducted under such rules as the Commission shall deem appropriate. Upon the conclusion of said hearing, the Commission may affirm, modify, or revoke said order of suspension. If the license is ordered suspended, the operator shall send his operator license to the office of the Commission in Washington, D. C., on or before the effective date of the order, or, if the effective date has passed at the time notice is received, the license shall be sent to the Commission forthwith.

PART 3—RADIO BROADCAST SERVICES

TELEVISION BROADCAST STATIONS; TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations and Engineering Standards, Docket No. 9175; utilization of frequencies in the band 470 to 890 Mcs. for television broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the following pleadings: "Petition to Correct Sixth Report and Order, for Modification of Order to Show Cause and Consent Thereto on Behalf of Memphis Publishing Company" filed April 30, 1952, by Memphis Publishing Company; "Opposition to 'Petition to Correct Sixth Report and Order, for Modification of Order to Show Cause and Consent Thereto on Behalf of Memphis Publishing Company'" filed May 6, 1952, by WREC Broadcasting Service; "Statement in Support of WMCT 'Petition to Correct Sixth Report, etc.'" filed May 8, 1952 by Capital Broadcasting Company; "Correction and Supplement to 'Opposition to Petition to Correct Sixth Report and Order, for Modification of Order to Show Cause and Consent Thereto on Behalf of Memphis Publishing Company'" filed May 8, 1952 by WREC Broadcasting Service; "Motion to Strike" filed May 8, 1952 by Memphis Publishing Company; "Answer to Motion to Strike" filed May 12, 1952, by WREC Broadcasting Service; "Petition of Memphis Publishing Company for Rehearing" filed June 20, 1952 by Memphis Publishing Company; and "Answer to 'Petition of Memphis Publishing Company for Rehearing'", filed June 25, 1952 by WREC Broadcasting Service.

2. Memphis Publishing Company is the licensee of Television Broadcast Station WMCT, Memphis, Tennessee, presently operating on Channel 4. In the "Third Notice of Further Proposed Rule Making" (FCC 51-244), issued in these proceedings, the Commission proposed to assign to Memphis VHF Channels 5, 10, and 13, and UHF Channels 42 and 48, with Channel 10 reserved for noncommercial educational use. Since Channel 4 was no longer proposed to be assigned to this community, Memphis Publishing Company was ordered to show cause why its license should not be modified to specify operation of WMCT on Channel 5 in lieu of Channel 4. No opposition to the Show Cause Order was filed by Memphis Publishing Company. On the basis of the record in these proceedings, the Commission in its "Sixth Report and Order", adopted April 11, 1952, and released April 14, 1952 (FCC 52-294) assigned VHF Channels 3, 5, 10, and 13 and UHF Channels 42 and 48 to Memphis, with Channel 10 reserved for noncommercial educational use. With respect to the WMCT Show Cause Order, the Commission concluded that "An appropriate authorization will be issued to Memphis Publishing Company to specify operation of WMCT on Channel 5."

3. On April 16, 1952, WREC Broadcasting Service filed an amended application for a permit to construct a television broadcast station on Channel 3 in Memphis (BPCT-452).

4. In the Third Notice the Commission proposed to assign to Nashville, Tennessee, VHF Channels 2, 4, and 8 and UHF Channels 30 and 36. A joint counterproposal by WLAC Broadcasting Station and WSIX Broadcasting Service, and a counterproposal by Capital Broadcasting Company, were filed requesting the additional assignment of VHF Channel 5 to Nashville. The Commission in its Sixth Report found that "the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville is in accordance with our standards" and granted the counterproposals requesting this assignment. The Commission therefore in its Sixth Report assigned Channel 5 to Nashville in addition to the assignments as proposed in the Third Notice.

5. In its "Petition to Correct the Sixth Report and Order for Modification of Order to Show Cause and Consent Thereto on Behalf of Memphis Publishing Company" filed April 30, 1952, Memphis Publishing Company requests that the Order to Show Cause directed to petitioner be amended so as to specify operation of Station WMCT on Channel 3 rather than Channel 5, and that the Sixth Report and Order be corrected accordingly. In support of its request petitioner alleges that "The Commission's conclusion to finalize the allocation of VHF Channel 5 to Nashville, Tennessee was based upon the finding of fact that 'the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville meets the Commission's standards for minimum separation of co-channel and adjacent channel stations'". It is asserted by petitioner that this conclusion is in error for the reason that the distance from the authorized transmitter site of WMCT to Nashville is only 187.5 miles; whereas the minimum co-channel separation for Zone II assignments is 190 miles. Petitioner submits that Station WMCT can be shifted to VHF Channel 3, which has also been assigned to Memphis, and that the operation of WMCT on Channel 3 would meet all minimum spacing requirements.

6. In its "Opposition" to the foregoing petition filed May 6, 1952, WREC Broadcasting Service requests that the said petition be dismissed or denied. WREC Broadcasting Service asserts that the petition "Is an attempt to circumvent the prohibition against petitioner filing an application for a different television channel than the one assigned to petitioner as a result of the Show Cause Order or the Third Notice of Further Proposed Rule Making." WREC contends that since the Commission in the Third Notice proposed a co-channel transmitter-to-transmitter separation of only 170 miles and a city-to-city separation of only 180 miles, the operation of a television station at Nashville on Channel 5 would be "greater than the separation proposed to be adopted pursuant to the aforesaid Third Notice and which petitioner accepted." It is further contended that the assignment of Channel 3 to Memphis was made by the Commission upon the request and showing of WREC and that petitioner who was on notice of that request "* * * contributed absolutely nothing in that connection." WREC Broadcasting Service urges that petitioner "* * * acquiesced in and consented and agreed to the Commission's order directing that the licensee of Station WMCT show cause why it should not be changed from VHF Channel 4 to VHF Channel 5" and asserts that the operation as proposed by it would be more efficient than the operation on Channel 3 by WMCT at its present site. It is contended that the Commission's television rules adopted in the Sixth Report and Order do not require the removal of station WMCT from its present site and that the only requirement which would be applicable to petitioner as a result of the separation of 187.5 miles would be that if in the future petitioner should voluntarily move its station it would then be required to move it to a site which would meet the required minimum separation of 190 miles.

7. In its "Statement in Support of WMCT's 'Petition to Correct Sixth Report, etc.'", Capital Broadcasting Company states that it together with other parties participated in the rule making proceedings and proposed therein the assignment of VHF Channel 5 to Nashville on the assumption that the required separation between stations on Channel 5 in this area would be 180 miles; that the Commission's findings that the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville "is in accordance with out standards" is in error in view of the required 190 miles minimum co-channel assignment separation in Zone II; but that the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville would be proper under the standards if Channel 3 were assigned to WMCT in lieu of Channel 5.

8. In its "Correction of and Supplement to Opposition to Petition to Correct Sixth Report, etc." filed May 8, 1952, WREC Broadcasting Service states that the assertion in its "Opposition, etc." that Memphis Publishing Company 'consented in writing to the change in the television channel assignment of television station WMCT from Channel 4 to Channel 5" was in error. However, WREC contends that the failure of Memphis Publishing Company to file an answer or opposition to the Show Cause Order was "* * * for all legal purposes its acquiescence in the Commission's proposal * * " WREC argues further that if the Commission determines that it should correct its Sixth Report, it could shift the reservation of Channel 10 for noncommercial educational use to Channel 5 and could thus make Channel 10 available for the operation of WMCT. It is further contended that the provision of footnote 4 of § 3.610 of the rules[1] " * * specifically and categorically provides that even if the existing transmitting plant of Station WMCT is less than 190 miles from Nashville, Tennessee, it may continue to operate and that notwithstanding the minimum requirement of 190 miles set out in § 3.610 (a) promulgated to govern separations between television stations operating on VHF channels in Zone II."

9. In its "Motion to Strike" filed May 8, 1952, Memphis Publishing Company asserts that the Opposition filed by WREC Broadcasting Service is "so replete with name-calling and with so many vituperative allegations without support of statements of fact that it should be stricken as sham and scandalous." Memphis Publishing Company argues also that if WMCT is ordered to shift its operation from Channel 4 to Channel 5, the Rules require that Channel 5 be deleted from Nashville, while a shift in WMCT's channel assignment from 4 to 3 would preserve the assignment of Channel 5 in both Memphis and Nashville.

10. In its petition "For Rehearing" filed June 20, 1952, Memphis Publishing Company requests that "unless in the meantime, the Commission shall have granted the relief requested in the petition filed April 30, 1952, petitioner asserts that it is entitled as a matter of law to a hearing upon any proposal of the Commission whereby the license of station WMCT would be arbitrarily modified," and, that "In the event, therefore, the relief requested in the pending petition filed April 30, 1952, is not granted, petitioner requests a hearing upon the modification of its license pursuant to the provisions of section 312 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934."

11. In its "Answer to Petition of Memphis Publishing Company for Rehearing" filed June 25, 1952, WREC Broadcasting Service asserts that the said petition by Memphis Publishing Company is defective in that petitioner has not alleged that it would be injured, or that its interests would be adversely affected, if station WMCT should be operated on Channel 5, and also that the time within which a petition for rehearing may be filed has expired. Finally, WREC urges that footnote 10, paragraph (7) (k) of § 1.371 of the Commission's rules specifically provides that "* * * those applicants who are so ordered to show cause why they should not operate their television stations on another channel will not be permitted to apply for a different channel, or, more specifically, that provision states that such applications will not be accepted."

12. In summary, the foregoing pleadings consist of (1) a request by Memphis Publishing Company, and the supporting petition of Capital Broadcasting Company, that the Commission correct the Sixth Report and Order and modify the Show Cause Order issued to Memphis Publishing Company so as to specify operation of WMCT on Channel 3 in lieu of Channel 5; (2) the alternative request of Memphis Publishing Company for rehearing upon the modification of its license pursuant to the provisions of Section 312 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934; and (3) the Opposition of WREC Broadcasting Service to the foregoing request.[2]

13. The foregoing pleadings make it apparent that our action in granting the counterproposals of the Nashville parties seeking the additional assignment of Channel 5 in Nashville was based on an erroneous understanding of the facts. We stated in the Sixth Report in granting the above counterproposals that "the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville is in accordance with our standards" (par. 749). The Memphis Publishing Company's petition points out that our statement clearly was incorrect since the distance between Nashville and the WMCT transmitter site in Memphis is only 187.5 miles, and is thus below the 190 mile minimum separation established for co-channel assignments in Zone II where both cities are situated. Although the distance between Nashville and the City of Memphis meets this minimum, we were unaware, in acting on the above counterproposals, that the separation between Nashville and the WMCT site did not meet it. The Sixth Report makes clear "where a transmitter is in existence by reason of a Commission authorization, that transmitter site is obviously the appropriate reference point." Thus in all our mileage computations expressed in the Sixth Report where an existing station was involved, the transmitter site was used as a reference point.

14. WREC Broadcasting Service argues, however, that operations of WMCT on Channel 5 would not be in violation of our separations requirements despite the assignment of Channel 5 at Nashville at a distance below 190 miles. In reaching this result WREC places reliance on footnote 4 of § 3.610 of the rules set out above. In the Sixth Report and Order we recognized that in a very small number of instances in Zone I some existing separations would operate at separations below the minimum prescribed by our rules. We found it impossible in this densely populated area

[1] Footnote 4 of § 3.610 provides as follows: Licensees and permittees of television broadcast stations which were operating on April 14, 1952 pursuant to one or more separations below those set forth in § 3.610 may continue to so operate, but in no event may they further reduce the separations below the minimum. As the existing separations of such stations are increased, the new separations will become the required minimum separations until separations are reached which comply with the requirements of § 3.610. Thereafter, the provisions of said section shall be applicable.

[2] In addition to the foregoing, we are presented with a Motion to Strike the Opposition of WREC Broadcasting Service filed on May 6, 1952 by Memphis Publishing Company and an answer to the said motion filed by WREC Broadcasting Service on May 12, 1952. Insofar as the Motion to Strike was based on misstatements of fact contained in the Opposition filed by WREC Broadcasting Service, it has been corrected by the petition filed May 8, 1952 by WREC Broadcasting Service. No other valid basis has been brought to our attention in support of the Motion to Strike and we have considered the "Opposition, etc." of WREC on the merits.

to correct the sub-standard separations without moving existing stations to the UHF band, for in those instances, existing stations were involved at both ends of such sub-standards separations. Footnote 4 of § 3.610 refers to such situations. It does not refer to situations such as that presented by WMCT and Nashville where an existing station lies only on one end of the separation. In assigning Channel 5 to Nashville we were unaware that a sub-standard mileage situation would be created. This is made abundantly clear by our statement in paragraph 128 of the Sixth Report that "in the area comprising Zone II, the Commission's proposed Table and final Table have no assignment separations below 190 miles." Consistently throughout our Sixth Report and Order we denied counterproposals failing to meet our minimum separations. If in acting on the Nashville counterproposals we had been aware of the sub-standard separation actually involved, we would then have denied the counterproposals. Our grant of such counterproposals was not an exception to our minimum separation requirements as suggested by WREC, but was an erroneous action based on a misconception of the actual mileage separation involved.

15. It is our view that Channel 5 is incorrectly assigned to Nashville at a sub-standard separation. We believe that we must reconsider our action on the Nashville counterproposals in light of the facts now brought to light. If, in acting on these counterproposals, we had been aware of the actual separation between Nashville and WMCT, we would not, and in fact could not under our Standards, have assigned Channel 5 to Nashville. Upon reconsideration, therefore, and based on our knowledge of the actual separation between Nashville and the WMCT transmitter site, we are required to deny the counterproposals of the Nashville parties seeking the additional assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville and to correct the Sixth Report and Order and the Table of Assignments set out in § 3.606 of our rules by deleting therefrom the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville.

16. As set forth above, alternate methods of correcting the substandard separation resulting from the assignments of Channel 5 in Nashville and Memphis have been proposed by Memphis Publishing Company and WREC Broadcasting Company. The proposal of Memphis Publishing Company is that the WMCT show cause order be modified to authorize operation on Channel 3 rather than Channel 5. WREC Broadcasting Company proposed that the WMCT show cause order be modified to authorize operation on Channel 10 in lieu of Channel 5. It has been urged in support of the foregoing alternate methods of correcting the sub-standard separation that these alternate solutions would retain the assignment of Channel 5 in the City of Nashville. We cannot accept this argument as a basis for adopting either of these alternate solutions since our decision here will not necessarily result in precluding the assignment of Channel 5 in the Nashville area. Although Channel 5 may not be assigned to Nashville since the separation between WMCT's transmitter site and that city is sub-standard, this circumstance may not prevent the assignment of that channel to another city within the Nashville area provided minimum separations are maintained. Moreover, we are impelled to reject the foregoing alternate proposals for the following reasons. First, they are new proposals, offered in the instant pleadings, subsequent to the time provided for the filing of such requests, and long after our Report has been issued. Second, the requests at this time for the modification of WMCT's license to specify a new frequency is inconsistent with the provisions of § 1.371, footnote 10 of our rules (Temporary Processing Procedure). We there provided that "Except with respect to Group A–(1) applications (applications filed pursuant to show cause orders), an application by a licensee or permittee of a television broadcast station which seeks to modify an outstanding license or permit to specify a channel other than that authorized in said license or permit will not be accepted for filing by the Commission." Clearly, the modification of the WMCT show cause order to specify Channel 3 or Channel 10, rather than Channel 5 would be in contravention of the foregoing rule.

17. In light of the foregoing, and upon reconsideration, it is ordered, That our action in the Sixth Report and Order granting the joint counterproposal of WLAC Broadcasting Station and WSIX Broadcasting Service and the counterproposal of Capital Broadcasting Company is set aside, and that the aforesaid counterproposals are denied.

It is further ordered, That in all other respects the aforesaid petitions of Memphis Publishing Company are denied.

It is further ordered, That effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations is amended to delete Channel 5 from the assignments to Nashville, Tennessee.

DOMESTIC FIXED SERVICE

In the matter of amendment of § 2.104 (a) (1) (d) of Part 2 of the Commission's rules and regulations to delete certain uses by the Domestic Fixed Service of frequencies below 25 Mc for purposes other than the safety of life and property, Docket No. 10200.

1. On May 21, 1952, the Commission adopted a notice of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter, involving the deletion of the authority now contained in § 2.104 (a) (1) (d) of the Commission's rules for the use of certain frequencies by the Federal-State Market News Service of California (FSMNS). This notice was duly published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 4, 1952 (17 F. R. 5044). The notice indicated that comments would be accepted by the Commission on or before July 1, 1952. Several parties requested an extension of time in order to give further study to the proposal before commenting and the Commission, therefore, extended the time for filing comments until July 21, 1952. This time has now expired.

3. The Commission has studied all of the comments received and finds that they relate to the following issues: In every case the comment involved an expression of fear that, should the Commission no longer permit the FSMNS to use the radio frequencies now assigned to it, the market news service could not exist. Comments also were directed to several other factors relating to the Commission's proposal, as follows: Five comments to the effect that the radio frequencies and service were required for civil defense, three comments to the effect that they were required for public health, two comments to the effect that no interference would be caused to other services by continuing present use, two comments to the effect that the proposal was discriminatory because the Commission had not proposed the deletion of frequencies for similar uses, one comment to the effect that the proposed action was not in the public interest, one that the market service served the public interest, one that the service served public safety, one that there was no evidence that other services needed the frequencies, one that the installation of wire lines or microwave facilities would be costly and a waste of manpower and material, one that the policy of requiring the domestic fixed service to use wire lines or microwaves should not apply in this instance, one comment to the effect that, because of climatic and terrain problems, microwaves would not prove feasible for this service, and one comment to the effect that the recent authorization given to the State of California for operation of teletype facilities on the FSMNS radio circuit was an indication the Commission intended to continue to authorize the operation of the radio system. Three of the comments requested that the Commission hold a hearing on this matter before making its proposal final.

4. Careful and detailed consideration of the comments filed in this proceeding has indicated to the Commission that its original notice of proposed rule making apparently did not set forth in sufficient detail the purpose of, and the reasons for, the proposed amendment to its rules and that it has consequently been misconstrued. This further notice of proposed rule making is being issued in an effort to clear up any misunderstanding which may have been inadvertently caused by the original notice, and in an attempt to enlist the support of all interested parties for this proposal which the Commission believes, on the basis of all the facts now available to it, is in the public interest.

5. Initially, the Commission wishes to emphasize as strongly as possible that its proposal in no way intended to terminate the market news service in the State of California, nor do we believe that adoption of this proposal will, in fact, require the service to be terminated. The Commission has a full appreciation and awareness of the importance and value of the market news service and of the necessity for maintaining it in California. However, we believe, for the reasons set forth in detail below, that the public interest requires that the use of radio frequencies below 25,000 kc for this service by FSMNS should be discontinued and that conversion to wire lines or to available microwave frequencies will result in improvement in the market news service which will be of benefit to its users in the State of California.

6. The factors upon which the Commission bases this belief are as follows:

A. The use of the frequencies below 25,000 kc available for fixed service (point-to-point) for fixed communications within the continental United States, where landlines are available or can readily be made available, is contrary to existing national policy, which limits these valuable frequencies to the international service where their long range characteristics are particularly valuable.

B. The frequencies now employed by the Federal-State Market News Service were assigned at a time when wire service was generally inadequate and more expensive to install and operate than it is today and the demands for use of the available radio frequencies were much less.

C. The international fixed service of the United States, including both Government and non-Government stations, has suffered a significant reduction of spectrum space pursuant to the provisions of the Atlantic City (1947) Radio Regulations. As a consequence, finding a sufficient number of operating frequencies for this important international service is a problem which confronts the United States and which is one of the major projects involved in the implementation of the Atlantic City Table of Frequency Allocations. The Commission does not believe it can or should permit the continuance of the State of California's use of frequencies below 25,000 kc for this purely domestic fixed service at a time when the United States is bending every effort toward putting its international fixed service in-band pursuant to the Agreement reached at the Geneva Extraordinary Administrative Radio Conference. The Commission believes that, on the contrary, it has an obligation to give priority to the international fixed service over the domestic fixed service in the frequency bands below 25,000 kc. Moreover, it is apparent from the Commission's Table of Frequency Allocations in Part 2 of the Commission's rules and regulations that ample radio frequencies above 25,000 kc have been provided for the domestic fixed service. Also, it is a fact that many licenses of the Commission are operating satisfactorily domestic fixed circuit communication systems in the microwave portion of the spectrum.

D. Three of the frequencies used by the FSMNS, namely, 5365, 7625 and 7640 kc, are in the portion of the spectrum in which the problem of sufficient international fixed service channels is most difficult to solve. It will be noted that comments received from interested persons suggest that the use of these frequencies by the FSMNS does not jeopardize their use by other services, since the operation is in the "daytime" when the frequencies can be shared on a time-sharing basis. This does not appear to be the case, inasmuch as the use of these three frequencies by FSMNS is between 7:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. P. s. t. (1530–2330 GMT), which substantially overlaps the time during which this order of frequency is needed and is now in use by the international fixed service for circuits between the West Coast and the Territory of Hawaii, Territory of Alaska and other points in the Pacific Area. Examination of the current West Coast international fixed operations reveals that between the West Coast and Alaska frequencies of the order of 7600 kc have been utilized in recent months during the entire 24 hours from 0000 to 2400 GMT. From the West Coast to Asia, and to the Territory of Hawaii, such circuits, using frequencies in the vicinity of 7600 kc, are active during the hours of operation of the FSMNS. Furthermore, with respect to the frequency 5365 kc, investigation indicates that frequencies of this order are needed during certain parts of the sunspot cycle for communication between the United States and Alaska during the night and carrying over into late morning, which includes the most active hours of the FSMNS operations.

E. With respect to the use of 4245 kc by the FSMNS, it is to be noted that this frequency is in an Atlantic City coast station band and is only 2 kc away from the frequency 4247 kc, which is proposed to be used by Station KPH, a high-powered coast station at Bolinas, California. Even if consideration were to be given to a derogation of the Atlantic City Table on the part of the FSMNS, the 4245 kc assignment could not exist on an adjacent channel to KPH.

F. Finally, in the case of 2848 kc, this frequency is located in a portion of the spectrum which is most useful to all of the mobile radio services (which cannot use wire lines and must use radio frequencies), and the continued use of 2848 kc by FSMNS will prevent full use of frequencies in this band by the mobile service. Furthermore, in its comments filed in this docket, FSMNS has indicated that the frequency 2848 kc is not particularly useful in its operations.

G. The comments received in connection with this docket stress the "loss of the service" or "discontinuing of the service." The Commission's proposal does not imply, nor does it mean, that this communication service should be discontinued. The fact that wire lines are available, that 37 other States are utilizing wire lines for this service, and have apparently found such use to be practical and economical, appear to the Commission to be persuasive evidence that the service will not be jeopardized by the discontinuance of the use of the high frequency spectrum for such communications. Thirty-eight States disseminate market news in cooperation with the Production and Marketing Administration of the Department of Agriculture, but California is the only State utilizing high frequencies for this service. As indicated above, the Commission believes the evidence available points to the fact that it would be in the public interest for FSMNS to obtain service through utilization of wire lines or microwave facilities of common carriers, as is now the case in all other States utilizing this market service. Moreover, in view of the fact that California is, and has been for many years, the only State which has been authorized to use high frequencies for this type of service, it is abundantly clear that the Commission's proposal is in no way discriminatory toward the State of California or the FSMNS.

H. The Commission is furthermore of the opinion that the speed and accuracy of transmission by a wire line printer system would improve rather than impair the service rendered by the Federal-State Market News Service. The maximum speed of manual transmission on the existing radio net is approximately 35 words per minute, subject to personnel errors and interruptions occasioned by atmospherics and vagaries of radio propagation. Tape transmission by means of wire lines would approximately double the present radio rate of transmission and would reduce errors to a minimum. This would be particularly true if incoming traffic from the Department of Agriculture leased line were automatically re-perforated for relay on the Federal-State Market News Service communication circuit. Unedited Department of Agriculture traffic is believed to constitute roughly 80 percent of the total traffic now handled by the FSMNS radio network.

I. Moreover, in an effort to insure that there would be sufficient time for the State of California to convert the FSMNS and its equipment from its present operations to the use of wire lines or microwave facilities, the Commission in its original notice of proposed rule making provided that the effective date of the amendment to its rule would be 6 months after the issuance of the Commission's final order in this docket, or March 1, 1953, whichever is later. None of the comments filed in response to the original notice of proposed rule making indicated that the conversion period specified by the Commission would not be adequate, and it is the Commission's belief that the process of conversion of the existing system to wire line service would not be lengthly or costly.

J. It has been suggested that the FSMNS should retain its present radio frequency assignments in the interests of civil defense. It must be emphasized that the assignment of radio frequencies for civil defense purposes must be coordinated by the Commission with the Federal Civil Defense Authority, the Department of Defense, and other interested agencies. The frequencies on which the FSMNS now operates have not been assigned for civil defense use and it is not contemplated that they will be assigned for that purpose. However, other frequencies have been coordinated and set aside for civil defense use and some of the radio equipment of the FSMNS could be used on those frequencies.

7. The Commission wishes to afford all interested parties an opportunity to reconsider the proposed amendment to its rules set forth in its original notice of proposed rule making in light of the considerations set forth above.

8. This further notice of proposed rule making is issued pursuant to the authority of sections 4 (i), 301 and 303 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

9. [Docket No. 10318]

TABLE OF ASSIGNMENTS

In the matter of amendment of § 3.606, Table of Assignments, rules governing television broadcast stations, Docket No. 10318.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. The Commission has this day modified the Sixth Report and Order (FCC 52-294) in Docket 8736 et al., to delete the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville, Tennessee. The reasons for this action have been set out in detail in a Memorandum Opinion and Order (FCC 52-1069). The Commission is of the opinion that in view of the deletion of Channel 5 from Nashville, it would be in the public interest to assign Channel 5 to Old Hickory, Tennessee. Old Hickory is a community of approximately 8,500 persons located in the Nashville metropolitan area at a distance of approximately 11 miles from the City of Nashville. The assignment of Channel 5 to Old Hickory would make it possible for a station operating on Channel 5 to serve the needs and interests of the Nashville metropolitan area as well as the community of Old Hickory itself. The assignment of Channel 5 to Old Hickory would be fully consistent with the standards and policies set forth in the Sixth Report and Order and with the Commission's rules and regulations.

The deletion of Channel 5 from Nashville creates an inefficiency in the use of spectrum space which is of serious consequence to the residents of the Nashville metropolitan area. However, by assigning Channel 5 to Old Hickory, the Commission would be affording recognition to public interest requirements substantially the same as those which were recognized in the assignment of Channel 5 to Nashville during the proceedings in Docket 8736.

3. In light of the above, the Commission proposes to amend the Table of Assignments contained in § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations to read as follows:

Tennessee: Old Hickory	5

4. Authority for the adoption of the proposed amendment is contained in sections 4 (i), 301, 303 (c), (d), (f), and (r) and 307 (b of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

5. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendment should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before October 3, 1952, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Comments in support of the proposed amendment may also be filed on or before the same date. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments may be filed within 10 days from the last day for filing said original comments or briefs. The Commission will consider all such comments that are submitted before taking action in this matter, and if any comments appear to warrant the holding of a hearing or oral argument, notice of the time and place of such hearing or oral argument will be given.

6. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs, or comments shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: September 16, 1952.

ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 34, As Amended, Section 20 (c), Special Order 14]

ALBERT, INC.

PRICES FOR SELLING SERVICES SUPPLIED

Statement of considerations. The ceiling price for selling services supplied to Albert, Inc., 317 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois, by its sales representatives on sales of ladies' lingerie is adjusted by this Special Order pursuant to Section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended.

This section authorizes the Director of Price Stabilization to adjust ceiling prices of sellers of an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available. In order to obtain an adjustment under this section, the buyer must demonstrate that he is purchasing an essential non-retail service as to which there is a limited supply available from sellers thereof who are too numerous to make recourse by them to section 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, practicable. The purchaser must further demonstrate that these sellers are threatening to discontinue supplying him with such service, and in addition, the applicant must agree to absorb any price increase over his sellers' existing ceiling prices, and must so state in his application. The buyer may not apply for or obtain an increase in his suppliers' ceiling prices for the service supplied to him, which would bring the proposed increased ceiling prices in excess of the price he would be required to pay to other suppliers of the same service. The buyer's application must also show the nature and extent of the sellers' direct labor and material cost increases incurred by them since their ceiling prices for that service were established. These cost increases will be considered by the Office of Price Stabilization in determining the amount of price increase which may be granted. Where practicable the purchaser must state the names and addresses of the sellers and the ceiling prices of each seller.

It appears from information submitted in the application that applicant sells ladies' lingerie throughout the United States through the services of ten sales representatives. The Director of Price Stabilization has determined that the supply of such service is limited; that the increased ceiling prices for such service will not exceed the prevailing prices at which the applicant could purchase the same service; that the applicant's suppliers are threatening to discontinue supplying such service because their ceiling prices are below prevailing rates; that the applicant has agreed to absorb any price increases and will not pass on such increases in the form of increased prices to others; and that the sellers of such service to the applicant are too numerous to make recourse to paragraph 20 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34 practicable. The increased ceiling prices reflect the direct labor and material cost increases incurred by these sellers since their ceiling prices for the service were established, and such increases will not be inconsistent with the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 20 (c) of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, this Special Order is hereby issued.

1. The application of Albert, Inc., 317 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois, for an adjustment of the ceiling prices which sellers may charge applicant for selling ladies' lingerie is granted as follows:

On and after the effective date of this Special Order, the ceiling price for selling ladies' lingerie for Albert, Inc., by the following sales representatives shall be 6 percent of the net sales price of the articles sold:

Barney Blum, 3198 West Seventh Street, Los Angeles, Calif.
Martin Davis, 149 Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y.
Steve Godich, 1812 Exposition Avenue, Dallas, Tex.
Calvin Goldman, 16915 Eldemere, Cleveland, Ohio.
Jack Riley, 1708 South Downing, Denver, Colo.
Jerry Weisberg, 6342 North Troy, Chicago, Ill.
Gene Wicder, 7764 Wise Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.
John Wilson, 511 Edward Street, Burlington, Wis.
Sam Winn, 701 Eighty-second Street, Miami Beach, Fla.

2. Albert, Inc., may pay to the sellers listed above the increased price determined under paragraph 1 of this Special Order provided that it shall absorb the increase over the former ceiling price and shall not pass on such increase in rates in the form of increased prices to others.

3. Copies of this order shall be provided by Albert, Inc., to the sellers listed above. A copy of this order shall be kept by each of these sellers and another copy shall be filed by each seller with the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization with which each of the sellers has filed or is required to file a statement of its ceiling prices under section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34.

4. All requests in the application of Albert, Inc., not granted herein are denied.

5. All provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, as amended, except as changed by the pricing provisions of this Special Order shall remain in effect.

6. This Special Order or any provisions thereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

Effective date. This order shall become effective September 25, 1952.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Director of Price Stabilization.

NEW YORK STATE NATURAL GAS CORP.

ORDER REOPENING PROCEEDING, CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS, DENYING SHORTENED PROCEDURE AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

SEPTEMBER 23, 1952.

On June 25, 1952, New York State Natural Gas Corporation (Applicant), a New York corporation having its principal office in New York City, New York, filed at Docket No. G-1980 an application, and supplement thereto on August 29, 1952, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 20 miles of 16-inch, 75 miles of 20-inch, and 970 feet of 20-inch pipeline connecting lines 2, 4, and 34 to the Sabinsville Compressor Station, all as described in Notice of Application published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 12, 1952 (17 F. R. 6287).

On August 29, 1952, Applicant filed a petition for modification of the Commission's order issued February 27, 1952, in Docket No. G-1824, for the purpose of deleting therefrom authorization to construct and operate (a) approximately 17.1 miles of 16-inch loop pipeline paralleling Applicant's existing line (Line No. 2) between Colesburg and County Line Header in Potter County, Pennsylvania, and (b) authorization to install and operate an additional 1,320 hp. compressor capacity at the J. B. Tonkin Compressor Station.

The applicant has requested that the application filed at Docket No. G-1980 be heard under the shortened procedure provided by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) for a noncontested proceeding.

Dispostion of the foregoing application and petition may entail a need for modification of the Commission's order issued February 27, 1952, in Docket No. G-1824, so as to rescind that portion of the certificate authorization relating to the items contained in paragraphs (3) and (6) of said order.

The application, together with supplement at Docket No. G-1980, and the petition to modify filed at Docket No. G-1824, are on file with the Commission and open for public inspection.

The Commission finds:

(1) The Commission should on its own motion reopen the proceeding in Docket No. G-1824 for the sole purpose of determining whether it is in the public interest to modify its order of February 27, 1952, issued in Docket No. G-1824, and rescind the authorization to construct and operate the facilities described in paragraphs (3) and (6) of the order, as requested by Applicant.

(2) Good cause exists to consolidate the proceeding in Docket No. G-1980 and the reopened proceeding referred to in finding (1) above.

(3) Good cause has not been shown for granting the Applicant's request that the application filed at Docket No. G-1980 be heard under the shortened procedure, as provided by the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and said request should be denied as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceeding in Docket No. G-1824 be, and the same hereby is, on the Commission's own motion, reopened for the sole purpose of determining whether the authorization to construct and operate the facilities as described in paragraphs (3) and (6) of the Commission's order issued February 27, 1952, at Docket No. G-1824, should be rescinded as requested by the Applicant.

(B) The proceeding in Docket No. G-1980, and the reopened proceeding referred to in paragraph (A) above, be, and they hereby are consolidated for purpose of hearing.

(C) The request of the Applicant in Docket No. G-1980 for disposition of the proceeding in accordance with the shortened procedure provided by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) be, and the same hereby is denied.

(D) Pursuant to the authority contained in and by virtue of the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a public hearing be held commencing on October 8, 1952, at 10:00 a. m., e. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by the aforesaid consolidated proceedings.

(E) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: September 24, 1952.

The Commission on February 20, 1951, having issued its order approving a supplemental plan proposing the distribution of certain assets previously placed in escrow, said order having provided that jurisdiction was specifically reserved to consider and determine the reasonableness and allocation of all fees and expenses incurred and to be incurred in connection with said supplemental plan and the transactions incident thereto;

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

Chapter IV—Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter C—Loans, Purchases and Other Operations

[1952 CCC Cottonseed Bulletin 3, Amdt. 1]

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The regulations of Commodity Credit Corporation (referred to in this subpart as CCC) with respect to the purchase of cottonseed products as a means of supporting the price of 1952-crop cottonseed (1952 CCC Cottonseed Bulletin 3, 17 F. R. 4638) are amended as hereinafter specified. The amendment to paragraph (b) (2) of § 643.742 will permit a participating crusher who delints cottonseed at one mill and transports the resulting meats to another mill under the same management in the same area for the processing of oil and meal to deliver, upon approval by the PMA Commodity Office, linters at the mill where cottonseed is delinted and oil and meal at the mill where the oil and meal is produced, irrespective of the method of extracting the oil. The amendment to paragraph (a) of § 643.743 will enable a participating crusher to tender to CCC products produced from eligible cottonseed purchased from other participating crushers. The amendment to paragraph (b) of § 643.743 will permit crushers to grade cottonseed on the basis of samples drawn from not in excess of each 200 tons of cottonseed purchased. The new paragraph (d) added to § 643.743 specifies the cottonseed grading requirements in the case of a crusher and a ginner which are the same legal entity. The amendment to paragraph (a) of § 643.744 will permit a participating crusher to exclude cottonseed cake or meal from any tender to CCC provided cottonseed oil and cottonseed linters produced from eligible cottonseed are included in the tender in the applicable quantities specified in § 643.744 (a) and payment is made to CCC for any amount by which the CCC purchase price for cake or meal specified in § 643.747 (a) is less than the crusher's ceiling price determined under Federal law, or if ceiling prices are not in effect, is less than the last applicable ceiling price determined under Federal law, or the current market price determined by CCC, whichever is higher, for the applicable quantity of cake or meal specified in § 643.744 (a) which the crusher would otherwise be required to tender. The amendment to § 643.754 requires that the books, records and accounts of the crusher with respect to purchases of cottonseed and all other transactions under this subpart be retained by him for a period of at least two years from the last date any of the products tendered by the crusher under this subpart have been delivered.

1. Paragraph (b) (2) of § 643.742 is amended to read as follows:

§ 643.742 Availability. • • •

(b) Source. • • •

(2) If the crusher operates more than one cottonseed crushing mill, he may file one acceptance for those mills for which he desires to accept this offer and shall specify in the acceptance the names and locations of the mills covered by the acceptance; but each such mill shall be treated as a separate unit for the purpose of determining the rights and obligations of the crusher with respect to cottonseed purchased for processing at, and cottonseed products produced at, each such mill; except that, upon request by the crusher and approval by the PMA Commodity Office, where two or more mills covered by the one acceptance are under the same management and are located in such proximity that they have identical freight rates for the shipment of cottonseed products, irrespective of destination, they shall be considered collectively as a single unit with respect to the rights and obligations of the crusher for cottonseed purchased for processing, and cottonseed products produced at each such mill; further, upon request by the crusher and approval by the PMA Commodity Office, where a crusher delints cottonseed at one mill and transports the resulting meats to another mill under the same management in the same area for the processing of oil and cake or meal, CCC will accept delivery of the linters at the mill where the cottonseed is delinted and oil and cake or meal at the mill where

2. Paragraph (a) of § 643.743 is amended to read as follows:

§ 643.743 Purchases of cottonseed by crusher—(a) Eligible cottonseed. (1) Only 1952 crop cottonseed purchased by the crusher from (i) ginners participating in the 1952 cottonseed purchase program (1952 CCC Cottonseed Bulletin 2), (ii) from producers eligible under such program, (iii) or from other participating crushers, is covered by this subpart. In the case of purchases of cottonseed from another participating crusher, such cottonseed must have been a part of the inventory of eligible cottonseed of the selling crusher and must not have been the basis for any tender of cottonseed products made by the selling crusher to CCC. The selling crusher must furnish the buying crusher for his records a certified statement showing the name of the buying crusher, the grade and quantity of eligible cottonseed sold, and the date of delivery. A copy of such statement shall be sent by the selling crusher to the appropriate PMA Commodity Office. The selling crusher's inventory of eligible cottonseed shall be reduced by the quantity so sold.

(2) The crusher must pay for all such cottonseed purchased from ginners under this subpart not less than $¢6.40 per ton basis grade (100), f. o. b. gin, with premiums and discounts for other grades equal to the same percentage of such price as the percentage by which the grade of cottonseed purchased exceeds or is less than the basis grade (100), and from producers not less than the applicable gin price to producers determined in accordance with 1952 Cottonseed Bulletin 2. Cottonseed which is "below grade" or "off quality" as defined in the rules of the National Cottonseed Products Association may be purchased at a price mutually agreeable to the crusher and the ginner or the producer selling the cottonseed. The names and addresses of participating ginners and beginning dates of their participation will be furnished to the crusher by the appropriate PMA Commodity Office. The crusher may obtain and rely upon information received in writing from either the county or State PMA Committee or from the PMA Commodity Office as to additions to the list of participating ginners. If a participating ginner should become ineligible to deliver cottonseed, written notice to the crusher of such ineligibility will be given by the appropriate PMA Commodity Office.

3. Paragraph (b) of § 643.743 is amended to read as follows:

§ 643.743 Purchases of cottonseed by crusher. • • •

(b) Purchases on official grades. Unless otherwise approved by the President of CCC, all cottonseed which is purchased by the crusher under this subpart shall be graded in accordance with the U. S. Official Standards for Grades of Cottonseed and shall be purchased on the basis of such grades, except that the crusher shall be permitted to have composite samples drawn from not more than 200 tons of cottonseed in lieu of the 35 tons now prescribed. (All other provisions with respect to drawing samples remain unchanged.) Cost of sampling and chemical analysis of cottonseed shall be for the account of the crusher.

4. Section 643.743 is amended by adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 643.743 Purchases of cottonseed by crusher. • • •

(d) Grading when crusher and ginner are a single legal entity. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this section, where a crusher under this subpart and a ginner participating under the 1952 cottonseed purchase program (1952 CCC Cottonseed Bulletin 2) are a single legal entity, and cottonseed purchased from producers in accordance with the terms and conditions of 1952 CCC Cottonseed Bulletin 2 are received by the crusher from the ginner, such cottonseed shall be covered by this subpart and shall be graded by the crusher in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section.

5. Paragraph (a) of § 643.744 is amended to read as follows:

§ 643.744 Purchase of cottonseed products by CCC—(a) Option to tender products. (1) The crusher shall have the option to sell and CCC shall purchase if offered, for each ton of cottonseed purchased by the crusher under this subpart, the quantities of crude cottonseed oil, 41 percent protein cake or meal and linters specified below for the applicable area.

	Oil (pounds)	41 per cent protein cake or meal (pounds)	Linters (pounds net weight)
Southeastern area	310	860	188
Valley area	325	871	182
Texas-Oklahoma area	360	843	181
Arizona-New Mexico area	332	875	187
California	340	900	200

If a crusher elects to sell any products to CCC, the quantities of oil, cake or meal and linters shall be tendered in the proportions specified above for the area in which the mill is located except as provided below. CCC may reject LCL shipments except for a clean-up car on the last delivery of each product, on which the crusher protects the minimum freight rate. Upon prior approval from the PMA Commodity Office, shipments may be made by truck. Any crusher who produces substantially less linters per ton than the applicable quantity specified above shall not be required to deliver in excess of his actual average outturn of linters per ton of cottonseed, as determined by the appropriate PMA Commodity Office.

(2) Purchases of linters, oil and cake, or meal, shall be in accordance with §§ 643.745 through 643.748 and applicable rules of the National Cottonseed Products Association in effect on the date of tender of such products except to the extent that such rules are inconsistent with this subpart and except as to periods specified in such rules for presentation of claims and the rules on arbitration. Each tender shall indicate the quantity of cottonseed purchased, the quantities of products tendered to CCC, and the delivery dates. CCC shall confirm in writing all tenders of products under this paragraph which comply with the provisions of this subpart. Each tender by the crusher and confirmation by CCC shall constitute separate contracts for the sale of such products in accordance with the terms of this subpart and the applicable rules of the National Cottonseed Products Association. The obligations of CCC for the purchase of cottonseed products under this subpart shall be limited to those quantities of products manufactured from cottonseed acquired by the crusher under the terms of this subpart up to the time of tender and which have not been sold or contracted for sale to other persons. In determining whether the crusher meets these requirements, all commercial sales contracts for cottonseed products shall be deemed to be the crusher's obligations, first, against products produced or to be produced from cottonseed acquired up to the time of tender and not purchased by the crusher under the terms of this subpart, and second, against cottonseed purchased by the crusher under the terms of this subpart, regardless of whether such contracts were actually consummated by delivery. Hedges on commodity exchanges do not constitute commercial sales contracts within the meaning of this paragraph. CCC will not accept deliveries of products which bear brand names.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, the crusher may exclude from any tender of products to CCC cottonseed cake or meal produced from eligible cottonseed if the cottonseed oil and cottonseed linters included in the tender are in the applicable quantities specified in this section and, if payment is made to CCC for any amount by which the CCC purchase price specified in § 643.747 is less than the latest ceiling price of the crusher determined under Federal law, or if ceiling prices are not in effect, any amount by which such purchase price is less than the last ceiling price determined under Federal law, or the current market price determined by CCC, whichever is higher, for the applicable quantity of cake or meal which the crusher would otherwise be required to tender under this section.

6. Section 643.754 is amended to read as follows:

§ 643.754 Books and records. The crusher shall keep accurate books, records, and accounts with respect to all purchases of cottonseed (including the name of seller, date of receipt, weight, and grade of each lot of cottonseed purchased), and all other transactions under this subpart for a period of at least two years from the last date any of the products tendered by the crusher under this subpart have been delivered, and shall furnish CCC such information and reports relating thereto as CCC may from time to time request. CCC may at any time examine and audit the books, records, and accounts of the crusher to the extent necessary to assure compliance with the provisions of this subpart.

Subchapter A—Income and Excess Profits Taxes

PART 3—INCOME TAX UNDER THE REVENUE ACT OF 1936

TREASURY CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS, TREASURY NOTES, AND TREASURY BILLS IN PAYMENT OF INCOME AND PROFITS TAXES

In order to reflect the changes made necessary by Paragraph 5 of Department Circular No. 418, as amended May 13, 1952 (31 CFR 309.5; 17 F. R. 4561), relating to acceptance before maturity of Treasury bills in payment of income and profits taxes, Article 1 of Treasury Decision 4703, approved November 3, 1936, as made applicable by Treasury Decision 4885, approved February 11, 1939 (26 CFR, 1943 Cum. Supp., page 5876), codified in 26 CFR, Part 3 (1938 ed.), as § 3.56–5, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 3.56–5 Treasury certificates of indebtedness, Treasury notes and Treasury bills in payment of income and profits taxes. (a) Treasury certificates of indebtedness and Treasury notes (not including interim receipts issued by Federal reserve banks in lieu of definitive certificates or definitive notes) the maturity dates of which are the 15th day of any calendar month may be tendered at par or dollar face amount, plus accrued interest, if any, payable with the principal (not represented by coupons attached), in payment of income and profits taxes payable under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, but only if (1) such certificates or notes, according to the express terms of their issue, are made acceptable in payment of such income and profits taxes, and (2) such taxes for which the certificates or notes are tendered in payment become due on the same date as that on which such certificates or notes mature.

All interest coupons attached to Treasury certificates of indebtedness and Treasury notes shall be detached by the taxpayer before such certificates or notes are tendered in payment of taxes.

(b) Treasury bills of any series (not including interim receipts issued by Federal reserve banks in lieu of definitive bills) may be tendered at or before maturity at maturity value in payment of income and profits taxes payable under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code, due on the date on which the bills mature or a specified prior date, but only if such bills, according to the express terms of their issue, are made acceptable in payment of such income and profits taxes due on that date.

(c) Receipts given by the collector or Director of Internal Revenue for Treasury certificates of indebtedness, Treasury notes, or Treasury bills received in payment of income or profits taxes as provided in this section shall contain an adequate description of such certificates, notes or bills, including a statement of the par value or dollar face amount thereof and accrued interest, if any, payable with the principal (not represented by coupons attached), and shall show that they are tendered by the taxpayer and received by the collector or Director, subject to no condition, qualification, or reservation whatsoever, in payment of no more than an amount of taxes equal to such par value or dollar face amount and accrued interest, if any, payable with the principal (not represented by coupons attached). Any certificate, note, or bill offered in payment of income or profits taxes under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code subject to any condition, qualification, or reservation, or for any greater amount than the par value or dollar face amount thereof and accrued interest, if any, payable with the principal (not represented by coupons attached) shall not be deemed to be duly tendered and shall be returned to the taxpayer.

(d) For the purpose of saving taxpayers the expense of transmitting such Treasury certificates of indebtedness, Treasury notes, or Treasury bills to the office of the collector or Director of Internal Revenue in whose district the taxes are payable, taxpayers desiring to pay income and profits taxes by such certificates, notes or bills acceptable in payment of taxes may deposit such certificates, notes, or bills with a Federal reserve bank or branch, subject to the condition that the Federal reserve bank issue a receipt in the name of the collector or Director of Internal Revenue, covering the par or dollar face amount of the certificates, notes, or bills, and accrued interest, if any, payable with the principal (not represented by coupons attached), and stating on the face of the receipt that the securities represented thereby are held by the bank for redemption and application of proceeds in payment of income or profits taxes due on a specified date by the taxpayer named therein.

Because this Treasury decision extends to taxpayers the privilege of applying specified Treasury bills at maturity value in payment of income or profits taxes due prior to the maturity date of such bills, it is hereby found that it is unnecessary to issue this Treasury decision with notice and public procedure thereon under section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, or subject to the effective date limitation of section 4 (c) of said act.

This Treasury decision shall be effective upon its filing for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Approved: September 25, 1952.

(g) No emoluments of any nature will be offered to, or accepted by military or civilian personnel employed by the Air Force to facilitate transactions.

§ 804.203 Regulating procedures. (a) Commanders will regulate solicitation within their commands to avoid discriminatory practices. No commercial life insurance organization, association, company, groups, or other such entity or agent, or special company plan of insurance, will, in any way, be sponsored by any member of the Air Force, nor will any special consideration be afforded or granted to any one company or agent over another. The only life insurance considered non-commercial by the Department of the Air Force is that made available to military personnel as a result of Federal legislation and underwritten by the U. S. Government.

(b) All allotment authorizations (DD Form 234, "Allotment Authorization to Start or Stop Allotments") for commercial life insurance will be completed prior to signature and processed in accordance with current directives.

(c) The official use of DD Form 234 bearing an unauthorized overprint is prohibited. Air Force personnel officers and disbursing officers will not certify such forms.

(d) Whenever commercial life insurance data are utilized by commanders for insurance lectures, it will be ascertained that the names of the companies represented or their commercial offerings are not coincidentally mentioned or credited in any manner. Commanders will insure that all information contained in the lectures pertaining to Servicemen's Indemnity or Government life insurance is accurate and as promulgated in current directives.

§ 804.204 Violation of regulations. Commanding officers may bar any agent from his command for violation of regulations. When such action is taken, commanding officers will cooperate with state officials when the State has exclusive or concurrent jurisdiction over the installations. In those cases where the United States has exclusive jurisdiction, commanding officers will forward a report to the Director of Military Personnel, Headquarters United States Air Force, Washington 25, D. C., setting forth all factors upon which the decision to ban the agent was based. The Director of Military Personnel will ascertain that a complete and impartial investigation has been made. If the Director of Military Personnel determines that the agent in question was involved in fraudulent, unethical or other conduct harmful to the best interests of Air Force personnel, the agent concerned may be banned from all Air Force installations. In all such cases the Director of Military Personnel will furnish the facts and a statement of its intended action to the other military departments. Final action banning an agent from an Air Force installation should not be taken until an opportunity is afforded the agent involved to be heard when possible. When the Air Force determines that an agent will be banned from its installations, it will notify the insurance commissioner of the State of domicile of the company concerned.

[SEAL] K. E. THIEBAUD,
Colonel, U. S. Air Force,
Air Adjutant General.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Supplementary Regulation 34]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 34—CEILING PRICES FOR AGRICULTURAL AND GARDEN HAND TOOLS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 34 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes new ceiling prices for manufacturers of agricultural and garden hand tools at a higher level than those previously in effect.

The Office of Price Stabilization has recently completed a financial survey of the agricultural and garden hand tools industry. The survey was undertaken as the result of information submitted by industry members at various informal meetings which indicated that the level of ceiling prices hitherto in effect for this industry was below the minimum prescribed by the "industry earnings standard" (the so-called "Johnston Formula"). The industry earnings standard provides that the level of ceiling prices for an industry shall normally be considered "fair and equitable" under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, if the dollar profits of the industry amount to not less than 85 percent of the average earnings for the industry's best three years during the period 1946–1949 inclusive adjusted for changes in net worth. Financial data were obtained from a representative group of manufacturers in the agricultural and garden hand tool industry, whose total sales represent over 80 percent of the industry's annual volume. Based upon this data, the Director of Price Stabilization has determined that in order for the dollar profits of the industry to meet the industry earnings standard, ceiling prices for this industry will have to be established at 8 percent above the present level of selling prices. Such ceiling prices will be generally fair and equitable.

This adjustment reflects all increases in cost of steel, other materials, wages, and freight that have already been incurred. Manufacturers covered by this supplementary regulation may not, therefore, adjust their ceiling prices under GOR 35 issued for the purpose of permitting a pass-through of increased steel and other metals' costs.

This supplementary regulation establishes ceiling prices for manufacturers of agricultural and garden hand tools which are 108 percent of their highest selling prices since September 1, 1951.

This supplementary regulation applies only to manufacturers who have previously established ceiling prices under CPR 22. However, a supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is being issued simultaneously herewith, which provides a corresponding adjustment for manufacturers subject to that regulation.

Manufacturers continue to have the election to determine their ceiling prices under the various regulations that were issued pursuant to the so-called "Capehart Amendment". If they do so, however, they may not use this supplementary regulation.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry and has given consideration to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable; are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; and comply with the applicable standards of that act.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this supplementary regulation does.
2. Commodities covered by this supplementary regulation.
3. Ceiling prices for agricultural and garden hand tools dealt in between September 1, 1951, and September 29, 1952, inclusive.
4. Ceiling prices for agricultural and garden tools which cannot be determined under section 3.
5. Reports.
6. Relationship of this supplementary regulation to other adjustment regulations.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 through 6 issued under Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803 as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110; E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes new ceiling prices for sales by manufacturers of agricultural and garden hand tools. These new ceiling prices are to be used in place of those previously established under sections 3 and 30 to 34, inclusive, of Ceiling Price Regulation 22, or under any supplementary regulations to CPR 22. All provisions of CPR 22 and of any supplementary regulation to CPR 22 otherwise applicable and not inconsistent with this supplementary regulation remain in effect.

SEC. 2. Commodities covered by this supplementary regulation. The commodities covered by this supplementary regulation are agricultural and garden hand tools, known in the trade as "steel goods". They include, but are not limited to, rakes, hoes, forks, cultivators, spades, shovels, scoops, weeders, edgers, and grass whips. Edge tools are not included.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for agricultural and garden hand tools dealt in between September 1, 1951 and September 29, 1952, inclusive. (a) Your ceiling price for sale of an agricultural and garden hand tool product is 108 percent of the highest price at which you delivered it between September 1, 1951 and September 29, 1952, to a purchaser of the same class. You may not use a price as the highest price at which you delivered a commodity to a class of purchaser unless, during the period September 1, 1951 to September 29, 1952, you made at least 20% by dollar volume of your total deliveries of the commodity to that class of purchaser at that price or a higher price. If your highest price during this period exceeded the applicable ceiling price, your ceiling price under this regulation is 108 percent of the ceiling price in effect at the time you received your highest price.

(b) A ceiling price established under this section must be consistent in every respect with your CPR 22 ceiling price for the same agricultural and garden hand tool product. It must carry the same delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees and other terms and conditions of sale.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for agricultural and garden hand tools which cannot be determined under section 3. If you are unable to establish a ceiling price for an agricultural and garden hand tool under section 3 of this supplementary regulation, you must establish such ceiling price in accordance with the provisions of CPR 161 (Consumer Durable Goods Regulation). Ceiling prices which were established under sections 3 or 4 of CPR 161 prior to the effective date of this supplementary regulation may be recomputed, using as the ceiling price of the comparison commodity or commodities a ceiling price determined under this supplementary regulation. You need not report this recomputation. Sections 3 and 4 of CPR 161 require you to determine a ceiling price by reference to the ceiling price of a comparison commodity or commodities. In applying sections 3 or 4 after the effective date of this supplementary regulation, use as the ceiling price of the comparison commodity a ceiling price determined under this supplementary regulation or under SR 1 to CPR 161.

SEC. 5. Reports. Prior to using this supplementary regulation, you must have complied with the reporting requirements of sections 46 and 48 of CPR 22. If you have filed an OPS Public Form No. 8 in compliance with these sections of CPR 22, you need not amend your Form 8 to reflect the adjustment authorized by this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 6. Relationship of this supplementary regulation to other adjustment regulations. Notwithstanding any provisions of this supplementary regulation, you may elect to use Supplementary Regulations 17 or 18 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 or GOR 20 to establish your ceiling prices for agricultural and garden hand tools. If you so elect, you may not use the provisions of this supplementary regulation. You may not use the provisions of General Overriding Regulation 35.

Effective date. The effective date of this supplementary regulation is September 29, 1952.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

SR 1—CEILING PRICES FOR AGRICULTURAL AND GARDEN HAND TOOLS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6103) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 161 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation establishes new ceiling prices for manufacturers of agricultural and garden hand tools in view of the recently issued supplementary regulations to CPR 22 and the General Ceiling Price Regulation. The purpose of this supplementary regulation is to adjust the ceiling prices under CPR 161 to bring them to the same level as those agricultural and garden hand tools which are covered by CPR 22 or GCPR.

In view of the nature of this supplementary regulation, the Director has not found it necessary or practicable to consult formally with industry representatives. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable; are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; and comply with the applicable standards of that act.

A full statement of the reasons for this action is set forth in the Statement of Considerations for SR 34, Ceiling Price Regulation 22.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation the Director has consulted with representatives of the industry and has given consideration to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable; are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; and comply with the applicable standards of that act.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales by manufacturers of agricultural and garden hand tools, replacing those previously established under sections 3, 4, 6, and 7 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. All provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation not inconsistent with this supplementary regulation remain in effect.

SEC. 2. Commodities covered by this supplementary regulation. The commodities covered by this regulation are agricultural and garden hand tools, known in the trade as "steel goods". SECTION 1. What this order does. This order sets out the procedures by which petroleum and gas operators in the United States and Canada are authorized to use priority symbols to secure materials for their operations, including MRO material and material for production and construction operations. Priority symbols, when authorized, are used by placing them on delivery orders for the materials required. Authority to use symbols to secure certain materials must be applied for on specific forms issued by the Petroleum Administration for Defense. These forms must be used for all requirements of casing, tubing, and drill pipe; for certain quantities of line pipe; and for all material going into large construction operations as defined in this order. To use symbols to secure all other material, an operator simply places the appropriate symbol, in accordance with the rules of this order, on his delivery order. Depending on the dollar amount of the delivery order, it must be filed for approval or information, and in some cases it need not be filed at all. When forms or delivery orders are required to be filed, the order provides that operators located in the United States must file with the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Washington, D. C., and Canadian operators with the Department of Defence Production, Toronto, Canada.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Operator" means: (1) Any person located in the United States to the extent that he is engaged in the petroleum and gas industries (domestic operator), or (2) any person located in the Dominion of Canada to the extent that he is engaged in the petroleum and gas industries (Canadian operator).

(b) "United States" means the United States, its territories and possessions.

An appropriate symbol, together with a quarterly designation, constitutes an allotment symbol, which the operator may use, where authorized, to obtain given quantities of controlled material. An appropriate symbol preceded by the letters "DO" constitutes a rating symbol which the applicant may apply, where authorized, to obtain material or products other than controlled material. In no event, however, may any allotment symbol or rating symbol provided for in this order be used to obtain any materials in violation of the rules of Schedule C of this order.

(b) Symbols for operations in United States. The following are the symbols which may be used by an operator to procure material for use in the petroleum and gas industries in the United States:

H-9—MRO material.
H-1—Material for use in a construction operation.
H-2—Material for use in a production operation.
H-2E—Emergency requirements of oil well casing and tubing.

(c) Symbols for operations in Canada. The following are the symbols which may be used by an operator to procure material for uses in the petroleum and gas industries in Canada:

G-6—Material for use in a construction operation.
G-7—Material for all other uses.

The rules whereby priority assistance is made available to petroleum and gas operators in Canada are the same as the rules for domestic operators, with the following exceptions. The Canadian symbols G-6 and DO-G-6 shall be substituted for the symbols H-1 and DO-H-1, and the Canadian symbols G-7 and DO-G-7 shall be substituted for the symbols H-2, DO-H-2, H-9, and DO-H-9, wherever such symbols appear in this order. No symbol equivalent to the symbol H2E is available for use by Canadian operators.

(d) Examples. If a domestic operator is given an allotment of controlled material for use in a production operation and is authorized to take delivery of such material in the second quarter of 1952, the complete symbol which he uses on his delivery orders is H-2-2Q52. If a domestic operator needs material other than controlled material for a construction operation, and he is authorized to use priority assistance pursuant to this order, the rating symbol he uses to identify his order is DO-H-1. If a Canadian operator needs MRO material which is not controlled material, and he is authorized to use priority assistance pursuant to this order, the rating symbol he uses to identify his order is DO-G-7.

SEC. 4. Assistance for MRO material.—(a) Introductory. To use the allotment symbol H-9 and the rating symbol DO-H-9 to secure MRO material, different procedures are prescribed for (1) line pipe, (2) MRO material other than MRO material for administrative operations and line pipe, (3) MRO material for administrative operations, and (4) emergency MRO material.

(b) Line pipe for use as MRO material. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H-9 to secure line pipe for use as MRO material, an operator must follow the procedure set out in section 7 of this order.

(c) MRO material other than MRO for administrative operations and line pipe. To use the allotment symbol H-9 or the rating symbol DO-H-9 to secure MRO material other than MRO material for administrative operations and line pipe, an operator must place on each delivery order the allotment symbol H-9 or the rating symbol DO-H-9, together with a certification, and, where required by section 8 of this order, shall submit copies of each such order for approval or information.

(d) MRO material for administrative operations. To use the allotment symbol H-9 or the rating symbol DO-H-9 to secure MRO material for administrative operations, an operator must establish a quota in accordance with the provisions of Schedule D of this order, and thereafter shall place on each delivery order for material the appropriate symbol together with a certification: Provided, however, That an operator may not use either symbol to secure any MRO material for administrative operations in excess of his quota. Delivery orders for MRO material for administrative operations are not required to be filed for either approval or information under section 8 of this order.

(e) Emergency MRO material. Where there has been an actual breakdown or suspension of operations and the procedures of section 4 (b), (c), and (d) of this order will not enable an operator to obtain the necessary material on the date or in the quantity required, he may request authorization to use the allotment symbol H-9 or the rating symbol DO-H-9 to obtain emergency MRO material. Such request may be made by letter, telegram, or telephone, and shall state (1) the price, quantity, and a detailed description of the material required, (2) the operations affected, (3) the branch of the industry, (4) a description of the equipment to be repaired and its function in maintaining continuous operations, (5) the number and the date of delivery orders therefor, and (6) the supplier or suppliers from whom the material is to be obtained. If the request is made by telephone, it must be confirmed within 3 days by letter or telegram. If the request is approved, the operator, in order to use the symbols H–9 or DO–H–9 to obtain delivery of the required materials, must place the symbol, together with a certification, on each delivery order for such material, and must file one copy of every such delivery order for information.

SEC. 5. Assistance for production operations—(a) Introductory. This section prescribes how the allotment symbol H–2 and the rating symbol DO–H–2 shall be used to procure materials for all production operations except production offices and camp facilities. For the purpose of this order, production offices and camp facilities are deemed construction operations, and to obtain materials for such operations the procedures of section 6 must be used. Different procedures are established for acquiring (1) casing and tubing, (2) drill pipe, (3) line pipe, and (4) all other materials. Furthermore, different procedures are prescribed for obtaining normal and emergency requirements of casing and tubing, and drill pipe. In general, normal requirements of casing and tubing and drill pipe are the quantities necessary to meet an operator's projected quarterly drilling program, including exploratory wells. Emergency requirements are the quantities of casing and tubing, or drill pipe found necessary to carry out exploratory operations, drilling obligations, or the like, in circumstances where sufficient materials are not on hand, readily available, or otherwise obtainable without the use of priorities assistance.

(b) Casing and tubing. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–2 to secure normal requirements of casing and tubing, an operator must file Form PAD 17 (Domestic Petroleum Operator's Quarterly Requirements Statement of New Casing and Tubing) for each PAD district in which, during the calendar quarter when delivery of material is required, operations are to be conducted. Where an operator proposes to undertake operations during a quarter in more than one PAD district, he must file at the same time a summary report of all proposed operations, using Form PAD 17. One copy of Form PAD 17 will be returned to the operator after review by the Petroleum Administration for Defense, and the operator will be advised of the quantity of casing and tubing which may be obtained by the use of the symbol H–2. To use the symbol to obtain deliveries of the quantities authorized, an operator must place the symbol, together with a certification, on each delivery order for such material.

(c) Drill pipe. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–2 to secure normal requirements of drill pipe, an operator must file Form PAD 17DP (Domestic Operator's Drill Pipe Inventory Statement and Requirements Application) for those operations which will be conducted during the calendar quarter when delivery of the material is required. One copy of Form PAD 17DP will be returned to the operator after review by the Petroleum Administration for Defense, and the operator will be advised of the quantity of drill pipe which may be obtained by the use of the symbol H–2. To use the symbol to obtain deliveries of the quantities authorized, an operator must place the symbol, together with a certification, on each delivery order for such material.

(d) Line pipe. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–2 to secure requirements of line pipe for production operations, an operator must follow the procedure set out in section 7 of this order.

(e) All other material. To use the allotment symbol H–2 or the rating symbol DO–H–2 to obtain any other material required for production operations, other than emergency requirements of casing and tubing, or drill pipe, an operator must place on each delivery order the appropriate allotment or rating symbol, together with a certification, and, where required by section 8 of this order, copies of each such order shall be submitted for approval or information.

(f) Supplemental requests. After Form PAD 17 or PAD 17DP has been returned to an operator, he may find that the quantities authorized are inadequate for his normal requirements during the ensuing calendar quarter. In that event, the operator may file a supplemental request for casing and tubing, or drill pipe. This filing should be by Form PAD 17 for casing and tubing, or Form PAD 17DP for drill pipe, accompanied by an explanatory letter in duplicate. The filing should be within 2 weeks of the time that the operator receives his original authorization or his returned application. Each supplemental request should make reference to the operator's original application by Petroleum Administration for Defense file number. In the event that additional quantities are authorized, the operator will be appropriately notified and may then apply the allotment symbol H–2 to his delivery orders for these quantities in the manner specified in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(g) Emergency requirements of casing and tubing, or drill pipe. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–2E to secure emergency requirements of casing and tubing, or the allotment symbol H–2 to secure emergency requirements of drill pipe, an operator must file Form PAD 15 (Emergency Requirements Application for Casing and Tubing) for casing and tubing, and Form PAD 17DPE for drill pipe. The operator will thereafter be advised of the quantities of material for which he is authorized to use the appropriate allotment symbol (H–2E for casing and tubing or H–2 for drill pipe), which symbol may then be used by placing it on each delivery order, together with a certification.

SEC. 6. Assistance for construction operations—(a) Introductory. This section describes the procedure for obtaining authorization to use the allotment symbol H–1 and the rating symbol DO–H–1 to procure materials for all construction operations, and describes how such symbols may be used. For the purposes of this order, production offices and camp facilities are deemed construction operations.

(b) Large construction operations. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–1 or the rating symbol DO–H–1 to secure material for a large construction operation, an operator must file Form PAD 26 (Application to Complete or Construct a Petroleum or Gas Project). After its review, the operator will be advised of the quantities of material which may be obtained by the use of the symbols. To use either symbol to obtain delivery of the quantities authorized, an operator must place the symbol, together with a certification, on each delivery order for such material.

(c) Small construction operations. To use the allotment symbol H–1 or the rating symbol DO–H–1 to obtain material for a small construction operation, an operator must place the appropriate symbol on each delivery order for material to be used in the operation, together with a certification, and, where required by section 8 of this order, must file copies of each such order for approval or information: Provided, however, That to use the allotment symbol H–1 to secure line pipe for a small construction operation, an operator must follow the procedure set out in section 7 of this order.

SEC. 7. Assistance in procuring line pipe—(a) Introductory. To use the allotment symbols of this order to obtain line pipe, different procedures are prescribed depending on whether the line pipe (1) is for use in a large construction operation, (2) is for use in any other operation (MRO, production, small construction), and the operator's total quarterly line pipe requirement for all these other operations is $5,000 or more, or (3) is for use in any other operation (MRO, production, small construction), and the operator's total quarterly line pipe requirement for all these other operations is less than $5,000.

(b) Line pipe for large construction operation. To obtain authorization to use the allotment symbol H–1 to secure line pipe for use in a large construction operation, an operator must file Form PAD 26 in accordance with section 6 (b) of this order.

(c) Line pipe for other operations, where line pipe requirements total $5,000 or more. When an operator's combined requirement of line pipe in any calendar quarter for use as MRO material, for use in production operations, and for use in small construction operations, totals $5,000 or more, the operator, to use the allotment symbols H–1, H–2, or H–9 to obtain line pipe for any of these uses, shall file Form PAD 26LP (Domestic Operator's Quarterly Requirements Application for Line Pipe for MRO, Production, and Small Construction Operations).

(d) Line pipe for other operations, where line pipe requirements total less than $5,000. When an operator's combined requirement of line pipe in any calendar quarter for use as MRO material, for use in production operations, and for use in small construction operations, totals less than $5,000, the operator, to use the allotment symbols H–1, H–2, or H–9 to obtain line pipe for any of these uses, shall either file Form PAD 26LP or shall place the appropriate allotment symbol on each delivery order, together with a certification, and where required by section 8 of this order, shall file copies of each such order for approval or information.

(e) Supplemental requests. When Form PAD 26LP is filed pursuant to this section, one copy of the form will be returned, after review by The Petroleum Administration for Defense, advising the operator of the quantity of line pipe which may be obtained by use of the allotment symbol. If the operator finds that the quantities authorized are inadequate to meet his requirements, he may file a supplemental request for line pipe, on Form PAD 26LP, accompanied by an explanatory letter in duplicate. The filing must be within 2 weeks of the time the operator receives his original authorization or his returned application. Each supplemental request should make reference to the operator's original application by Petroleum Administration for Defense file number. To use the authorized symbol to obtain deliveries of any quantity of line pipe authorized pursuant to either an original application or a supplemental request, the operator shall place the symbol, together with a certification, on each delivery order for such material.

SEC. 8. Filing of delivery orders—(a) Introductory. To obtain priorities assistance, certain delivery orders must be filed for approval, certain delivery orders must be filed for information, and certain delivery orders need not be filed either for information or approval. Where a delivery order must be filed for approval, the order must be submitted in duplicate, and an operator may not use any of the priority assistance of this order until there has been returned to him an approved copy of the order. In every instance where a delivery order is submitted for approval, an operator shall prepare a statement of the reasons why assistance is required, containing the following information: (1) The price, quantity, and a detailed description of the material required, including the weight, if controlled material (carbon and alloy steel in tons; copper, aluminum, and stainless steel in pounds); (2) the branch of industry in which the material will be used (see section 2 (e) of this order); (3) the number and date of the delivery order; (4) the date at which delivery must be made or has been promised by the supplier; (5) the reasons why timely delivery can not be effected without the assistance requested; (6) the relationship of the materials to operations (specific or actual enduse); and (7) the circumstances which justify assistance in the interests of national defense. This statement in duplicate should be submitted with, or as part of, the delivery order. Where a delivery order must be filed for information, one copy only need be filed. A delivery order need not be filed for approval or information if priority assistance has been authorized on Forms PAD 15, 17, 17DP, 26, or 26LP.

(b) Filing for approval. The following delivery orders must be filed for approval: (1) Any delivery order for controlled material if it is in a total amount specified in Item I of Schedule E of this order; and (2) any delivery order for other than controlled material if it is in a total amount specified in Item II of Schedule E.

(c) Filing for information. The following delivery orders must be submitted for information: (1) Any delivery order for controlled material if it is in a total amount specified in Item III of Schedule E of this order; and (2) any delivery order for other than controlled material if it is in a total amount specified in Item IV of Schedule E.

(d) No filing required. The following orders need not be submitted for approval or information: (1) Any delivery order for controlled material if it is in a total amount of less than the minimum amount specified in Item III of Schedule E of this order; and (2) any delivery order for other than controlled material if it is for a total amount of less than the minimum amount specified in Item IV of Schedule E.

(e) Limitation on use of self-authorization for construction operations. Paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section provide certain privileges of self-authorization to petroleum and gas operators for acquiring materials for their operations. Notwithstanding the provisions of these paragraphs, no operator may obtain by self-authorization, for any small construction operation, more than 25 tons of carbon and alloy steel including all types of structural shapes (but not to include more than 2½ tons of alloy steel and no stainless steel) per project per quarter.

SEC. 9. Revalidation. If an operator, who has received an allotment of controlled material, does not succeed in having his delivery order for such material accepted by the last day of the quarter for which the allotment was made, his allotment becomes invalid. An operator who is unable to obtain acceptance of a delivery order or whose allotment has become invalid as in the first sentence of this section may, at any time prior to the fifteenth day after the close of the quarter for which the allotment was made, request revalidation: Provided, however, That no revalidation can be requested for authorizations of oil well casing, oil well tubing, or oil well drill pipe. Any request for revalidation for material authorized originally on Form PAD 26 or Form PAD 26LP shall be submitted by letter in duplicate, and for material authorized originally on an approved delivery order, by delivery order in duplicate, giving in either case (a) reference to original PAD authorization covering the material for which revalidation is requested, (b) description of material (if authorized on Form PAD 26, give item number of section IIIB of that form), (c) total of items authorized (tons or pounds), (d) quantity of material for which revalidation is sought, (e) quarter and year in which material was allotted, (f) quarter and year for which revalidation is requested, and (g) names of vendors who refused acceptance of such delivery order covered by the request for revalidation.

SEC. 10. Filing requirements—(a) Where filings are to be made. Wherever in this order a form, request, application, delivery order, or other information is required to be filed or submitted, or whenever there is any communication relating to this order, a domestic operator shall file or communicate with the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Washington 25, D. C., and a Canadian operator shall file or communicate with the Petroleum Division, Department of Defence Production, Toronto, Canada.

(b) When filings are to be made. The following are the filing dates for the forms designated in this order:

Form PAD 15—As the emergency requires.

Form PAD 17—On or before the first day of the third month preceding the calendar quarter in which delivery of material is required.

Form PAD 17DP—On or before the fifteenth day of the fourth month preceding the calendar quarter in which delivery of material is required.

Form PAD 17DPE—As the emergency requires.

Form PAD 26—As far as possible in advance of the time an allotment of controlled materials and other priority assistance is required for use in the project.

Form PAD 26LP—On or before the first day of the fourth month preceding the calendar quarter in which delivery of material is required.

Whenever the last day for filing as specified above is either a Sunday or a legal holiday, the last day for filing shall be the next suceeding day which is not a Sunday or a legal holiday.

(c) Required copies. Whenever this order requires a filing of Form PAD 15, PAD 17, PAD 17DP, PAD 17DPE, PAD 26, or PAD 26LP, an original and 3 copies of such form shall be filed.

SEC. 11. Certification. Wherever in this order certification is required, the operator must state as follows:

The undersigned certifies that the symbol used hereon is authorized by and properly used pursuant to the provisions of NPA Order M–46.

SEC. 12. Allotments, cancellations, and inventory restoration—(a) Allotments. Any priority assistance obtained through this order when used in connection with a specific quantity of controlled material constitutes an allotment for the purposes of CMP Regulation No. 1. Any delivery order for controlled materials placed pursuant to this order and bearing the certification provided for in this order is an authorized controlled material order, provided that such delivery order must be in sufficient detail to permit entry on mill schedules and must be received by the controlled material producer or other supplier at such time as is specified in CMP Regulation No. 1 or at such later time as the controlled material producer may find is practicable to accept the order.

(b) Use and cancellation of allotments. If within 30 days of receiving an allotment of controlled material, or within 30 days after the commencement of the quarter for which such allotment is authorized, whichever date is later, an operator has not placed a delivery order for such material, or has elected not to use such allotment, he shall promptly notify the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Washington 25, D. C., or the Petroleum Division, Department of Defence Production, Toronto, Canada, as appropriate, of the facts, and the extent to which he has not placed delivery orders or has elected not to use the allotment. An operator who has placed a delivery order for controlled material pursuant to the authority of this order may, subject to established trade customs, cancel or reduce the same by notice in writing to the person with whom the order has been placed. Where an authorization received by an operator is canceled in whole or in part, he must, to the extent of the cancellation, cancel all delivery orders placed pursuant to that authorization.

(c) Inventory restoration. An operator may, subject to the provisions of this order, use a symbol duly authorized in accordance with the order to restore to a practicable working minimum his inventory of material where the inventory has been depleted through the use of MRO material necessary to a production or construction operation.

SEC. 13. Restrictions. (a) An operator may not use any symbol authorized pursuant to this order to obtain materials: (1) For any purpose other than a purpose authorized under this order, or in greater amounts or on earlier dates than required for any authorized purpose; (2) if it can be secured without the use of priorities assistance; (3) the use of which could be eliminated without serious loss of efficiency by substitution of less scarce material or by change of design; (4) of a type for which use of priorities assistance is prohibited as set forth in Schedule C of this order.

(b) If it develops, after a person has received delivery of controlled materials obtained pursuant to priorities assistance, that he can not use such material for the purpose for which authorized, he shall not use or dispose of such material except upon authorization of the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

SEC. 14. Authority. The Petroleum Administration for Defense may, pursuant to the provisions of Delegation 13 of the National Production Authority, as amended, take additional or other action in respect to the receipt, use, delivery, or other disposition of material covered by this order and priorities assistance therefor authorized pursuant to this order.

SEC. 15. Added use of assistance. The priorities assistance made available pursuant to this order may be used to secure services to the extent provided for in NPA Reg. 2, infra, as amended from time to time.

SEC. 16. Other orders. This order and all transactions affected hereby except as herein otherwise provided, are subject to all applicable orders and regulations of the National Production Authority as amended from time to time. None of the provisions of CMP Regulations Nos. 2, 4, 5, 6, or 7, supra, (or the limitations incorporated in any NPA or CMP regulation to the extent that they may be in conflict with the provisions of this order) shall apply to an operator, and no operator shall obtain any material under them or be limited by the provisions of such regulations or limitations to the extent that he is entitled to obtain material through the assistance made available by this order.

SEC. 17. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 18. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete reports of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority or the Petroleum Administration for Defense at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the Petroleum Administration for Defense and the National Production Authority as they shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 19. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material facts in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. Administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect September 30, 1952.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
By GEORGE W. AUXIER,
Executive Secretary.

SCHEDULE A OF NPA ORDER M–46—NONINDUSTRY USES OF MATERIAL

Other than as specifically provided for in this schedule, use of the following material shall not be considered as a use of material in the petroleum and gas industries:

(a) Material or equipment which is to be used by consumer accounts for or in the storage or dispensing of petroleum, including liquefied petroleum gas.

(b) Material or equipment which is to be used for transportation by means of a tank truck or trailer, railroad rolling stock, or marine equipment: Provided, That:

(1) Where material or equipment is to be used on a tank truck or trailer and is specialized petroleum or gas material or equipment which is actually to be attached to the truck or trailer and is necessary to the containing, dispensing, measuring the movement, or distributing of petroleum or gas, such use shall be considered a use of material in the petroleum and gas industries.

(2) Where material is to be used on railroad rolling stock and the rolling stock is owned or leased by the operator, used on his premises and in the petroleum industry, and is not under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, such use shall be considered a use of material in the petroleum and gas industries.

(3) Where material is to be used on marine equipment and the marine equipment is used or chartered by the operator, is used on or in the vicinity of his premises and in the petroleum industry, and is not under the jurisdiction of the United States Maritime Commission, the Navy Department, or any other Federal agency, for the purpose of establishing methods by which material incident to the operation of the marine equipment may be made available, such use shall be considered a use of material in the petroleum and gas industries.

SCHEDULE B OF NPA ORDER M–46—PETROLEUM ADMINISTRATION FOR DEFENSE DISTRICTS

District 2. Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, and North Dakota.

District 3. Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas, and New Mexico.

District 4. Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, and Idaho.

District 5. Arizona, California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Territory of Alaska, Hawaii, and Pacific possessions.

SCHEDULE C OF NPA ORDER M–46—ITEMS NOT OBTAINABLE THROUGH ANY SYMBOL IN THIS ORDER

No symbol specified in this order may be used to obtain any of the following materials: (a) any item of material on Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 5 as such schedule may be amended from time to time; (b) any item of material the procurement of which by the use of rating symbols is limited by NPA Reg. 2 as amended from time to time.

SCHEDULE D OF NPA ORDER M–48—QUOTA FOR MRO MATERIAL TO BE USED FOR ADMINISTRATIVE OPERATIONS

To establish a quota, pursuant to section 4(d) of NPA Order M–46, for MRO material to be used for administrative operations, an operator may elect any one of the 3 types of quotas described below. When an operator elects one quota, he may not change to either of the other two without permission.

(a) Standard quota. The standard quota is on a quarterly basis and is 30 percent of the dollar amount which the operator spent during the calendar year 1950 for MRO material for administrative operations. If he operated on a fiscal year basis, it is 30 percent of the dollar amount spent for MRO material for administrative operations during the fiscal year ending nearest December 31, 1950.

(b) Seasonal quota. The seasonal quota is 120 percent of the dollar amount which the operator spent during the corresponding calendar quarter of the calendar year 1950 for MRO material for administrative operations. If he operated on a fiscal year basis, it is 120 percent of the dollar amount spent for MRO material for administrative operations during the corresponding quarter of the fiscal year ending nearest December 31, 1950.

(c) Administrative quota. The administrative quota is a quota applied for to and determined by the Petroleum Administration for Defense or the Petroleum Division, Department of Trade and Commerce, which the operator may use in lieu of either the standard quota or seasonal quota. It is designed to provide relief where an operator was only in partial operation in 1950, did not operate at all in 1950, or has had such expansion of operations since 1950 that neither the standard quota nor seasonal quota properly represents the operator's demands for MRO material to be used for administrative purposes. An application for an administrative quota must be made by letter, with 3 copies, setting forth in full the circumstances as to the applicant's operations which make inappropriate the use of either the standard quota or the seasonal quota. An operator may use only a standard quota or seasonal quota until he has received authority to use the administrative quota.

Item II: $5,000 or more, or $1,500 or more for any line item, as defined in this order.
Item III: $100 or more but less than $500.
Item IV: $500 or more but less than $5,000 with no line item $1,500 or more.

[NPA Order M–46B as amended September 30, 1952]

M–46B—CONSTRUCTION LIMITATIONS FOR THE PETROLEUM AND GAS INDUSTRIES OF THE UNITED STATES

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the authority of the Defense Production Act of 1950 as amended. In the formulation of this amended order, consultation with industry representatives has been impracticable due to the need for immediate action and because the order applies to all branches of the petroleum and gas industries.

EXPLANATORY

This amended order revises NPA Order M–46B of June 1, 1951, by making the following changes:

1. The use of material permitted for a construction operation in section 5 (a) (3) is changed to permit the use of material in a small construction operation.

2. The references to NPA Order M–4 in section 9 have been supplanted by references to Revised CMP Regulation No. 6.

3. New sections 11, 12, and 13 have been added to include standard provisions for adjustment or exceptions, records and reports, and communications, respectively.

This material or equipment shall not, however, include material for use in the construction of laboratory buildings or other structures.

SEC. 3. Scope. Provisions of this order shall be applicable to the petroleum and gas industries in the United States, its territories and possessions. (b) A production or construction operation will be deemed to have commenced if there has been substantial site clearance (including demolition of buildings or structures) preliminary to the start of or incident to the proposed construction operation, or if there has actually been incorporated as a part of a construction operation a substantial quantity of material which is to be an integral and permanent part of the completed operation.

SEC. 6. Application for authorization to use material. (a) Where a person wants to use material in the petroleum and gas industries but cannot do so because of the preceding provisions of this order, he must make application for authorization to use material on PAD Form 26. Five copies of the form should be prepared. One copy should be retained by the applicant, and the original and three copies, together with supporting attachments, should be sent to the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Interior Building, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-46B.

SEC. 8. Defense against claims for damages. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any regulation or order of the National Production Authority or the Petroleum Administration for Defense (including any direction, directive, or other instruction) notwithstanding that any such regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by judicial or other competent authority invalid.

GENERAL

SEC. 9. Applicability of Revised CMP Regulation No. 6. Every operator shall be bound by the provisions of this order to the extent that this order is applicable to him or his operations; and except as specified herein, no operator is bound by or will be governed by the provisions of Revised CMP Regulation No. 6, as amended from time to time. Limitations on the construction of service stations will continue to be imposed by Revised CMP Regulation No. 6. Operators must make application for authority to construct a service station pursuant to the provisions of that regulation. No operator shall use any copper or aluminum controlled material in violation of Article V of Revised CMP Regulation No. 6.

SEC. 10. Authority. The Petroleum Administration for Defense may, pursuant to the provisions of Delegation 13 of the National Production Authority, as amended, take additional or other action in respect to the receipt, use, delivery, or other disposition of material covered by this order.

SEC. 11. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor.

SEC. 12. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority or the Petroleum Administration for Defense, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority or the Petroleum Administration for Defense as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 13. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Petroleum Administration for Defense, Interior Building, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M-46B.

SEC. 14. Violations. Any person who willfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority or the Petroleum Administration for Defense, or who furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against such person to suspend any authority to use material or any other assistance as may be rendered pursuant to the provisions of this order.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This order as amended shall take effect September 30, 1952.

SEC. 125. EFFECTIVE DATE (PART II, TITLE I, REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

The amendments made by this part [inc. sec. 121 (a)] shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, and to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1951, and ending on December 31, 1951, * * * For treatment of taxable years (other than the calendar year 1951) beginning before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951, see section 131.

PAR. 2. Section 29.13–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5517, approved June 12, 1946, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking out the period in the headnote of the section and the first sentence of paragraph (a) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "—(a) Taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950). For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), section 13 imposes an income tax on corporations in general the normal-tax net income of which is more than $25,000."

(C) By striking out in paragraph (e) of the section the following introductory sentence: "This section may be illustrated by the following examples:" and inserting in lieu thereof the following introductory sentence: "The computation of the tax under section 13 may be illustrated by the following examples:".

(D) By adding at the end of the section the following new paragraph (f):

(f) Calendar year 1950 and taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950. (1) For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, section 13 imposes an income tax on corporations generally. Every corporation is liable to the tax imposed by such section, except (i) corporations expressly exempt from all taxation under Chapter 1 (see section 101); (ii) corporations subject to tax under Supplement U (see section 421); (iii) foreign corporations not engaged in trade or business within the United States (see section 231 (a)); (iv) insurance companies (see Supplement G); and (v) regulated investment companies (see Supplement Q).

(2) It makes no difference that a domestic corporation subject to any tax imposed by section 13 may derive no income from sources within the United States. The tax imposed by section 13 for a taxable year is computed upon the "normal-tax net income" for the taxable year, that is, the adjusted net income for such year minus (i) the credit for dividends received provided in section 26 (b) for such year, and (ii), in the case of a public utility, the credit for dividends paid on its preferred stock provided in section 26 (h) for such year, and (iii), in the case of a Western Hemisphere trade corporation (see section 109), the credit provided in section 26 (i) for such year. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. For taxable years beginning before April 1, 1954, and ending after March 31, 1954, see § 29.108–9. The "adjusted net income" of a corporation is the net income as defined in section 21 minus the credit provided in section 26 (a), relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities.

(3) The tax imposed by section 13 is payable upon the basis of returns rendered by the corporations liable thereto, except that in some cases a tax is to be paid at the source of the income (see also sections 47, 52, 53, 144, and 235). For what the term "corporation" includes and for the difference between domestic and foreign corporations, see section 3797 (a). For treatment of the tax imposed on foreign corporations engaged in trade or business within the United States, see § 29.231–1 (b). In the case of foreign corporations not engaged in trade or business within the United States, the tax is as provided in section 231 (a). In the case of insurance companies, the tax is as provided in Supplement G (sections 201 to 207, inclusive). In the case of regulated investment companies, the tax is as provided in Supplement Q (sections 361 and 362). In the case of corporations subject to tax under Supplement U, the tax is as provided in sections 421 to 424, inclusive. For surtax on corporations generally, see § 29.15–1. For surtax on personal holding companies, see sections 500 to 511, inclusive. For surtax on corporations improperly accumulating surplus, see section 102. For treatment of capital gains and losses, see section 117. For treatment of mutual savings banks conducting life insurance business, see section 110.

(4) The tax imposed by section 13 for a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for a taxable year beginning after June 30, 1950, is computed by applying to the "normal-tax net income" the rate in effect for such taxable year. The rates of tax under section 13 applicable for the respective taxable years are as follows:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	23
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951)	25
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951	23¾
For taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, and before April 1, 1954	30
For taxable years beginning after March 31, 1954	25

(5) The computation of the tax under section 13 may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. The A Corporation, a domestic corporation (which is neither a public utility referred to in section 26 (h) nor a Western Hemisphere trade corporation referred to in section 26 (i)), has for the calendar year 1951 a net income of $130,000, including interest on United States obligations (allowable as a credit under section 26 (a)) in the amount of $10,000 and cash dividends received (allowable as a credit under section 26 (b) (1)) in the amount of $10,000. The corporation's tax under section 13 for the calendar year 1951 is $32,056.25, computed as follows:

Net income		$130,000
Less credit for interest on United States obligations		10,000
Adjusted net income		120,000
Less credit for dividends received (85 percent of $10,000)		8,500
Normal-tax net income		111,500
Tax under section 13 (b) (1) (28¾ percent of $111,500)		32,056.25

In the case of taxable years beginning before April 1, 1951, any reference in section 15 (a) or 26 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code to dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility shall be construed as referring only to dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit provided in section 26 (h) of such Code for dividends paid was allowable.

PAR. 6. Section 29.15–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5517, is further amended as follows:

(A) By striking out the period in the headnote of the section and the first sentence of paragraph (a) of the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "—(a) Taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950). For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), section 15 imposes a surtax upon the corporation surtax net income of every corporation, except (1) corporations expressly exempt from taxation under chapter 1 (see section 101), (2) Western Hemisphere trade corporations (see section 109), (3) foreign corporations taxable under section 231 (a), (4) insurance companies (see Supplement G), and (5) regulated investment companies (see Supplement Q)."

(B) By striking out the second sentence of paragraph (b) and the second sentence of paragraph (d) of the section and inserting in lieu of each the following: "For the purposes of determining the corporation surtax net income, dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit for dividends paid is allowable under section 26 (h) must be disregarded in computing the credit provided in section 26 (b) for dividends received."

(C) By inserting in the first sentence of paragraph (d) and in the first sentence of paragraph (e) of the section after "For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945," the following: "and before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950),".

(D) By adding at the end of paragraph (g) of the section the following: "For treatment of taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4."

(E) By adding at the end of the section the following new paragraph (i):

(i) Calendar year 1950 and taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950. (1) For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, section 15 imposes a surtax upon the corporation surtax net income of every corporation, except (i) corporations expressly exempt from all taxation under chapter 1 (see section 101), (ii) corporations subject to tax under Supplement U (see section 421), (iii) foreign corporations not engaged in trade or business within the United States (see section 231 (a)), (iv) insurance companies (see Supplement G), and (v) regulated investment companies (see Supplement Q). For surtax on personal holding companies, see sections 500 to 511, inclusive. For surtax on corporations improperly accumulating surplus, see section 102. For treatment of capital gains and losses, see section 117. For treatment of mutual savings banks conducting life insurance business, see section 110.

(2) (i) For such taxable years, the "corporation surtax net income" of a corporation is its net income for the taxable year minus (a) the credit for dividends received provided in section 26 (b) for such year, and (b), in the case of a public utility, the credit for dividends paid on its preferred stock provided in section 26 (h) for such year, and (c), in the case of a Western Hemisphere trade corporation (see section 109), the credit provided in section 26 (i) for such year. The credit provided in section 26 (a) for interest received on obligations of the United States or its instrumentalities is not allowable in computing corporation surtax net income for any taxable year.

(ii) Section 15 imposes a surtax only upon so much of the corporation surtax net income as is in excess of $25,000. For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950, the surtax on corporations is determined by computing a tentative surtax of 19 percent of the amount of the corporation surtax net income in excess of $25,000, and by reducing such tentative surtax by an amount equal to 1 percent of the lower of (a) the amount of the credit provided in section 26 (a), relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities, or (b), the amount by which the corporation surtax net income exceeds $25,000. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, the surtax on corporations is at the rate of 22 percent and is upon corporation surtax net income in excess of $25,000.

(3) For treatment of taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. For treatment of taxable years beginning before April 1, 1954, and ending after March 31, 1954, see § 29.108–9.

(4) The computation of the surtax on corporations may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The A Corporation, a domestic corporation (which is neither a public utility referred to in section 26 (h) nor a Western Hemisphere trade corporation referred to in section 26 (i)), has for the calendar year 1950 a net income of $86,000. The net income includes cash dividends received from a corporation (allowable as a credit under section 26 (b) (1)) in the amount of $10,000, and interest on United States obligations (allowable as a credit under section 26 (a) in determining adjusted net income for purposes of corporation normal tax) in the amount of $10,000. The A Corporation's surtax for the calendar year 1950 is $9,675, computed as follows:

Net income		$86,000
Less credit for dividends received (85 percent of $10,000)		8,500
Corporation surtax net income		77,500
Tentative surtax (19 percent of $52,500, the excess of $77,500 over $25,000)		9,975
Less the lower of:
1 percent of $10,000 (amount of the credit provided in sec. 26 (a))	$100 or
1 percent of $52,500 (the excess of $77,500 (corporation surtax net income) over $25,000)	525	100
Surtax		9,875

Example (2). The facts are the same as in example (1), above, except that the taxable year is the calendar year 1951 instead of the calendar year 1950. The A Corporation's surtax for the calendar year 1951 is $11,550, computed as follows:

Net income	$86,000
Less credit for dividends received (85 percent of $10,000)	8,500
Corporation surtax net income	77,500
Surtax (22 percent of $52,500, the excess of $77,500 over $25,000)	11,550

For the purpose of this subsection (but not for the purposes of computing adjusted net income), if the whole or any part of a dividend is received after August 31, 1950, in property other than money, then, with respect to such property, the shareholder shall not be considered to have received as a dividend an amount in excess of the adjusted basis of such property in the hands of the

In the case of taxable years beginning before April 1, 1951, any reference in section 15 (a) or 26 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code to dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility shall be construed as referring only to dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit provided in section 26 (h) of such Code for dividends paid was allowable.

PAR. 8. Section 29.26–5, as amended by Treasury Decision 5384, approved June 30, 1944, is further amended as follows:

(A) By amending the first sentence of paragraph (a) (1) of the section to read as follows: "(1) A credit is provided in section 26 (h) for dividends paid during the taxable year by certain public utility corporations on certain preferred stock."

For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, the credit provided in section 26 (h) is an amount equal to a specified percent of the lesser of (i) the amount of the dividends paid during the taxable year by a public utility on its preferred stock or (ii) the adjusted net income of the public utility for such taxable year minus the credit for dividends received allowable to such public utility for such taxable year under section 26 (b). The specified percent applicable for the respective taxable years is as follows:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	33
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951)	30
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951	23
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	27
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	30

For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. (E) By striking out the second and fourth sentences of the example following paragraph (c) (2) of the section.

PAR. 9. There is inserted immediately after § 29.26–5, as amended by Treasury Decision 5384, the following new sections:

§ 29.26–6 Credit for dividends received—(a) Dividends on stock of domestic corporation. A credit is provided in section 26 (b) for dividends received from a domestic corporation which is subject to taxation under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code. Such credit of a corporation for a taxable year is, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, an amount equal to 85 percent of such dividends received by the corporation during the taxable year. For the purpose of determining the corporation surtax net income for taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit for dividends paid provided in section 26 (h) is allowable to the distributing corporation shall be disregarded in determining the credit under this paragraph. The credit under this paragraph for a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, shall be determined without regard to dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit for dividends paid provided in section 26 (h) is allowable to the distributing corporation. For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For credit for such dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility, see paragraph (b) of this section. If a credit for dividends paid is not allowable to the distributing corporation under section 26 (h) with respect to the dividends on its preferred stock, such dividends received from a domestic public utility corporation subject to taxation under chapter 1 are includible in determining the credit under this paragraph.

(b) Dividends on certain preferred stock of public utilities. For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, a credit is provided in section 26 (b) (2) for dividends received on certain preferred stock of certain public utility corporations subject to taxation under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code. Such credit is allowable only for dividends received on the preferred stock of a public utility with respect to which the credit for dividends paid provided in section 26 (h) is allowable to the distributing corporation. The credit of a corporation under section 26 (b) (2) for a taxable year is, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, an amount equal to the following percent of such dividends received by the corporation during the taxable year:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	57
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951)	59
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951	61
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	62
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	59

For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. For taxable years beginning before April 1, 1954, and ending after March 31, 1954, see § 29.108–9.

(c) Dividends on stock of certain foreign corporations. (1) For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, a credit is provided in section 26 (b) (3) for dividends received from a foreign corporation (other than a foreign personal holding company as defined in section 331) which is subject to taxation under chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code if, for an uninterrupted period of not less than 36 months ending with the close of the foreign corporation's taxable year in which the dividends are paid, such foreign corporation has been engaged in trade or business within the United States and has derived 50 percent or more of its gross income from sources within the United States. If the foreign corporation has been in existence less than 36 months as of the close of the taxable year in which the dividends are paid, then the applicable uninterrupted period to be taken into consideration in lieu of the uninterrupted period of 36 or more months is the entire period such corporation has been in existence as of the close of such taxable year. An uninterrupted period which satisfies the twofold requirement with respect to business activity and gross income may start at a date later than the date on which the foreign corporation first commenced an uninterrupted period of engaging in trade or business within the United States, but the applicable uninterrupted period is in any event the longest uninterrupted period which satisfies such twofold requirement.

(2) The credit of a corporation under section 26 (b) (3) for a taxable year is, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, an amount equal to 85 percent of such dividends—

(i) Received out of the foreign corporation's earnings or profits for its taxable year in which the dividends are paid (computed as of the close of such taxable year without diminution by reason of any distributions made during such taxable year) without regard to the amount of the earnings and profits at the time the distribution was made, but not in excess of an amount which bears the same ratio to 85 percent of such dividends received

as the gross income of the foreign corporation for such taxable year from sources within the United States bears to its gross income from all sources for such year, and

(ii) Received out of that part of the foreign corporation's earnings or profits accumulated after February 28, 1913, which has accumulated after the beginning of the applicable uninterrupted period, but not in excess of an amount which bears the same ratio to 85 percent of such dividends received as the gross income of the foreign corporation from sources within the United States for that portion of the applicable uninterrupted period which ends at the beginning of its taxable year in which the dividends are paid bears to its gross income from all sources for the same portion of such applicable uninterrupted period.

(3) The determination of earnings or profits distributed in any taxable year shall be made in accordance with the principles of section 115 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code. For the determination of the source of income, see section 119 and the regulations thereunder.

(4) The application of section 26 (b) (3) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). Corporation A (a foreign corporation filing its income tax return on a calendar year basis) whose stock is 100 percent owned by Corporation B (a domestic corporation filing its income tax return on a calendar year basis) for the first time engaged in trade or business within the United States on January 1, 1940, and qualifies under section 26 (b) (3) for the entire period beginning on that date and ending on December 31, 1951. Corporation A had accumulated earnings or profits of $50,000 immediately prior to January 1, 1940, and had earnings or profits of $10,000 for each taxable year during the uninterrupted period from January 1, 1940, through December 31, 1951. It derived for the period from January 1, 1940, through December 31, 1950, 90 percent of its gross income from sources within the United States, and in 1951 derived 95 percent of its gross income from sources within the United States. During the calendar years 1940, 1941, 1942, 1943, and 1944 Corporation A distributed in each year $15,000; during the calendar years 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950 it distributed in each year $5,000; and during the year 1951, $50,000. For 1951 a dividends received credit of $31,025 is allowable to Corporation B with respect to the $50,000 received from Corporation A, computed as follows:

(i) $8,075 which is $8,500 (85 percent of the $10,000 of earnings or profits of the taxable year) multiplied by 95 percent (the portion of the gross income of Corporation A derived during the taxable year from sources within the United States), plus

(ii) $22,950 which is $25,500 (85 percent of $30,000 (that part of the earnings or profits accumulated after the beginning of the uninterrupted period)) multiplied by 90 percent (the portion of the gross income of Corporation A derived from sources within the United States during that portion of the uninterrupted period ending at the beginning of the taxable year).

Example (2). If in example (1) Corporation A for the taxable year 1951 had incurred a deficit of $10,000 (shown to have been incurred prior to December 31), and if it had distributed $50,000 on December 31, 1951, the dividends received credit allowable to Corporation B would be $15,300, computed by multiplying $17,000 (85 percent of $20,000 earnings or profits accumulated after the beginning of the uninterrupted period) by 90 percent (the portion of the gross income of Corporation A derived from United States sources during that portion of the uninterrupted period ending at the beginning of the taxable year).

(5) For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6.

(d) Limitations on credit. No credit is allowable under section 26 (b) in respect of dividends received from a corporation organized under the China Trade Act, 1922, 42 Stat. 849 (U. S. C., title 15, c. 4), or from a corporation which under section 251 is taxable only on its gross income from sources within the United States by reason of its receiving a large percentage of its gross income from sources within a possession of the United States. For taxable years beginning before January 1, 1946, the credit under section 26 (b) is limited to 85 percent of the corporation's adjusted net income reduced by the credit provided in section 26 (e) for income subject to the excess profits tax imposed by subchapter E of chapter 2 of the Internal Revenue Code. For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945, and ending before January 1, 1950, the credit under section 26 (b) is limited to 85 percent of the corporation's adjusted net income. For taxable years ending after December 31, 1949, the credit under section 26 (b) (that is, the sum of the credits determined under paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section) is limited to 85 percent of the corporation's adjusted net income computed without regard to the deduction for net operating loss allowed by section 23 (s). For the purpose of section 26 (b) and this section (but not for the purpose of computing adjusted net income), if the whole or any part of a dividend is received after August 31, 1950, in property other than money, the amount of such dividend in such property shall not be considered to be in excess of the adjusted basis of such property in the hands of the distributing corporation at the time of distribution increased in the amount of gain or decreased in the amount of loss recognized to the distributing corporation by reason of such distribution. In no event shall the amount of the dividend in property other than money be treated as an amount greater than the fair market value of such property received by the shareholder. For definition of the term "adjusted net income", see section 13 (a) (1) and § 29.13–1. For taxable years beginning in 1945 and ending in 1946, see § 29.108–2.

§ 29.26–7 Credit of Western Hemisphere trade corporations. For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, a credit is provided in section 26 (i) for Western Hemisphere trade corporations as defined in section 109. The credit under section 26 (i) of a Western Hemisphere trade corporation for a taxable year is an amount equal to the following percent of its normal-tax net income for such taxable year computed without regard to such credit:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	33
For taxable yeara beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951)	30
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951	28
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	27
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	30

For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. For taxable years beginning before April 1, 1954, and ending after March 31, 1954, see § 29.108–9.

PAR. 10. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.52–1 the following:

SEC. 124. FILING OF CORPORATION RETURNS FOR TAXABLE YEARS ENDING AFTER MARCH 31, 1951, AND BEFORE OCTOBER 1, 1951 (REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

In the case of a corporation subject to a tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code for a taxable year ending after March 31, 1951, but prior to October 1, 1951, such corporation shall after the date of the enactment of this act and on or before January 15, 1952, make a return for such taxable year with respect to the tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code for such taxable year. The return required by this section for such taxable year shall constitute the return for such taxable year for all purposes of the Internal Revenue Code; and no return for such taxable year, with respect to any tax imposed by chapter 1 of such code, filed on or before the date of the enactment of this act shall be considered for any of such purposes as a return for such year. The taxes imposed by chapter 1 of such code (determined with the amendments made by this act) for such taxable year shall be paid on January 15, 1952, in lieu of the time prescribed in section 56 (a) of such code. All payments with respect to any tax for such taxable year imposed by chapter 1 of such code under the law in effect prior to the enactment of this act, to the extent that such payments have not been credited or refunded, shall be deemed payments made at the time of the filing of the return required by this section on account of the tax for such taxable year under Chapter 1 determined with the amendments made by this act.

PAR. 11. There is inserted immediately after § 29.52–3, as added by Treasury Decision 5861, approved October 18, 1951, the following new section:

§ 29.52–4 Certain corporation returns for taxable years ending after March 31, 1951, and before October 1, 1951. The return of a corporation subject to a tax imposed by chapter 1 of the Internal Revenue Code for a taxable year ending after March 31, 1951, and before October 1, 1951, shall be filed after October 20, 1951 (the date of enactment of the Revenue Act of 1951), and on or before January 15, 1952. Such return shall constitute the return for such taxable year, and no return for such taxable year filed on or before October 20, 1951, shall be considered as a return for such taxable year. The taxes for such taxable year shall be paid on or before January 15, 1952. All payments of tax (including interest, penalties, and additions to the tax) for such taxable year made on or before October 20, 1951, shall be deemed to be payments of tax made at the time of the filing of the return required by this section to be filed on or before January 15, 1952, except to the extent any such payments are credited or refunded prior to the time such return is filed. The provisions of § 29.56–1 (b) (3) (ii) and (iv) shall apply with respect to the payment of such tax by installment payments, and for such purpose, the date prescribed for the payment of the tax as a single payment is January 15, 1952.

PAR. 12. Section 29.53–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5893, approved April 4, 1952, is further amended by adding at the end of the section the following undesignated paragraph:

For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, the normal tax shall be computed as provided in section 13 (b) for such years. For what constitutes normal-tax net income for the respective taxable years, see § 29.13–1. For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), the surtax shall be at the rate specified in section 15 (b) for such years. For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, the surtax shall be computed as provided in section 15 (b) for such years. SEC. 125. EFFECTIVE DATE (PART II, TITLE I, REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

The amendments made by this part (inc. sec. 121 (c)) shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, and to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1951, and ending on December 31, 1951, except that the amendments made to sections 207 • • • of the Internal Revenue Code shall be applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending after March 31, 1951. In the case of an insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 207, the provisions of section 26 (b) of such code applicable to the calendar year 1951 shall be applicable to a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951. • • •

PAR. 22. Section 29.207–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5600, approved February 2, 1948, is further amended as follows:

(A) By adding after the third sentence in paragraph (a) (2) of this section the following: "With respect to the credit for dividends received provided in section 26 (b) for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951, the provisions of section 26 (b) applicable to the calendar year 1951 shall, in the case of such companies, be applicable to such taxable years."

(B) By inserting in the headnote of paragraph (c) of the section after "Taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945" the following: ", and before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950)".

(C) By inserting in the first sentence of paragraph (c) (1) of the section after "For any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945," the following: "and before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950),".

(D) By adding at the end of the section the following new paragraphs (d) and (e):

(d) Calendar year 1950; taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before January 1, 1951; and taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending before April 1, 1951. (1) For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950, for any taxable year beginning after June 30, 1950, and before January 1, 1951, and for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending before April 1, 1951, the tax under section 207 (a) (1) and 207 (a) (3), except as hereinafter indicated, is computed upon normal-tax net income at the rate provided in section 13 (b) applicable to such year and upon corporation surtax net income as provided in section 15 (b) applicable to such year. The tax under section 207 (a) (2), except as hereinafter indicated, is 1 percent of the gross amount of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and minus wholly tax-exempt interest.

(2) Under section 207 (a) (1) companies with normal-tax net incomes of over $3,000 and not over $6,000 pay a normal tax, at a specified rate, on that portion of the normal-tax net income in excess of $3,000. The rates applicable for the respective taxable years in computing the normal tax of such companies are as follows:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	46
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Jan. 1, 1951	50
For taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1950, and ending before Apr. 1, 1951	50

Under section 207 (a) (2) companies with gross amounts of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and minus wholly tax-exempt interest, of over $75,000 and not over $150,000 pay a tax equal to 2 percent of that portion in excess of $75,000. Under section 207 (a) (3) interinsurers and reciprocal underwriters with normal-tax net incomes of over $50,000 and not over $100,000 pay a normal tax, at a specified rate, on that portion of the normal-tax net income in excess of $50,000. The rates applicable for the respective taxable years in computing the normal tax of such interinsurers and reciprocal underwriters are as follows:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	46
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Jan. 1, 1951	50
For taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1950, and ending before Apr. 1, 1951	50

(3) For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950, the surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of an interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter with corporation surtax net income of over $50,000 and not over $100,000 is an amount equal to one and one-half times the surtax which would be computed under section 15 (b) (2) applicable to such taxable year if the corporation surtax net income of such interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter were reduced by $25,000. If, for a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950, an interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter has any partially tax-exempt interest for which a credit is provided in section 26 (a) and has corporation surtax net income of over $100,000 and not over $102,777.72, the surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of such interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter is the lesser of (i) the amount of the surtax computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2) applicable to such taxable year, or (ii) an amount equal to one and one-half times the surtax which would be computed under section 15 (b) (2) applicable to such taxable year if the corporation surtax net income were reduced by $25,000. For a taxable year beginning after June 30, 1950, and before January 1, 1951, or a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending before April 1, 1951, the surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of an interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter with corporation surtax net income of over $50,000 and not over $100,000 is an amount equal to 33 percent of that portion of its corporation surtax net income in excess of $50,000.

(4) Section 207 (a) (4) provides for an adjustment of the amount computed under section 207 (a) (1), section 207 (a) (2) (A), and section 207 (a) (3) where the gross amount received during the taxable year from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is over $75,000 and less than $125,000. The adjustment reduces the tax otherwise computed under those sections to an amount which bears the same proportion to such tax as the excess over $75,000 bears to $50,000.

(5) The application of section 207 (a) (1), (2), (3), and (4) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The X Company, a mutual casualty insurance company, for the calendar year 1950 has corporation surtax net income of $35,000 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $5,000, normal-tax net income of $30,000. The gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is $120,000, and the gross amount of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and wholly tax-exempt interest, is $100,000. Under section 207 (a) (1), without application of section 207 (a) (4), the normal tax would be 23 percent of $30,000, or $6,900, since this is less than $12,420, 46 percent of $27,000 (excess of normal-tax net income of $30,000 over $3,000); and the surtax computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2) would be $1,850, tentative surtax of 19 percent of $10,000 (excess of corporation surtax net income of $35,000 over $25,000), or $1,900, reduced by $50, 1 percent of $5,000 (the lower of $5,000, amount of partially tax-exempt interest, or $10,000, excess of corporation surtax net income of $35,000 over $25,000). The combined tax of $8,750 ($6,900 plus $1,850) would then be reduced by applying section 207 (a) (4), since the gross receipts are between $75,000 and $125,000. The tax under section 207 (a) (1), as thus adjusted, would be 90 percent of $8,750, or $7,875, since $45,000 (excess of $120,000 over $75,000) is 90 percent of $50,000. Under section 207 (a) (2) (A), without reference to section 207 (a) (4), the tax is 2 percent of $25,000 (excess of $100,000 over $75,000), or $500, since this is less than $1,000, 1 percent of $100,000. Applying section 207 (a) (4) reduces this to $450, or 90 percent of $500. Since $7,875, the tax under section 207 (a) (1), as adjusted, exceeds $450, the tax under section 207 (a) (2), as adjusted, the tax under section 207 (a) (1), as adjusted, is applicable. The X Company would accordingly pay a combined normal tax and surtax of $7,875.

Example (2). The Y Exchange, an interinsurer, for the calendar year 1950 has corporation surtax net income of $100,000 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $20,000, normal-tax net income of $80,000. The gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is $3,000,000. Under section 207 (a) (3) the normal tax of the Y Exchange for the taxable year is 46 percent of $30,000 (excess of normal-tax net income of $80,000 over $50,000), or $13,800, since this is less than $18,400, 23 percent of $80,000. The surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of the Y Exchange for the taxable year is $13,950, one and one-half times $9,300, the surtax which would be computed under section 15 (b) (2) if the corporation surtax net income were reduced by $25,000 ($9,500 (19 percent of $50,000, excess of $75,000, corporation surtax net income of $100,000 reduced by $25,000, over $25,000) reduced by $200 (1 percent of $20,000, the lower of $20,000, amount of partially tax-exempt interest, or $50,000, excess of $75,000, corporation surtax net income of $100,000 reduced by $25,000, over $25,000)), since this is less than the surtax on corporation surtax net income of $102,700 computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2). The surtax computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2) would be $14,236, tentative surtax of $14,763 (19 percent of $77,700, excess of corporation surtax net income of $102,700 over $25,000) reduced by $527 (1 percent of $52,700, the lower of $52,700, amount of partially tax-exempt interest, or $77,700, excess of corporation surtax net income over $25,000). Since the Z Exchange has no normal tax, is not subject to the tax imposed by section 207 (a) (2), and is not entitled to the adjustment provided in section 207 (a) (4), as its gross receipts are not less than $125,000, its total tax under section 207 (a) is $14,229.

Example (3). The Z Exchange, an interinsurer, for the calendar year 1950 has corporation surtax net income of $102,700 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $52,700, normal-tax net income of $50,000. The gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is $2,500,000. The Z Exchange is not subject to normal tax under section 207 (a) (3) for the taxable year as its normal-tax net income does not exceed $50,000. The surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of the Z Exchange for the taxable year is $14,229, one and one-half times $9,486, the surtax which would be computed under section 15 (b) (2) if the corporation surtax net income were reduced by $25,000 ($10,013 (19 percent of $52,700, excess of $77,700, corporation surtax net income of $102,700 reduced by $25,000, over $25,000) reduced by $527 (1 percent of $52,700, the lower of $52,700, amount of partially tax-exempt interest, or $52,700, excess of $77,700, corporation surtax net income of $102,700 reduced by $25,000, over $25,000)), since this is less than the surtax on corporation surtax net income of $102,700 computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2). The surtax computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2) would be $14,236, tentative surtax of $14,763 (19 percent of $77,700, excess of corporation surtax net income of $102,700 over $25,000) reduced by $527 (1 percent of $52,700, the lower of $52,700, amount of partially tax-exempt interest, or $77,700, excess of corporation surtax net income over $25,000). Since the Z Exchange has no normal tax, is not subject to the tax imposed by section 207 (a) (2), and is not entitled to the adjustment provided in section 207 (a) (4), as its gross receipts are not less than $125,000, its total tax under section 207 (a) is $14,229.

Example (4). If in the above example the partially tax-exempt interest were $53,500, the surtax under section 207 (a) (3) of the Z Exchange for the calendar year 1950, computed as provided in section 15 (b) (2), would be $14,228 (tentative surtax of $14,763, 19 percent of $77,700, reduced by $535, 1 percent of $53,500), since it is less than $14,229, one and one-half times $9,486, the surtax which would be computed under section 15 (b) (2) if the corporation surtax net income were reduced by $25,000.

(e) Taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending after March 31, 1951. (1) For any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending after March 31, 1951, the normal tax under section 207 (a) (1) and 207 (a) (3), except as hereinafter indicated, is computed upon normal-tax net income at the following rates:

	Percent
For taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951, and ending after Mar. 31, 1951	28¾
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	30
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	25

(2) For any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, and ending after March 31, 1951, the surtax under section 207 (a) (1) and 207 (a) (3), except as hereinafter indicated, is computed on that portion of the corporation surtax net income in excess of $25,000 at the rate of 22 percent. The tax under section 207 (a) (2), except as hereinafter indicated, is 1 percent of the gross amount of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and minus wholly tax-exempt interest.

(3) Under section 207 (a) (1) companies with normal-tax net incomes of over $3,000 and not over $6,000 pay a normal tax, at a specified rate, on that portion of the normal-tax net income in excess of $3,000. The rates applicable for the respective taxable years in computing the normal tax of such companies are as follows:

	Percent
For taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951, and ending after Mar. 31, 1951	57½
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	60
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	50

Under section 207 (a) (2) companies with gross amounts of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and minus wholly tax-exempt interest, of over $75,000 and not over $150,000 pay a tax equal to 2 percent of that portion in excess of $75,000. Under section 207 (a) (3) interinsurers and reciprocal underwriters with normal-tax net incomes of over $50,000 and not over $100,000 pay a normal tax computed on that portion of the normal-tax net income in excess of $50,000 at the following rates:

	Percent
For taxable years beginning after Dec. 31, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951, and ending after Mar. 31, 1951	57½
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	60
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	50

Under section 207 (a) (3) interinsurers and reciprocal underwriters with corporation surtax net incomes of over $50,000 and not over $100,000 pay a surtax, at the rate of 33 percent, on that portion of the corporation surtax net income in excess of $50,000.

(4) Section 207 (a) (4) provides for an adjustment of the amount computed under section 207 (a) (1), section 207 (a) (2) (A), and section 207 (a) (3) where the gross amount received during the taxable year from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is over $75,000 and less than $125,000. The adjustment reduces the tax otherwise computed under those sections to an amount which bears the same proportion to such tax as the excess over $75,000 bears to $50,000.

(5) The application of section 207 (a) (1), (2), (3), and (4) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The W Company, a mutual casualty insurance company, for the calendar year 1952 has corporation surtax net income of $5,500 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $800, normal-tax net income of $4,700. The gross amount of income of the W Company from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and wholly tax-exempt interest, is $150,000. Its normal tax under section 207 (a) (1) for the calendar year 1952 is 60 percent of $1,700 ($4,700—$3,000), or $1,020, since its normal-tax net income is not over $6,000. It is not liable for surtax for the calendar year 1952 as its surtax net income does not exceed $25,000. It has no surtax and, therefore, its total tax under section 207 (a) (1) is the normal tax of $1,020. The tax under section 207 (a) (2) is 2 percent of $75,000 ($150,000—$75,000), or $1,500. Since the tax under section 207 (a) (2) exceeds the tax under section 207 (a) (1), namely, that imposed by section 207 (a) (1), the tax under section 207 (a) is $1,500, namely, that imposed by section 207 (a) (2).

Example (2). If in the above example the normal-tax net income were not over $3,000, the corporation surtax net income were not over $25,000, the gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) were $90,000, and the gross amount of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and wholly tax-exempt interest, were $70,000, the W Company would be required to file an income tax return but due to section 207 (a) no income tax would be imposed.

Example (3). The X Company, a mutual casualty insurance company, for the calendar year 1952 has corporation surtax net income of $28,000 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $5,000, normal-tax net income of $23,000. The gross amount of income of the X Company from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and wholly tax-exempt interest, is $1,200,000. Under section 207 (a) (1) its normal tax for the calendar year 1952 is 30 percent of $23,000, or $6,900, and the surtax is 22 percent of $3,000 ($28,000—$25,000), or $660. The combined tax under section 207 (a) (1) is $7,560 ($6,900 plus $660). The tax under section 207 (a) (2) is 1 percent of $1,200,000, or $12,000. Since the tax under section 207 (a) (2) exceeds the tax under section 207 (a) (1), the tax under section 207 (a) is $12,000, namely, that imposed by section 207 (a) (2).

Example (4). The Y Company, a mutual fire insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 207, for the calendar year 1952 has corporation surtax net income of $35,000 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $5,000, normal-tax net income of $30,000. The gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is $120,000, and the gross amount of income from interest, dividends, rents, and net premiums, minus dividends to policyholders and wholly tax-exempt interest, is $100,000. Under section 207 (a) (1), without application of section 207 (a) (4), the normal tax would be 30 percent of $30,000, or $9,000, since this is less than $16,200, 60 percent of $27,000 (excess of normal-tax net income of $30,000 over $3,000); and the surtax would be 22 percent of $10,000 (excess of corporation surtax net income of $35,000 over $25,000), or $2,200. The combined tax of $11,200 ($9,000 plus $2,200) would then be reduced by applying section 207 (a) (4), since the gross receipts are between $75,000 and $125,000. The tax under section 207 (a) (1), as thus adjusted, would be 90 percent of $11,200, or $10,080, since $45,000 (excess of $120,000 over $75,000) is 90 percent of $50,000. Under section 207 (a) (2) (A), without reference to section 207 (a) (4), the tax is 2 percent of $25,000 (excess of $100,000 over $75,000), or $500, since this is less than $1,000, 1 percent of $100,000. Applying section 207 (a) (4) reduces this to $450, or 90 percent of $500. Since $10,080, the tax under section 207 (a) (1), as adjusted, exceeds $450, the tax under section 207 (a) (2), as adjusted, the tax under section 207 (a) (1), as adjusted, is applicable. The Y Company would accordingly pay a combined normal tax and surtax of $10,080.

Example (5). The Z Exchange, an interinsurer, for the calendar year 1952 has corporation surtax net income of $60,000 and, due to partially tax-exempt interest of $12,000, normal-tax net income of $48,000. The gross amount received from interest, dividends, rents, and premiums (including deposits and assessments) is $2,700,000. The Z exchange is not liable for normal tax under section 207 (a) (3) for the calendar year 1952 as its normal-tax net income does not exceed $50,000. Its surtax is 33 percent of $10,000 ($60,000—$50,000), or $3,300, since that amount is less than $7,700, 22 percent of $35,000 (excess of corporation surtax net income of $60,000 over $25,000). Since the Z Exchange has no normal tax, is not subject to the tax imposed by section 207 (a) (2), and is not entitled to the adjustment provided in section 207 (a) (4), its total tax under section 207 (a) is $3,300.

PAR. 23. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.231–1 the following:

SEC. 121. INCREASE IN RATE OF CORPORATION INCOME TAXES (PART II, TITLE I, REVENUE ACT OF 1950, APPROVED SEPTEMBER 23, 1950).

(g) Technical amendments.

(5) Effective with respect to taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and with respect to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1950, and ending on December 31, 1950, section 231 (b) (relating to foreign corporations engaged in trade or business within the United States) is hereby amended by striking out "section 14 (c) (1)" and inserting in lieu thereof "section 13".

PAR. 24. Section 29.231–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5709, approved June 27, 1949, is further amended by striking out all of paragraph (b) of such section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

(b) Resident foreign corporations. (1) A resident foreign corporation is not taxable upon the items of fixed or determinable annual or periodical income enumerated in section 231 (a) at the rate specified in that section. For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), a resident foreign corporation is, under section 14 (c) (1), liable to a tax of 24 percent of its normal-tax net income (regardless of the amount thereof). For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, a resident foreign corporation is, under section 13, liable to a tax in an amount equal to a specified percent of its normal-tax net income. The rates of tax under section 13 applicable for the respective taxable years are as follows:

	Percent
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950	23
For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before Apr. 1, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951)	25
For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951	28¾
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1951, and before Apr. 1, 1954	30
For taxable years beginning after Mar. 31, 1954	25

(2) The normal-tax net income of a resident foreign corporation is its net income from sources within the United States (gross income from sources within the United States minus the statutory deductions provided in sections 23 and 232) less, for taxable years beginning before January 1, 1946, the credits provided in section 26 (a), (b), and (e) for such years, and less, for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945, the credits provided in section 26 (a) and (b) for such years.

(3) A resident foreign corporation is also liable to the corporation surtax imposed by section 15.

(i) For taxable years beginning before January 1, 1946, the rates of corporation surtax are as follows:

(a) Upon corporation surtax net incomes of $25,000 or less, 10 percent of the amount thereof.

(b) Upon corporation surtax net incomes over $25,000 but not over $50,000, $2,500 plus 22 percent of the amount of such income in excess of $25,000.

(c) Upon corporation surtax net incomes of more than $50,000, 16 percent of the entire amount thereof.

(ii) For a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945, and before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), the rates of corporation surtax are as follows:

(a) Upon corporation surtax net incomes of $25,000 or less, 6 percent of the amount thereof.

(b) Upon corporation surtax net incomes over $25,000 but not over $50,000, $1,500 plus 22 percent of the amount of such income in excess of $25,000.

(c) Upon corporation surtax net incomes of more than $50,000, 14 percent of the entire amount thereof.

(iii) For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950, the surtax is determined by computing a tentative surtax of 19 percent of the amount of the corporation surtax net income in excess of $25,000, and by reducing such tentative surtax by an amount equal to 1 percent of the lower of:

(a) The amount of the credit provided in section 26 (a), or

(b) The amount by which the corporation surtax net income exceeds $25,000.

(iv) For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, the surtax is at the rate of 22 percent and is upon corporation surtax net income in excess of $25,000.

(4) The corporation surtax net income of a resident foreign corporation is its net income from sources within the United States (gross income from sources within the United States minus the statutory deductions provided in sections 23 and 232) less, for taxable years beginning before January 1, 1946, the credits provided in section 26 (b) and (e) for such years, and less, for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1945, the credit provided in section 26 (b) for such years. For the purpose of determining the corporation surtax net income of a resident foreign corporation, the credit provided in section 26 (b) is limited, for a taxable year beginning before January 1, 1946, to 85 percent of its net income from sources within the United States reduced by the credit provided in section 26 (e) for such year, and, for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1945, and ending before January 1 1950, to 85 percent of its adjusted net income from sources within the United States, and, for a taxable year ending after December 31, 1949, to 85 percent of its adjusted net income from sources within the United States computed without regard to the deduction for net operating loss allowed by section 23 (s).

(5) For taxable years beginning in 1945 and ending in 1946, see § 29.108–2. For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), see § 29.108–4. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951 (other than the calendar year 1951), see § 29.108–6. For taxable years beginning before April 1, 1954, and ending after March 31, 1954, see § 29.108–9.

(6) As used in sections 119, 143, 144, 211, and 231, the phrase "engaged in trade or business within the United States" includes the performance of personal services within the United States at any time within the taxable year. Such phrase does not include the effecting of transactions in the United States in stocks, securities, or commodities (including hedging transactions) through a resident broker, commission agent, or custodian. The term "commodities" as used in section 211 (b) means only goods of a kind customarily dealt in on an organized commodity exchange, such as a grain futures or a cotton futures market, and does not include merchandise in the ordinary channels of commerce.

PAR. 25. Section 29.251–3 is amended by striking out the first sentence of the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), a domestic corporation entitled to the benefits of section 251 is, under section 251 (c) (1), subject to the tax imposed by section 13 if it has a normal-tax net income of more than $25,000 (see § 29.13–1), or to the tax provided by section 14 (b) if it has a normal-tax net income of not more than $25,000 (see § 29.14–1). For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, a domestic corporation entitled to the benefits of section 251 is, under section 251 (c) (1), subject to the normal tax on corporations imposed by section 13 (see § 29.13–1)."

PAR. 26. Section 29.261–1 is amended by striking out the first sentence of the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "For taxable years beginning before July 1, 1950 (other than the calendar year 1950), a China Trade Act corporation is, under section 261 (a), subject to the tax imposed by section 13 (b) if it has a normal-tax net income of more than $25,000 (see § 29.13–1), or to the tax provided by section 14 (b) if it has a normal-tax net income of not more than $25,000 (see § 29.14–1). For a taxable year which is the calendar year 1950 and for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, a China Trade Act corporation is, under section 261 (a), subject to the normal tax on corporations imposed by section 13 (see § 29.13–1)."

PAR. 27. There is inserted immediately preceding § 40.430–1 the following:

SEC. 121. INCREASE IN RATE OF CORPORATION NORMAL TAX (PART II, TITLE I, REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

* * * * *

(b) Maximum tax. Section 430 (a) (2) (relating to the limitation on the rate of the excess profits tax) is hereby amended as follows:

(1) By inserting after "(2)" the following: "(A) in the case of taxable years ending before April 1, 1951,".

(2) By striking out the period at the end of paragraph (2) and inserting ", or" and by adding after paragraph (2) the following:

(B) in the case of taxable years beginning on January 1, 1951, and ending on December 31, 1951, an amount equal to 17¼ per centum of the excess profits net income for the taxable year, except that in the case of an affiliated group of includible corporations making or required to make a consolidated return for the taxable year under section 141, such amount shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio (but not in excess of 100 per centum) to the increase of 2 per centum in the surtax imposed by reason of section 141 (c) as the amount of the consolidated excess profits net income bears to the amount of the consolidated corporation surtax net income, or

(C) in the case of taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, an amount equal to 18 per centum of the excess profits net income for the taxable year, except that in the case of an affiliated group of includible corporations making or required to make a consolidated return for the taxable year under section 141, such amount shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio (but not in excess of 100 per centum) to the increase of 2 per centum in the surtax imposed by reason of section 141 (c) as the amount of the consolidated excess profits net income bears to the amount of the consolidated corporation surtax net income, or".

SEC. 125. EFFECTIVE DATE (PART II, TITLE I, REVENUE ACT OF 1951, APPROVED OCTOBER 20, 1951).

The amendments made by this part (inc. sec. 121 (b)) shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, and to taxable years beginning on January 1, 1951, and ending on December 31, 1951, * * * For treatment of taxable years (other than the calendar year 1951) beginning before April 1, 1951, and ending after March 31, 1951, see section 131.

PAR. 28. Section 40.430–2 is amended as follows:

(A) By inserting in paragraph (a) (1) (ii) the following introductory phrase to the first sentence: "In the case of taxable years ending before April 1, 1951,".

(B) By striking out the period at the end of paragraph (a) (1) (ii) of the section and inserting in lieu thereof a comma and "or" and by inserting after such subdivision as so amended the following new subdivisions (iii) and (iv):

(iii) In the case of a taxable year which is the calendar year 1951, an amount equal to 17¼ percent of the excess profits net income for the taxable year, except that in the case of an affiliated group of includible corporations making or required to make a consolidated return for the taxable year under section 141, such amount shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio (but not in excess of 100 percent) to the increase of 2 percent in the surtax imposed by reason of section 141 (c) as the amount of the consolidated excess profits net income bears to the amount of the consolidated corporation surtax net income, or

(iv) In the case of taxable years beginning after March 31, 1951, an amount equal to 18 percent of the excess profits net income for the taxable year, except that in the case of an affiliated group of includible corporations making or required to make a consolidated return for the taxable year under section 141, such amount shall be reduced by an amount which bears the same ratio (but not in excess of 100 percent) to the increase of 2 percent in the surtax imposed by reason of section 141 (c) as the amount of the consolidated excess profits net income bears to the amount of the consolidated corporation surtax net income.

(C) By striking out in paragraph (a) (2) of the section "section 430 (a) (2)" wherever appearing therein and inserting in lieu thereof "section 430 (a) (2) (A)".

INCOME TAX; TAXABLE YEARS BEGINNING AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1941

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth below in tentative form are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U. S. C. 62).

[SEAL] JOHN B. DUNLAP,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to conform Regulations 111 (26 CFR Part 29) to Part II of Title III of the Revenue Act of 1950, approved September 23, 1950, and to Public Law 35, 82d Congress, approved May 17, 1951, such regulations are hereby amended as set forth below. A technical amendment is also made to 26 CFR 601.17 (a), respecting forms required of trusts claiming deductions under section 162 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code.

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.153–1, as added by Treasury Decision 5838, approved April 17, 1951, the following:

PUBLIC LAW 35, 82D CONGRESS, APPROVED MAY 17, 1951

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, effective with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1949, section 153 (b) of the Internal Revenue Code (relating to special returns required from trusts claiming charitable, etc., deductions under section 162 (a) of such code) is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

This subsection shall not apply in the case of a taxable year if all the net income for such year, determined under the applicable principles of the law of trusts, is required to be distributed currently to the beneficiaries.

PAR. 2. Section 29.153–2, as added by Treasury Decision 5838, is hereby amended as follows:

(A) By changing the headnote and the first sentence thereof to read as follows:

§ 29.153–2 Information required of certain trusts claiming charitable or other deductions under section 162 (a)—(a) In general. For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1949, every trust (other than a trust described in paragraph (b) of this section) claiming a charitable or other deduction under section 162 (a) shall file, with respect to the taxable year for which such deduction is claimed, a return of information on Form 1041–A.

(B) By adding at the end thereof the following:

(b) Exception. The provisions of paragraph (a) of this section with respect to the filing of information returns shall not be applicable to the taxable year of a trust if the trustee is bound by the instrument creating the trust to distribute each year to the beneficiaries all the net income of the trust (such net income being determined under the applicable principles of the law of trusts).

PAR. 3. There is inserted immediately preceding § 29.162–1 the following:

SEC. 321. CHARITABLE, ETC., DEDUCTIONS OF TRUSTS (REVENUE ACT OF 1950, APPROVED SEPTEMBER 23, 1950).

(a) Amendment of section 162. Section 162 is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

(g) Rules for Application of Subsection (a) in the Case of Trusts.—(1) Trade or business income. In computing the deduction allowable under subsection (a) to a trust for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, no amount otherwise allowable under subsection (a) as a deduction shall be allowed as a deduction with respect to income of the taxable year which is allocable to its Supplement U business income for such year. As used in this paragraph the term "Supplement U business income" means an amount equal to the amount which, if such trusts were exempt under section 101 (6) from taxation, would be computed as its unrelated business net income under section 422 (relating to income derived from certain business activities and from certain leases).

(2) Operations of Trusts.—(A) Limitation on charitable, etc., deduction. The amount otherwise allowable under subsection (a) as a deduction shall not exceed 15 per centum of the net income of the trust (computed without the benefit of subsection (a) if the trust has engaged in a prohibited transaction, as defined in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

(B) Prohibited transactions. For the purposes of this paragraph the term "prohibited transaction" means any transaction after July 1, 1950, in which any trust while holding income or corpus which has been permanently set aside or is to be used exclusively for charitable or other purposes described in subsection (a)—

(i) Lends any part of such income or corpus, without receipt of adequate security and a reasonable rate of interest, to;

(ii) Pays any compensation from such income or corpus, in excess of a reasonable allowance for salaries or other compensation for personal services actually rendered, to;

(iii) Makes any part of its services available on a preferential basis to;

(iv) Uses such income or corpus to make any substantial purchase of securities or any other property, for more than an adequate consideration in money or money's worth, from;

(v) Sells any substantial part of the securities or other property comprising such income or corpus, for less than an adequate consideration in money or money's worth, to; or

(vi) Engages in any other transaction which results in a substantial diversion of such income or corpus to; the creator of such trust; any person who has made a substantial contribution to such trust; a member of the family (as defined in section 24 (b) (2) (D)) of an individual who is the creator of the trust or who has made a substantial contribution to the trust; or a corporation controlled by any such creator or person through the ownership, directly or indirectly, of 50 cer centum or more of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote or 50 per centum or more of the total value of shares of all classes of stock of the corporation.

(C) Taxable years affected. The amount otherwise allowable under subsection (a) as a deduction shall be limited as provided in subparagraph (A) only for taxable years subsequent to the taxable year during which the trust is notified by the Secretary that it has engaged in such transaction, unless such trust entered into such prohibited transaction with the purpose of diverting such corpus or income from the purposes described in subsection (a), and such transaction involved a substantial part of such corpus or income.

(D) Future charitable, etc., deductions of trusts denied deduction under subparagraph (C). If the deduction of any trust under subsection (a) has been limited as provided in this paragraph, such trust, with respect to any taxable year following the taxable year in which notice is received of limitation of deduction under subsection (a), may, under regulations prescribed by the Secretary, file claim for the allowance of the unlimited deduction under subsection (a), and if the Secretary, pursuant to such regulations, is satisfied that such trust will not knowingly again engage in a prohibited transaction, the limitation provided in subparagraph (A) shall not be applicable with respect to taxable years subsequent to the year in which such claim is filed.

(E) Disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions. No gift or bequest for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes (including the encouragement of art and the prevention of cruelty to children or animals), otherwise allowable as a deduction under section 23 (o) (2), 23 (q) (2), 162 (a), 505 (a) (2), • • • shall be allowed as a deduction if made in trust and, in the taxable year of the trust in which the gift or bequest is made, the deduction allowed the trust under subsection (a) is limited by subparagraph (A). With respect to any taxable year of a trust in which such deduction has been so limited by reason of entering into a prohibited transaction with the purpose of diverting such corpus or income from the purposes described in subsection (a), and such transaction involved a substantial part of such income or corpus, and which taxable year is the same, or prior to the, taxable year of the trust in which such prohibited transaction occurred, such deduction shall be disallowed the donor only if such donor or (if such donor is an individual) any member of his family (as defined in section 24 (b) (2) (D)) was a party to such prohibited transaction.

(F) Definition. For the purposes of this paragraph the term "gift or bequest" means any gift, contribution, bequest, devise, legacy, or transfer.

(3) Cross reference. For disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions otherwise allowable under subsection (a), see section 3813.

(4) Accumulated income. If the amounts permanently set aside, or to be used exclusively, for the charitable and other purposes described in subsection (a) during the taxable year or any prior taxable year and not actually paid out by the end of the taxable year—

(A) are unreasonable in amount or duration in order to carry out such purposes of the trust; or

(B) are used to a substantial degree for purposes other than those described in subsection (a); or

(C) are invested in such a manner as to jeopardize the interests of the religious, charitable, scientific, etc., beneficiaries, the amount otherwise allowable under subsection (a) as a deduction shall be limited to the amount actually paid out during the taxable year and shall not exceed 15 per centum of the net income of the trust (computed without the benefit of subsection (a)).

(b) Technical amendment. Section 162 (a) is hereby amended by striking out "There shall be allowed as a deduction" and inserting in lieu thereof "Subject to the provisions of subsection (g), there shall be allowed as a deduction."

SEC. 322. EFFECTIVE DATE OF PART II (REVENUE ACT OF 1950, APPROVED SEPTEMBER 23, 1950).

The amendments made by this part [sections 321 and 322 of the Revenue Act of 1950] shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1950, except that subsection (g) (2) (E) of section 162 of the Internal Revenue Code, added by section 321 (a) of this act, shall apply only with respect to gifts or bequests (as defined in section 162 (g) (2) (F) of the Internal Revenue Code) made on or after January 1, 1951.

PAR. 4. Section 29.162–1, as amended by Treasury Decision 5838, is further amended as follows:

(A) By adding immediately after the fifth sentence in paragraph (a) thereof the following: "For limitations on the deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a), see section 3813. See also this paragraph and §§ 29.162–3 and 29.162–4."

(B) By amending the last sentence of paragraph (a) of such section to read as follows: "In the case of a trust, this deduction for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, is subject to the limitations of section 162 (g). See §§ 29.162–3 and 29.162–4. See § 29.153–2 relating to the annual information return that must be filed for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1949, by certain trusts claiming charitable, etc., deductions under section 162 (a) for the taxable year."

PAR. 5. There is added immediately after § 29.162–2 the following:

§ 29.162–3 Rules for the application of section 162 (a) in the case of trusts—(a) Limitation on charitable, etc., deduction of trusts with trade or business income. (1) In computing the deduction allowable under section 162 (a) to a trust for any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, no amount otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) as a deduction shall be allowed as a deduction with respect to income of the taxable year which is allocable to the trust's Supplement U business income for such year. For the purpose of this section, the term "Supplement U business income" means an amount equal to the amount which, if such trust were exempt from taxation under section 101 (6), would be computed as its unrelated business net income under section 422 and the regulations thereunder. For the purpose of such computation under section 422, the term "unrelated trade or business" includes any trade or business regularly carried on by such a trust, or by a partnership of which it is a member.

(2) Unless the facts clearly indicate the contrary, the deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) is allocable to the Supplement U business income on the basis of the ratio which the Supplement U business income bears to the net income of the trust computed without any deduction under section 162.

Example (1). The X trust has net income of $50,000 computed without any deduction under section 162. There is included in this amount a net profit of $30,000 from the operation of a trade or business. The trustee is required to pay one-half of the net income to A, an individual, and the balance of the net income to the Y charity, an organization described in section 23 (o) (2). The trustee pays each beneficiary $25,000. Under these facts, the Supplement U business income of the trust (computed after the deduction allowable under section 422 (a) (9) for charitable contributions) is $25,000. The deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) is $25,000, the amount paid to the Y charity. The portion thereof allocable to the Supplement U business income and therefore disallowed as a deduction is $12,750, that is, an amount which bears the same ratio to $25,000 as $25,000 bears to $50,000.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1), above, except that the trustee has discretion as to the portion of the net income to be paid to each beneficiary, and the trustee pays $40,000 to A and $10,000 to the Y charity. The deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) is $10,000. The portion thereof allocable to the Supplement U business income and therefore disallowed as a deduction is $5,100, that is, an amount which bears the same ratio to $10,000 as $25,500 bears to $50,000.

Example (3). Assume the same facts as in example (1), above, except that the terms of the trust instrument require the trustee to pay to the Y charity the net income, if any, derived from the trade or business, and to pay to A all the net income derived from other sources. The trustee pays $30,000 to the Y charity and $20,000 to A. The deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) is $30,000. Under the facts in this case, $25,500 of the amount paid to the Y charity is allocable to the Supplement U business income and is therefore disallowed as a deduction.

(b) Limitation on charitable, etc., deduction of trusts engaged in prohibited transactions. (1) In the case of a trust which has engaged in any prohibited transaction (as described in section 162 (g) (2) (B)) after July 1, 1950, the amount otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) as a deduction shall not exceed 15 percent of the net income of such trust (computed without the benefit of section 162 (a)) for any taxable year subsequent to the taxable year in which there is mailed to it a notice in writing by the Commissioner that it has engaged in such prohibited transaction. Such notification by the Commissioner shall be by registered mail to the last known address of the fiduciary. However, notwithstanding the requirement of notification by the Commissioner, such limitation (on the amount otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) as a deduction) shall apply with respect to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, if such trust during or prior to such taxable year commenced the prohibited transaction with the purpose of diverting such income or corpus from the purposes described in section 162 (a) and such transaction involved a substantial part of such income or corpus. See examples under §§ 29.162–4 and 29.3813–1.

(2) A trust whose deduction under section 162 (a) has been limited by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (2) (A) may file, in any taxable year following the taxable year in which notice of limitation of deduction was issued, a claim for allowance of unlimited deduction under section 162 (a). This claim shall be filed with the collector for the district in which the fiduciary resides or has his principal place of business. The claim must contain or have attached to it an affidavit by the fiduciary that the trust will not knowingly again engage in a prohibited transaction.

(3) If the Commissioner is satisfied that the trust will not knowingly again engage in a prohibited transaction, he shall so notify the trust in writing. In such case the trust will be allowed unlimited deduction under section 162 (a) (subject to the provisions of section 162 (g)) with respect to taxable years subsequent to the taxable year in which such claim is filed. Section 162 (g) (2) (C) contemplates that a trust whose charitable, etc., deduction has been limited as prescribed therein shall be subject to such limitation for at least one full taxable year.

(c) Limitation on charitable, etc., deduction of trusts accumulating income. (1) For any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1950, the amount otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) as a deduction shall be limited to the amount actually paid out during the taxable year and shall not exceed 15 percent of the net income of the trust (computed without the benefit of section 162 (a)), if the amounts permanently set aside, or to be used exclusively, for the charitable and other purposes described in section 162 (a) during the taxable year or any prior taxable year (including taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 1951) and not actually paid out by the end of the taxable year are unreasonable. Amounts accumulated out of income for purposes described in section 162 (a) become unreasonable when more income is accumulated than is needed, or when the duration of the accumulation is longer than is needed, in order to carry out the charitable or other purpose described in section 162 (a) for which such amounts were set aside. Furthermore, such limitation on the deduction otherwise allowable under section 162 (a) shall apply if amounts accumulated out of income for purposes described in section 162 (a) are used to a substantial degree for purposes other than those described in section 162 (a), or if such amounts are invested in such a manner as to jeopardize the interests of the religious, charitable, scientific, etc., beneficiaries.

(2) For the purpose of section 162 (g) (4), the term "income" means gains, profits, and income determined under the principles applicable in determining the earnings or profits of a corporation. The amount accumulated out of income during the taxable year or any prior taxable year shall be determined under the principles applicable in determining the accumulated earnings or profits of a corporation. In determining the reasonableness of an accumulation out of income, there will be disregarded the following: (i) The accumulation of gain upon the sale or exchange of a donated asset to the extent that such gain represents the excess of the fair market value of such asset when acquired by the trust over its substituted basis in the hands of the organization; (ii) the accumulation of gain upon the sale or exchange of property held for the production of investment income, such as dividends, interest, and rents, where the proceeds of such sale or exchange are within a reasonable time reinvested in property acquired and held in good faith for the production of investment income.

(3) Whether the conditions specified in subparagraphs (A), (B) and (C) of section 162 (g) (4) are present in any case must be determined from all the facts. The conditions specified in section 162 (g) (4) (A), (B) and (C) may result from the use of only one trust or of a chain of two or more organizations.

(4) A trust whose deduction under secttion 162 (a) has been limited by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (4) may file a claim for allowance of unlimited deduction under section 162 (a). This claim shall be filed with the collector for the district in which the fiduciary resides or has his principal place of business. The claim must contain or be accompanied by information or evidence showing that the circumstances that caused the limitation on deduction prescribed under section 162 (g) (4) no longer exist, and an affidavit by the fiduciary that the trust will not knowingly again violate the terms of such section. Section 162 (g) (4) contemplates that a trust whose charitable, etc., deduction has been limited as prescribed therein shall be subject to such limitation for at least one full taxable year.

(5) In the case of a trust the deduction under section 162 (a) of which has been limited solely by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (4), deductions otherwise allowable under section 23 (o) (2), 23 (q) (2), 162 (a), or 505 (a) (2), for gifts or contributions made to such a trust in trust for charitable, etc., purposes, shall not be disallowed.

§29.162-4 Disallowance to donors of certain charitable, etc., deductions for gifts made in trust. (a) No gift or contribution made on or after January 1, 1951, which would otherwise be allowable as a charitable or other deduction under section 23 (o) (2), 23 (q) (2), 162 (a), or 505 (a) (2), shall be allowed as a deduction if made in trust and, in the taxable year of the trust in which the gift or contribution is made, the deduction allowed the trust under section 162 (a) is limited by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (2) (A).

(b) The prohibited transactions enumerated in section 162 (g) (2) (B) are in addition to and not in limitation of the restrictions contained in section 23 (o) (2), 23 (q) (2), 162 (a), or 505 (a) (2). A deduction may not be allowed in view of the general provisions of those sections, even though the trust has not engaged in any of the prohibited transactions referred to in section 162 (g) (2) (B). Thus, if the donor or the fiduciary of the trust enters into a transaction with the trust, such transaction will be closely scrutinized to ascertain whether the contribution is in fact made for the stated exempt purposes.

(c) If a trust, which receives a gift or contribution for charitable, etc., purposes after December 31, 1950, is not entitled to the unlimited deduction under section 162 (a) because it engaged in a prohibited transaction with the purpose of diverting its income or corpus from the purposes described in section 162 (a), and such transaction involved a substantial part of such income or corpus, and if the taxable year of the trust during which such gift or contribution is made begins after December 31, 1950, and is the same as, or is prior to, the taxable year of the trust in which such transaction occurred, then a deduction by the donor with respect to the gift or contribution shall not be disallowed under the first paragraph of this section unless the donor (or any member of his family if the donor is an individual) is a party to such prohibited transaction. For the purpose of the preceding sentence, the members of an individual donor's family include only his brothers and sisters, whether by whole or half blood, spouse, ancestors, and lineal descendants. See § 29.3813-3 for disallowance of certain charitable, etc., deductions otherwise allowable under section 162 (a).

Example. Under the terms of an irrevocable trust established by A in 1949, the trustees were to pay one-half of the income of the trust to A's wife for life, and the trustees were given discretion either to accumulate or distribute the remaining one-half of the income to a specified charitable beneficiary. Upon the death of the wife, the entire corpus was to be paid to the named charity. The trust makes its income tax returns on the basis of the calendar year. For 1949, A takes a charitable deduction for the amount of the gift in trust to the charity. In 1952, 1953, 1954, and 1955, A makes further contributions to the trust and takes charitable deductions for such years under section 23 (o) (2). In 1953, 1954, and 1955, B (not a member of A's family) makes contributions to the trust for its designated charitable purposes and takes charitable deductions for such years. In 1953, the trust commences purposely to divert income and corpus which had been set aside for its charitable purpose and to turn such income and corpus over to A, the creator of the trust, and a substantial amount of such income and corpus is so diverted by the close of the taxable year 1954. For 1953 and subsequent taxable years, the deduction allowed the trust under section 162 (a) is limited by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (2) (A). Both A and B are disallowed any charitable deduction for their charitable contributions made during 1953 to the trust. Moreover, the charitable deduction taken by A for contributions to the trust in the years 1953 and 1954 would also be disallowed since A was a party to the prohibited transaction. If the facts and surrounding circumstances indicate that the contribution in 1952 by A was for the purpose of the prohibited transaction, then the charitable deduction for the year 1952 shall also be disallowed with respect to A, since the prohibited transaction would then have commenced with the making of such contribution and the deduction allowed the trust under section 162 (a) would then be limited for 1952 by reason of the provisions of section 162 (g) (2) (A).

PAR. 6. The Statement of Procedure contained in F. R. Doc. 46-15357, appearing at page 177A-22, Part II, Section 1, of the issue for September 11, 1946, as amended (26 CFR, Part 601; 14 F. R. 2063, 15 F. R. 6888; 17 F. R. 6948), is hereby further amended by changing the part of § 601.17 Forms—(a) Description relating to Form 1041 to read as follows:

Form 1041-A. Fiduciary information return required of trusts claiming charitable or other deductions under section 162 (a), I. R. C. for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1949.

Production and Marketing Administration

[7 CFR Part 931]

[Docket No. AO-220-A1]

HANDLING OF MILK IN CEDAR RAPIDS-IOWA CITY MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER AMENDING THE ORDER

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on August 7, 1952, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on July 28, 1952 (17 F. R. 7095) upon a proposed marketing agreement and a proposed order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City marketing area.

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on September 3, 1952, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 9, 1952 (17 F. R. 8124).

Exceptions to the recommended decision were filed on behalf of the three producer cooperative associations supplying milk to the market. In arriving at the findings, conclusions, and regulatory provisions of this decision, each of such exceptions was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings, conclusions and actions decided herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

Findings and conclusions. The findings and conclusions of the recommended decision set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER (17 F. R. 8124; F. R. Doc. 52-9813) are hereby adopted as the findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein subject to the following amendment:

Delete the last sentence of the third complete paragraph in Column 1, 17 F. R. 8125 and all of the following paragraph which begins at the bottom of Column 1 and ends at the top of Column 2, and substitute therefor the following:

In the recommended decision it was recommended that the amount of this adjustment be fixed at 15 cents and that it be in effect only from October 1952 through April 1953.

The exceptants argue that the proposed adjustment is insufficient to prevent the threatened transfer of producers away from the market, and that it could result in a wider difference in price between the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City market and surrounding markets than was contemplated by the recommended decision. Had the amendment been in effect during the first 8 months of 1952, the average difference in the Class I prices between the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City and the Quad Cities market would have been approximately 14.5 cents. In individual months, however, there would have been fairly wide variations from this figure. Because of the possible ill effects on the market of short term variations in this relationship, it appears desirable to maintain a closer degree of uniformity in the prices in the two markets, at least until such time as sufficient data is available on which to establish a more permanent relationship based on supply and demand conditions in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City market as well as in the markets with which it competes. Accordingly, the order should provide that for no delivery period prior to January 1954 shall the Class I price be less than the Class I price announced for the Quad Cities market less 15 cents. This provision should maintain the Class I price at competitive levels with surrounding markets until such time as a more permanent pricing formula can be developed.

As pointed out in the recommended decision it would appear desirable to adjust prices under this order in relation to supply and demand factors directly affecting the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City market rather than on conditions in the Chicago market. The present record contains data on less than a year's operation under a marketing order. It appears desirable that complete data for at least 2 full years' operation under the order should be available as a basis on which to determine adjustments which would automatically occur as supply and demand conditions in the market may change. Since the original order was made effective on September 1, 1951, it appears desirable to continue the temporary pricing provision through December 1953, rather than through April 1953, as proposed in the recommended decision. This additional period would provide ample time for an amendment to be made effective on January 1, 1954, based on a record which would contain complete statistics of 2 full years' operation under the marketing order.

Marketing agreement and order. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled respectively "marketing agreement regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City Marketing Area" and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules or practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision except the attached marketing agreement be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the attached order which will be published with the decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 26th day of September 1952.

Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City Marketing Area

§ 931.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary to and in addition to the findings and determinations made in connection with the issuance of this order; and all previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to Public Act No. 10, 73d Cong. (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR, Supps., 900.1 et seq.), a public hearing was held at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, on August 7, 1952, upon a proposed amendment to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The said order, as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions of said order as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for such milk and the minimum prices specified in the order, as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as hereby amended, and the aforesaid order is hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete § 931.50 (a) and substitute:

December through April	$0.85
May, June	.65
July through November	1.15

Provided, That for any delivery period prior to January 1, 1954, the Class I price shall be not less than the price established per hundredweight for Class I milk under Order No. 44, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Quad Cities marketing area, minus 15 cents.

2. In the list of plants in § 931.50 (b) (1) insert "Carnation Co., Waverly, Iowa."

Order Directing That a Referendum Be Conducted Among Producers; Determination of a Representative Period; and Designation of an Agent To Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among producers (as defined in the order regulating the handling of milk in the Cedar Rapids-Iowa City, marketing area) who, during the month of June 1952 were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

The month of June 1952 is hereby determined to be a representative period for the conduct of such referendum. E. H. McGuire is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. UNITED GAS CORP.

ORDER REGARDING ISSUANCE AND SALE OF DEBENTURES

SEPTEMBER 25, 1952.

United Gas Corporation ("United"), a gas utility subsidiary of Electric Bond and Share Company, a registered holding company, and United's two wholly owned subsidiaries, United Gas Pipe Line Company ("Pipe Line") and Union Producing Company ("Union"), having filed an application-declaration and an amendment thereto pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, particularly sections 6 (a), 7, 9 (a), 10, and 12 thereof and Rule U–50 thereunder regarding the following proposed transactions which are more fully set forth in the application-declaration, as amended:

United proposes to issue and sell at competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U–50, $60,000,000 principal amount of ------ percent Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1972, to be issued under a debenture agreement dated as of October 1, 1952, with Irving Trust Company as Trustee. The proposed sinking fund is designed to retire 70 percent of the issue prior to maturity.

United proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of the debentures, as follows:

(a) To prepay $40,000,000 principal amount of bank loans presently outstanding, evidenced by United's outstanding promissory notes due December 31, 1952, and July 1, 1953.

(b) To acquire from Pipe Line for $10,000,000 cash, 10,000 shares of Pipe Line's no par value common stock, which Pipe Line proposes to sell and United proposes to purchase.

(c) To acquire from Pipe Line for cash at par plus accrued interest an aggregate of $5,000,000 principal amount of Pipe Line's 4½ percent Sinking Fund Debentures, due 1971, which Pipe Line proposes to sell and United proposes to purchase.

(d) To lend Union $1,000,000, such loan to be evidenced by Union's 4 percent promissory note in like principal amount, maturing on or before six years from the date of issue.

Of the securities to be acquired by United from its subsidiaries, the common stock of Pipe Line and the promissory note of Union will be pledged with the corporate trustee under United's Deed of Trust pursuant to the provisions of that indenture. The debentures of Pipe Line to be acquired by United will be retained in the portfolio of United, and pursuant to the provisions of the indenture, will recite that such security is nontransferable except to a successor of United.

The proceeds from the sales of securities described above are to be used to defray the costs in part of the construction program of United and Pipe Line which, for the years 1951, 1952, and 1953, is estimated to require the expenditure of $245,328,000. The application-declaration states that at June 30, 1952, United and Pipe Line had expended for this purpose $158,664,000 and the completion of the program of these two companies is estimated to require the expenditure of an additional amount of $86,664,000.

The application-declaration further states that in addition to the sales of securities described above, United contemplates the sale of securities in the year 1953 designed to raise approximately $50,000,000, which securities will consist of additional debentures and common stock in amounts not now determined.

Said application-declaration having been filed on September 4, 1952, and on amendment thereto having been filed on September 23, 1952, notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner required by Rule U–23 promulgated pursuant to said act, the Commission not having received a request for hearing within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and the Commission not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission find that the proposed transactions are in accordance with the applicable standards of the act, and that no adverse findings are necessary thereunder, and the Commission deeming it appropriate that said application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective without the imposition of terms and conditions, except as set forth below:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U–23 and the applicable provisions of the act and subject to the terms and conditions contained in Rule U–24, that said application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the following conditions and reservations:

1. That the proposed issuance and sale of the sinking fund debentures shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U–50 shall have been made a matter of record herein and a further order shall have been entered by the Commission in the light of the record as so completed; and

2. That jurisdiction be, and the same hereby is, reserved with respect to the payment of fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions.

NARRAGANSETT ELECTRIC CO.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING OF PROPOSED NOTE ISSUES

SEPTEMBER 25, 1952.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by the Narragansett Electric Company ("Narragansett"), a public-utility subsidiary company of New England Electric System, a registered holding company. Narragansett has designated sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act and Rules U–23 and U–42 (b) (2) thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions, which are summarized as follows:

In the declaration Narragansett estimates that, as at September 30, 1952, it will have outstanding with banks $5,150,000 principal amount of six months promissory notes. Narragansett proposes to issue to banks, from time to time but not later than December 31, 1952, additional unsecured six months promissory notes in an aggregate principal amount not in excess of $4,400,000. Narragansett further proposes that the principal amount of all of its unsecured promissory notes outstanding at any one time prior to December 31, 1952, will not exceed $7,950,000.

Each of the proposed notes will bear interest at the prime rate of interest at the time of the issuance thereof. It is stated that said interest rate for such notes at the present time is 3 percent per annum. In the event that such interest rate is in excess of 3¼ percent per annum at the time any of said additional promissory notes are to be issued, Narragansett will file an amendment to its declaration setting forth therein the name of the bank or banks, the terms of the note or notes and the rate of interest at least five days prior to the issuance of said note or notes. Narragansett requests that such amendment become effective at the end of such period unless the Commission notifies it to the contrary within said period.

Narragansett will use $1,600,000 of the proceeds derived from the proposed issuance of additional promissory notes to pay outstanding promissory notes maturing prior to December 31, 1952, and will use the remainder of such proceeds to pay for other corporate purposes. Narragansett estimates that its construction expenditures for the period from October 1, 1952, to December 31, 1952, will aggregate $3,582,500. Narragansett proposes that if any permanent financing is done during the period from October 1, 1952, to December 31, 1952, the proceeds wherefrom will be applied in reduction of, or in total payment of, promissory notes then outstanding, and the amount of authorized but unissued notes, if any, will be reduced by the amount, if any, by which such permanent financing exceeds the notes at the time outstanding.

The declaration states that incidental services in connection with the proposed note issues will be performed, at cost, by New England Power Service Company, an affiliated service company, such cost being estimated not to exceed $900. The declaration further states that no State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Narragansett requests that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith upon issuance.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than October 20, 1952, at 5:30 p. m., e. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reason or reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U–23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U–20 and U–100 thereof.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ORVAL L. DUBOIS,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

United States Coast Guard

[CGFR 52-44]

APPROVAL AND TERMINATION OF APPROVAL OF EQUIPMENT

1. The procedures for approvals and termination of approvals of various items of lifesaving, fire-fighting and miscellaneous equipment or installations used on merchant vessels or motorboats are set forth in 46 CFR 2.75–1 to 2.75–50, inclusive. In order that approvals of equipment can be kept current and to provide a definite means for identification, the approvals have been limited to 5 years and assigned approval numbers.

2. The present numbering and certificating system for approved equipment was inaugurated on July 31, 1947, and a notice of approval was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of that date (12 F. R. 5185–5237). The items of equipment appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated July 31, 1947, were approved for a period of 5 years from date of publication. In January 1952 individual letters were sent to the manufacturers of all items of equipment listed in this notice except where the approvals of equipment already had been superseded, suspended, or terminated. In cases where the manufacturers did not reply or letters were returned, follow-up letters were sent. Where the manufacturer indicated he desired to have his approval extended, a check was made to determine whether or not each item complied with current Coast Guard requirements and in those cases where the original approval did not comply with current requirements the manufacturer was so advised and he was given an opportunity to bring his equipment into compliance prior to the expiration date of his approval.

3. By virtue of the authority vested in me as Commandant, United States Coast Guard, by Treasury Department Order No. 120 dated July 31, 1950 (15 F. R. 6521), and in compliance with the authorities cited below with each item of equipment, It is ordered, That:

(a) All the approvals for lifesaving, fire-fighting and miscellaneous equipment or installations which are listed in Part I of this document are prescribed and are extended for a period of 5 years from July 31, 1952, unless sooner canceled or suspended by proper authority; and,

(b) All the termination of approvals for lifesaving, fire-fighting and miscellaneous equipment or installations which are listed in Part II of this document shall be effective as of July 31, 1952, in accordance with the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated July 31, 1947 (12 F. R. 5186). The reason for termination of approvals, as set forth in Part II of this document, is that (1) the manufacturer is no longer in business; or (2) the manufacturer does not desire to retain the approval; or (3) the item of equipment no longer complies with present Coast Guard requirements. In the case of power boilers it has been decided that since detailed plans of power boilers must be submitted for each vessel or a group of vessels of a particular design there is no advantage in type approving such boilers. Accordingly, the approvals for power boilers are being terminated and new designs will no longer be listed under the heading of approved equipment. Notwithstanding the termination of approvals of equipment as listed in Part II of this document, such equipment already in service may be continued in use so long as such equipment is in good and serviceable condition.

TITLE 4—ACCOUNTS

Chapter I—General Accounting Office

[General Regs. 97, Revised, Supp. 2]

PREPARATION OF BILL OF LADING FORMS

Section 8.4 Preparation of bill of lading forms, is amended by adding new paragraphs (c) and (d) thereto as follows:

(c) (1) The U. S. Government Bill of Lading, Standard Form No. 1103, now provides for showing whether "pick-up service at origin" and "delivery service at destination" was or was not performed by the Government or its agent.

(2) In certain instances tariffs covering pick-up or delivery service provide for the assessment of charges therefor in addition to line-haul charges. Accordingly, where such tariff provisions are in effect, and when pick-up or delivery service is not performed by the Government or its agent but is performed by the carrier at the request of the shipper or consignee in connection with a Less-Than-Carload, an Any Quantity, or a Trap Car shipment, the U. S. Government bill of lading and available copies should be indorsed to show that "Pick-up," "Delivery," or "Trap Car Service," as the case may be, "was requested of and furnished by the railroad." (This information is to be shown in addition to the information presently required by the U. S. Government Bill of Lading.) Such indorsements should be signed by or for the person who ordered such services at origin or destination, and whenever practicable, the indorsements should be placed in any available space adjacent to the space presently provided for certification as to "pick-up service at origin" or "delivery service at destination."

(3) Inasmuch as the indorsements in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph are prescribed as a temporary procedure pending revision of the U. S. Government Bill of Lading, this Office will offer no objections if the indorsements, when required, are imprinted on the bill of lading and available copies by means of rubber stamps.

(d) When a carrier is requested to perform special services incident to the line-haul transportation the U. S. Government Bill of Lading, Standard Form No. 1103, shall be indorsed to show the name of the carrier upon which the request was made, the kind and scope of the special services ordered, and the fact that such services were rendered. This indorsement shall be signed by or for the person who ordered the special services. However, if such an indorsement is impractical the same information may be set forth in a statement bearing symbol and number of covering bill of lading which shall be signed by or for the person who ordered the special services, and, if possible, attached to the bill of lading. If the bill of lading is not available, the statement shall be surrendered to the carrier from which the services were ordered, for transmittal to the last line-haul carrier and presentation in connection with the bill for line-haul transportation charges.

(2) Licensing in excess of quantitative quotas. Export licenses may be granted in rare instances in connection with cases of extreme hardship arising out of the inability of holders of scrap to dispose of it in the domestic market because of the unwillingness of domestic buyers to purchase the scrap at reasonable prices. Such applications for export licenses must be accompanied by a written certification from the NPA that the scrap covered by the application qualifies as distressed material.

In addition, the applicant for export license must comply with the provisions of § 372.3 (d) of this chapter, § 373.1 (a), (b) and (c), § 373.2 (a) and § 373.34 relative to ultimate consignee statement, price, accepted order, import certificate and delivery verification.

(i) Requests for the NPA certification should be addressed to the Director, Steel Division, NPA, Washington 25, D. C. The NPA has indicated that complete justification must be furnished to indicate beyond question the distressed character of the scrap. Such justification should include, as a minimum, evidence as to the length of time the scrap has been held, the names and addresses of potential users in the seller's market to whom the scrap has been offered, prices at which it has been offered and the reasons for rejection of offers to sell.

(ii) Export licenses filed under the provisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph will not be granted for exports to destinations other than the United Kingdom until such time as the Office of International Trade has contacted United Kingdom authorities through the Mutual Security Agency, and has been advised of the declination of that country to purchase the scrap described in the application at a reasonable price.

This amendment shall become effective as of October 1, 1952.

In the matter of Solomon L. Corush, an individual doing business as American Commercial Traveler

This proceeding was heard by J. Earl Cox, hearing examiner, upon the Commission's complaint (the "Notice" portion of which provided that the failure of said respondent to file his answer within the time therein fixed and to appear at the time and place fixed for hearing would be deemed to authorize the Commission and said examiner without further notice, to find the facts to be as alleged in the complaint and to issue an order to cease and desist in the form set forth in said notice), and upon the hearing so fixed.

Following the respondent's failure to file an answer, and his statement in a letter that he did not intend so to do, and his failure to appear at the time and place fixed for the hearing, motion by the attorney in support of the complaint, before said examiner, theretofore duly designated by the Commission, that the respondent be found in default, and for the entry of an order to cease and desist in the aforesaid form, was granted and the hearing closed.

Thereafter the proceeding regularly came on for final consideration by said examiner upon the complaint and said motion, and said examiner, having duly considered the record in the matter and having found that the proceeding was in the interest of the public, and acting pursuant to Rules V and VIII of the Commission's rules of practice, made his initial decision comprising certain findings as to the facts,[1] conclusion drawn therefrom,[1] and order to cease and desist.

No appeal having been filed from said initial decision of said hearing examiner as provided for in Rule XXII, nor any other action taken as thereby provided to prevent said initial decision becoming the decision of the Commission thirty days from service thereof upon the parties, said initial decision, including said order to cease and desist accordingly, under the provisions of said Rule XXII became the decision of the Commission on June 24, 1952.

The said order to cease and desist is as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent, Solomon L. Corush, an individual, trading as American Commercial Traveler, or trading under any other name or trade designation, and his agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of hotel or auto court directories or other publications, do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication, in the solicitation of advertising for such directories or publications:

(1) That the respondent is connected in any manner with the American Automobile Association or is able to obtain the approval of or the listing of hotels, auto courts or other accommodations with the American Automobile Association.

(2) That the respondent has a working agreement with any business firm as a result of which such firm instructs its salesmen to patronize the advertisers listed in the respondent's publication.

(3) That advertisers in the respondent's publication are granted exclusive listings within a prescribed area.

(4) That any specific number of persons will patronize the advertisers in the respondent's publication.

By "Decision of the Commission and order to file report of compliance," Docket 5942, June 17, 1952, which announced and decreed fruition of said initial decision, report of compliance was required as follows:

It is ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with the order to cease and desist.

Issued: June 17, 1952.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Amdt. 4 to Supplementary Regulation 4]

SR 4—UNIFORM CEILING PRICES FOR BRANDED ARTICLES

EXTENSION OF TERMINAL DATES OF SPECIAL ORDERS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 extended the automatic revocation dates of certain special orders issued under section 43 of CPR 7 to October 15, 1952, and November 15, 1952, the date of revocation in each case, depending upon the number by which the order was designated. That extension was granted because it appeared that numerous applicants were having difficulty in preparing their applications under SR 4 in time to avoid lags between the dates their special orders under section 43 of CPR 7 expired and the dates on which their SR 4 authorizations would become effective.

The Office of Price Stabilization is actively considering decontrol or suspension from control in a number of commodity areas, and many of the unexpired section 43 special orders establish uniform resellers' prices for branded articles in these areas. Consequently, pending the completion of these studies, the Director of Price Stabilization deems it advisable at this time to extend until January 2, 1953, the automatic revocation dates of all unexpired special orders under section 43. Thus, in the event suspension or decontrol actions are taken, the extension granted by this amendment would relieve holders of unexpired orders covering articles affected by such actions of the burden and expense of preparing SR 4 applications and of complying with the preticketing and notification requirements of the regulation.

In view of the remedial nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

Section 10 (a) of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 10. Orders under section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7—(a) Expiration of orders. (1) Except as provided in subparagraph (2), each special order issued to a manufacturer or wholesaler and in effect under section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7 (including orders amended as provided in paragraph (c) of this section) shall continue in effect but shall expire and be deemed revoked on the date uniform ceiling prices for any of his articles covered by that order are authorized under this supplementary regulation or on the following applicable date, whichever is earlier:

TSR 2—RECAPPING AND RETREADING SERVICES IN THE VIRGIN ISLANDS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Territorial Supplementary Regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Territorial Supplementary Regulation 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 34 establishes dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for sales at retail in the Virgin Islands of the United States, of the services of recapping and retreading of passenger car tires and recapping of truck tires. Previously, sales of such services were covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 34 which froze the seller's prices at the levels prevailing in the period December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951.

The recapping and retreading of tires is a relatively new and important service in the Virgin Islands. Heretofore, persons desiring such services were obliged to ship their tire carcasses to Puerto Rico for processing. This was an expensive method since, in addition to the cost of recapping or retreading, the customer incurred transportation costs to and from Puerto Rico.

Prices for recapping and retreading services have been fairly stable over the past two years, due principally to competition. Recently, however, one of the two plants in operation in the Virgin Islands discontinued the service. At present, the sole supplier of recapping and retreading services is located on the island of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, which is the servicing center for the Virgin Islands. It is, therefore, desirable to establish retail dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for these services to prevent individual price variations, and to furnish guidance to purchasers on the islands of St. Croix and St. John as to the current authorized prices they should pay for these services.

The ceiling prices established by this Territorial Supplementary Regulation are the same prices that were charged for these services in this area during the base period December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951.

In formulating this Territorial Supplementary Regulation, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with representatives of the industry and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director, the prices established by this territorial price regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

SR 15—REVISION 1, STERILE CANNED MEAT AND DRY SAUSAGE

DEFINITION OF "STERILE CANNED MEAT AND DRY SAUSAGE"

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, this Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 15, Revision 1, to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment redefines the term "sterile canned meat," so as to include within its meaning those meat products which are first sterilized during processing and then packed in hermetically sealed containers as well as those meat products which are packed in hermetically sealed containers and then sterilized. This will more closely conform the definition of "sterile canned meat" to industry practice.

This amendment also adds a definition of the term "dry sausage" as used in Supplementary Regulation 15, Revision 1.

In formulating this amendment, the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted so far as practicable with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given full consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of the act.

It is not believed that this amendment will cause any substantial changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution; however, to the extent that such changes may be compelled, they are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of Supplementary Regulation 15, Revision 1, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

1. Section 3 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) "Sterile canned meat" means (1) canned meat or any product consisting in substantial part of meat which has been sterilized in a hermetically sealed container and which requires no refrigeration while remaining in the sealed container; or (2) canned meat or any product consisting in substantial part of meat which has been first sterilized during processing and then packaged in a hermetically sealed container and which requires no refrigeration while remaining in the sealed container.

2. Section 3 is amended by adding a new paragraph (c) to read as follows:

(c) "Dry sausage" means a sausage which is air-dried and not cooked, the yield of which is less than 75 percent.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

AREA PRICE ALIGNMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 3 to Ceiling Price Regulation 135 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Under CPR 135, bakers who sell in different market areas are required to reflect in their ceiling prices established differentials between classes of customers. In certain areas this has caused discrepancies between the ceiling prices of local bakers and the ceiling prices of bakers whose plants are located elsewhere, but who compete with local bakers.

For example, in the base period certain local bakers had a base period price of $0.16 in their primary market. Under CPR 135 they were permitted an increase of 16% over base period price, or $0.0256. Under Section 4.1 of the regulation this rounds to $0.03, establishing a price of $0.19.

A baker from another area selling in this market had a base period price of $0.14 to his largest purchasing class of customers in his primary market. Under CPR 135 this price is adjusted to $0.16. Under Section 2.1 (b) of the regulation he must maintain his customary differential between his largest purchasing class of customers and other classes of purchasers. In this case it is $0.02. Therefore, he is permitted to increase only from $0.16 to $0.18 in the secondary market, $0.01 below the price of the local bakers in that market. Because of this the local bakers cannot get the price of $0.19 to which they are entitled under CPR 135.

This action permits the in-lining of a baker's secondary price to the local primary ceiling price.

In the formulation of this amendment there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 135 is amended by adding a new section 2.13, which reads as follows:

Sec. 2.13. Individual adjustments for bakers selling in more than one area—(a) Who may apply. You may apply for the establishment of an in-line bread and bread-type roll ceiling price in an area if:

(1) You sell a bread or bread-type roll item to classes of purchasers located in an area other than one within which your plant is situated; and

(2) As a result of applying a differential based upon differences in location, your ceiling price in such other area is out of line with the ceiling price established under this regulation of your most closely competitive bakers selling the same item within the same area to the same class of purchasers. Should you decide to apply, your application must be sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, to your District OPS Office.

(b) Contents of the application. You must submit the following information in your application:

(1) Your name and address

(2) A list of the bread and bread-type roll items for which you are requesting an adjustment in ceiling prices together with the following data for each such item:

(i) A description of the item (including among other things, its net weight);

(ii) Your ceiling price to your largest buying class of purchasers and the section of this regulation under which you established that price; the general area in which such class of purchasers is located.

(iii) The price differential applied by you in establishing your ceiling price for the area within which you are requesting an adjustment; your ceiling prices for that area.

(iv) Your requested ceiling prices and the classes of purchasers to which the requested ceiling prices are to apply.

(3) A description of the area within which you are requesting an adjustment in terms of the boundaries of or counties included within that area.

(4) A statement as to what proportion of your sales within the area are sales to:

(i) Ultimate consumers, that is householders only, and

(ii) All other kinds of purchasers (grocery stores, restaurants, etc.),

(5) The names and addresses of at least two of your most closely competitive bakers with plants located within the area for which you are requesting an adjustment, whose operations are most comparable to your operations in terms of the proportions of sales described in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph; a list of the same items baked by them and their ceiling prices. If there is only one competitive baker within the area you need, of course, only supply such information for the one baker. Finally, if you operate chain grocery stores or other chain stores selling items baked by you, you must include in your list of most closely competitive bakers at least one such chain store operator selling items baked by him or exclusively for him under a private label.

(c) Action to be taken by the Office of Price Stabilization. (1) The Office of Price Stabilization, upon the filing of your application may adjust your ceiling price in order to bring it in line with the ceiling price for the same item within the area involved.

(2) You may not begin to sell the item at the adjusted ceiling price until the Office of Price Stabilization has fixed the adjusted ceiling price for you. However, if you receive no notice of your ceiling price from that office after 15 days from the date on which OPS received your application, as shown by return receipt, you may thereafter sell the item at your requested ceiling price unless or until notified to the contrary.

CLARIFICATION IN CEILING PRICE FOR ROLLING OR DRAWING SERVICES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 110, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 110 corrects the ceiling price for rolling and drawing services to conform to the changes made in Amendment 1 to this regulation.

Amendment 1 to CPR 110 changed the ceiling prices set forth in this regulation to take into account the changes in the price of foreign copper from 27½ cents to 36½ cents per pound and the allocation of this copper to all users. The changes in the price of foreign copper did not affect the ceiling price for rolling and drawing services, which remain the same, but under the wording set forth in the regulation it would appear that the ceiling prices for these services have been increased. This amendment clearly indicates that such ceiling prices have not been changed by requiring that the ceiling price for this service be the same as that which would have been computed on June 29, 1952. This date is prior to the change in CPR 110 which reflected the increased price of foreign copper.

In view of the corrective nature of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Section 5 (a) of Ceiling Price Regulation 110 is amended to read as follows:

(a) Rolling or drawing services. Your ceiling price for the service of rolling copper bars into wire rods for drawing or for the service of drawing wire rods into wire is the price calculated in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) Determine the ceiling price established in this regulation as of June 29, 1952, for the product to be produced by the rolling or drawing operation performed by you; and

(2) Deduct from such price the value of the material supplied by the person for whom you are furnishing the service calculated by using the following prices:

(i) For copper bars, a price of 24½ cents per pound.

(ii) For copper or copper base alloy rods, your ceiling price as determined in accordance with the provisions of this regulation as of June 29, 1952.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

[Ceiling Price Regulation 173]

CPR 173—Soybean Products

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Ceiling Price Regulation 173 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation establishes ceiling prices for the products of soybean processing with the exception of soybean oil and soybean flour. The ceiling price for soybean oil is established and suspended under Ceiling Price Regulation 6. The ceiling price for soybean flour is covered by CPR 22.

For the products covered, this regulation supersedes the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) and Supplementary Regulation 3 to the GCPR.

This regulation is issued in conformity with the policy of the Office of Price Stabilization to provide tailored regulations covering principal feed products for the current crop season. As regards distributors' margins, L. C. L. differentials, sacking allowances, reporting requirements, and other similar provisions it incorporates, with suitable adaptation, the corresponding provisions of the tailored regulations which have been issued this summer for other important feed products.

This regulation continues the use of the pricing technique employed in SR 3 to the GCPR by setting ceiling prices by reference to Decatur, Illinois, as a basing point, in conformity with established industry practice. It increases the ceiling price for soybean oil meal, the principal soybean feed product, from $81 to $87, per ton, bulk, f. o. b. Decatur. This price has been established on the basis of factors relating to the new crop season which has just begun. These include the new crop reports on soybeans and other feed products, data recently obtained from industry and public sources, the price relationship between soybean feed products and other feedstuffs, the customary proportion in which the sale of soybean feed products and soybean oil contribute to the revenues of soybean processors and other relevant information.

In addition to setting ceiling prices for soybean products, this regulation also establishes new price controls on the mixes which in recent months the industry has been manufacturing and selling at prices substantially above the ceiling price for soybean meal. Since the beginning of this year, the practice of converting soybean meal into mixes by adding limited quantities of other ingredients has been widely adopted. Processors of soybean meal have generally substituted mixes of this description for straight soybean meal; and the higher ceiling prices for the mixes have as a consequence caused an excessive increase in costs of feeders and manufacturers of formula feeds who customarily bought soybean meal. Moreover, the general substitution of the mixes for the straight meal has occasioned serious difficulty and dislocations in the industry. In particular, the manufacturers of the conventional type of formula feeds have complained to OPS about the complications involved in maintaining their feed formulas in view of the fact that one of the most important basic ingredients which they customarily acquired in pure form has been changed into a mix.

The Director has found that to permit the continued sale of such mixes at present levels would be incompatible with the objectives of price stabilization. Accordingly, this regulation provides a formula for calculating the ceiling prices of these mixes on a cost basis, which will bring their price level generally down to or below the level of the ceiling price for the straight soybean product. Provision is made for adjustments on a cost basis where such costs provide clear justification.

When the Director made an announcement on August 22 of his intention to establish such price controls on mixes, he indicated his intention to treat as mixes, for this purpose, any mixture at least 85 percent of the weight of which consisted of an oilseed feed product—in this case, a soybean feed product. A subsequent review of the problem of the mixes has disclosed that the objectives of the new pricing formula would not be achieved unless the figure of 85 percent was reduced to 80 percent. Accordingly, the latter figure is used in this regulation.

The Director has also recognized that the formula for establishing ceiling prices for such mixes, is not appropriate in the case of those mixes which were customarily produced and sold prior to the time when the practice of substituting mixes for the straight meal began. These consist of a very limited number of feed products which although they fall within the definition of a mix under this regulation were not developed as a substitute for straight soybean meal. Such feed products which were marketed during the base crop year (October 1950 to September 1951) may be sold at ceiling prices previously established under the GCPR and applicable supplementary regulations governing the sale of manufactured feeds; but such GCPR ceiling prices will apply only to deliveries in any quarter of the current crop year (October 1952 to September 1953) which do not exceed 110 percent of the quantities of such product delivered during the same quarter of the base crop year. The 10 percent increase thus allowed is estimated to cover normal volume increases, but sales during any quarter exceeding this volume will have to be made at the lower ceiling prices established for the mixes generally. The Director considers this requirement necessary to prevent the diversion of production from straight soybean products into uncustomary quantities of such mixes. This would not only, as in the case of the mixes marketed during the past eight or nine months, tend to defeat the purposes of price stabilization, but would also result in hardship to members of the industry who would suffer from the diversion of the soybean supply into such channels.

Provision is also made for limiting the volume of toll crushing to the volume of soybeans toll-crushed during the base crop year. This provision is deemed necessary to prevent a recurrence of certain practices which processors of another oilseed feed have engaged in, and which had the effect of circumventing the ceiling price. In any event, toll crushing of soybeans has not customarily been engaged in on an extensive scale, and this limitation is not expected to interfere with normal toll crushing operations.

The Director has sought to minimize any alteration of established industry practices, but to the extent that such changes are required by this regulation he has found them to be necessary in order to preclude the circumvention or evasion of the ceiling prices for soybean products and mixes. Should it be required in the light of experience under this regulation he is prepared to issue such amendments as may be needed to prevent the use of other devices having similar effect.

The specifications and standards for soybean products used in this regulation including those used in distinguishing different kinds, classes, and types of products, were prior to the issuance of the regulation, in general use in the industry.

In the formulation of this regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

The Director has given careful attention to the requirements of sections 402 (c) and 402 (d) (3) of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, with respect to reflection of the legal minimum price for soybeans and a generally fair and equitable margin for processing and he has found that this regulation complies fully with those requirements.

(2) Where the seller or purchaser, as

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all applicable standards of that act.

Sections 1 to 22 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110. E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. (a) Coverage. This regulation establishes ceiling prices for sales by processors and distributors of soybean products and mixes. For sellers of soybean products and mixes this regulation supersedes Supplementary Regulation (SR) 3 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (GCPR) and the GCPR.

(b) Contracts for future delivery. With the following exceptions, this regulation applies to all deliveries, on and after September 30, 1952 of all soybean products and mixes. The exceptions are:

(1) Deliveries no later than November 30, 1952, under firm contracts including futures contracts traded on commodity exchanges entered into prior to September 1, 1952 for delivery no later than November 30, 1952, and

(2) Deliveries no later than October 31, 1952, under firm contracts including futures contracts traded on commodity exchanges entered into between September 1, 1952 and September 26, 1952 inclusive, for delivery before November 1, 1952.

For deliveries falling within exceptions (1) and (2) above, the ceiling prices in effect at the time the contract for forward delivery was entered into, will apply. In order for a delivery to qualify under exceptions (1) and (2) above, the contract under which it is made must have been entered into during the periods stated, as a firm contract not subject to adjustment or renegotiation of price or month of delivery. As used in this paragraph, "deliveries" include delivery dates specified in futures contracts irrespective of whether physical delivery takes place.

(c) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the 48 states of the United States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Sales not covered. (a) This regulation does not apply to export sales, and sales for export, of soybean products or mixes. The ceiling prices for such sales are determined under Ceiling Price Regulation 61.

(b) This regulation does not apply to sales and deliveries of imported soybean products. The ceiling prices for such sales are determined under Ceiling Price Regulation 31. Mixes in which any imported soybean product is included are covered by this regulation.

SEC. 3. Processors' per ton, bulk, ceiling prices for deliveries in carload or pool carlots. If you are a processor your ceiling prices, per ton, bulk, for soybean products delivered at any point in carload lots or pool carlots are as follows:

(a) Meal, cubes, pellets, cake, chips and flakes of specified guaranteed protein contents. (1) Your delivered ceiling prices for the soybean products listed in Table I are the prices f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, in the same table plus the lowest applicable rail freight rate from Decatur to the point of delivery.

TABLE I—PROCESSORS' PER TON, BULK, CEILING PRICES, F. O. B. DECATUR, ILLINOIS

Soybean products

	Price per ton
(1) The following products of guaranteed "standard protein content": soybean oil, meal, soybean oil cake, soybean oil chips, soybean flakes	$87.00
(2) The following products of guaranteed "standard protein content": soybean cubes or soybean pellets, soybean oil sized cake, soybean oil sized chips	89.25
(3) Soybean oil meal of guaranteed 50 percent protein content	99.00

(2) "Standard protein content" is:

(i) 44 percent for the soybean products listed above when such products result from the solvent extraction method of production exclusively, and

(ii) 41 percent for the soybean products listed above, when such products result from any other method or combination of methods of production.

(b) Guarantee of less than standard protein content; failure to meet guarantees; no protein guarantees. Determine your ceiling price for deliveries of a product described in paragraph (a) of this section for which you guarantee less than the standard protein content, for which you fail to meet your protein guarantees and for which you make no protein guarantee by adding the lowest applicable rail freight rate from Decatur, Illinois, to the point of delivery, to your ceiling price, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, calculated as follows:

(1) If you guarantee the protein content of a product listed in (1) or (2) of Table I at less than the standard protein content, and, upon delivery you meet the guarantee, calculate your ceiling price, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, by deducting from the f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price for the product in Table I $1.00 per ton for each one-half unit or fraction thereof by which your guaranteed protein content for the lot is less than the standard protein content.

(2) If you guarantee any minimum protein content, and, upon delivery, you fail to meet that guarantee, reduce the f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price for the product in such proportion as the deficiency bears to the guarantee.

(3) If you do not guarantee any minimum protein content, calculate your f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price by multiplying the actual number of half units of protein in the lot by 95 cents per ton. The f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price so calculated must not exceed the f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price for the same product under (1) or (2) (whichever is appropriate) of Table I of this section.

(c) Other soybean products. Your ceiling price delivered at any point for soybean feed, soybean hulls or soybean mill feed is your ceiling price for soybean oil meal of guaranteed standard protein content (determined under paragraph (a) (1) of this section), as adjusted by the latest differential between soybean oil meal of guaranteed standard protein and such product which you had in effect during the GCPR base period (December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951).

SEC. 4. Processors' l. c. l. differential. If you are a processor, add $1.00 per ton to your ceiling price for deliveries of a soybean product or a mix in less than carload lots.

SEC. 5. Trucker-merchants' ceiling prices. (a) If you are a trucker-merchant, you determine your ceiling price for a lot of a soybean product or a mix by adding to your supplier's selling price on the sale of the lot to you, the hauling allowance from the point at which you take delivery of the lot from your supplier to the point at which you deliver it to your customer. "Hauling allowance" means the following scale of charges:

(1) If the total haul does not exceed 100 miles: 3 cents per 100 pounds for the first 5 miles, or fraction thereof, plus 1 cent per 100 pounds for each additional 5 miles or fraction thereof.

(2) If the total haul exceeds 100 miles:

(i) The lower of the following:

(a) The lowest carload rail rate from the rail point nearest the point of origin to the rail point nearest the point of destination, plus eight cents per 100 pounds; or

(b) 22 cents per 100 pounds.

(ii) You may add to the allowance computed under subdivision (i) ¼ cent per 100 pounds for each five miles or fraction thereof by which the total haul exceeds 100 miles.

In calculating the mileage for any haul, you must use the distance via the shortest route, reasonably suitable for truck movement, between the point where your receive delivery from your supplier and the point where your customer takes delivery.

(b) Statement of information. As a trucker-merchant, you must, with respect to every lot of a soybean product or a mix transported by you, procure or prepare a statement setting forth the following:

(1) Your name and address and the state vehicle license number(s) of your truck or other vehicle in which you transport the lot.

(2) The name and address of your supplier.

(3) The date of purchase.

(4) The guaranteed protein content, if any.

(5) Your supplier's selling price to you.

After you deliver the lot, you must add your hauling charge as determined under this section and sign the statement. Except for a sale which you make to a feeder, you must give a copy of this statement of information to your customer. If your customer is a feeder, you must give him a copy upon demand. Both the trucker-merchant and each customer other than a feeder must retain such copies in their files for a period of two years for inspection by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The statement of information required by this section is in addition to the sales record required by section 19, with which it may be combined.

SEC. 6. Car door sellers' ceiling prices. If you are a car door seller your ceiling price for a soybean product or a mix delivered at any point is your supplier's selling price to you at that point plus $5.50 per ton.

SEC. 7. Jobbers' ceiling prices. If you are a jobber your ceiling price for a soybean product or a mix delivered at any point is the processors' delivered ceiling price at the same point of delivery plus the applicable markup per ton set forth in Table II.

TABLE II—JOBBERS' MARKUPS

For deliveries of pool carlots	$2.25
For all other deliveries	2.00

SEC. 8. Wholesalers' and retailers' ceiling prices. (a) If you are a wholesaler or a retailer, determine your ceiling price for a soybean product or a mix by adding to your "cost at ceiling", as determined under paragraph (b) of this section, your transportation cost, if any, from your warehouse or store, and the applicable markup per ton set forth in Table III.

TABLE III—WHOLESALERS' AND RETAILERS' MARKUPS

Wholesalers:
Sales and deliveries of 20,000 pounds or less	$5.00
All other sales and deliveries	4.50
Retailers	8.00

(b) Determine your "cost at ceiling" for a soybean product or a mix by one of the following methods:

(1) Method 1. If you maintain the identity of any receipt, then on the sale of such receipt, you may use as your "cost at ceiling" your supplier's delivered ceiling price for that receipt at the rail point nearest your warehouse or store, plus your "transportation cost", if any, from that rail point to your warehouse or store. You may use this method of determining your "cost at ceiling" even though you are simultaneously determining your "cost at ceiling" for resale of other receipts under Method 2.

(2) Method 2. This method may be used both by wholesalers and retailers in connection with the resale of two or more receipts. In using it, you may not include in your calculations any receipt whose identity is maintained and for which you figure a "cost of ceiling" under Method 1 above.

For receipts in bulk, use as your "cost at ceiling" the weighted average of your supplier's delivered ceiling prices at the rail point nearest your warehouse or store plus "your transportation cost", if any, from that rail point to your warehouse or store. Determine your "cost at ceiling" for receipts in sacks by the same method. Calculate each weighted average of ceiling prices as follows:

(i) Select a day for calculation and recalculate on that day each week thereafter (or, in case that day falls on a legal holiday, recalculate on the next business day).

(ii) Make your first calculation under this Method 2 as follows:

Step 1. Take your latest receipt prior to the day of calculation delivered to you on the basis (sacked or bulk) for which you are calculating a weighted average of ceiling prices, and all receipts delivered to you on the same basis for the 28 days preceding that last receipt.

Step 2. Multiply the number of tons of each receipt by your supplier's delivered ceiling price per ton for that receipt at the rail point nearest your warehouse or store, and add to this amount your "transportation cost", if any, from that rail point to your warehouse or store.

Step 3. Add the results obtained under Step 2 and divide by the total number of tons involved in your calculations. The result is your "cost at ceiling" for the first week for all your sales of that soybean product or mix (except, of course, for the sales for which you elect to determine your ceiling price under Method 1).

(iii) Follow the directions of subdivision (ii) for all succeeding calculations except that you use your last receipt and all receipts during the 14-day period preceding such last receipt in arriving at your "cost at ceiling".

(iv) If you wish to discontinue using this Method 2, you may do so, if, on the next recalculation day, you take inventory of the commodity. You may then treat the amount in inventory (excluding any receipts priced under Method 1) as a receipt on which your "cost at ceiling" is the weighted average price you would compute under this Method 2 for the succeeding week. If some of your receipts are bulk and some sacked, calculate separate weighted averages for these two types of receipts.

(c) "Transportation cost" means: (1) When a common carrier, contract carrier, or other carrier for hire or compensation is employed, the charges (exclusive of loading charges not customarily included in such transportation charges) which are actually incurred by the seller or purchaser, as the case may be. This amount may include, if applicable, the 3 percent transportation tax.

(2) Where the seller or purchaser, as the case may be, does his own hauling, the reasonable value of the transportation service (exclusive of loading), not exceeding the common or contract carrier rate for the same service, or any ceiling price established by the Office of Price Stabilization for such service.

(3) When any movement involves a combination of the types of transportation included in (1) and (2), the sum of the amounts computed separately for each portion of the movement.

SEC. 9. Limitation on distributors' markups. Only one markup by a jobber and one markup by a wholesaler are permitted under this regulation in connection with the sale of any lot of a soybean product or mix. Accordingly,

(a) If you are a jobber and you buy a lot which another jobber has handled, your delivered ceiling price at any point is your supplier's ceiling price at the same point and not a ceiling price determined under section 7.

(b) If you are a wholesaler and you buy a lot which another wholesaler has handled, your ceiling price is your supplier's delivered ceiling price at the rail point nearest your warehouse or store, plus your transportation cost, if any, from the rail point to your warehouse or store, and your transportation cost, if any, from your warehouse or store. You must, of course, exclude such lot from the calculation of any ceiling price under section 8.

SEC. 10. Allowance for sacks and sacking. If you are a processor, and you sell and deliver a soybean product or a mix in sacks, or if you are a wholesaler or retailer and you sack a soybean product or a mix which you buy in bulk, you may add to your ceiling price, per ton, in bulk, as otherwise determined under this regulation, the following:

(a) $1.00 per ton; plus

(b) The lower of the following:

(1) An amount consisting of the cost per sack of sacks delivered to you under your most recent customary purchase of sacks of the kind, size and condition (new or used) used for the lot, multiplied by the number of sacks furnished per ton of the soybean product or mix you deliver; or

(2) The applicable allowance in Table IV:

TABLE IV—ALLOWANCE PER TON FOR SACKS

[Per ton]

Type of sack used	New sacks	Used sacks
Cotton	$5.25	$4.25
Burlap	4.25	3.50
Paper	3.25

SEC. 11. Soybean oil meal futures contracts. The ceiling price for soybean oil meal futures contracts traded on the Chicago Board of Trade and the Memphis Merchants Exchange Clearing Association is $87 per ton, bulk, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois.

SEC. 12. Mixes. (a) As used in this regulation:

(6) "Trucker-merchant" means, with

(1) "Mix" means any mixture at least 80 percent of the weight of which consists of any soybean product.

(2) "Base crop year" means the period October 1, 1950, to September 30, 1951.

(3) "Current crop year" means the period October 1, 1952, to September 30, 1953.

(b) If you are a processor of a mix which you did not deliver during the base crop year your delivered ceiling price for such mix is your "Decatur base price" for that mix as determined under paragraph (c) of this section plus the lowest applicable rail freight rate from Decatur to the point of delivery, and, if applicable, the amounts per ton for l. c. l. deliveries under section 4 and for sacks and sacking under section 10.

(c) Ascertain your "Decatur base price" as follows:

(1) Make the following determinations:

Step 1. Determine for each ingredient in the mix, other than soybean products, the cost to you of the quantity of such ingredient in one ton of the mix. Such cost may not exceed your supplier's ceiling price to you if you buy such ingredient, and may not exceed your cost of production, if you produce it.

Step 2. Ascertain the ceiling price, per ton, bulk, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, for the soybean product included in the mix. If you include more than one soybean product in the mix use the average of the ceiling prices, per ton, bulk, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, of such soybean products weighted in accordance with proportionate weight of each such product to the total weight of all soybean products in the mix.

If you include an imported soybean product in your mix, use the f. o. b. Decatur ceiling price established in accordance with the two preceding sentences, and not any ceiling price established under Ceiling Price Regulation 31.

Step 3. Multiply the price established under Step 2 by the fraction representing the proportion which the weight of the soybean product or products in the mix bears to one ton.

Step 4. Add the results under Steps 1 and 3.

Step 5. Add a $1.00 mixing allowance to the result under Step 4.

(2) The result under Step 5 is your "Decatur base price" if it does not exceed the price established under Step 2. If the result obtained under Step 5 exceeds the price established under Step 2, the Step 2 price is your "Decatur base price" for the mix.

(3) If the result under Step 5 exceeds the price established under Step 2, you may file an application for a different "Decatur base price". You may not, in determining your ceiling price for the mix, use a "Decatur base price" different from that established under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, unless and until the Director of Price Stabilization notifies you in writing that you are authorized to do so. Your signed application should be addressed to the Grains and Related Products Branch, Food and Restaurant Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and must include:

(i) The name and address of your company.

(ii) The location of the plants at which you will produce the mix.

(iii) A list of all the ingredients in the mix, and the quantity of each such ingredient by weight, per ton, of the mix.

(iv) A statement of the cost to you (calculated as under Step 1, subparagraph (1) of this paragraph) of the quantity of each ingredient per ton in the mix other than soybean products, and an explanation of the method and calculations by which you arrived at such costs.

(v) The ceiling price, per ton, bulk, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois and the protein content of each soybean product contained in the mix.

(d) (1) If you are a processor of a mix which you delivered during the base crop year your ceiling prices are as follows:

(i) For deliveries during any quarter of the current crop year not in excess of the amount of such mix which you delivered during the same quarter of the base crop year multiplied by 1.10, your ceiling price is the same ceiling price as you establish for that product as a manufactured feed in accordance with the GCPR and SR 7 to the GCPR.

(ii) For deliveries during any quarter of the current crop year in excess of the amount of such mix which you delivered during the same quarter of the base crop year multiplied by 1.10, your ceiling price is the price established in accordance with paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(2) You may not sell the mix until you have mailed by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Office of Price Stabilization, Grains and Related Products Branch, Washington 25, D. C., a report of the number of tons of such mix which you delivered during each quarter of the base crop year.

(e) If you produce a lot of a mix for which your ceiling price must be established in accordance with paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, you are required to make and keep for inspection by the Office of Price Stabilization for a period of two years the following records in addition to those required under section 19.

(1) Work sheets showing in detail the method and calculations you used in determining the cost to you of the ingredients in the mix under Step 1, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.

(2) All invoices covering ingredients included in the mix other than soybean products with identification of those invoices used in calculating your ceiling prices for mixes.

(3) All other material you used in making the determinations under Step 1, paragraph (c) (1) of this section.

(4) Original and revised ceiling prices established for each mix and the periods during which they applied.

SEC. 13. Toll crushing. (a) You may not perform any toll crushing until you have mailed by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Office of Price Stabilization, Attention Grains and Related Products Branch, Washington 25, D. C., a report of the number of bushels of soybeans you toll crushed during each quarter of the base crop year. Thereafter, you may not during any quarter of the current crop year toll crush a greater volume of soybeans than you toll crushed during the same quarter of the base crop year.

(b) "Toll crush" means to perform the service of processing soybeans into any soybean product, soybean flour and/or soybean oil.

(c) If you toll crush you must, in addition to the records required under section 18 of Ceiling Price Regulation 34, keep a record of each sale of your toll crushing service containing the following information:

(1) The name and address of the person to whom you rendered the service;

(2) The date on which you performed the toll crushing;

(3) The number of bushels of soybeans which you toll crushed.

SEC. 14. Power of the Director of Price Stabilization. The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time request further information, disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices established or proposed under section 3 (c) or section 12 for the purpose of bringing them in line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established under this regulation.

SEC. 15. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revised.

SEC. 16. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation prohibits you from making a contract or offer to sell at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery, or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. You may not, however, deliver or agree to deliver at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with any increase in ceiling prices after delivery.

SEC. 17. Excise taxes. You may collect in addition to your ceiling price, the amount of any excise, sales, or similar tax actually paid by you if the statute or ordinance imposing the tax does not prohibit you from stating and collecting the tax separately from your selling price.

SEC. 18. Transfer of business. If, after the effective date of this regulation, you acquire the business, assets or stock-in-trade of any soybean product business, and you carry on the business, or continue to deal in soybean products or mixes separately from any other establishment previously owned or operated by you, you shall have the same ceiling prices and be under the same obligation to keep records as the person from whom you acquired the business, assets or stock. If, after the effective date of this regulation, you transfer your business, assets or stock, you must either preserve and make available, or turn over to the transferee, all your records which are necessary for him to comply with the ceiling price or record-keeping provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 19. Current records. Except as otherwise provided in this section, every person who sells shall make and keep, and every person who in the regular course of trade or business buys a soybean product or a mix shall keep for inspection by the Office of Price Stabilization for a period of two years accurate records of each sale or purchase made after the effective date of this regulation.

(a) Sales. (1) Every person making a sale under this regulation to a buyer other than a feeder shall make a record thereof on an invoice or bill of sale, a copy of which must be given to the buyer. Every person making a sale to a feeder in a lot of more than 1,000 pounds must keep a record thereof, although it does not have to be in the form of an invoice or bill of sale, and, upon demand, must give a copy of such record to the feeder. Every sales record provided for in this paragraph must state the name and address of the seller and buyer; the date of sale and of delivery; the kind of soybean product or mix and the quantity sold; the selling price; the guaranteed protein content, if any; the seller's ceiling price for the lot; (if the seller collects the amount of such tax), the excise, sales or similar tax, if any. Except for sales of 5,000 pounds or less to a feeder, every sales record must also indicate: the buyer's receiving point; (in the case of sales by processors, who are required to establish the ceiling price for the lot by reference to a price, f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois) the ceiling price f. o. b. Decatur, Illinois, and the lowest applicable freight rate from Decatur to the buyer's receiving point; (in the case of sales by jobbers and car door sellers) the delivered ceiling price of the seller's supplier at the receiving point at which the seller makes delivery to his buyer; (in the case of sales by wholesalers and retailers) the seller's "cost at ceiling" (as determined under section 8 (b)) and any transportation charge included in the ceiling price which is incurred by the seller in making delivery to his buyer; and, for all sellers, any markup or allowances specified in this regulation which is added by the seller.

(2) Processors. In addition to the sales records which he is required to give his buyer under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, every processor who establishes his ceiling price under paragraph (c) of section 3 must keep the sales records indicating the GCPR base period differentials used in determining his ceiling prices; and every processor who establishes his ceiling price for a mix under section 12 (d) (1) (i) of this regulation must keep the records required under section 16 of GCPR for such product.

(3) Wholesalers and retailers. In addition to the sales records which he is required to keep under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, every wholesaler or retailer, electing to apply Method 2 under section 8 (b) must keep a record of the calculations of each "cost at ceiling" determined under this method.

(b) Purchases. Every person other than a feeder making a purchase of soybean products or mixes in the course of trade or business must keep the sales record which his seller is required to give him under this section.

SEC. 20. Prohibitions. You shall not do any act prohibited or omit to do any act required by this regulation, nor shall you offer, solicit, attempt or agree to do or omit to do any such acts. Specifically (but not in limitation of the above), you shall not, regardless of any contract or other obligation, sell or deliver, and no person shall buy or accept delivery from you at a price higher than the ceiling price established by this regulation, and you shall make and preserve true and accurate records required by this regulation. If you violate any provisions of this regulation, you are subject to criminal penalties, enforcement action, and action for damages.

SEC. 21. Evasions. Any device, including the use of toll crushing, which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted by this regulation or in concealing or falsely representing information as to which this regulation requires records to be kept is a violation of this regulation. This prohibition includes, but is not limited to, devices making use of commissions, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, upgrading, tie-in agreements and trade understandings, as well as the omission from records of true data and the inclusion in records of false data.

FORWARD DELIVERY CONTRACTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 173 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Section 1 (b) of this regulation provides that with the exceptions of certain forward delivery contracts including futures contracts the ceiling prices established in the regulation apply to all deliveries on and after September 30, 1952, of all "soybean products and mixes".

The exceptions were provided for after extensive consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, in order to avoid undue hardship to producers of mixes who had contracted to make future deliveries of mixes at the former ceiling prices.

This amendment is issued to make it clear that such exceptions include only contracts for sales of mixes.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this amendment are generally fair and equitable, are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with all the applicable standards of that act.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The first sentence of section 1 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 173 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Contracts for future delivery. With the following exceptions, which apply only to mixes, this regulation applies to all deliveries on and after September 30, 1952, of all soybean products and mixes.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

GCPR, SR 63—AREA MILK PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

ADDITION OF COUNTIES TO AREA COVERED

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), and Delegation of Authority No. 41 of the Director of Price Stabilization (16 F. R. 12679) this Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 30 pursuant to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 9559) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Amendment 1 to Area Milk Price Regulation 30 is issued for the purpose of adding four counties to the area covered by the regulation. The Regional Director has determined, after making a survey of the processors in adjoining areas, that the counties of Navarro, Hill, McLennan and Palo Pinto have historically been a part of the Dallas Milk Marketing Area. The price structure existing in these counties is similar to that existing in the area covered by the original order. An accounting study revealed that raw material costs and allowable increased costs of operation for processors located in the four counties is similar to that for processors in the original sixteen-county area.

In the judgment of the Regional Director of the Office of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this area milk price regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

The Regional Director of the Office of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24 to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to all relevant factors of general applicability.

The Director has consulted the industry to the extent practicable and has given due consideration to its recommendations prior to the issuance of this amendment.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Area Milk Price Regulation No. 30 to Supplementary Regulation 63 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 is deleted and a new section 2 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 2. Where this area milk price regulation applies. This area milk price regulation applies to the North Texas Milk Marketing Area which is composed of the following Texas counties:

Cooke	Fannin	McLennan
Collin	Grayson	Lamar
Dallas	Hill	Parker
Delta	Hopkins	Rockwall
Navarro	Hunt	Tarrant

[General Overriding Regulation 7, Amdt. 10 to Revision 1]

GOR 7—EXEMPTION AND SUSPENSION OF CERTAIN FOOD AND RESTAURANT COMMODITIES

ADDITIONAL FRUIT AND VEGETABLE PRODUCTS ADDED TO STATUTORY DECONTROL PROVISION; ADDITION SPECIALTY FOODS ADDED TO ARTICLE II

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to General Overriding Regulation 7, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 7, Revision 1, adds additional commodities to the list of products which are decontrolled because of Congressional enactment of the Harrison Amendment to the Defense Production Act of 1950, removing price ceilings from fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed form. The amendment also adds additional specialty food items to the list of products exempted from price control under Article II of the regulation, and makes other miscellaneous changes.

It was indicated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying Amendment 2 to GOR 7, Revision 1, that it was intended to include only those products which were clearly within the scope of the Harrison Amendment and that the Office of Price Stabilization was continuing its study in order to determine the Congressional intent and full implications of that amendment. It is the opinion of the Director that Congress intended primarily to remove price ceilings on those products which were priced under Ceiling Price Regulations 55 and 56 (the canned fruits, berries and vegetables regulations) and on the products covered by Ceiling Price Regulations 81 and 82 (the frozen fruits, berries and vegetables regulations). This amendment, therefore, adds to the statutory decontrol provisions of section 30, the additional products covered by those regulations which were not included in the original statutory decontrol action taken by Amendment 2 to GOR 7.

As to the products regarding which the Congressional intent under the Harrison Amendment is not clear, the Director of Price Stabilization has adopted the common usage test in determining what is a fruit or vegetable in fresh or processed form. In other words, he believes that the Amendment applies only to those commodities, in fresh or processed form, which (1) by common and general usage are considered and used as fruits or as vegetables and (2) are sold and used as such. In his opinion, the Amendment is not so broad as to apply to all products manufactured from fruits and vegetables, nor may it be construed as being applicable to products simply because their principal ingredients are fruits or vegetables, or to products which contain fruits or vegetables, but which are not sold and used as fruits or as vegetables. For example, it is his opinion that the Harrison Amendment does not cover such prod-bean oil meal." "Expeller soybean oil meal" means the product resulting from grinding soybean oil chips. "Hydraulic soybean oil meal" means the product resulting from grinding soybean oil cake. "Solvent extracted soybean oil meal" means the product resulting from grinding solvent extracted soybean flakes.

(11) "Soybean oil meal of guaranteed 50 percent protein content" means the product of guaranteed 50 percent protein content which is obtained from grinding and carefully grading dehulled solvent extracted soybean flakes.

(12) "Soybean cubes" or "soybean pellets" means soybean oil meal which has been processed through a cubing or pelleting machine.

(13) "Mix". This term is defined in section 12 (a).

(c) Transportation terms. (1) "Carload lot" means any quantity which takes the carload rail freight rate under the applicable railroad tariff requirements.

(2) "Less-than-carload lot" means any lot containing a quantity less than a carload lot other than a pool car lot. It includes any delivery by or into a truck.

(3) "Pool carlot" means a lot being shipped to the purchaser as part of a rail carload lot sold by one seller to two or more persons.

(4) "Transportation cost". This term is defined in section 8 (c).

(d) Miscellaneous definitions. (1) "Base crop year". This term is defined in section 12 (a) (2).

(2) "Current crop year". This term is defined in section 12 (a) (3).

(3) "Unit of protein" means one percent of protein.

Effective date. This regulation is effective September 30, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

GOR 7—EXEMPTION AND SUSPENSION OF CERTAIN FOOD AND RESTAURANT COMMODITIES

ADDITIONAL FRUIT AND VEGETABLE PRODUCTS ADDED TO STATUTORY DECONTROL PROVISION; ADDITION SPECIALTY FOODS ADDED TO ARTICLE II

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this amendment to General Overriding Regulation 7, Revision 1, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 7, Revision 1, adds additional commodities to the list of products which are decontrolled because of Congressional enactment of the Harrison Amendment to the Defense Production Act of 1950, removing price ceilings from fruits and vegetables in fresh or processed form. The amendment also adds additional specialty food items to the list of products exempted from price control under Article II of the regulation, and makes other miscellaneous changes.

It was indicated in the Statement of Considerations accompanying Amendment 2 to GOR 7, Revision 1, that it was intended to include only those products which were clearly within the scope of the Harrison Amendment and that the Office of Price Stabilization was continuing its study in order to determine the Congressional intent and full implications of that amendment. It is the opinion of the Director that Congress intended primarily to remove price ceilings on those products which were priced under Ceiling Price Regulations 55 and 56 (the canned fruits, berries and vegetables regulations) and on the products covered by Ceiling Price Regulations 81 and 82 (the frozen fruits, berries and vegetables regulations). This amendment, therefore, adds to the statutory decontrol provisions of section 30, the additional products covered by those regulations which were not included in the original statutory decontrol action taken by Amendment 2 to GOR 7.

As to the products regarding which the Congressional intent under the Harrison Amendment is not clear, the Director of Price Stabilization has adopted the common usage test in determining what is a fruit or vegetable in fresh or processed form. In other words, he believes that the Amendment applies only to those commodities, in fresh or processed form, which (1) by common and general usage are considered and used as fruits or as vegetables and (2) are sold and used as such. In his opinion, the Amendment is not so broad as to apply to all products manufactured from fruits and vegetables, nor may it be construed as being applicable to products simply because their principal ingredients are fruits or vegetables, or to products which contain fruits or vegetables, but which are not sold and used as fruits or as vegetables. For example, it is his opinion that the Harrison Amendment does not cover such products as tomato soup, baby food vegetables with meat, or hash or meat stews with vegetables (many of which contain more vegetables by weight than meat), or vegetable margarines. All of these products contain fruits or vegetables in varying amounts, but they are neither sold nor used as fruits or as vegetables.

The additional list of the products contained in this amendment to section 30 of GOR 7, Revision 1, will, to a large extent, complete the removal of ceiling prices from products which the Director of Price Stabilization has determined are within the scope of the Harrison Amendment. This does not preclude, however, the addition of other products which may later be found by the Director to come within the decontrol provision of the Defense Production Act, nor does it preclude exemption or suspension actions under OPS standards with regard to commodities which are determined to be outside the scope of the Harrison Amendment.

The list of items added by this amendment to the exemption provisions of Article II (the provision for exemption not dealing with statutory decontrol under the Harrison Amendment) includes domestic and imported items which are of a specialty character. This action is taken in line with the policy of the Office of Price Stabilization of suspending or otherwise relaxing price controls on commodities, which by reason of their luxury or "specialty" character, are not required at this time to be controlled in order to carry out the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. Available data indicate that this action will have little effect on the cost of living, the cost of the defense effort, or general industrial costs. Moreover, it is the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization that the maintenance of ceiling price restrictions on sales of these items would involve an administrative burden out of all proportion to the importance of keeping them under price control.

This amendment also broadens the original provision of section (2) (e) of Article II by deleting the words "domestically processed and canned" so that the products listed in this provision are exempted from price control regardless of whether or not they are domestically processed. Additional processed fruits and vegetables which are not "canned" are also added to this paragraph. A similar change is made in paragraph (g) of section 2 by deleting reference to "domestically processed" in connection with the exemption of certain frozen fruit, berry, vegetable, and related products.

In the formulation of this amendment the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable and consideration has been given to their recommendations. In the judgment of the Director, the exemptions under Article II provided for by this amendment, will not defeat or impair the price stabilization program or the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. The exemptions under Article IV are, in the judgment of the Director, necessary to comply with the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

General Overriding Regulation 7, Revision 1, is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) of section 2 is amended by adding the following:

2. Paragraph (b) (1) of section 2 is amended to read as follows:

3. Paragraph (c) (1) (v) of section 2 is amended to read as follows:

4. Paragraph (c) (1) (xi) of section 2 is amended to read as follows:

GOR 24—COMMUNITY PRICING

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Revision 1 of General Overriding Regulation 24 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation hitherto has required one copy of each list of the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices to be posted for each 1,500 square feet of selling space. In extending the program of community pricing the Director has decided that it will be both cheaper and more practical to reduce this requirement. However, on the basis of experience with community pricing under the test program, it now has been determined that this requirement can and should be modified in the interest of administrative simplicity. Therefore, this revision provides that one copy of each list of the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices fixed for dry groceries must be posted for each 1,500 square feet of selling space with a maximum of one copy for Group 1, one copy for Group 2, two copies for Groups 3 and 3A and five copies for Groups 4 and 4A. The OPS Offices will mail out this maximum number of copies to each store according to the group in which it has registered.

Ordinarily a change of this kind would be made by an amendment and not by a revision. However, the Director has decided that copies of GOR 24 shall be given to all interested retailers and it is more efficient to issue a GOR 24, Revised, than to reprint the original GOR 24 and a separate amendment. The following portions of the original Statement of Considerations explain the basic character and techniques of community pricing:

This General Overriding Regulation provides a legal basis for and sets out standard provisions to be used in community pricing orders to be issued by District Offices of the Office of Price Stabilization fixing dollars-and-cents ceiling prices. These orders will be called "adopting orders". None of the provisions of this regulation is self-executing, and they can become effective only when made applicable to a particular area by an "adopting order" issued by the appropriate District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization. The prices fixed by an adopting order will replace or override the ceiling prices set under otherwise applicable regulations. The result is uniform ceiling prices for a community rather than diverse prices for individual sellers. During World War II, the Office of Price Administration found that the most popular and effective method of price control for food items was the establishment of community dollars-and-cents ceiling prices because it enables the consumer to tell at a glance whether any particular item is being sold above the proper ceiling price. At the present time most food retail stores are under Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16 which provide for individual calculation of ceiling prices by various sellers using the markups prescribed for their groups. Under this system the consumer cannot tell whether the selling price for an item is above the ceiling price.

Generally Groups 3 and 4 stores purchase dry groceries directly from manufacturers or processors. However, some Groups 3 and 4 stores purchase a high proportion of their dry groceries from wholesalers pricing under CPR 14 or from wagon wholesalers. These latter stores, therefore, have higher acquisition costs which result in higher ceiling prices. Under community pricing the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for Group 3 and 4 stores will be computed by using the costs of acquisition from manufacturers or processors. To force Group 3 and 4 stores with higher acquisition costs to comply with ceiling prices figured on the lower costs would drastically reduce their margin of profit. Accordingly, section 7 of this regulation provides for separate groups, to be called 3A and 4A, into which these stores may be classified and for which separate dollars-and-cents ceiling prices will be fixed that take the higher acquisition costs into consideration.

Immediately after the issuance of the original regulation, the Office of Price Stabilization undertook an experiment in community pricing in three cities. After careful examination of the results of the experiment and of the present situation in the food field, the Director of Price Stabilization has decided that it is both feasible and desirable to institute a full-fledged program of community pricing for food products at retail. Within the very near future such a program will be started in approximately 54 areas which have OPS District Offices. As soon as practicable thereafter, this program will be extended to other areas.

In the formulation of this revised regulation the Director of Price Stabilization has consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable and has given consideration to their recommendations. In his judgment the provisions of this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

2. Compliance with adopting orders.
3. Relation to other regulations.
4. Posting.
5. Evasion.
6. Prohibitions.
7. Reclassification of Group 3A and 4A retailers purchasing from wholesalers.
8. Applicability of other regulations.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 8 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110. E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation puts into one document the provisions common to all community pricing orders which may be issued from time to time for various areas in the United States. Sales by retailers in which delivery is by mail or express shall not be covered by these orders.

Taken by itself, this regulation sets no ceiling prices. These will be issued in separate documents which will be called "adopting orders." The "adopting orders," when issued, will expressly adopt some or all of the provisions of this regulation. The provisions of this regulation will become effective only when and to the extent they are so adopted.

SEC. 2. Compliance with adopting orders. No person, except as otherwise provided in the applicable adopting order, may sell or offer to sell any item at a price higher than the dollars-and-cents ceiling price for that item fixed in the price list applicable to him and contained in an adopting order. Unless otherwise provided in an adopting order, farmers selling at retail produce grown on their own farms, health food stores and specialty stores shall be subject to all adopting orders.

SEC. 3. Relation to other regulations. The ceiling prices fixed in the applicable adopting order may be either "replacement" ceilings or "over-riding" ceilings. If the adopting order fixes "replacement" ceiling prices for certain sellers, they shall be the only ceiling prices for the sellers covered. If the adopting order fixes "over-riding" ceiling prices for certain sellers, the ceiling price for each item sold by a seller who is covered by the order shall be either the ceiling price figured by him in accordance with the provisions of the otherwise applicable regulation (such as CPR 15 and 16) or the ceiling price for that item fixed in the price list in the applicable adopting order, whichever is lower. All sellers must refer to the applicable adopting order to find out whether the ceiling prices fixed are replacement ceiling prices or over-riding ceiling prices.

SEC. 4. Posting—(a) Ceiling prices. Every person selling food items at retail must obtain from the Office of Price Stabilization one or more copies (as many copies as may be needed to satisfy the requirements of this paragraph) of each list of the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices fixed by the applicable adopting order for those items. Unless a list contains a statement that it need not be posted, the following rules shall apply: One copy of each list of the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices fixed for dry groceries must be posted for each 1,500 square feet of selling space with a maximum of one copy for Group 1, one copy for Group 2, two copies for Groups 3 and 3A and five copies for Groups 4 and 4A. If more than one copy of a list of dry groceries is required, they must be posted at least 25 feet apart. One copy of each list of the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for all items other than dry groceries must be posted at or near the place where the item or items are offered for sale. Each list must be posted in such a manner that it can be easily read and so that customers can approach it within a distance of two feet. If the dollars-and-cents ceiling prices established in an adopting order do not replace the ceiling prices of a seller, he must continue to post his ceiling prices as required by any other applicable regulation.

(b) Selling prices. Every person selling food items at retail must also post his selling price for each food item for which an adopting order fixes a dollars-and-cents ceiling price. The selling price must be posted either on the item or at or near the place in the store where the item is offered for sale.

SEC. 5. Evasion. You must not evade any of the provisions of this regulation or of any adopting order by any scheme or device. You must not, as a condition of selling any particular item, require a customer to buy anything else. Any such evasion is punishable as a violation of this regulation.

SEC. 6. Prohibitions. If you sell or deliver or offer to sell or deliver at a price higher than your ceiling price fixed by this regulation or any order issued pursuant to it, or if you otherwise violate any provisions of this regulation or any order issued pursuant to it, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

SEC. 7. Reclassification of Group 3 and 4 retailers purchasing from wholesalers. (a) For purposes of community pricing, there shall be separate classifications for Group 3 and 4 retailers under CPR 15 purchasing a substantial portion (as set forth in (b) below) of their dry groceries from wholesalers. These retailers shall be designated as Groups 3A and 4A, respectively.

(b) If you are a Group 3 or 4 retailer, as defined in CPR 15, and if during the latest calendar year or your most recent complete fiscal year at least 40 percent by dollar volume of the net cost of the dry groceries purchased by you for the stores included in an application for adjustment, was purchased from wholesalers pricing under CPR 14 or from wagon wholesalers, you may apply under paragraph (c) of this section for permission to use the community dollars-and-cents ceiling prices fixed for Group 3A or 4A retailers.

(c) Your application must be filed in duplicate with the OPS Office for your area. You may include in one application two or more of your stores which operate as a unit with a central office or warehouse. The OPS Office for your area shall mean the Office having jurisdiction over the central office or warehouse. Your application shall consist of (1) name and address of each store included in the application, (2) the total net cost of dry groceries purchased by you for all of the stores included in the application during the latest calendar year or your most recent complete fiscal year, and (3) the net cost of such purchases from wholesalers pricing under CPR 14 or from wagon wholesalers, and (4) signature and title of a responsible officer of the applicant. You may not use Group 3A or 4A prices until your application has been approved.

(d) If, however, (1) under Maximum Price Regulation No. 422 issued by the Office of Price Administration you were either a Group 3A or 4A store, (2) you can establish that you were authorized by the OPA to use Group 3A or 4A ceiling prices and the authority was never revoked, and (3) you certify that your method of doing business has not changed in any material respect since the time you were authorized to use the Group 3A or 4A ceiling prices, you may consider yourself a Group 3A or 4A store under this regulation as soon as you have filed your application in accordance with this section. This authority may be withdrawn if it is determined that your store does not qualfy for adjustment under this section. If you are a store in Group 1 or 2, as defined in CPR 16, pricing as a Group 3 or 4 store under section 2 (d) of CPR 16, you may consider yourself classified in Group 3A or 4A, respectively, as soon as you have notified the OPS Office of your area.

(e) The OPS may at any time revoke a reclassification granted under this section if it finds that you are no longer qualified.

SEC. 8. Applicability of other regulations. Except to the extent that dollars-and-cents ceiling prices are fixed under this regulation, any seller subject to other regulations remains subject to all the provisions of those other regulations. If you are classified under any other regulation in a specified group of sellers, your classification for community pricing purposes will not affect your classification under the other regulation.

Effective date. This Revision 1 of General Overriding Regulation 24 shall become effective October 1, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

Chapter IV—Salary and Wage Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

Subchapter A—Salary Stabilization Board

[Interpretation 16]

INT. 16—EMPLOYEES OF RELATED CORPORATIONS AS EMPLOYEES OF A SINGLE EMPLOYER

This interpretation indicates when, for the purposes of adjustments in salaries and other compensation, under General Salary Stabilization Regulations and Orders, employees of two or more related corporations may be treated as employees of the same employer for the purpose of making a particular type of adjustment in compensation. Treating another of the related corporations as the employer for such purpose means that to that extent the identity of the corporation which entered into the legal employment relationship with the employee and to which the employee renders his services is disregarded. In other words, for the purposes of a particular type of adjustment in compensation a corporation other than the employing corporation may be regarded as the "employer."

This interpretation does not define the terms "establishments," "branches," "units," or "affiliates" for the purposes of determining whether a business qualifies under the "small business enterprise" exemption contained in Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 17.

1. (a) A corporation had in effect on and prior to January 25, 1951, or instituted thereafter in accordance with applicable general wage or salary stabilization regulations or orders or a specific determination of the Wage Stabilization Board or the Office of Salary Stabilization, a practice of treating some or all of its own employees and some or all of the employees of a subsidiary, parent, or affiliated corporation as a single group of employees, for instance:

(1) For the purpose of general salary increases; or

(2) In the administration of a salary plan for all employees, or a group of employees performing similar services in several or all of the corporations involved; or

(3) In the administration of a bonus plan or a stock purchase plan under which an offering is made in accordance with Interpretation 13; or

(4) In the administration of a pension, deferred profit-sharing or stock bonus plan; or

(5) In the administration of a health and welfare plan; or

(6) for the purpose of merit or length-of-service increases; or

(7) for the purpose of pro-rating salaries and other compensation of employees among several related corporations.

The corporation should continue the practice of treating such employees as a single group for the particular purpose. Such practice may not be changed without the prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, nor may such practice be instituted without prior approval of the Office of Salary Stabilization, where it was not in effect prior to January 25, 1951 or instituted thereafter in accordance with applicable general wage or salary stabilization regulations or orders or a specific determination of the Wage Stabilization Board or of the Office of Salary Stabilization.

EXAMPLE: (1) The bonus plan of a corporation, in effect on January 25, 1951, provides that the term "employees" shall mean persons employed by the corporation or any subsidiary in which the corporation owns directly or indirectly 51 percent of the common stock. Accordingly, employees of subsidiary corporations in which the parent corporation owns directly or indirectly 51 percent of the common stock may be treated as employees of the parent corporation for purposes of distribution of bonuses under the plan.

(ii) A salary administration plan in effect on January 25, 1951, provides merit and length-of-service increases, cost-of-living increases and promotions for all the employees of the employing corporation, its wholly owned subsidiaries, and certain affiliate corporations which are controlled by the same parent corporation as the employing corporation. The employing corporation may continue to administer such plan jointly for all the employees covered thereby regardless of whether the employee receives his salary from or renders services to the employing corporation or one of the subsidiaries or affiliates.

(b) As used in paragraph (a), general increases in salaries and other compensation include increases in salaries and other compensation under section 41 of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 1, Amended.

2. For the purposes of paragraph 1 of this interpretation: (a) a corporation is a subsidiary corporation if the employing corporation owns more than 50 percent of its voting securities;

(b) A corporation is a parent corporation if such parent corporation owns more than 50 percent of the voting securities of the employing corporation;

(c) A corporation is an affiliate, if the corporation controlling both it and the employing corporation owns more than 50 percent of the voting securities of each corporation, unless the corporations which are affiliates by virtue of common stock ownership are in fact completely autonomous and independent.

3. The use of consolidated tax returns, balance sheets or the financial statements does not constitute a basis for combining employees of the corporations involved into a single group. Evidence with regard thereto must relate to the payment of compensation or the administration of plans providing for compensation or dealing with compensation practices.

4. For the purposes of General Salary Stabilization Regulation 4, Revised, as amended:

(a) The term "parent corporation" means any corporation (other than the employer corporation) in an unbroken chain of corporations ending with the employer corporation if, at the time of granting of the option, each of the corporations other than the employer corporation owns stock possessing more than 50 per centum of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock in one of the other corporations in such chain. (See Internal Revenue Code, section 130A (d) (2).)

(b) The term "subsidiary corporation" means any corporation (other than the employer corporation) in an unbroken chain of corporations beginning with the employer corporation if, at the time of the granting of the option, each of the corporations other than the last corporation in the unbroken chain owns stock possessing more than 50 per centum of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock in one of the other corporations in such chain. (See Internal Revenue Code, section 130A (d) (3).)

SEC. 2. Advance authorizations. (a) Any person who has received a written authorization pursuant to section 3 of NPA Order M-16, which authorization permits the acceptance of delivery of copper raw materials in a given month, may order for delivery to him during each of the two immediately succeeding months a quantity of copper raw materials for which he has such written authorization, not in excess of 50 percent of the quantity of each type of material other than refined copper, 75 percent of the quantity of domestic refined copper, and 75 percent of the quantity of other refined copper, and may during each of such succeeding two months accept delivery of the material so ordered. This paragraph does not apply to persons whose authorization to purchase issued pursuant to section 3 of NPA Order M-16, covers a period longer than one month.

(e) In arriving at the quantity of material for which any person may place an advance order for copper raw materials or receive copper raw materials pursuant to such order in accordance with this section, the percentages referred to in paragraphs (a) and (c) of this section shall be computed only as percentages of the quantity of copper raw materials for which initial written authorization was received pursuant to section 3 of NPA Order M–16. Supplemental authorizations shall not be considered in computing the quantities which may be ordered in advance of the period for which written authorization was received.

SEC. 3. Certification. Orders placed pursuant to the permission granted by section 2 of this direction shall be certified as provided in paragraph (b) of section 3 of NPA Order M–16, except that where such certification provides for the authorization number to be given, there shall be inserted the authorization number which is the basis for the advance order, together with the words "advance authorization."

TITLE 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

PART 36—SERVICEMEN'S READJUSTMENT ACT OF 1944

CREDIT RESTRICTIONS; LOAN CLOSING EXPENSES

1. In § 36.4356, paragraph (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 36.4356 Credit restrictions. (a) No loan for the purchase, construction, repair, alteration or improvement of residental property will be eligible for guaranty or insurance unless the veteran makes a down payment in cash or its equivalent (e. g., equity in land) of an amount which when related to the sales price (i. e., the purchase price or cost of construction, repairs, alterations, or improvements) will not be less than that specified in the following schedule:

Sales price	Minimum down payment
Not more than $2,500	None.
More than $2,500 but not more than $8,000	Closing costs, but not to exceed 4 percent of sales price.
More than $8,000 but not more than $8,400	4 percent of sales price.
More than $8,400	5 percent of sales price.

Provided, That if the Administrator determines in any particular case that the veteran's financial condition is such that he cannot meet the minimum down payment required by the above schedule, the Administrator may waive such requirement and require instead that only closing costs need be paid in cash by the veteran. The minimum down payment prescribed in this paragraph may in all instances be used to pay the costs of closing the loan or financing the transaction: Provided, That the pro rata portion of the ground rents, hazard insurance premiums, current year's taxes, and other prepaid items required to be paid by the borrower incident to closing the transaction will not be treated as closing costs but must be paid in cash by the borrower in addition to the down payment. With respect to construction loans in cases where the land is owned by the veteran, the sales price will include the reasonable value of the land, which in the case of farm housing shall be deemed, for the purpose of this paragraph, to be 5 percent of the cost of construction, and the value of the veteran's interest in the land will pro tanto satisfy the down payment requirement.

(e) The veteran will be required to make a down payment in cash or its equivalent (e. g., equity in land) of an amount which when related to the sales price (i. e. the purchase price or cost of construction, repairs, alterations, or improvements) will not be less than that specified in the following schedule:

Credit Restrictions Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as Amended, on Loans Made or Assisted by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs.

I hereby find that the regulations contained in Title 38, Chapter I, §§ 36.4356 (a) and 4504 (e), regulations of the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, effective concurrently herewith, are issued in accordance with title VI of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), as amended, and Part V of Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105) as amended by Executive Order 10373 (17 F. R. 6425).

In the formulation of the aforegoing, consultation with industry representatives was impracticable because special circumstances, namely that the provisions of the regulations of the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, effective concurrently herewith, were drafted to conform in all major respects to express statutory provisions, caused such consultation to serve no purpose.

BROWN AND GRIST

SUSPENSION ORDER

In the matter of Roy G. Brown, R. E. Cassidy, A. W. Grist, R. F. Flaxington, L. E. Wooldridge, and B. J. Utley, Sr., copartners doing business under the firm name and style of Brown and Grist, respondents, a public hearing was held in the United States Court House at Newport News, Virginia, on July 30, 1952, before the undersigned hearing commissioner of the National Production Authority, upon a statement of charges brought by the General Counsel of the National Production Authority against said respondents, pursuant to National Production Authority General Administrative Order 16–06 (16 F. R. 8628), dated July 21, 1951, and Implementation 1 to General Administrative Order 16–06 (16 F. R. 8799), redesignated as R. P. 1—Rules of Practice before Hearing Commissioners (16 F. R. 8894); and

The respondents, Roy G. Brown, R. E. Cassidy, A. W. Grist, R. F. Flaxington, L. E. Wooldridge, and B. J. Utley, Sr., being duly apprised of the specific violations charged and the administrative action which may be taken, they having been informed of the rules and regulations which govern these proceedings, appeared herein pursuant to timely notice. Without legal counsel, R. G. Brown and R. F. Flaxington, partners, and S. E. Hallett employed by the partnership, testified in their behalf and represented A. W. Grist, a member of the partnership temporarily absent from the State of Virginia.

National Production Authority was represented by Joseph J. Saunders, Esquire, of the Office of its General Counsel and Miles J. McCormick, Esquire, attorney for the Richmond Region.

The respondents, R. F. Flaxington and Roy G. Brown, and Stuart E. Hallett, an employee of the respondents, having testified in behalf of the respondents, and having cross examined adverse witnesses without limitation; documentary evidence having been produced, written arguments of counsel for the National Production Authority and of the respondents were received and the case taken under advisement; and

The hearing commissioner having considered the record and arguments of counsel and of the respondents, being fully advised in the premises, makes the following:

Findings of fact. 1. During the month of January 1951, respondents' use of aluminum in manufacture was limited by National Production Authority Order M–7 to eighty (80) percent of average monthly base-period usage, said percentage of respondents' base-period usage amounting to 16,678 pounds of such material. During January 1951, respondents used in manufacture 22,857 pounds of aluminum, in violation of section 26.25 (b) of National Production Authority Order M–7, dated November 13, 1950 (15 F. R. 7764), as amended December 1, 1950 (15 F. R. 8576).

2. During the month of February 1951, respondents' use of aluminum in manufacture was limited by National Production Authority Order M–7 to seventy-five (75) percent of average monthly base-period usage, said percentage of respondents' base-period usage amounting to 15,636 pounds of such material. During February 1951, respondents used in manufacture 21,331 pounds of aluminum in violation of section 5 (b) of National Production Authority Order M–7, dated November 13, 1950 (15 F. R. 7764), as amended February 1, 1951 (16 F. R. 1122).

3. During the month of March 1951, respondents' use of aluminum in manufacture was limited by National Production Authority Order M–7 to sixty-five (65) percent of average monthly base-period usage, said percentage of respondents' base-period usage amounting to 20,076 pounds of such material. During March 1951, respondents used in manufacture 33,627 pounds of aluminum, in violation of section 5 (b) of National Production Authority Order M–7, dated November 13, 1950 (15 F. R. 7764), as amended February 21, 1951 (16 F. R. 1792) and March 9, 1951 (16 F. R. 2337).

4. In violation of section 19 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), during the period commencing September 18, 1951, and ending October 1, 1951, respondents placed controlled material orders calling for delivery of 71,000 pounds of aluminum in the calendar quarter commencing January 1, 1952. During the period commencing September 18, 1951, and ending October 1, 1951, the advance allotment of aluminum to respondents for use during the calendar quarter commencing January 1, 1952, amounted to 28,350 pounds.

5. In violation of section 19 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860), respondents placed controlled material orders for aluminum which provided for delivery, and did receive and accept such material, during the calendar quarter commencing October 1, 1951, in an amount totaling 59,396 pounds. The allotment of aluminum controlled materials made to respondents for the calendar quarter commencing October 1, 1951, amounted to 37,800 pounds.

6. In violation of section 19 (f) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860), respondents placed controlled material orders for aluminum which provided for delivery, and did receive and accept such material, during the calendar quarter commencing January 1, 1952, in an amount totaling 89,176 pounds. The allotment of aluminum controlled materials made to respondents for the calendar quarter commencing January 1, 1952, amounted to 43,425 pounds.

7. During the calendar quarters commencing January 1, 1951, and April 1, 1951, respondents failed to maintain accurate records of inventories, receipts, deliveries, and uses of aluminum forms and products, in violation of section 26.30 (a) of National Production Authority Order M–7, dated November 13, 1950

(15 F. R. 7764), as amended December 1, 1950 (15 F. R. 8576), and section 11 (a) of National Production Authority Order M-7, as amended February 1, 1951 (16 F. R. 1122).

8. During the period commencing July 1, 1951, and ending June 26, 1952, respondents failed to maintain accurate records of allotments received and procurement pursuant to allotments, in violation of section 23 (a) of CMP Regulation No. 1, dated May 3, 1951 (16 F. R. 4127), as amended November 23, 1951 (16 F. R. 11860).

9. During the period commencing January 1, 1951, and ending March 31, 1952, aluminum controlled materials ordered and received by the respondents in excess of their just and lawful entitlements and allocations, aggregate approximately 92,724 pounds.

10. Wilful violation was not charged and the evidence clearly indicates willingness on the part of the respondents to make restitution by way of reduced future allotments. Contrary to their understanding and belief, large volumes of aluminum controlled materials, required and used by them to produce rated orders, were chargeable to monthly and/or quarterly allotments. It is in the public interest to permit the respondents to maintain their industry under reasonably reduced allotments, thereby effecting such restitution.

Conclusions. Upon the foregoing findings it is concluded that the respondents, by their excessive usage of aluminum controlled materials to the extent and in the manner stated, have substantially reduced the quantities of aluminum available to meet the lawful requirements of other consumers; and that as a condition of continued allotments of aluminum to these respondents, they should, within a reasonable period and by way of reduced allotments, restore to the national reserves of such materials, the full quantity of their unauthorized usage, to wit: 92,724 pounds.

It is therefore ordered:

That commencing with the fourth calendar quarter, October 1, 1952, all regular and unrestricted allotments of aluminum controlled materials made to the respondents by the National Production Authority, pursuant to its established policies effective at the time such allotments are made, shall be reduced by the withholding of 30,908 pounds therefrom. In like manner 30,908 pounds shall be withheld from each of two succeeding quarterly allotments, to wit, during the first calendar quarter of 1953; and 30,908 pounds during the second calendar quarter of 1953. In any event, the effect of this order shall expire by limitation June 30, 1953.

This order shall be of full force and effect upon the co-partnership, Brown and Grist, upon the partners individually, and upon their successors and assigns.

Issued at Arlington, Virginia, this 12th day of September 1952.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
By SAMUEL H. CROSBY,
Hearing Commissioner.

[General Overriding Regulation 32, Special Order 1]

CEILING PRICES RAISED TO CONFORM WITH OHIO STATE LAW

Statement of considerations. This special order raises the ceiling prices of Ohio cigarette wholesalers and retailers above those previously established under the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) to the minimum prices required to be charged by the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act. This special order does not affect the ceiling prices of Ohio cigarette wholesalers and retailers which are at or above the minimum prices required by that act.

This special order is issued pursuant to section 5 of General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 32. That regulation was issued by the OPS to conform to the requirements of section 402 (1) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. GOR 32 sets forth certain facts which must be shown to exist in a particular State before the OPS is required by the above noted statutory provision to raise ceiling prices to the minimum prices required by the law of that State.

It appears from the information contained in the application of the Ohio State Tax Commissioner that the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act was in effect and enforced on June 30, 1952, and on August 15, 1952 (the date of application); that Rule No. 237, setting forth the manner in which the formula contained in the act is applied when wholesale prices are computed, was authorized by law and lawfully adopted and issued; that the act and Rule No. 237 have not been held invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction; and that the ceiling prices of cigarettes sold by some wholesalers and retailers in the State of Ohio are lower than the minimum sales prices required to be charged by that act.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to section 5 of GOR 32, this special order is hereby issued.

1. Ceiling prices of cigarettes sold by wholesalers and retailers subject to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act, which are below the minimum sales prices computed pursuant to that Act and Rule No. 237, as specified in paragraph 5 hereof, are hereby raised to those minimum sales prices.

2. If the minimum prices for brands of cigarettes sold in Ohio on August 15, 1952 (the date of application by the Ohio State Tax Commissioner under GOR 32) are increased after that date pursuant to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act and Rule No. 237, such higher minimum prices shall become ceiling prices as hereinafter specified in this paragraph, upon the sending of a report by the State Tax Commissioner by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. That report will indicate the reason for the change as well as the computations by which the new required minimum prices have been determined and will list the new minimum prices for various brands of cigarettes. The higher minimum prices so reported shall be established as ceiling prices for the wholesalers and retailers affected by paragraph 1 hereof and any other wholesaler and retailer subject to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act whose ceiling prices would, as the result of such change, be below the new required minimum prices. If the minimum prices for brands of cigarettes sold in Ohio on August 15, 1952, are decreased after that date pursuant to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act and Rule No. 237, the ceiling prices of wholesalers and retailers affected by paragraph 1 hereof shall be established at the new required minimum prices. However, where such lower minimum prices are below the ceiling prices in effect immediately prior to the date of this special order these ceiling prices shall be in effect after such change in the minimum prices.

3. If new brands of cigarettes are sold in Ohio after August 15, 1952, those wholesalers and retailers subject to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act who are unable to compute ceiling prices for the new brands pursuant to section 5 of the GCPR (because their comparison brands are not priced under section 3 of the GCPR but are priced under paragraph 1 or 2 of this special order) shall take as their ceiling prices for such new brands the minimum sales prices computed for them in accordance with the State Act. These prices shall be established as ceiling prices for such wholesalers and retailers upon the sending of a report by the State Tax Commissioner by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. This report will set forth the brand name of the cigarettes and the minimum sales prices required to be charged for them by various classes of sellers in accordance with the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act, and will indicate how these minimum prices were computed.

4. Nothing in this special order shall prevent a wholesaler or retailer of cigarettes subject to the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act whose ceiling prices would be affected by the State Tax Commissioner filing the report set forth in paragraph 2 or 3 hereof from filing such report in his own behalf. The individual seller may use as his ceiling prices the minimum prices required by the Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act upon his mailing of such report unless and until such seller is notified by the Office of Price Stabilization that the reported prices were disapproved or that further information is required. In the event of a request for further information the reported minimum price shall not be used as a ceiling price until such further information is sent by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

5. As used in this special order, the term "Ohio Unfair Cigarette Sales Act" means that Act as amended up to June 30, 1952 (sections 6402-11 to 6402-21 of the General Code of Ohio), and the term "Rule No. 237" means that rule as adopted by the Ohio State Tax Commissioner on July 28, 1949.

6. This special order or any provision hereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization.

Effective date. This special order is effective October 2, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this special order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

areas. The definition of high damage peanuts is of necessity amended so that it will not conflict with the revised definition of merchantable farmers stock peanuts.

The requirement in § 646.409 (c) is amended to provide that the type and grade of peanuts to be delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement will be determined at the time of storage in a warehouse if such peanuts are stored commingled.

With respect to farm storage loans, § 646.413 is amended so that the State Committee may establish a deduction from the estimated gross weight of bagged peanuts in excess of the 5 percent deduction previously required and to provide that such deduction shall also apply to bulk peanuts for which the gross weight is determined by weight instead of by measurement.

The requirement in § 646.414 (c) (1) with reference to eligible peanuts to be represented by warehouse receipts issued by a warehouse under contract with the cooperative is amended to include the word "merchantable". Also, in § 646.414 (d), Commodity Purchase Form 3 is omitted from the list of forms to be used in connection with purchase agreements, inasmuch as this form will not be used for peanuts.

Because of the change in the definition of high damage peanuts, it is necessary to provide in § 646.420 (c) for the separate distribution to producers of profits made by the cooperative with respect to peanuts containing 3 percent or less damaged kernels and peanuts containing more than 3 percent damaged kernels.

The method of settlement with producers whose peanuts are under warehouse storage loans is amended in § 646.425 (b) (1) to provide that any payment due the producer at the time of settlement will be made by sight draft on CCC by the PMA county office except that any payment due because of an overplus realized by CCC through its selling or pooling operations will be made by the Commodity Office.

The last sentence in § 646.425 (d) (4) regarding delivery of peanuts under a purchase agreement is amended to provide that the grade of such peanuts shall be determined by the Federal-State inspection service at the time of delivery.

The provisions of § 646.426 regarding the sale by CCC of peanuts acquired through warehouse storage loans are amended to include a provision that CCC shall not sell such peanuts for edible purposes or seed at less than 105 percent of the support price plus reasonable carrying charges.

The regulations in §§ 646.401 to 646.428 inclusive, are hereby amended as specified below:

1. Paragraphs (d) and (e) of § 646.404 are amended to read as follows:

§ 646.404 Definitions. • • •

(d) Merchantable farmers stock peanuts means farmers stock quota peanuts containing 15 percent or less foreign material, 7 percent or less damaged peanuts, and 10 percent or less moisture.

(e) High damage peanuts means meeting all requirements with respect to merchantable farmers stock peanuts except that they contain 8 percent or more damaged kernels.

2. Paragraph (c) of § 646.409, is amended to read as follows:

§ 646.409 Determination of type and grade. The Federal-State Inspection Service shall determine the type and grade of all peanuts which are to be:

(c) Delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement, such type and grade to be determined either (1) at the time the peanuts are delivered to CCC by the producer or (2) at the time the peanuts are delivered for commingled storage to a warehouse if a warehouse receipt is issued in the form approved by CCC;

3. Paragraph (b) of § 646.413 is amended to read as follows:

§ 646.413 Method of determining quantity. • • •

(b) If the peanuts are stored on the farm in bags, the county committee shall weigh a sufficient number of bags to determine the approximate gross weight of all the peanuts to be placed under loan and for the purposes of the loan shall deduct from such gross weight an amount specified by the State Committee, which amount shall be not less than 5 percent of such gross weight, to cover any discrepancy between such approximate gross weight and the actual weight of all such peanuts at the time of settlement. If the gross weight of bulk peanuts is determined by weight instead of by measurement, the county committee shall deduct from such weight an amount specified by the State Committee, which amount shall be not less than 5 percent of such gross weight.

4. Paragraphs (c) (1) and (d) of § 646.414 are amended to read as follows:

§ 646.414 Applicable forms. • • •

(c) Warehouse receipts; cooperative warehouses. Warehouse receipts, representing peanuts marketed through the cooperative and stored in approved warehouse storage, must:

(1) Be issued by a warehouse under contract with the cooperative pursuant to § 646.412, and must be non-negotiable. The receipts must cover eligible merchantable peanuts or high damage peanuts actually in store for the account of CCC in the warehouses described on the receipts.

• • • • •

(d) Purchase agreements. The purchase agreement forms shall consist of the Purchase Agreement, Commodity Purchase Form 1, and Purchase Agreement Settlement, Commodity Purchase Form 4, signed by the producer and approved by the county committee, negotiable warehouse receipts from warehouses, and such other forms and documents as may be required by CCC.

5. Paragraph (c) of § 646.420 is amended to read as follows:

§ 646.420 Transfer of producer's interest • • •

(c) Peanuts marketed through the cooperative. Upon delivery of the peanuts to the cooperative, the producer authorizes the cooperative as his agent to pledge his peanuts to CCC as security for loans to the cooperative and to market his peanuts on his behalf. The producer shall be entitled to his pro rata share in any profits made by the cooperative from the sale of all peanuts of like quality; i. e., either peanuts containing 3 percent or less damaged kernels, or peanuts containing more than 3 percent damaged kernels.

6. Paragraph (b) (1) of § 646.425 is amended to read as follows:

(b) Warehouse storage loans. (1) In the case of all warehouse storage loans with respect to commingled peanuts, if the producer does not repay his loan by maturity, CCC shall have the right to sell or pool the peanuts in satisfaction of the loan in accordance with the provisions of the note and loan agreement and § 646.426. Any payment due a producer at the time of settlement on a warehouse storage loan will be made by sight draft on CCC by the PMA county office, except that any payment due the producer because of any overplus realized by CCC through its selling or pooling operations (as set forth in the provisions of the note and loan agreement) will be made by the appropriate PMA Commodity office.

7. Paragraph (d) (4) of § 646.425 is amended to read as follows:

(d) Purchase agreements. * * *

(4) The peanuts delivered under a purchase agreement must meet the eligibility requirements in § 646.407 when delivered and will be purchased at the applicable support rate. When delivery is completed, payment will be made by sight draft drawn on CCC by the county office. The producer shall direct on Commodity Purchase Form 4 to whom payment of the proceeds shall be made. Peanuts stored commingled in approved warehouses will be purchased, on the basis of the amount guaranteed on the warehouse receipts and/or accompanying documents. Peanuts stored identity preserved in an approved warehouse and peanuts delivered from other than approved warehouse storage will be purchased on the basis of the delivered weight, and the grade determined by the Federal-State Inspection Service at the time of delivery.

8. Section 646.426 is amended to read as follows:

§ 646.426 Removal of peanuts under loan. If the loan is not satisfied upon maturity by payment or delivery, the holder of the note may remove the peanuts and sell them either by separate contract or after pooling them with other lots of peanuts similarly held. If the peanuts are pooled, the producer has no right of redemption after the date the pool is established, but shall share ratably in any overplus remaining upon liquidation of the pool. CCC shall have the right to treat the pooled peanuts as a reserve supply to be marketed under such sales policies as CCC determines will promote orderly marketing, protect the interests of producers and consumers, and not unduly impair the market for the current crop of peanuts, even though part or all of such pooled peanuts are disposed of under such policies at prices less than the current domestic price: Provided, however, That CCC shall not sell peanuts for edible purposes or seed at less than 105 percent of the support price plus reasonable carrying charges. Any sum due the producer as a result of the sale of the peanuts or of insurance proceeds thereon, or any ratable share resulting from the liquidation of a pool, shall be payable only to the producer without right of assignment by him.

[2] Large barrel varieties: Co. 290, C. P. 29/103; C. P. 29/116; C. P. 32/243; C. P. 36/13; C. P. 36/105; C. P. 29/120; C. P. 43/47; C. P. 44/101; and C. P. 44/155. Small barrel varieties: All other.

(ii) Workers between 14 and 16 years of age when employed on a day basis. For workers between 14 and 16 years of age, the basic wage rate per 8-hour day (maximum employment is 8 hours per day for such workers without deduction from Sugar Act payments to the producer) shall be not less than three-fourths of the applicable basic day wage rate provided under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Hourly rates. Where workers are employed on an hourly basis, the basic wage rate per hour shall be determined by dividing the applicable basic day wage rate in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph by 9 in the case of adult workers, and three-fourths of such rate by 8 in the case of workers between 14 and 16 years of age.

(iv) Other piecework rates. The piecework rate for any operation specified in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph when performed on a unit basis other than a ton, or the piecework rate for any operation not specified shall be that agreed upon between the producer and the worker: Provided, That the hourly rate of earnings of each worker, for the time involved, shall be not less than the applicable hourly rate specified in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph.

(v) Determination of average sugar prices. The four-week average price of raw sugar shall be determined by taking the simple average of the daily "spot" quotations of 96° raw sugar of the Louisiana Sugar Exchange, Inc., adjusted to a one hundred pound basis; except that if the Director of the Sugar Branch determines that for any four-week period such average price does not reflect the true market value of raw sugar, because of inadequate volume, failure to report sales in accordance with the rules of such Exchange or other factors, the Director may designate the average price to be effective under this section. For the purpose of this section the average price of raw sugar prevailing during the period from August 22 through September 18, 1952, shall determine the wage rates from September 19 through October 16, 1952, and thereafter the wage rates in successive four-week work periods shall be determined by the average price of raw sugar prevailing in the immediately preceding four-week period.

(2) Perquisites. In addition to the foregoing, the producer shall furnish to the laborer, without charge, the perquisites customarily furnished by him, such as a habitable house, medical attention, and similar items.

(b) Subterfuge. The producer shall not reduce the wage rates to laborers below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

(c) Claim for unpaid wages. Any person who believes he has not been paid in accordance with this section may file a wage claim with the local County Production and Marketing Administration Committee against the producer on whose farm the work was performed. Such claim must be filed within two years from the date the work with respect to which the claim is made was performed. Detailed instructions and wage claim forms are available at the office of the local County Production and Marketing Administration Committee. Upon receipt of a wage claim the County Production and Marketing Administration Committee shall thereupon notify the producer against whom the claim is made concerning the representation made by the laborer, and, after making such investigation as it deems necessary, notify the producer and laborer in writing of its recommendation for settlement of the claim. If either party is not satisfied with the recommended settlement an appeal may be made to the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee, 1517 Sixth Street, Alexandria, Louisiana, which shall likewise consider the facts and notify the producer and laborer in writing of its recommendation for settlement of the claim. If the recommendation of the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee is not acceptable, either party may file an appeal with the Director of the Sugar Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C. All such appeals shall be filed within fifteen days after receipt of the recommended settlement from the respective committee, otherwise such recommended settlement will be applied in making payments under the act. If a claim is appealed to the Director of the Sugar Branch, his decision shall be binding on all parties insofar as payments under the act are concerned.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination provides fair and reasonable wage rates which a producer must pay, as a minimum, for work performed by persons employed on the farm in the harvesting of the 1952 crop of sugarcane in Louisiana, as one of the conditions for payment under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act and standards employed. In determining fair and reasonable wage rates it is required under the act that a public hearing be held, that investigations be made, and that consideration be given to (1) the standards formerly established by the Secretary under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and (2) the differences in conditions among various sugar producing areas.

A public hearing was held in Thibodaux, Louisiana, on July 31, 1952, at which interested persons presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable wage rates for harvesting the 1952 crop of sugarcane. In addition, investigations have been made of the conditions affecting wage rates in Louisiana. In this determination, consideration has been given to testimony presented at the hearing and to the information resulting from investigations. The primary factors which have been considered are (1) prices of sugar and byproducts; (2) income from sugarcane; (3) cost of production; (4) cost of living; and (5) relationship of labor cost to total cost. Other economic influences also have been considered.

At the public hearing representatives of producers recommended that there be no change in the wage rates from those provided in the 1951 harvest determination. Producer representatives also recommended that the wage-price escalator be applicable to a four-week period rather than a two-week period and that additional varieties of sugarcane be classed as "large barrel" varieties for application of piecework rates. Representatives of workers cited the low standard of living of persons employed in Louisiana sugarcane fields and recommended minimum wages of 75 cents per hour for unskilled workers and $1.00 per hour for skilled workers.

In examining the factors affecting wage rates in Louisiana, the Department had available data with respect to costs, returns and profits of the Louisiana sugar industry. These data indicate that under the conditions likely to prevail during the 1952 crop the wage rates specified in this determination are within producers' ability to pay. While there has been a marked increase in living costs in recent years, producer income affected as it has been by climatic conditions, yield and other physical considerations does not permit, at this time, wage determination rates greater than those provided in this determination. It is desirable that in time the producers' ability to pay will improve to a point which will facilitate a general improvement in the living standard of Louisiana sugarcane workers.

The discontinuance of the different time basis wage rates for adult male and adult female cane cutters is in accordance with general policy to eliminate distinctions in wage payments on work of similar classification. This action completes the elimination of the female wage differential from all Sugar Act wage determinations except for the determination covering work in the production and cultivation of sugarcane in Louisiana which is effective through the calendar year 1952.

As in previous wage determinations, in addition to cash wages, the workers must be furnished, without charge, customary perquisites such as habitable housing, medical attention and similar items.

After consideration of all pertinent factors, the wages in this determination are deemed to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing wage determination will effectuate the wage provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

Subchapter I—Determination of Prices

PART 874—SUGARCANE; LOUISIANA

1952 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948, as amended (herein referred to as "act"), after investigation, and due consideration of the evidence presented at the public hearing held in Thibodaux, Louisiana, on July 31, 1952, the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 874.5 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of Louisiana sugarcane. Processor-producers of sugarcane in Louisiana who apply for payments under the act shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the act with respect to the 1952 crop, if the requirements of this section are met.

(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this section, the term—

(1) "Price of raw sugar" means the price of 96° raw sugar quoted by the Louisiana Sugar Exchange, Inc.; except that if the Director of the Sugar Branch determines that such price does not reflect the true market value of sugar, because of inadequate volume, failure to report sales in accordance with the rules of such Exchange or other factors, he may designate the price to be effective under this section.

(2) "Price of blackstrap molasses" means the price per gallon of blackstrap molasses quoted by the Louisiana Sugar Exchange, Inc.; except that if the Director of the Sugar Branch determines that such price does not reflect the true market value of blackstrap molasses, because of inadequate volume, failure to report sales in accordance with the rules of such Exchange or other factors, he may designate the price to be effective under this section.

(3) "Trash" means green or dried leaves, loose sugarcane tops, attached sugarcane tops at or about the green leaf roll, dirt and all other extraneous material which is representative of the quantity of sugarcane from which the sample for trash determination is taken.

(4) "Salvage sugarcane" means sugarcane containing either less than 9.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice or less than 68 purity in the normal juice.

(5) "Actual sugarcane" means sugarcane as delivered by a producer to a processor-producer.

(6) Standard sugarcane" means sugarcane, free of trash, containing 12 percent sucrose in the normal juice with a purity of at least 76.50 but not more than 76.99.

(b) Basic price. (1) The basic price for standard sugarcane shall be not less than $1.06 per ton for each one cent per pound of the average price of raw sugar determined in accordance with either of the following as agreed upon:

(i) The simple average of the daily prices of raw sugar for the week in which the sugarcane is delivered; or

(ii) The simple average of the weekly prices of raw sugar for the period October 10, 1952 through January 29, 1953;

Provided, That the average price of raw sugar as determined under subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph may be reduced by not more than the following:

(a) 0.065 cent for mills located north of Bayou Coula between the Atchafalaya and Mississippi Rivers and southeast of New Iberia west of the Atchafalaya River; or

(b) 0.10 cent for mills located north and west of New Iberia west of the Atchafalaya River.

(2) The basis price for salvage sugarcane shall be as agreed upon between the processor-producer and the producer.

(c) Conversion of actual sugarcane to standard sugarcane. Except for salvage sugarcane, actual sugarcane shall be converted to standard sugarcane as follows:

(1) By deducting the weight of trash from the combined weight of sugarcane and trash delivered;

(2) By multiplying the net quantity of sugarcane determined pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph by the applicable quality factor in accordance with the following table:

Standard sugarcane quality factor [1]	Percent sucrose in normal juice
10.5	.80
12.0	1.00
13.0	1.10
13.5	1.15
14.5	1.25

[1] The quality factor for sugarcane of intermediate normal juice sucrose percentages shall be interpolated and for sugarcane having more than 14.5 percent sucrose in the normal juice shall be computed in proportion to the immediately preceding interval.

(3) By multiplying the adjusted quantity determined pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph by the applicable purity factor in the following table:

[1] Factors applicable to higher sucrose and purity of the normal juice than shown in this table shall be determined by the same method of calculation used to compute the factors specified and shall be furnished by the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration, Alexandria, Louisiana, upon request.

(d) Molasses payment. Except for salvage sugarcane there shall be paid for each ton of actual sugarcane, minus trash, an amount equal to the product of 7.0 and one-half of the average price per gallon of blackstrap molasses in excess of 6 cents. The average price of blackstrap molasses shall be either the simple average of the daily prices for the week in which the sugarcane is delivered or the simple average of the weekly prices of blackstrap molasses for the period October 10, 1952, through January 29, 1953, as agreed upon between the processor-producer and the producer.

(e) General. (1) The sucrose and purity of the normal juice shall be determined by acceptable methods of analysis on actual sugarcane, such methods to be subject to the approval of the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration.

(2) Because of decreased boiling house efficiency deductions may be made from the payment for frozen sugarcane accepted by the processor-producer provided such deductions are at rates not in excess of 1.5 percent of the payment, computed without regard to the molasses payment, for each 0.1 cc. of acidity above 2.50 cc. of N/10 alkali per 10 cc. of juice but not in excess of 4.75 cc. (intervening fractions are to be computed to the nearest multiple of 0.05 cc.). Frozen sugarcane testing in excess of 4.75 cc. of acidity shall be considered as having no value. Sugarcane shall not be considered as frozen, even after being subjected to freezing temperature, unless and until there is evidence of damage having taken place because of the freeze, such evidence to be certified by the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration.

(3) In the event a general freeze causes abnormally low recoveries of raw sugar by a processor-producer in relation to the sucrose and purity tests of sugarcane, payment for such sugarcane may be made as mutually agreed upon between the producer and the processor-producer, subject to approval by the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration: Provided, That the payment for each ton of actual sugarcane, minus trash, delivered by a producer shall be not less than an amount equal to the total returns from raw sugar and molasses actually recovered from such sugarcane, determined on the basis of the simple average of the weekly prices of raw sugar and blackstrap molasses for the period October 10, 1952 through January 29, 1953, less an amount not to exceed $3.00 per actual ton for processing and less actual costs of hoisting, field weighing and transporting such sugarcane.

(4) Costs of hoisting and weighing sugarcane, which were absorbed by the processor-producer for the 1951 crop, shall be absorbed by the processor-producer for the 1952 crop; but nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed as prohibiting negotiations with respect to the level of such absorptions, subject to the approval of the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration.

(5) Allowances made to producers for transporting sugarcane from the customary delivery points to the mill which were made by the processor-producer for the 1951 crop, shall be made by the processor-producer for the 1952 crop: Provided, That nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed as requiring the processor-producer to make allowances to producers in excess of the actual costs or rates charged by a commercial carrier for the customary method of transportation: Provided further, That where the only available practicable means of transportation are rail facilities and the distance to the nearest mill is in excess of 50 miles or where, because of unusual circumstances, the cost of transporting sugarcane is in excess of customary allowances, such costs may be shared by the processor-producer and the producer by agreement, subject to the approval of the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration.

(6) If a processor-producer and the producers delivering sugarcane to such processor-producer agree upon a plan for the hiring of inspectors whose duties shall be (i) to inspect fields of sugarcane, suggest proper methods of harvesting, and obtain adherence to cutting and delivery schedules, and (ii) to determine the trash content of all sugarcane delivered to a processor-producer, and, if the control of such inspectors is exercised jointly by the processor-producer and producers or by a general committee of processors and producers, there may be deducted from the price per ton of sugarcane an amount equal to one-half of the cost of such inspection but not in excess of 1½ cents per ton of such sugarcane. Such deductions may not be made until a statement in writing setting forth the proposed plan jointly signed by authorized representatives of producers and processors has been filed with and approved by the Louisiana State Office of the Production and Marketing Administration.

(7) The processor-producer shall not reduce the returns from the 1952 crop of Louisiana sugarcane to the producer below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination provides fair and reasonable prices to be paid by a processor-producer (i. e., a producer who is directly or indirectly a processor of sugarcane—hereinafter referred to as "processor") for sugarcane of the 1952 crop purchased from other producers. It prescribes the minimum requirements with respect to prices which must be met as one of the conditions for payment under the act.

(b) Requirements of the act. In determining fair and reasonable prices, the act requires that public hearings be held and investigations made. Accordingly, a public hearing was held in Thibodaux, Louisiana, on July 31, 1952, at which time interested parties presented testimony with respect to fair and reasonable prices for the 1952 crop of sugarcane. In addition, investigations have been made of conditions relating to the sugar industry in Louisiana. In this price determination consideration has been given to the testimony presented at the hearing and to information resulting from investigations.

(c) 1952 price determination. The 1952 price determination continues the provisions of the 1951 price determination except that molasses payments to producers will be based on a recovery rate of 7.0 gallons per ton of sugarcane, average production for the 1947–51 crops, instead of 6.9 gallons. Use of a moving five-year average to reflect current production of molasses was initiated in the 1951 crop price determination.

At the public hearing the Louisiana Grower-Processor Committee presented a unanimous recommendation that the provisions of the 1951 price determination be continued for the 1952 crop. The spokesman stated that in arriving at its decision the Committee had carefully analyzed the provisions of the 1951 price determination, and had concluded that such provisions would afford a fair and reasonable price to be paid for 1952 crop sugarcane.

A representative of the Louisiana Farm Bureau presented several recommendations on the broader aspects of the administration of the Sugar Act but only one recommendation directly pertinent to the fair and reasonable price determination for 1952 crop sugarcane, namely, that the average raw sugar price, upon which settlement with producers is based, be restricted to the period October through December. The witness stated that the period recommended was closely related to the time during which sugarcane is marketed and that the average raw sugar price for such period was higher than during the October through January period previously used.

In this determination consideration has been given to comparative costs, returns and profits of the Louisiana sugarcane and raw sugar industry obtained by survey during prior years and restated in terms of prospective conditions for the 1952 crop. Returns for the 1951 crop were unfavorable because of the general freeze and substantial losses were incurred, particularly, by the producing segment of the industry. As a result producers received a lower share of crop proceeds than had been anticipated. Under prospective crop, cost and price conditions for 1952 it is expected that returns to the industry will be more favorable and that a more equitable sharing relationship will prevail.

The recommendation for a change in the pricing period has not been adopted because the actual marketing of sugarcane customarily extends into the month of January and the October–January period coincides with the time during which raw sugar is available for marketing. Moreover, analysis of average price data shows the difference in average sugar prices for the period October–December compared with the period October–January is not as significant as data presented at the public hearing would indicate, largely because of the freight differential between the New York and New Orleans markets.

After analysis of all pertinent factors, the continuation of the sharing relationship provided in the 1951 crop price determination is deemed to be fair and reasonable.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing price determination is fair and reasonable and will effectuate the price provisions of the act.

PRE-HEARING PROCEDURE

§ 927.321 Service of notice of suspension. Whenever the Market Administrator suspends and holds in reserve any cooperative payments to a cooperative association he shall serve the required notification upon the cooperative association by registered mail addressed to it at its last known address and the required notification to the Secretary shall be accomplished by the Market Administrator filing with the Hearing Clerk four copies of the notification to the cooperative association together with a statement of service thereof upon the cooperative association: Provided, That this section shall not be applicable to suspensions pending on October 6, 1952: And provided further, That the Director shall supply to the Hearing Clerk three copies of the notification issued on suspensions pending on October 6, 1952. Upon receipt of the notice of suspension, the Hearing Clerk shall transmit copies thereof to the Director and the Solicitor.

§ 927.322 Request for hearing. Within thirty days after service upon a cooperative association of the Market Administrator's notice of suspension or within thirty days after October 6, 1952, the cooperative association shall file with the Hearing Clerk a request for a hearing to afford it an opportunity to establish its eligibility to receive the suspended payments. The failure of a cooperative association to file such a request shall constitute a waiver of hearing and the Secretary may rule, without further hearing, that the cooperative association is disqualified from receiving the suspended payments. Upon receipt of a request for hearing the Hearing Clerk shall transmit copies thereof to the Director, the Solicitor and the Market Administrator.

§ 927.323 Notice of hearing—(a) Issuance and contents. As soon as practicable after the filing by a cooperative association of a request for hearing the Director shall file with the Hearing Clerk a notice stating that a hearing will be held at a time and place to be designated by the Presiding Officer and specifying the matters which will be inquired into at the hearing.

(b) Service. Upon receipt of the notice of hearing, or amendments thereto, the Hearing Clerk shall serve copies thereof on the Office of Hearing Examiners, the cooperative association, the Market Administrator and the Solicitor.

(c) Amendments. Amendments to the notice of hearing may be filed with the Hearing Clerk at any time prior to the hearing or may be made orally or otherwise at the hearing by the Director or his representative. If the amendments are made at the hearing, the Presiding Officer shall recess the hearing for a reasonable time if the cooperative association shows that it would otherwise be prejudiced by such amendments.

§ 927.324 Notice of time and place of hearing—(a) Issuance and contents. Within a reasonable time following request by the cooperative association or by the Director, or upon his own motion, the Presiding Officer shall fix a time and place for hearing, not earlier than 15 days after filing of the notice of hearing, and shall file with the Hearing Clerk a notice, in quintuplicate, stating the time and place of hearing. If any change in the time and place of hearing becomes necessary, it shall be made by the Presiding Officer who in such event shall file with the Hearing Clerk a notice of the change.

(b) Service. Upon receipt of the notice of time and place of hearing, the Hearing Clerk shall promptly serve copies thereof on the cooperative association, the Director, the Market Administrator and the Solicitor.

§ 927.325 Depositions—(a) Procedure in lieu of deposition. Before any party may have testimony taken by deposition, said party shall, if practicable, submit to the other party an affidavit which shall set forth the facts to which the witness would testify, if the deposition should be taken. If, after examination of such affidavit, the other party agrees, or (within 10 days after submission of the affidavit) fails to object, that the affidavit may be used in lieu of the deposition, the Presiding Officer shall admit the affidavit in evidence and shall not order the deposition to be taken.

(b) Issuance and use of depositions. Depositions may be applied for, ordered, taken and admitted in evidence in accordance with the procedure described in and subject to the conditions set forth in § 900.61 of this chapter.

§ 927.326 Subpenas, witness fees and mileage—(a) Issuance of subpenas. The attendance of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence from any place in the United States on behalf of any party to the proceeding may, by subpena, be required at any designated place of hearing. Subpenas may be issued by the Secretary or by the Presiding Officer, under the facsimile signature of the Secretary, upon a reasonable showing by the applicant of the grounds, necessity, and reasonable scope thereof.

(b) Application for subpena duces tecum. Subpenas for the production of documentary evidence, unless issued by the Presiding Officer upon his own motion, shall be issued only upon a verified written application. Such application shall specify, as exactly as possible, the documents desired and shall show their competency, relevancy, and materiality and the necessity for their production.

(c) Service of subpenas. Subpenas may be served (1) by a United States Marshal or his deputy, or (2) by any other person who is not less than 18 years of age, or (3) by registering and mailing a copy of the subpena addressed to the person to be served at his or its last known residence or principal place of business or residence. Proof of service may be made by the return of service on the subpena by the United States Marshal or his deputy; or, if served by an individual other than a United States Marshal or his deputy, by an affidavit of such person stating that he personally served a copy of the subpena upon the person named therein; or, if service was by registered mail, by an affidavit made by the person mailing the subpena that it was mailed as provided herein and by the signed return post-office receipt: Provided, That, if the subpena is issued on behalf of the Department, the return receipt without an affidavit of mailing shall be sufficient proof of service. In making personal service, the person making service shall leave a copy of the subpena with the person subpenaed; the original, bearing or accompanied by the required proof of service, shall be returned to the official who issued the same.

(d) Fees and mileage. Witnesses who are subpenaed and who appear in such proceeding, including witnesses whose depositions are taken, shall be paid the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States, and persons taking depositions shall be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like services in the courts of the United States, to be paid by the party at whose request the deposition is taken. Witness fees and mileage shall be paid by the party at whose instance the witnesses appear, and claims therefor, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of the Department, shall be proved before the person issuing the subpena, and, as to witnesses subpenaed on behalf of any other party, shall be presented to such party.

§ 927.327 Representation of parties. Parties may appear in person or by counsel or other representatives.

§ 927.328 Failure to appear. If the cooperative association, after being duly notified, fails to appear at the hearing, or otherwise waives a hearing, the Secretary may, without further procedure, rule that it is disqualified from receiving the suspended payments. If the cooperative association appears at the hearing, but no representative of the Department appears, the Presiding Officer shall proceed to hear the evidence of the cooperative association: Provided, That failure of the Department to appear at a hearing shall not be deemed to be a waiver of its right to file suggested findings of fact; conclusions and order; to be served with a copy of the Presiding Officer's report and to file exceptions thereto.

§ 927.329 Order of proceeding and burden of proof. The cooperative association shall proceed first at the hearing and shall have the burden of proving its eligibility to receive the suspended payments.

§ 927.330 Evidence—(a) In general. The hearing shall be publicly conducted, and the testimony given at the hearing shall be reported verbatim. The testimony of witnesses at a hearing shall be upon oath or affirmation and subject to cross-examination. Any witness may, in the discretion of the Presiding Officer, be examined separately and apart from all other witnesses except those who may be parties to the proceeding. The Presiding Officer shall exclude, insofar as practicable, evidence which is immaterial, irrelevant, or unduly repetitious, or which is not of the sort upon which responsible persons are accustomed to rely.

(b) Objections. If a party objects to the admission or rejection of any evidence or to the limitation of the scope of any examination or cross-examination, he shall state briefly the grounds of such objection, whereupon an automatic exception will follow if the objection is overruled by the Presiding Officer. The transcript shall not include argument or debate thereon, except as ordered by the Presiding Officer. The ruling of the Presiding Officer on any objection shall be a part of the transcript. Only objections made before the Presiding Officer may subsequently be relied upon in the proceeding.

(c) Affidavits. Affidavits may be admitted only if the evidence is otherwise admissible and the parties agree (which may be determined by their failure to make timely objections) that affidavits may be used.

(d) Proof and authentication of official records or documents. An official record or document, when admissible for any purpose, shall be admissible in evidence without the production of the person who made or prepared the same. Such record or document shall, in the discretion of the Presiding Officer, be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the person having legal custody thereof and accompanied by a certificate that such person has the custody.

(e) Exhibits. All written statements, charts, tabulations, or similar data offered in evidence at the hearing shall, after identification by the proponent and upon a satisfactory showing of the admissibility of the contents thereof, be numbered as exhibits and received in evidence and made a part of the record. Except where the Presiding Officer finds that the furnishing of copies is impracticable, five copies of each exhibit shall be filed with the Presiding Officer.

(f) Incorporation by reference. If the testimony of a witness refers to a statute, or to a report, document, or transcript, the Presiding Officer, after inquiry relating to the identification of such statute, report, document, or transcript, shall determine whether the same shall be produced at the hearing and physically be made a part of the evidence as an exhibit, or whether it shall be incorporated into the evidence by reference. If relevant and material matter offered in evidence is embraced in a report, document, or transcript containing immaterial or irrelevant matter, such immaterial or irrelevant matter shall be excluded and shall be segregated insofar as practicable, subject to the direction of the Presiding Officer.

(g) Official notice. Official notice will be taken of such matters as are judicially noticed by the courts of the United States and of any other matter of technical, scientific, or commercial fact of established character: Provided, That the parties shall be given adequate notice, at the hearing or by reference in the Presiding Officer's report or the tentative order or otherwise, of matters so noticed, and shall be given adequate opportunity to show that such facts are erroneously noticed.

(h) Offer of proof. Whenever evidence is excluded from the record, the party offering such evidence may make an offer of proof, which shall be included in the transcript. If the proffered evidence consists of a brief oral statement, it shall be inserted into the transcript in its entirety, or in the case of an exhibit, it shall be marked for identification. In either such event, it shall be considered evidence of record if the Secretary decides that the Presiding Officer's ruling in excluding the evidence was erroneous: Provided, That upon application of either party the evidence shall be reoffered subject to cross-examination and rebuttal, at a reopened hearing. If the taking of the proferred evidence will consume a considerable length of time at the hearing, the Presiding Officer shall limit the offer of proof to a brief description of the evidence offered. In the latter event, if the Secretary decides that the Presiding Officer erred in excluding the evidence, and that such error was prejudicial, the hearing shall be reopened to permit the taking of such evidence.

§ 927.331 Transcript. A copy of the transcript shall be kept on file in the office of the Hearing Clerk, where it shall be available for examination during official hours of business. Such copy shall remain the property of the Department and may not be removed from said office. If a copy of the transcript is desired, such copy may be obtained upon written application filed with the reporter, and upon payment of fees at the rate (if any) provided in the contract between the reporter and the Secretary.

POST-HEARING PROCEDURE

§ 927.340 Filing the transcript of evidence. As soon as practicable after the close of the hearing, the Presiding Officer shall cause to be transmitted to the Hearing Clerk the transcript of the testimony and the exhibits received at the hearing together with his certificate stating that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the transcript is a true, correct and complete transcript of the testimony given in the hearing, except in such particulars as he shall specify, and that the exhibits transmitted are all the exhibits received at the hearing, with such exceptions as he shall specify. The Hearing Clerk shall note upon the transcript each correction specified in such certificate by adding or crossing out (but without obscuring the text as originally transcribed) any words necessary to make the text conform to the correct meaning as certified by the Presiding Officer.

§ 927.341 Proposed findings, conclusions and orders. Within 10 days (unless the Presiding Officer shall have announced at the hearing a shorter or longer period of time) after the transcript has been filed with the Hearing Clerk, as provided in § 927.340, each party may file with the Hearing Clerk proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and order, based upon the record, and briefs in support thereof.

§ 927.342 Presiding Officer's report. The Presiding Officer, within a reasonable time after the termination of the period allowed for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, shall prepare, upon the basis of the record, and shall file with the Hearing Clerk, his report, a copy of which (together with notification of the date fixed by the Presiding Officer for the filing of exceptions thereto) shall be served by the Hearing Clerk upon each of the parties. Such report shall include his recommended findings, conclusion and order.

§ 927.343 Exceptions. Within a period of time (to be fixed by the Presiding Officer but not to exceed 20 days) after the filing of the Presiding Officer's report, the parties may file exceptions to the report. Any party who desires to take exception to any matter set out in the report shall file his exceptions with the Hearing Clerk, referring, where practicable, to the relevant pages of the transcript, and suggesting a corrected finding of fact, conclusion, or order. Within the same period of time, each party shall file with the Hearing Clerk a brief statement in writing concerning each of the objections taken to the action of the Presiding Officer, upon which the party wishes to rely, referring, where practicable, to the pertinent pages of the transcript. A party, if he files exceptions or a statement of objections, shall state in writing whether he desires to make an oral argument thereon before the Secretary; otherwise, it shall be considered that he does not desire to make such oral argument.

§ 927.344 Transmittal to Secretary. Immediately upon the expiration of the period for filing exceptions, the Hearing Clerk shall transmit to the Secretary the complete record of the proceeding, including the Presiding Officer's report, and the exceptions thereto, if any.

§ 927.345 Argument before Secretary—(a) Oral argument. Unless a party has included in his exceptions a request for oral argument or has filed a separate request for oral argument prior to the expiration of the last date for filing such exceptions, it shall be considered that he does not desire to make such oral argument. The granting of a request to make oral argument shall rest in the discretion of the Secretary.

(b) Briefs. The parties may, in the discretion of the Secretary, file written briefs either in addition to oral argument or in lieu thereof.

(c) Scope of argument. Except where the Secretary determines that argument on additional issues would be helpful, argument, whether oral or in a written brief, shall be limited to the issues raised by the exceptions and statement of objections, or to such issues as the Secretary may indicate. If the Secretary determines that additional issues should be argued, counsel for the parties shall be given reasonable notice of such determination, so as to permit the preparation of adequate argument on all the issues to be argued.

§ 927.346 Issuance of order. The Secretary, upon the basis of the record, shall issue the final order in the proceeding. Such order shall rule upon the performance of the cooperative and either order the suspended payments to be paid to the cooperative, in whole or in part, or disqualify the cooperative and direct that the balance of payments held in reserve be returned to the producer-settlement fund.

§ 927.347 Filing and service of order. The order issued by the Secretary shall be filed with the Hearing Clerk who shall promptly serve copies thereof upon the cooperative association, the market administrator, the Director and the Solicitor.

§ 927.348 Petition to reopen hearing; for rehearing; or for reconsideration of order—(a) Petition requisite—(1) Filing; service. A petition to reopen the hearing to take further evidence, for good cause shown, or for rehearing or reargument, or for reconsideration of the order shall be made by petition filed with the Hearing Clerk, who immediately shall serve a copy thereof upon the other party to the proceeding. Every such petition shall state specifically the grounds relied upon.

(2) Petition to reopen hearing. A petition to reopen the hearing to take further evidence may be filed with the Hearing Clerk at any time prior to the issuance of the final order. If the petition is filed prior to the filing of the Presiding Officer's report it shall be referred to the Presiding Officer for decision but if filed later it shall be referred to the Secretary for decision.

(3) Petition to rehear, reargue, or reconsider. A petition to rehear or reargue, or to reconsider the final order, shall be filed with the Hearing Clerk within 20 days after the date of the service of such order and shall be referred to the Secretary for decision. Every such petition shall state specifically the matters claimed to have been erroneously decided, and alleged errors must be briefly stated.

(b) Procedure for disposition of petitions. Within ten days following the service of any petition provided for in this section, the other party to the proceeding may file an answer thereto with the Hearing Clerk. As soon as practicable thereafter, a ruling shall be issued granting or denying the petition. Unless the Secretary shall determine otherwise, the issuance or operation of the order shall be stayed pending the ruling on the petition.

MISCELLANEOUS

§ 927.350 Filing of documents. Except as provided otherwise in this subpart, all documents or papers required or authorized to be filed with the Hearing Clerk shall be filed in quintuplicate. Any document or paper required or authorized under this subpart to be filed with the Hearing Clerk shall be deemed to have been filed when it is received by the Hearing Clerk.

§ 927.351 Service. Documents required to be served by the Hearing Clerk upon a cooperative association shall be served by registered mail addressed to the cooperative association or to its attorney or agent of record at its or his last known principal place of business, office or residence, and service shall be complete on the date of such mailing.

§ 927.352 Computation of time. Saturdays, Sundays and Federal holidays shall be included in computing the time allowed for filing of any document or paper: Provided, That, when such time expires on Saturday, Sunday or a Federal holiday, such time shall be extended to include the next following business day.

§ 927.353 Extensions of time. The time for the filing of any documents or papers authorized in this subpart to be filed may be extended upon the request of any party (a) by the Presiding Officer before the transmittal of the record to the Secretary, or (b) by the Secretary at any time.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 30th day of September 1952, to become effective October 6, 1952, with respect to all pending or future suspensions of cooperative payments under Order No. 27.

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Supp. 6 Amdt. 2]

CEILING AND VISIBILITY MINIMUMS

This amendment is primarily intended to remove the 25-mile limit under § 40.101-1 (b) (1) (i) (b) for the take-off minimums of 200½ applicable to two-engine aircraft, and in lieu thereof insert a time limit of 15 minutes in calm air with one engine inoperative. This change will provide equitable recognition to the varying speed of different types of two-engine aircraft.

The amendment also changes the term "time of dispatch" to "time of departure" as in some instances the original dispatch is accomplished much in advance of the actual departure. Section 40.101-1 (b) (1) (i) (b) as published in 16 F. R. 1630–1632 on February 16, 1951, and amended in 17 F. R. 4557–8 on May 20, 1952, is revised to read:

(b) Take-off minimums—(1) Regular, provisional or refueling airports—(i) Twin-engine aircraft. * * *

(b) Take-off minimums as low as 200½ may also be approved at airports not served by ILS or GCA facilities, or at airports equipped with ILS or GCA when conditions are such that a straight-in ILS or GCA approach cannot be made in accordance with subdivision (a) of this subparagraph. Such approval, however, will be contingent upon the specification in the flight clearance of an alternate airport having an approved instrument approach procedure located within a distance equivalent to 15 minutes at one engine inoperative cruising flight in calm air from the airport of take-off. In addition, at the time of departure, the weather at such alternate airport must be at or above alternate landing minimums. In submitting applications for approval of such minimums, the lowest take-off minimums applicable without a take-off alternate should be shown in the take-off minimum column of the Operations Specifications—Airport. The take-off minimums applicable when a take-off alternate is specified in the flight clearance should be shown in the "Remarks" section of the Operations Specifications—Airport as follows:

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply sec. 604, 52 Stat. 1010 as amended; 49 U. S. C. 554)

[SEAL] F. B. LEE,
Acting Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

(a) Licensing of exports to Cuba—(1) Initial licenses. Each applicant may receive license(s) in an aggregate amount equal to 10 percent (rounded to the nearest 1,000 bags) of the average annual shipments of rice he made to Cuba during the period August 1, 1949 through July 31, 1952, or 1,000 bags, whichever is greater; but in no case will an applicant be issued licenses for an amount in excess of 40,000 bags: Provided,

Applications here also must be accompanied by true copies of irrevocable letters of credit or copies of a domestic bank's advice that irrevocable letters of credit have been established for the account of the purchaser in accordance with subparagraph (1) (ii) of this paragraph. Applications subsequently received which are accompanied by the documents required in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph will then be considered on the basis of the date of receipt in OIT.

NOTE: A "true copy" as used in this section, is a photostatic or other copy of an original document which is certified by the applicant, either on the face of the photostatic or other copy or on an attachment which identifies the document to be a true and correct copy.

All licenses issued against the current allocation will expire January 31, 1953, except for applications receiving special handling which will be valid for only 30 days from date of issuance.

[Effective date of CPR 24 amended by Amdt. 1]

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation establishes specific ceiling prices for most sales of beef, and beef products, including cuts, except for sales at retail. These ceiling prices supersede those established for these items by the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented. This regulation does not, however, establish ceiling prices for sterile canned beef, or sausage. In addition, this regulation defines and standardizes the beef cuts which you may sell and prohibits the sale of non-standardized cuts.

[Section 1 amended by Amdt. 9]

SEC. 2. Where this regulation applies. This regulation shall be applicable in the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for specifically enumerated beef products.—(a) Beef carcasses and wholesale cuts. Your ceiling price for each grade of beef carcass or beef wholesale cut shall be the price specified in section 20, plus any applicable additions permitted in Article IV.

(b) Fabricated beef cuts. Your ceiling price for each grade of fabricated beef cut shall be the price specified in section 21, plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 40 and 41.

(c) Boneless beef cuts. Your ceiling price for each boneless beef cut shall be the price specified in section 22, plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 41, 42, 45 and 46.

(d) Boneless processing beef. Your ceiling prices for boneless processing beef shall be the prices specified in section 23, plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 41 and 45.

(e) Boneless beef (military specifications). Your ceiling prices for frozen boneless beef (4-way, military specifications) and beef, processing (military specifications, JAN–B–617 and JAN–B–723) shall be the prices specified in sections 24 and 25 respectively. You may not include any of the additions specified in Article IV, except the addition specified in section 41, if applicable.

[Paragraph (e) amended by Amdt. 6]

(f) Beef variety meats and by-products. Your ceiling prices for certain beef variety meats and beef by-products shall be the prices specified in section 26, plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 40, 41, 42, 45 and 46.

[Paragraph (f) amended by Amdt. 2]

(g) Prefabricated quick frozen and packaged retail cuts. Your ceiling price for a prefabricated quick frozen and packaged retail cut, not specifically listed in section 28, delivered to any retail store properly equipped with the facilities necessary to maintain the cut in a solid frozen condition, is 80 percent of the retail ceiling price (Group 1 and 2 stores as established by Ceiling Price Regulation 25) for the corresponding grade and type of fresh retail cut applicable in the retail zone in which the buyer's store is located. In determining this figure the retail ceiling price shall first be converted to a per cwt. basis. The weight for determining the ceiling price shall be the net weight of the prefabricated quick frozen and packaged retail cut indicated on the package. None of the additions in Article IV may be added. Section 15 provides a method whereby a seller may apply for an adjustment in his ceiling prices for sales of prefabricated quick frozen and packaged retail cuts to a retailer.

[Paragraph (g) amended by Amdt. 9]

[Paragraph (h) added by Amdt. 2; amended by Amdt. 9]

(i) Certain, cured, dried, and smoked beef products. Your ceiling prices for the cured, dried, and smoked beef products listed in section 27 are the prices specified therein plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 41, 42, 45, and 49A.

[Paragraph (i) added by Amdt. 2; amended by Amdt. 9]

(j) Specialty products, prefabricated, quick frozen and packaged. Your ceiling prices for specialty products, prefabricated, quick frozen, and packaged listed in section 28 are the prices specified therein plus the applicable additions permitted in sections 40 and 41.

[Paragraph (j) added by Amdt. 9]

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for certain beef products which are not specifically listed in section 3—(a) Variety meats and edible by-products. If you sell a beef variety meat or a beef by-product which is not listed in section 26, your ceiling price is established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended.

(b) Cured beef products. (1) If during 1950 you manufactured or processed a cured, corned, cooked, smoked, barbecued, or dried beef product, other than those listed in section 27, your ceiling price for such product is established by Supplementary Regulation 61 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended. Before you may sell any such product you must file the report required by section 10 (b) (1) of this regulation.

(2) If you are a nonprocessing seller at wholesale of a cured, corned, cooked, smoked, barbecued, or dried beef product, other than those listed in section 27, your ceiling price for such product is established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented. Before you may sell any such product you must file the report required by section 10 (b) (2) of this regulation.

(3) Your ceiling price for cured boneless processing beef imported into the continental United States is $53.00 per cwt. for bull meat and $50.00 per cwt. for other than bull meat, both f. o. b. point of entry. Such beef may not contain more than 5 percent salt or other curing agent. No charges or additions may be added to the ceiling prices specified above, except the additions permitted in section 42 and, if the meat is shipped or delivered in a container which is not to be returned to the seller, an addition equivalent to the cost of the shipping container or $1.00 per cwt., whichever is less.

(c) Specialty beef products. (1) If during 1950 you manufactured a specialty beef product, as defined in section 50 (aa), other than those listed in section 28, your ceiling price for such specialty beef product is established by Supplementary Regulation 61 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended. Before you may sell any such product you must file the report required by section 10 (b) (1) of this regulation.

(2) If you are a nonprocessing seller at wholesale of a specialty beef product, as defined in section 50 (aa), other than those listed in section 28, your ceiling price is established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented. Before you may sell any such product you must file the report required by section 10 (b) (2) of this regulation.

(d) New cured beef and specialty beef products. If you desire to manufacture or process a beef product covered by paragraph (b) (1) or (c) (1) of this section which you did not manufacture or process in 1950, and which is not specifically listed in section 27 or 28, you shall apply in writing to the Meat and Fish Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. for a ceiling price. In your application you shall describe the product and state the same information as required in section 10 (b) (1), items (i) through (vi), inclusive. The Director of Price Stabilization may authorize a ceiling price for such product if your application includes sufficient information to enable the Director of Price Stabilization to find:

(1) That you have made a substantial financial investment which cannot be utilized except in the sale of such beef product;

(2) That the sale of this product will constitute at least 10 percent of your total dollar volume of business;

(3) That production of this item will not divert an abnormal amount of beef production from low cost to high cost items; and

(4) That approval of your application will be generally fair and equitable, will not adversely affect the ceiling price structure established by this regulation, and will not otherwise have an inflationary effect.

[Section 4 amended by Amdts. 2, 3, 6, 7 and 9]

SEC. 5. Exempt sales. The provisions of this regulation shall not apply:

(a) To sales at retail; or

(b) To sales or deliveries of any beef product to a buyer if, prior to the effective date of this regulation, this beef product has been received for shipment to such buyer by a carrier other than a carrier owned or controlled by the seller.

SEC. 6. Adjustment for transportation to critical areas. Upon a finding that a critical shortage of meat has occurred in a specific area because customary sources of supply are unavailable and because the established ceiling prices do not contain a sufficient allowance to cover the cost of transporting meat to that area from other sources of supply, the Director of Price Stabilization may by order designate such area as a critical area for such period as he may prescribe, and may in writing authorize you to charge and receive, for beef products sold to buyers in that area, an amount in excess of the applicable ceiling price.

SEC. 7. Import and export sales.—(a) Ceiling prices for sales of imported beef. Except as provided in section 4 (b) (2), your ceiling price for any imported beef product shall be the same as your domestic ceiling price for that product.

(b) Exports sales and sales for export. You shall compute your ceiling prices for export sales and sales for export (as those terms are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 61) of any beef product under the appropriate provisions of CPR 61. These ceiling prices are your ceiling prices under this regulation, for these sales in lieu of any ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. All other provisions of this regulation continue to apply to these sales.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdt. 18]

SEC. 8. Evasion.—(a) You shall not evade the provisions of this regulation, by direct or indirect methods in connection with an offer, solicitation or agreement relating to the sale, delivery, purchase, transfer or receipt of beef, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, wrapping, packaging or other charge or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or by changing the selection, grading, or the style of dressing, cutting, trimming, cooking or otherwise processing, or the wrapping or packaging of beef, or otherwise.

(b) Among others, the following practices are considered evasions and are prohibited:

(1) Falsely or incorrectly grading or invoicing beef.

(2) Selling or invoicing kosher beef to purchasers who are not bona fide buyers of kosher meat.

(3) Selling or invoicing fabricated beef cuts to defense procurement agencies or retailers (other than route truck sellers), located in the 48 states of the United States or the District of Columbia.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdts. 3, 7 and 9]

(4) Offering, selling or delivering a beef product on condition that the buyer purchase another beef product or any other commodity or service.

(5) Making or receiving a charge for delivery on the basis of a route different from that actually followed and in excess of that permitted for the route by which the beef was actually delivered.

(6) Selling or transferring to a slaughterer title to live cattle by the owner thereof or buying or receiving title to live cattle by a slaughterer from the owner thereof, on condition, or with any understanding or agreement, that dressed carcasses or wholesale cuts derived from such cattle, or from other cattle, be sold or delivered to any designated person: Provided, however, That this prohibition shall not apply to the sale or transfer of title to cattle certified to be club cattle.

(7) Charging, paying, billing, or receiving any consideration for or in connection with any service for which a specific allowance has not been provided in this regulation.

(8) Selling to a buyer a carcass or wholesale cut of beef and buying back from that same buyer a portion of any carcass or wholesale cut at a price below the ceiling price for that portion.

[Subparagraph (8) added by Amdt. 6]

(9) Selling any fresh ground meat which contains beef and does not consist entirely of ground beef as defined in any of the following subparagraphs of Appendix 4 (a) paragraphs (33) through (36), inclusive, or paragraphs (38) or (39).

[Subparagraph (9) added by Amdt. 6]

(c) The following payments shall not be construed as evasions of this regulation if made under the following conditions:

(1) A payment of not to exceed 17½ cents per cwt. in excess of the ceiling prices fixed by this regulation, if paid by a buyer to a broker who had, prior to the issuance date of this regulation, rendered services as a broker, for services rendered by the broker to the buyer if the broker has no business affiliation with the seller.

(2) A payment by a buyer to a seller for icing services performed by the seller before delivery of any beef or beef product to a carrier, if the carrier's freight charges are paid directly by the buyer and if the amount paid for such icing services does not exceed the actual commercial rates for such icing services.

(3) Where the distribution point is the seller's place of business and the transportation charges are paid by the seller to the carrier, a payment by a buyer to a seller of the buyer's proportion of that transportation charge, if such payment appears on the seller's invoice as a separate item.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdt. 6]

SEC. 9. Records and Tagging.—(a) Records which must be preserved. On or after the effective date of this regulation, each of you who sells or transfers and each of you who, in the course of trade or business, buys or receives any beef, beef cut or beef product shall make and preserve for inspection by the Office of Price Stabilization for a period of two years complete and accurate records of each such sale, transfer, purchase or receipt showing:

(1) The date thereof;

(2) The names and addresses of the buyer or the recipient and the seller or the transferor;

(3) The descriptive name or type of cut or item, the grade (if bull so designate), and the quantity and weight of all beef products sold, transferred, delivered or purchased, received or acquired.

All sales invoices or equivalent records required by this section must be numbered consecutively. If prior to November 8, 1951, you used for each selling establishment or group of selling establishments a systematic procedure of accounting for such records by means other than consecutive numbering, you may continue to use such system. You may not, however, change your system unless you substitute therefor a system of consecutive numbering.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdts. 2 and 9]

(4) The price charged, received, or paid therefor;

(5) The names and addresses of the parties taking part in the transaction and the class of buyer or recipient and seller or transferor, i. e., retailer (R), purveyor of meals (PM), wholesaler (W), combination distributor (CD), hotel supply house (HSH), processor (PR), peddler truck seller (P), intermediate distributor (ID), or ship supplier (SS). If you are a slaughterer, you need not show the class of seller designation and you need not show the designation (R) on sales to retailers.

The abbreviations indicated above must be used to designate the class of buyer and seller. If prior to November 8, 1951, you used abbreviations or symbols other than those indicated above, you may continue to use them. You may not, however, change or alter your abbreviations or symbols unless you substitute therefor the symbols indicated above.

[Subparagraph (5) added by Amdt. 6; amended by Amdts. 7 and 9]

You shall also continue to preserve all records required to be preserved by Section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

All records required to be preserved under this section 9 may after the expiration of 90 days after the date of the transaction to which they relate be transferred to and preserved thereafter on microfilm.

(b) Records which must accompany deliveries. (1) Except as provided in section 9 (b) (2), (3) and (4) each of you who sells, transfers, or delivers any beef product shall furnish to the buyer at the time of delivery a written statement showing information set forth in section 9 (a).

(2) You shall send with each shipment, other than a C. O. D. shipment, a copy of the written statement referred to in 9 (b) (1): Provided, however, That the portion of the statement with respect to the price charged, received or paid therefor, may be omitted but (i) such portion must be mailed to the buyer within 24 hours after the shipment left your plant or, (ii) if it has been your customary practice to send invoices weekly, such portion must be mailed to the buyer during the week of the shipment.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdts. 2 and 9]

(3) Where the shipment made constitutes the entire content of a common carrier freight car or truck, a copy of the statement referred to in section 9 (b) (1) shall be posted in the freight car or truck near or on the door. Where the shipment constitutes only a part of the content of a common carrier freight car or truck, a copy shall be securely attached in a conspicuous place to one of the items included within the shipment, or in the case of shipment by truck, copies of the statements accompanying each shipment contained in the truck may be given to and carried by the driver who shall be authorized to display such copies to any enforcement officer on request. Where the shipment is made by vehicle other than a common carrier, the copy referred to shall be given to and carried by the driver and he shall be authorized to display it to any enforcement officer on request.

[Subparagraph (3) amended by Amdt. 9]

(4) If you transfer any beef product, which constitutes the entire content of a vehicle, to a business establishment or warehouse controlled or operated by you, you shall send with each vehicle making such transfer, a statement showing the name and address of the owner, the point of destination and that the beef products are not being transferred to a buyer in connection with a sale. The transfer must be identified in the same manner as required in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph.

(c) Tagging requirements. The processor of any kosher beef product shall identify the product as kosher by securely attaching to it, with a wire seal, a tag bearing a rabbinical certification that the product is kosher and has been prepared in accordance with kosher dietary laws.

[Paragraph (c) added by Amdt. 9]
[Title of Section 9 amended by Amdt. 9]

SEC. 10. Reports.—(a) Slaughter located in Zone 4a. If you slaughter cattle in a slaughtering plant or plants located in Zone 4a you shall file with the Office of Price Stabilization at Washington, D. C., a true copy of the abattoir stamp together with the name and address of the slaughtering plant at which such abattoir stamp is used.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Amdt. 6]

(b) Cured beef and specialty beef products. (1) If you are a manufacturer or processor of any beef product for which a ceiling price is provided under section 4 (b) (1) or section 4 (c) (1) of this regulation you must, before you sell any such product, send by registered mail, to the Meat and Fish Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. a signed report containing your name and business address and the following information:

(i) A description of the product, including the name of the item;

(ii) The wholesale cut and the grade of beef used therein;

(iii) A complete description of its preparation;

(iv) The type of wrapping or packaging used;

(v) The manner in which the product differs substantially from the most similar product of the same type for which a ceiling price is provided in section 3 of this regulation;

(vi) A cutting test showing the cost of the specialty product;

(vii) Your ceiling price for the product under the General Ceiling price Regulation as amended and supplemented;

(viii) The total dollar volume you sold of the product during the calendar year 1950;

(2) If you are a non-processing seller at wholesale of any beef product for which a ceiling price is provided under section 4 (b) (2) or section 4 (c) (2) you must, before you sell any such product, send by registered mail, to the Meat and Fish Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a signed report showing:

(i) Your name and business address;

(ii) The type or types of customers to whom you regularly and customarily sell the product;

(iii) An identification of the product and your ceiling price for this product under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended and supplemented; and

(iv) The current cost to you of the product.

(3) You may not sell any of the products covered by sections 4 (b) (1), 4 (b) (2), 4 (c) (1), or 4 (c) (2) of this regulation until you have complied with this section 10 (b), insofar as it applies to you. If you have filed heretofore under this section 10 (b), you need not file again for the same product.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdts. 2 and 9]

(c) For other reports required by this regulation see sections 21, 42 and 46.

SEC. 11. Prohibitions.—(a) Selling at prices above ceiling. Regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation, (1) you shall not sell or deliver any beef product at a price higher than the ceiling price established by this regulation, (2) you shall not buy or receive in the regular course of trade or business any beef product at a price higher than the ceiling price established by this regulation, and (3) you shall not agree, offer, solicit or attempt to do any of the foregoing. You may, however, charge, demand, pay or offer lower prices for beef products than are established by this regulation.

(b) Selling other than defined cuts. (1) Regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation, except for beef products, the ceiling prices of which are controlled by sections 3 (g), 3 (h), and 4 of this regulation, you shall not buy or receive in the regular course of trade or business and you shall not sell or deliver any beef product or any part or portion thereof unless such beef product is listed in Appendices 2 through 8, inclusive. Moreover, you shall not sell any prefabricated retail cut to a retail selling establishment unless (i) you have customarily sold prefabricated retail cuts to this establishment, or (ii) some other seller at wholesale has customarily sold prefabricated retail cuts to this establishment, or (iii) such selling establishment is a store which does not have adequate facilities for the preparation of retail cuts. Regardless of the foregoing, you shall not sell any prefabricated retail cut to a retail selling establishment unless in addition to qualifying under (i), (ii), or (iii) above, the retailer requests you in writing to sell him prefabricated retail cuts. You are not prohibited from selling a beef hindquarter, forequarter or cuts therefrom which are derived from beef imported from New Zealand and which have been cut in a manner other than that specified in Appendix 2.

[Paragraph (b) amended by Amdt. 2; redesignated (b) (1) by Amdt. 9; amended by Amdts. 15, 16, and 17]

(2) If you desire to sell prefabricated retail cuts as set forth in section 11 (b) (1) but you fail to meet one or more of the required qualifications, you may apply for special authorization, by writing to the appropriate District Office of Price Stabilization for the District in which your principal place of business is located, setting forth the following information: (i) the reasons why you desire to sell prefabricated retail cuts; (ii) the name and address of the retailer to whom you desire to sell; (iii) a statement, supported by such figures of proposed volume of sales, selling prices, and costs, as you may be able to supply, that the authorization requested will not cause an undue diversion of available meat supplies, and will not increase the overall cost of meat to this retailer; and (iv) a signed statement from this retailer that he joins in your application for such special authorization and that if the application is granted, he will not, as a result, apply thereafter to the Office of Price Stabilization for an increase in his ceiling prices.

The District Director of Price Stabilization may thereafter issue an order, authorizing you to sell prefabricated cuts to the designated retailer, subject to any appropriate conditions and limitations, provided the District Director finds that such authorization (i) will not cause an undue diversion of available meat supplies into prefabricated retail cuts; (ii) will not increase the overall cost of meat to such retailer or to ultimate consumers; and (ii) will not otherwise have any inflationary effect or produce economic results inconsistent with the provisions and purposes of this regulation. The District Director may, at any time thereafter, modify, suspend, or revoke such order, if he finds that any material information contained in the application was incorrect, or that the economic consequences of the authorization, upon actual operation, appear to be inflationary or otherwise inconsistent with the provisions or purposes of this regulation.

[Subparagraph (2) added by Amdt. 15]

(3) This regulation establishes a ceiling price for miscuts. The purpose of the provision establishing a ceiling price for miscuts is not to sanction the sale of such miscuts or to excuse violations of this section, but simply to establish a ceiling price for the purpose of measuring damages under the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. The sale of a miscut violates this section and the sale of a miscut at a price higher than the ceiling price prescribed by this regulation also violates paragraph (a) of this section.

[Subparagraph (2) added by Amdt. 9; redesignated (3) by Amdt. 15]

(4) This regulation establishes ceiling prices for unauthorized sales of these or other items either by unauthorized sellers or to unauthorized buyers. The purpose of the provision establishing such ceiling prices is not to sanction such unauthorized sale or to excuse the violation of this section 11, but simply to establish ceiling prices for the purpose of measuring damages under the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. Such unauthorized sales violate this section 11 (b), and such unauthorized sales at prices higher than those prescribed by this regulation for corresponding authorized sales also violate section 11 (a).

[Subparagraph (4) added by Amdt. 15]

(c) Importation at prices above ceiling. Regardless of any contract, agreement or other obligation you shall not, by direct or indirect methods, import into the 48 states or the District of Columbia from a foreign country any beef product purchased by you, directly or through any agent, or through a foreign or domestic corporation affiliated with you, or any foreign or domestic subsidiary thereof, if this beef product has a landed cost higher than the domestic ceiling price at the point of consignment.

(1) The "landed cost" shall mean the amount you paid for the product, directly or indirectly, plus the following expenses actually incurred by or for you:

(i) transportation costs to the point of consignment;

(ii) customs duties or other import taxes;

(iii) other commodity taxes;

(iv) dock charges;

(v) clearance;

(vi) insurance;

(vii) letter of credit expenses;

(viii) any customary buying commission to a purchasing agent outside continental United States; and

(2) The "domestic ceiling price at the point of consignment" shall mean the lowest price established in the appropriate schedule for this grade of beef product when sold by a slaughterer, plus the zone differential, where applicable, to the point to which the shipment is consigned. In computing this price the point to which the shipment is consigned shall be the distribution point and none of the additions provided in sections 41 through 48, inclusive, may be added.

(3) Records. Each of you who imports into the 48 States or the District of Columbia from a foreign country any beef product purchased by you, directly or indirectly, shall make and preserve for a period of two years the records required in section 9 (a) of this regulation; and, in addition to the information required to be shown in paragraphs (1) through (4) therein, you shall also make and preserve records for a period of two years showing any of the actual costs listed in paragraph (c) (1) (i) through (ix) of this section which you incurred.

[Paragraph (c) added by Amdt. 4]

(4) However nothing in this section 11 (c) shall prohibit the importation into the 48 States or the District of Columbia on or prior to August 31, 1951, of beef the delivery of which was contracted for prior to August 1, 1951.

[Subparagraph (4) added by Amdt. 5]

(d) Failure to state grade. If you do not furnish to the buyer a written statement, as required by section 9 (b) (1), in which is stated the grade of the beef product sold, transferred, delivered or purchased, received or acquired, you shall not sell or deliver, and the buyer may not receive or accept, such beef product at a price higher than the ceiling price established by this regulation for the lowest grade of such beef product.

[Paragraph (d) added by Amdt. 7]

(e) Failure to designate class of buyer or seller. If the invoice or other record relating to any sale or receipt of any beef or beef product, other than a fabricated cut, does not show the class of buyer and seller, as required by section 9 (a) (5), you shall not charge or receive, and the buyer shall not pay, more than the applicable price listed in the appropriate schedule of this regulation, and you shall not add any additions other than the addition in section 40. If a fabricated cut is sold or received and the class of buyer and seller is not designated on the invoice or other record relating thereto, you shall not charge or receive, and the buyer shall not pay, more than the price for that cut listed in Schedule II (d), and you shall not add any additions other than the addition in section 40.

[Paragraph (e) added by Amdt. 7]

(f) Selling ungraded (or improperly graded) beef. (1) Regardless of any contract, agreement, or other obligation, you shall not buy or receive in the regular course of trade or business and you shall not sell or deliver any beef which does not clearly bear a correct grade mark, as required by Distribution Regulation 2, as amended.

(2) This regulation establishes ceiling prices for beef which does not clearly bear a correct grade mark, as required by Distribution Regulation 2, as amended. The purpose of the provision establishing ceiling prices for ungraded (or improperly graded) beef is not to sanction the sale of such ungraded (or improperly graded) beef or to excuse the violation of this section 11 (f) or of Distribution Regulation 2, but simply to establish ceiling prices for the purpose of measuring damages under the provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

The sale of ungraded (or improperly graded) beef violates this section 11 (f), and the sale of ungraded (or improperly graded) beef at prices higher than those prescribed by this regulation also violates section 11 (a).

[Paragraph (f) added by Amdt. 15]

SEC. 12. Enforcement. On or after the effective date of this regulation, if you violate any provision of this regulation, or any order issued pursuant to it, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950. Also, any person, who, in the course of trade or business, buys from you at a price higher than your ceiling price is subject to the criminal penalties and civil enforcement actions provided for by that Act.

SEC. 13. Petitions for amendment. If you seek an amendment of any provision of this regulation, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1, issued by the Office of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 14. Interpretations. If you want an official interpretation of this regulation, you should write to the District Counsel of the proper OPS District Office. Any action taken by you in reliance upon and in conformity with a written official interpretation will constitute action in good faith pursuant to this regulation. Further information on obtaining official interpretations is contained in Price Procedural Regulation 1, Revised.

[Section 14 added by Amdt. 9]

SEC. 15. Adjustment of ceiling prices for sales of certain prefabricated retail cuts to retailers. This section applies to you only if you desire to sell to a retailer a prefabricated quick frozen and packaged retail cut, or a prefabricated retail cut which you are not prohibited from selling by section 11 (b) at a price above the ceiling price established by section 3 (g) or 3 (h) of this regulation.

(a) You may apply for an adjustment of your ceiling price by filing an application with the Regional Office of Price Stabilization for the area in which your selling establishment is located, containing the information listed below. If you have more than one selling establishment you must file separate applications for each selling establishment. Your application must contain the following information:

(1) The name and address of your selling establishment and of the retailers to whom you desire to sell at prices above your present ceiling prices under section 3 (g) or 3 (h) of this regulation;

(2) A statement by each of these retailers that he desires to purchase the particular retail cuts from you at prices higher than 80 percent of the retail ceiling for Group 1 and 2 stores, that he will not charge more than his applicable ceiling price for these cuts and that he will not apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for a higher ceiling price, as a result of the increase in your ceiling price.

APPENDIX 2—BEEF CARCASSES AND WHOLESALE CUTS DEFINITIONS

(a) Section 58 of this regulation contains a chart showing the cuts the technical descriptions of which are given below. When used in this regulation, the term:

(1) Beef carcass means and is limited to two sides of beef or two hindquarters and two forequarters derived in either case from the same beef animal which shall be dressed in the following manner: The head shall be removed by disjointing at the socket joint (occipito-atlis). The hide shall be entirely removed. The belly shall be opened by cutting or sawing through the aitch bone (symphysis-pelvis) down the belly in a straight line to the center of the sternum bone and continuing through the sternum bone to the neck. All the viscera (not including the kidneys and the kidney fat) shall be removed. The heart (mediastinal) fat, caul fat and the sweetbreads from the neck shall be entirely removed. The front feet shall be detached at the lower knee (carpo-metacarpal) joint and the hind legs shall be detached at the hock (tarso-metatarsal joint). The tail shall be removed leaving not more than two tail (caudal) vertebrae remaining attached to the carcass.

In dressing cows, the udders shall be entirely removed. In dressing steers, stags, and bulls, the entire genito-urinary tract shall be removed. The carcass shall be separated into two sides by splitting or sawing the chine bones as nearly as possible through the center of the spinal column and spinous processes so that the spinal cord is fully exposed. The spinal cord may then be removed. The muscular portion of the skirt (diaphragm) shall be left attached to the carcass, but the non-muscular part (centrum tendineum) shall be trimmed so as to leave not more than one-half inch of it remaining adjacent to the red (muscle) meat. Bruises and grubs shall be trimmed out. The hanging tender may be removed. The inside of the carcass shall be thoroughly cleaned by washing. The beef carcass shall not be broken in any other manner than as provided below.

Side of beef means a hindquarter and forequarter separated or attached which are derived from one side of a beef animal and which have been dressed in accordance with the specifications applicable to "beef carcass".

Beef wholesale cut means and is limited to any of the following cuts meeting the following minimum specifications, derived from the beef carcass, but excluding the offal and any item not included therein. (All measurements prescribed herein shall be made with a rigid straight ruler. All cuts shall be made according to the definite guides and measurements specified. Ribs are designated as 1st to 13th, inclusive, counting as the 1st rib that one which is nearest the neck end of the side).

(2) Hindquarter means the posterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 12-rib forequarter from the side, and comprising the round, full loin including the 13th rib, flank, and kidney, all in one piece, which posterior portion shall be obtained by cutting the beef side between the 12th and 13th ribs, keeping the knife firmly against the 12th rib while cutting down the length of the rib to the point at the end of the rib where the rib joins the rib (coastal) cartilage, from which point passing through the cartilage and meat of the flank and short plate in the same straight line, completing the cut. The hanging tender may be left on or taken off at the option of the seller.

[Subparagraph (2) amended by Amdt. 9]

(3) Forequarter means the anterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 1-rib hindquarter from the side and comprises the rib, regular chuck, brisket, short plate and fore-shank, all in one piece, which anterior portion contains the first to twelfth ribs, inclusive. No heart (mediastinal) fat or neck sweetbreads and not more than one-half inch of the fibrous part (centrum tendineum) of the skirt (diaphragm) shall appear in the forequarter and otherwise it shall be dressed in accordance with the specifications applicable to "beef carcass" as set forth in Appendix 2 (a) (1).

(4) Round means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of untrimmed full loin, and flank from the hindquarter, which portion shall be obtained as follows: The untrimmed full loin and flank shall be severed from the hindquarter by cutting in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the hindquarter. The cut shall be made on a straight line formed by and starting from that point on the backbone which is the juncture of the last (5th) sacral vertebra and the first (1st) tail (caudal) vertebra, and passing through the point which just misses the end of the protuberance of the femur bone and exposes the ball of the femur bone, continuing in the same straight line beyond the second point to complete the cut. Two tail vertebrae shall be left on the round. Attached to the tail bone of the round shall be the tip or rear corner of the fifth sacral vertebra. All cod, udder and pelvic fat remaining on the round after its severance from the full loin and flank shall remain on the round.

(5) Trimmed full loin means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of the round, flank, hanging tender (from the open side), kidney knob and excess loin (lumbar) and pelvic (sacral) fat from the inside of the loin, from the hindquarter, and comprising the short loin and sirloin (loin end) in one piece, the backbone of which portion shall include one and one-half (1½) thoracic vertebrae, six (6) lumbar vertebrae, and five (5) sacral vertebrae (the tip or rear corner of the fifth sacral vertebrae shall have been sawed off in severing the round from the full loin and flank), and which portion shall be obtained as follows:

Second, the hanging tender, which means the cylindrical shaped piece of lean meat attached at one end under the kidney knob in open (left) side hindquarters shall be removed entirely from open side loins by being severed at a point opposite the juncture of the 1st and 2d lumbar vertebrae.

Third, after the severance of the round from the hindquarter, the flank shall be severed from the full loin by a cut starting at the heavy end of the full loin at the ventral point of severance of the round from the hindquarter and continuing in a straight line to a fixed point on the inside of the 13th rib determined by measuring off ten inches in a straight line from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra, but in making the cut no more than one (1) inch of cod or udder fat shall be left on the flank side of the face of the loin.

NOTE: The 10-inch measurement shall be made from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra and not from the hollow of the chine bone where the 13th rib joins the 13th thoracic vertebra.

Fourth, the excess loin (lumbar) and pelvic (sacral) fat shall be trimmed from the inside of the full loin by placing the full loin upon a flat surface, with no other support to change its position, meat side down, and removing all fat which extends above a flat plane parallel with the flat surface supporting the full loin and on a level with the full length of the protruding edge of the lumbar section of the chine bone. Then all fat shall be removed which extends above a flat plane using the following two lines as guides for each edge of the plane: an imaginary line parallel with the full length of the protruding edge of the lumbar section of the chine bone which line extends 1 inch directly above such protruding edge; a line on the inside of the loin two inches from the flank edge and running parallel with such edge for the full length of the loin. All fat obstructing the measurement of the second line shall first be removed. In addition to the foregoing all rough fat in the pelvic cavity of the heavy end of the loin (sirloin) shall be trimmed smooth and trimming by a knife shall be apparent. No fat remaining in the pelvic cavity shall exceed one inch in depth.

(6) Flank means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of the round and untrimmed full loin from the hindquarter, which shall be obtained after the removal of the round by separation from the untrimmed full loin, starting the cut at the point at the lower end of the loin end (sirloin) which was the ventral point of separation of the full loin and round, leaving no more than 1 inch of cod or udder fat attached to the flank side of the face of the full loin, and continuing in a straight line to a fixed point on the inside of the 13th rib determined by measuring off ten inches in a straight line along the 13th rib from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra.

NOTE: The 10-inch measurement shall be made from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra and not from the hollow of the chine bone where the 13th rib joins the 13th thoracic vertebra.

(7) Cross cut chuck (Kosher or traefer) means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the rib and short plate from the forequarter, and comprising the regular chuck, brisket and foreshank all in one piece, which portion shall be obtained by cutting through the forequarter in a straight line between the 5th and 6th ribs, keeping the knife firmly against the 5th rib, while cutting to the point where the 5th rib joins the rib (costal) cartilage, at which point the cut shall continue in the same straight line through the cartilage, the breast bone (sternum) and the meat of the brisket and short plate to complete the severance. The cross cut chuck shall contain five (5) ribs (1st to 5th, inclusive).

APPENDIX 3—BONELESS BEEF CUT DEFINITIONS

When used in this regulation the term:

(a) Boneless beef cut means any of the following cuts derived from any grade of beef:

Preparatory to making any "boneless beef cut", the carcass must be separated into "hindquarters" and "forequarters", as specified in Appendix 2 (a) (2) and (3).

The foreshank shall be removed from the forequarter in the following manner: Insert a knife in the elbow joint and draw along the side of the upper forearm, as closely to the bone as possible, to the knuckle joint at the base of the blade bone. Draw the knife over the knuckle joint in such a manner to throw the shank out of the socket joint. A complete separation shall then be made by severing the remaining connective tissue and muscle.

Boneless beef cuts from the hindquarter shall be prepared as follows: The hanging tender shall be removed from the hindquarter as prescribed in Appendix 2 (a) (5). The round is separated from the loin by sawing behind and parallel to the aitch pelvic bone, leaving a small piece of the middle portion of the aitch bone on the round. This cut shall continue in a straight line through the bottom portion of the sirloin and the flank muscle at the proper angle to produce a full knuckle.

The flank shall be removed from the full loin as prescribed in Appendix 2 (a) (6).

The rough rump shall be separated from the loin starting at the center of the fifth sacral vertebra sawing through the knuckle bone, approximately one and one-half inches from the large exposed end of the aitch bone.

[Paragraph (a) amended by Amdt. 15]

(1) Boneless beef inside (top round), outside (bottom round), and knuckle (face) shall be prepared in the following manner:

The "knuckle" shall be separated from the outside at the natural muscle seams between the knuckle and the outside, on the one side, and from the inside muscles on the other side, leaving one and one-half inches of the wedge-shaped piece of meat from the overlapping inside muscle attached to the knuckle. The knuckle shall be completely "faced"; removing all connective tissue, fat, and outside covering tissue, including the wedge-shaped strip of lean meat left on the knuckle when separating from the beef inside. The patella (knee-cap bone) and all cartilage or connecting tissue shall be removed. It shall be free from bruises and blood clots.

The "inside" and "outside" shall be separated by a cut starting at the termination of the gambrel cord separating the shank end portion equally between the inside and outside muscles and continuing the cut in a straight line to a point on the rump end which is just barely on the outside of the large muscle seam visible at this end. All fat on the skin surface shall be trimmed down to one-eighth inch in thickness. The crotch fat or the inside shall be trimmed down to the connective tissue (fel). The grascillis sinew below the crotch shall be completely removed. The popliteal gland and the fat on the cut surface on both the inside and outside muscles are to be removed and trimmed smooth. The inside shank muscle and the heavy sinew ends of the gambrel cord shall be removed from the inside. The shank muscle imbedded in the shank portion of the outside shall not be removed.

(6) Boneless beef tenderloin shall be removed from the loin in the manner prescribed in Appendix 4 (a) (11), and the same specifications for trimming the tenderloin, as outlined in that paragraph shall apply. A peeled tenderloin shall be prepared only from tenderloins weighing more than 5 pounds each. All skin and fat and large blood vessels are to be removed. The strip of lean meat lying along the edge of the tenderloin is to be completely removed to within 4½ inches from the butt of the tenderloin. APPENDIX 4—FABRICATED BEEF CUT DEFINITIONS

(a) When used in this regulation, the term fabricated beef cut means any of the following cuts meeting the following minimum specifications, and derived from specified beef wholesale cuts, as provided for in Appendix 2. All cuts shall be made in accordance with the specifications provided herein.

(1) Round (rump and shank off) means that part of a round remaining after the shank and rough rump have been removed.

The shank shall be removed by a cut starting at the bottom end of the gambrel cord, following the natural muscle seam to the stifle (knee) joint, passing through the bones of the joint severing the shank from the round. The rough rump shall be removed by a straight cut starting at a point on the outside or skin surface of the round, so as to meet the top part of the aitch bone, then following the curvature of the aitch bone to the protuberance of the femur bone (round bone) leaving no part of the aitch bone in the round. The rump shall then be separated from the round by sawing through the ball of the femur bone (round bone). All cod or udder fat shall be removed from the round, rump and shank off.

(2) Boneless round means that part of the round remaining after all bones (including tail bones) and shank have been removed. The shank shall be removed as described in Appendix 4 (a) (1). The ragged pieces of meat, all cod or udder fat, and other fat in excess of one inch shall be removed. The rump shall not be removed.

(3) and (4) Boneless insides or top rounds, boneless outsides or bottom rounds, and boneless knuckles or faces, means the three natural muscle pieces into which the round is separated after the rough rump, shank and femur bone (round bone) have been removed. The shank and rough rump shall be removed as described in Appendix 4 (a) (1). The knuckle shall be separated by cutting through the natural muscle seams between the knuckle and outside muscles on the one side, and the knuckle and the inside muscles on the other side leaving one and one-half inches of the wedge-shaped pieces of meat from the overlapping inside muscle attached to the knuckle. The patella (knee cap bone) and all cartilage or connecting tissue shall be removed.

The inside and outside pieces shall be separated by a cut starting at the termination of the gambrel cord separating the shank and portion equally between the inside and outside, and continuing the cut in a straight line to a point on the rump and which is just barely on the outside edge of the large muscle seam that is visible at this end.

The gland which lies in the center between the inside and outside muscles shall be cut through so as to leave a portion of this gland in both muscles.

The cod or udder fat and all other fat in excess of one inch shall be removed.

The strip loin shall be cut from the stripped full loin in a straight line perpendicular to the outside or skin surface of the loin from a point which is the juncture of the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebrae and continuing in the same straight line through a point flush against the end of the hip (pin) bone, but leaving no part of the hip (pin) bone in the strip loin.

The protruding edge of the chine bone shall be removed by sawing through the lower extremity of the spinal cord groove when the loin is lying with the flesh side down. The flank edge of the strip loin shall be cut off in a straight line from the sawed end of the 13th rib, which is 10 inches from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra and continuing in a straight line with full length of the strip loin parallel to the chine bone and perpendicular to the outside skin surface of the strip loin. Rough fat on the inside of the strip loin shall be trimmed smooth and all fat in excess of one inch on the outside skin surface shall be removed.

(17) Tenderloin means the tenderloin muscle with the attached side strip muscle lying inside of the full loin. The tenderloin shall be removed from the full loin by cutting along the inside of the chine bone following the conformation of this bone from the tip of the loin or at the point where the 13th rib joins the 13th thoracic vertebra at the end of the chine bone or at a point adjacent to the 5th sacral vertebra and by a cut at the butt end of the tenderloin which shall be made along the hip bone following the natural seam (or blue seam) in the sirloin end of the loin. Full beef tenderloin shall be devoid of any head muscle and all the excess fat shall be removed from the back of the tenderloin so as to expose the gland which lies about 6 inches forward from the butt end of the tenderloin. All the fat lying beyond the exposed gland shall be tapered down to a point that in no case shall extend beyond three-quarters of the length of the entire tenderloin.

Beef tenderloin also means the trimmed sirloin tenderloin which is that portion of the tenderloin muscle removed from the sirloin. It shall be devoid of any head muscle and all excess fat shall be removed from the back of the sirloin tenderloin so as to expose the gland as described herein. Beef tenderloin also includes the trimmed tip tenderloin which is the portion of the tenderloin muscle removed from a short loin. The fat on the back of the tenderloin shall be tapered down as described herein and at no point shall exceed one-half inch. All fat from the lower half shall be removed.

(18) Oven prepared rib means that part of seven-bone rib remaining after the chine bone and short ribs have been removed. The chine bone, or bodies of the thoracic vertebrae, shall be entirely removed by cutting to the point at which they join the feather bones, exposing the lean meat, but leaving the feather bones attached to the rib cut. The short ribs shall be removed by a cut which begins at a point on the 12th rib not more than 8 inches from the protruding edge of the 12th thoracic vertebra and continuing in a straight line to a point on the 6th rib which is not more than 8 inches from the protruding edge of the 6th thoracic vertebra (chine bone). All the blade bone, including the cartilage, shall be removed.

(19) Boned, rolled and tied rib means that part of the regular 7-rib cut remaining after all bones, including the blade bone and cartilage, have been removed. The intercostal meat shall be removed.

It shall be separated from the chuck by a first cut starting at the knuckle joint and continuing in the same line along the ridge of the blade bone through to the chine bone, and by a second cut starting from the extreme corner of the brisket end of the 5th rib following the first natural muscle seam above the rib bones to a point about midway between the knuckle bone and the end of the 5th rib, then upward to the second natural muscle seam above the rib bones and the following this natural muscle seam to the knuckle end of the clod. Pull knuckle end of clod upward, separating in the natural muscle seam at the blade bone, then cut along edge of blade bone to enable clod to be pulled loose from the chuck.

(25) Boneless brisket (deckle off) means that part of the green brisket remaining after all the bones, intercostal meat and deckle have been removed. The deckle means the layer of fat, meat and tissues lying between the rib bones, the rib (costal) cartilages, the breast (sternum) bone and the lean principal muscle of the brisket. The deckle shall be removed at the natural seam leaving the thick layer of fat attached to the deckle and exposing the lean meat surface lying directly below. This lean surface shall be free of all fat except minute flakes of fat that adhere closely to the lean after the deckle has been removed. The hard fat along the sternum edge (the area on the bone side of the brisket which is adjacent to and directly under the sternum bone) of the boneless brisket shall be trimmed level with the boned surface of the brisket and to within one-half inch of the lean lying between this hard fat and the border of skin surface fat. APPENDIX 11—BEEF ZONE DIFFERENTIALS PER HUNDREDWEIGHT

The zone differentials specified in this appendix apply as provided in Section 40. The zone differential for any town, city or other district having powers of local self-government which is not a part of any county for which a zone differential is included in this Appendix 11, shall be the highest zone differential for any of the adjoining counties.

The specific differentials set forth in this appendix apply directly, without further calculation, to items for which specific ceiling prices are established by Section 20 or 26.

Your zone differential for fabricated cuts shall be computed by multiplying your zone differential for the corresponding grade of carcass beef by 1.3, adjusted to the nearest 10¢ per hundredweight.

Your zone differential for variety meats and byproducts shall be the same as your zone differential for carcass beef graded prime and choice, in all states except in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee. In these eight states the zone differential for variety meats and by-products shall be that specified for carcass beef of utility grade.

Your zone differential for bulls shall be the same as your zone differential for carcass beef graded commercial, utility, canner and cutter.

SR 35—ADJUSTMENTS TO REFLECT INCREASED OUTBOUND TRANSPORTATION RATES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation authorizes manufacturers subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute, by the Office of Price Stabilization, or by another federal or state regulatory agency.

Under CPR 22 the extent to which a manufacturer has been able to pass on increases in outbound transportation costs has depended on his base period practice of quoting prices. If during the base period he followed the practice of quoting prices f. o. b. plant, CPR 22 established his ceiling prices on this basis and he has been able to pass on to buyers increases in outbound transportation costs. Those manufacturers, however, who during the base period customarily sold on a delivered price basis, have been required to continue this practice, thus requiring them to absorb increases in outbound transportation costs except insofar as adjustments are permitted by section 28 of CPR 22 and by Supplementary Regulations 17 and 18 to CPR 22. Section 28 of CPR 22 permits a manufacturer to add to his delivered ceiling price the dollars-and-cents amount of the increase in outbound transportation costs for his products between the end of his base period and March 15, 1951. SR 17 and SR 18 permit a manufacturer to add to his delivered ceiling price the dollars-and-cents amount of the increase in his outbound transportation costs between the end of his base period and July 26, 1951.

As a result, manufacturers in some industries have been required to absorb substantial increases in outbound transportation costs while other sellers, sometimes other sellers of the same commodities, have not been required to absorb such increases.

In view of the lapse of time since CPR 22 was issued, and the number and size of the increases in transportation costs that have occurred since that time, it is deemed appropriate at this time to allow all manufacturers under CPR 22 to be treated the same with respect to the passing on of outbound transportation cost increases. Accordingly, this supplementary regulation allows those manufacturers with ceiling prices determined under CPR 22, including those who have adjusted such ceiling prices under SR 17 or 18 to CPR 22 or under GOR 20 or 35, to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases resulting from increased transportation rates authorized since the "cut-off" date to which increases in costs have until now been recognized. This supplementary regulation, however, does not apply to ceiling prices established under other specified supplementary regulations to CPR 22 which have already made some provision for increased transportation costs. Thus, a manufacturer of building materials under SR 28 to CPR 22 may not use this regulation to adjust ceiling prices which he has determined under SR 28, although he may, if he wishes, use this regulation instead of SR 28 to adjust his ceiling prices for such building materials determined under CPR 22.

Determination of the manner in which such adjustments should be permitted to be made has presented serious problems. Because of the number and variety of industries covered by CPR 22, no one technique could be singled out as universally desirable. A technique achieving perfect accuracy necessarily involves detailed computations, while one which is simple and easy to calculate must necessarily ignore many of the variable factors peculiar to particular industries. Therefore, two methods are provided. The first method permits an accurate adjustment for individual commodities or a group of commodities having the same unit transportation costs. The second method permits the calculation of an average transportation cost factor for a product line or category. Such an averaging technique is necessarily less accurate but simpler to apply than method one.

In particular instances different methods than those provided in this regulation may be appropriate. Accordingly, a procedure is provided by which manufacturers may apply for approval of such an alternative method.

In view of the broad coverage of this supplementary regulation, special circumstances have made consultation with all industry representatives, including all trade association representatives, impracticable. However, the relief provided by this supplementary regulation has been requested by many individual manufacturers and representatives of trade associations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 are generally fair and equitable and are consistent with the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes methods by which manufacturers under CPR 22 may increase their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute or by OPS, or other federal or state regulatory agency. This supplementary regulation permits adjustments of ceiling prices established under CPR 22, including such ceiling prices as adjusted under SR 17 or 18 to CPR 22 or under General Overriding Regulation 20 or 35. This supplementary regulation does not apply to ceiling prices established under the following supplementary regulations to CPR 22: SR 28; SR 29; SR 30; SR 31; SR 32; or SR 34. The methods which may be used are set forth in Article II of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 2. Applicability of CPR 22. All provisions of CPR 22 as that term is limited by section 1 shall be applicable to you except as those provisions are limited, modified or supplemented by this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for new commodities and new sellers. In addition to the ceiling prices specified in section 1, you may adjust under this supplementary regulation any ceiling prices which you have established under Ceiling Price Regulation 161 prior to the date as of which you calculate your adjustments under this supplementary regulation. In determining ceiling prices under CPR 161 or sections 30–34 of CPR 22 subsequent to your calculations of the adjustments under this regulation, you may use as the ceiling prices of the appropriate comparison commodities or of the appropriate competitor's commodities, ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation. If, after you have determined a ceiling price on the basis of a competitor's ceiling price, the competitor adjusts his ceiling price under this supplementary regulation, you may then recalculate your ceiling price on the basis of his new ceiling price.

SEC. 4. Reporting and record-keeping requirements. You must keep available for inspection by OPS for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, records showing the method(s) used in determining the adjustments calculated and the commodities to which each method applies, and all records and worksheets which you used in determining an adjustment under this supplementary regulation. All reporting and record-keeping provisions of CPR 22 remain applicable to you except that you need not report the adjusted ceiling prices you determine under this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 5. Rounding. You may round your ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation as provided by section 25 of CPR 22.

SEC. 6. Use of transportation bill. Wherever this supplementary regulation requires you to find what your transportation cost for a shipment would have been on the basis of rates in effect on your base date, you need not determine the rate in effect on the base date and calculate such transportation cost if you have a transportation bill which shows the transportation cost for such a shipment at a time when the base date rate or a higher rate was in effect.

SEC. 7. Allocation of costs of mixed shipments. Where for purposes of this regulation it is necessary to determine the transportation cost for a commodity included in a mixed shipment with one or more other commodities, you may determine such cost by allocating the amount of the transportation cost of the mixed shipment among the commodities included in it in any reasonable manner. Where you use this section in determining the current transportation cost of a commodity, you must determine the corresponding transportation cost of the commodity on the base date by the same method of allocation applied to the transportation cost of the same mixed shipment at the rates in effect on the base date.

SEC. 8. Recalculation. You may recalculate your transportation cost adjustments under this supplementary regulation at any time.

SEC. 9. Definitions— (a) Generally. Except as otherwise provided in this supplementary regulation, or as required by the context, the terms used in this supplementary regulation have the same meaning as in CPR 22.

(b) Base date. Your base date is March 15, 1951, or any later date you select for any particular shipment if on such later date the March 15, 1951 rate or a higher rate was in effect. However, if the ceiling prices which you adjust under this supplementary regulation were determined under SR 17 or SR 18 to CPR 22 or GOR 20, your base date is July 26, 1951, or any later date you select for any particular shipment if on such later date the July 26, 1951 rate or a higher rate was in effect.

(c) Outbound transportation costs. This term means the actual net amount paid by you to carriers for transporting the commodity from your manufacturing plant to the buyer or to a distribution point as defined in paragraph (d) (3). It does not include payments to any person who is an employee, subsidiary or affiliate of yours, or of whom you are a subsidiary or affiliate, or any amount for which you are reimbursed by the buyer. The term includes payments made to railroads, trucking companies, water carriers, payment for railway express, air freight, or parcel post shipments, etc., insofar as these payments are not in excess of the rate authorized by statute, by OPS, or by other federal or state regulatory agency. It does not include warehouse charges, handling, unloading, sorting, checking, and other similar charges or expenses.

(d) Delivered ceiling price. This term includes the following:

(1) The case in which a manufacturer sells to all buyers at the same delivered price, or sells to all buyers in a zone or area at the same delivered price.

(2) The case in which a manufacturer quotes an f. o. b. price plus a transportation charge, and the transportation charge does not represent the actual transportation cost incurred by the manufacturer.

(3) The case in which a manufacturer quotes a price f. o. b. a distribution point not located at his manufacturing plant where it was the manufacturer's practice during his base period to ship the commodity from the manufacturing plant to the distribution point prior to shipment from the distribution point to the buyer. Adjustments under this supplementary regulation for ceiling prices f. o. b. distribution points must be calculated in the same manner as prescribed for a uniform delivered ceiling price for a zone or area, treating each distribution point as a separate zone.

(e) Same shipment. This term means a shipment of the same commodity with the same packaging and delivery terms, of the same weight, via the same carrier (or a carrier with the same or higher rates), and between the same points.

ARTICLE II—ADJUSTMENT PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. How you calculate your transportation cost adjustment. Three methods of calculating a transportation cost adjustment are provided by this article. You may use any method at your option. You may, except as limited in the succeeding sections, use one method for some of your commodities and another method for others.

SEC. 22. Method 1—Individual commodity method—(a) Adjustments for individual transactions. You will use this paragraph if you wish to adjust your delivered ceiling prices to reflect the exact dollar-and-cent amount of the increased outbound transportation costs per unit for each sale which you make.

(1) First, for each delivery of a commodity which you make, find the dollar-and-cent amount of your current transportation cost per unit, as defined in section 9, for shipment of the commodity from your manufacturing plant to the point of delivery to the purchaser.

(2) In the same way, find what the dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost was or would have been per unit for the same shipment at the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). The difference is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling price per unit for the delivery in question.

(4) If you have made the calculation described in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph for a shipment of any commodity, you may add the difference found under subparagraph (3) to your ceiling price for another shipment of the same or any other commodity having the same transportation cost per unit instead of repeating the calculations outlined in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph.

(b) Average adjustments for deliveries within a defined area. If you have uniform delivered ceiling prices for a commodity in one or more defined zones or areas, or if you have ceiling prices f. o. b. one or more distribution points, as defined in section 9 (d), you may use this paragraph to determine an adjustment for each such ceiling price.

(1) Find, for each such zone, area, or distribution point, the total dollar-and-cent amount of your actual transportation cost, as defined in section 9, for the shipments of the commodity from your manufacturing plant(s) to the zone, area or distribution point which you made during your last accounting period of not less than three months.

(2) In the same way, find what the total dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost would have been for the same shipments using the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). Divide the difference by the number of units of the commodity included in the shipments which you used in determining your transportation cost under subparagraph (1). The result is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling prices for sales of the commodity delivered to that zone, area, or distribution point.

(4) If you made more than four hundred shipments of a commodity to a zone, area or distribution point during your last accounting period of not less than three months, you may, at your option, make the calculations set forth in subparagraph (1) through (3), using only the shipments made in the first, fourth, seventh, and tenth weeks of your last accounting period of not less than three months, but you may not use a week in which you made fewer than thirty shipments. If in the first, fourth, seventh, or tenth week you made fewer than thirty shipments, you must use instead of such week the first succeeding week in which you made thirty or more shipments.

(5) You may make the calculations described in subparagraph (1) through (4) of this paragraph, for any group of commodities having the same unit transportation cost at the time of your calculation and at your base date, to determine a uniform adjustment for that group of commodities.

SEC. 23. Method 2—Average adjustment for a group of related commodities. This section permits you to determine a transportation cost adjustment factor for any product line, or category of commodities whose base period prices were delivered prices. This calculation is made in the following manner:

(a) Find the total dollar-and-cent amount of your outbound transportation cost for the product line or category incurred during your last accounting period of not less than three months. You may, but you need not, make a separate calculation for each zone in which you have a different ceiling price. The result is your current transportation cost.

(b) Find what the total dollar-and-cent amount would have been for those same shipments using rates in effect on your base date.

(c) Find the total dollar-and-cent net sales value of the shipments used in determining your current transportation cost under paragraph (a).

(d) Subtract your transportation cost found under paragraph (b) from your transportation cost found under paragraph (a). Divide the difference by the value of shipments found under paragraph (c). The result is the transportation cost increase factor by which you may increase your delivered ceiling prices for such commodities.

SEC. 24. Method 3—Option to propose an alternate method for calculating a transportation cost adjustment. If you believe that the preceding sections of this supplementary regulation do not provide an adequate method of reflecting the transportation cost increases which you have experienced you may propose an alternate method for determining an adjustment.

You must submit your proposed method in writing by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Your proposal should be identified as an "Application under section 24 of SR 35 to CPR 22" and must include the following:

(a) Your business name and address and a general description of the commodities you produce.

(b) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the methods provided by the preceding sections of this regulation do not permit you to properly reflect the transportation cost increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(c) A detailed step-by-step description of the method you propose and the commodities to which it will apply. If your proposed method applies only to part of the commodities which you manufacture, state the method or methods which you propose to use for your other commodities and the commodities for which such methods are proposed to be used.

(d) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the method which you propose will more adequately reflect the increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(e) Illustrations of your computations of transportation cost increases using your proposed method.

The Director of Price Stabilization may approve or disapprove your proposal in whole or in part. You may not use a transportation cost adjustment calculated by using your proposed method until such time as you have been notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed method has been approved.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective October 2, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 30, Supplementary Regulation 8]

CPR 30—MACHINERY AND RELATED MANUFACTURED GOODS

SR 8—ADJUSTMENT OF PRICING FORMULAS UNDER SECTION 402 (d) (4) OF THE DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT OF 1950, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 8 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30, is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

The purpose of this supplementary regulation is to extend the provisions of section 402 (d) (4) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, to manufacturers of machinery and related manufactured goods and suppliers of services covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 who determine their prices by a price-determining method or pricing formula. Therefore, the considerations involved in the issuance of this supplementary regulation are generally the same as those involved in the issuance of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30.

It has come to the attention of the Office of Price Stabilization since the issuance of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 that some manufacturers who produce custom designed and fabricated commodities, and who, therefore, seldom have any repeat production of individual commodities, cannot properly apply the provisions of Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30. They cannot, for example, determine under Supplementary Regulation 4 an overhead adjustment applicable to an individual commodity which was not produced in the pre-Korea period. The solution to this problem will be provided by two actions. The first action is embodied in this supplementary regulation. An additional method is to be issued in the form of an amendment to SR 4 to CPR 30. The forthcoming amendment will provide a method for computing an average overhead adjustment factor in those cases in which the formula priced commodity is in the same product line or category as the stock items.

This supplementary regulation permits manufacturers of formula priced commodities and services covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 to determine adjusted ceiling prices for these commodities and services by using direct labor and material costs as of July 26, 1951, in their pre-Korea pricing formula adjusted to yield ceiling prices in line with those determined under Supplementary Regulation 4 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 for standardized commodities. Pricing formulas can be adjusted by the manufacturer on the basis of his own operating experience as shown by his profit and loss statements for prescribed accounting periods in 1950 and 1951 with the profit and loss statement for the 1951 period corrected to reflect July 26, 1951 costs. As an alternate to this method this supplementary regulation provides that a manufacturer may determine adjusted ceiling prices by using "price adjustment multipliers" calculated by the use of a table provided in the regulation. Before a manufacturer may use an adjusted pricing formula that he determines on the basis of his own records he is required to file a report and obtain written approval from the Director of Price Stabilization. If a manufacturer uses the alternate method and determines adjusted ceiling prices by using applicable price adjustment multipliers derived from the table he must first file a report but need not await specific approval before determining his adjusted ceiling prices.

Special sections are included which explain how applicable profit and loss statements must be developed for use in making the required calculations and how these statements must be corrected or modified to reflect July 26, 1951 costs. Further this supplementary regulation specifically provides that it supersedes and replaces Supplementary Regulations 4 and 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 with respect to manufacturers of commodities which are custom designed and fabricated and for which the manufacturer was required to determine base period prices under section 9 of CPR 30, by using a pricing formula.

In the formulation of this supplementary regulation there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, to the extent practicable, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

Every effort has been made to conform this supplementary regulation to existing business practices, cost practices or methods, and means or aids to distribution. Insofar as any provisions of this supplementary regulation may operate to compel changes in business practices, cost practices or methods, or means or aids to distribution, such provisions are found by the Director of Price Stabilization to be necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of this regulation.

In the judgment of the Director the provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable; are necessary to effectuate the purpose of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and comply with the applicable standards of that act.

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does—(a) Purpose and general description. The purpose of this supplementary regulation is to provide methods by which you may obtain an adjustment in your ceiling prices, in accordance with section 402 (d) (4) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, for commodities and services covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 for which your Ceiling Price Regulation 30 base period prices are determined by a formula or price determining method under section 9 of Ceiling Price Regulation 30. This supplementary regulation permits you to reflect in your base period pricing formula your direct costs on July 26, 1951, as defined in this regulation.

You may determine your adjusted ceiling price by either of two methods. The first method is to adjust mark-ups over direct costs in your pricing formula to reflect the relation between a prescribed six months accounting period in 1950 and a like period in 1951, as shown in your profit and loss statements for these periods. The second method is to adjust a "tentative price" computed by using your pricing formula and July 26, 1951, costs, by a "price adjustment multiplier" selected on the basis of the ratio by which your sales for the prescribed accounting period in 1950 compared with the corresponding period of 1951. If the first method is not workable for you, and you do not wish to use the second method, which is optional, you may propose a method comparable to the first method which you believe will result in ceiling prices no higher than those determined by using the methods set forth in this supplementary regulation. This paragraph is descriptive only. The following sections control.

(b) Sellers and sales covered by this supplementary regulation. This supplementary regulation covers you if you are a manufacturer under Ceiling Price Regulation 30 and if you determine base period prices for commodities and services under section 9 of Ceiling Price Regulation 30 by using a formula or price determining method, i. e., formula priced commodities or services. It does not cover you if you are the manufacturer of a commodity or the supplier of a service under Ceiling Price Regulation 30 for which you did not have a formula or price determining method during the base periods specified in Ceiling Price Regulation 30 because you are a new manufacturer who has started in business since January 1, 1950; or because the commodity or service is in an entirely new category which requires labor skills, manufacturing equipment and processes different from those you used in your plant during the specified base period; or because your manufacturing methods have been changed to the extent that your base period experience and formulas or price determining methods are no longer applicable. In such cases you are required to apply for approval of a price determining method or methods in accordance with section 43a of Ceiling Price Regulation 30. Further, this supplementary regulation does not apply to standard commodities for which you issue or plan to issue price lists or catalogs, or to commodities for which there are established distributive channels, such as wholesale and retail outlets.

SEC. 2. Base period and accounting periods.—(a) Base period. The term "base period" as used in this supplementary regulation means the period January 1 through June 24, 1950. If you claim, for any reason, that the period January 1 through June 24, 1950, is not a representative period for your business you may apply for a substitute "base period" under section 5 of this supplementary regulation.

(b) 1950 and 1951 accounting periods. The terms "1950 accounting period" and "1951 accounting period" as used in this supplementary regulation mean your normal six months accounting period ending nearest to, but not later than, June 30, 1950 and June 30, 1951, respectively. These periods may be six consecutive calendar or fiscal month accounting periods, two consecutive calendar or fiscal quarterly accounting periods, a semi-annual calendar or fiscal period, or any other type of six month accounting period that you normally employ. However, the periods used must be same for both 1950 and 1951. If for any reason you claim that the accounting periods established by this supplementary regulation are not representative periods for you, you may apply under section 5 of this supplementary regulation for approval of substitute accounting periods.

SEC. 3. How to adjust your base period pricing formula and determine your adjusted ceiling prices. This section provides the method by which you must adjust your base period pricing formula and how you determine your adjusted ceiling prices by applying the adjusted pricing formula. If you have different formulas for different categories of commodities, or different formulas for the same category of commodity based upon volume or other variables you must comply with the provisions of this section for each formula you use. An explanation of the term "pricing formula" is contained in section 11 (Definitions).

The following paragraphs explain how you must develop your base period pricing formula and determine from your profit and loss statements the relationships between your 1950 accounting period and your 1951 accounting period, for the purpose of calculating your adjusted pricing formula and your ceiling prices. You must make the calculations required by this section, file the specified report or reports, and receive written approval of your adjusted pricing formula before you use it to determine your adjusted ceiling prices.

(a) Base period pricing formula. Your base period pricing formula is the pricing formula, shown by your written records, which you last had in effect in your plant for determining selling prices of commodities that you were manufacturing during the period January 1 through June 24, 1950. In order to make the calculations required by this section you must first develop your base period pricing formula. In developing this pricing formula for the purposes of this section and for the required report you must clearly distinguish between elements of the formula which represent direct costs and factors or elements of the formula which represent mark-ups over direct costs (i. e., materials handling charge as a mark-up on direct materials cost, factory overhead expressed as a percentage of direct labor, etc.). Explanations of the terms "mark-up" and "direct costs" are found in section 11 (Definitions). For the purpose of the required report your base period pricing formula must show each actual percentage mark-up used and the element or elements of cost to which the mark-up was applied. If your base period pricing formula included a separately stated mark-up for profit, you must specify the profit percentage mark-up and the elements upon which this percentage mark-up was calculated (i. e., a specified percentage of total cost, a specified percentage of selling price, etc.).

(b) Calculation of actual percentage relationships and profit and loss statements. This paragraph explains how you must develop both your 1950 (base period) and your 1951 profit and loss statements, and how you calculate the percentage relationships between actual costs, shown by these profit and loss statements, and the mark-up elements in your base period pricing formula. These calculations are required for use in the determination of your adjusted pricing formula.

(1) 1950 (base period) profit and loss statement. Your 1950 (base period) profit and loss statement is your applicable profit and loss statement for your 1950 accounting period. Section 6 of this supplementary regulation defines the term "applicable profit and loss statement" and contains instructions which explain the corrections and adjustments you are permitted or required to make in your profit and loss statement. You must develop your 1950 profit and loss statement to the extent necessary to show your direct costs and other costs which correspond to the mark-ups used in your base period pricing formula. For example, you must itemize direct materials costs, direct labor costs, and factory overhead; and you must also break down the factory overhead item to correspond to the elements of your base period pricing formula. As a further example, if your base period pricing formula contained, as separate elements, such costs as engineering, machine set-up charge, etc., which were in fact estimated costs, and if the item for factory overhead in your profit and loss statement includes actual costs for such elements, you must break down the factory overhead item to the extent necessary to show actual costs for engineering, machine set-up, etc. You may group all factory overhead costs which do not correspond to separate elements in your base period pricing formula under a heading such as "all other factory overhead costs".

(2) Calculation of base period percentage relationships between actual costs and mark-up elements in your base period pricing formula. Using your 1950 profit and loss statement as developed in paragraph (b) (1) of this section and your base period pricing formula as developed in paragraph (a) of this section, you calculate the relationship of:

(i) The actual costs corresponding to the mark-ups you use in your formula;

(ii) The actual costs corresponding to direct costs in your formula.

Example: In your base period pricing formula you determined factory overhead by multiplying direct labor by a fixed percentage mark-up of 150 percent. However, your 1950 profit and loss statement shows your actual direct labor costs to be $250,000 and your actual factory overhead to be $300,000. Therefore, your actual percentage relationship for the factory overhead element is 120 percent ($300,000÷$250,000=1.20 or 120%).

If your base period pricing formula contains separate mark-ups to cover minor elements of cost (i. e., materials handling cost as a percentage of direct materials cost, etc.) you need not make separate calculations for such minor elements of cost and they do not have to be broken down in your profit and loss statement if in your profit and loss statements such minor elements are included in a major element of cost, which corresponds to a mark-up in your pricing formula.

Example: In your base period pricing formula you determine your materials handling cost by applying a fixed percentage mark-up of 10 percent to direct materials cost. You also determined factory overhead in your pricing formula by a fixed percentage mark-up of 100 percent to the sum of direct materials and direct labor. However, your 1950 profit and loss statement includes actual materials handling cost as a part of actual factory overhead. Therefore, you need not calculate a separate percentage relationship for the materials handling cost mark-up element of your pricing formula because this minor element of cost is included in a major element of cost, factory overhead, which corresponds to a mark-up in your pricing formula.

You may, at your option, make separate calculations for minor elements of cost for which you have separate mark-ups in your pricing formula if you break down your profit and loss statements to show actual costs for these minor elements. The terms "major elements of cost" and "minor elements of cost" are explained in section 11 (Definitions).

If any elements of cost in your 1950 profit and loss statement are not covered by mark-up elements in your base period formula you must disregard such elements of cost in calculating your actual percentage relationships under this subparagraph.

Example 1: Your 1950 profit and loss statement contains, as an item of cost, salaries paid to salesmen of commodities you produce for which prices are not determined by your base period pricing formula. You must, therefore, eliminate all such salaries in making your calculation of percentage relationships.

Example 2: Your 1950 profit and loss statement contains an element of cost entitled "general expenses". In this general expense item you include outbound freight costs for commodities which you ship freight prepaid. The commodities for which you determine prices by the use of your pricing formula are shipped f. o. b. your factory. Therefore, you must exclude from your general expense item all freight prepayment for the purpose of making your calculations of percentage relationships.

(3) 1951 profit and loss statement. Your 1951 profit and loss statement is your applicable profit and loss statement for your 1951 accounting period. You must develop your 1951 profit and loss statement in the same manner as you developed your 1950 profit and loss statement under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(4) Calculation of 1951 percentage relationships between actual costs and mark-up elements in your base period pricing formula. You calculate the 1951 percentage relationships in the same manner as the base period percentage relationships under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, substituting your 1951 profit and loss statement for your 1950 profit and loss statement.

(c) Calculation of "multipliers" or cost change ratios. This paragraph provides the method you must use to calculate the "multipliers" that you apply to your base period formula to determine your adjusted pricing formula.

(1) Cost-change multipliers. The cost-change multipliers are the factors showing the relationship of your base period actual cost experience to your 1951 actual cost experience. You calculate these multipliers by dividing the 1951 percentage relationships determined under paragraph (b) (4) of this section by the corresponding base period percentage relationships determined under paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

Example: Assume that under paragraph (b) (4) you determined that your actual cost of factory overhead was 130 percent of direct labor (your 1951 percentage relationship for factory overhead). Under paragraph (b) (2) you determined that your actual cost of factory overhead was 150 percent of direct labor (your base period percentage relationship for factory overhead). You divide 130 percent by 150 percent and the resulting figure of 0.867 or 86.7 percent is your factory overhead multiplier.

(2) Multipliers where minor elements of cost are included in major elements of cost. If you did not make separate calculations of percentage relationships for minor elements of cost as provided in paragraph (b) (2) and (4) you must use the same multiplier for the minor element of cost that you calculate for the major element of cost which included the minor element.

(d) Determination of your adjusted pricing formula excluding profit mark-up. You determine your adjusted pricing formula by applying the multipliers calculated under paragraph (c) of this section to the corresponding mark-up element of cost in your base period pricing formula. The result is your adjusted pricing formula excluding any profit mark-up. Paragraph (e) of this section explains how to calculate the profit mark-up element of your adjusted pricing formula.

(e) Profit mark-up—(1) Separately stated profit mark-up. If your base period pricing formula contains a separate mark-up factor for profit you determine the mark-up to be used in your adjusted pricing formula as follows:

(i) Determine the ratio of your prices at the end of the period covered by your 1951 profit and loss statement to your prices at the end of the period covered by your 1950 profit and loss statement for all commodities produced in the unit of your business which is covered by the profit and loss statements you have used. If you are unable to make this determination, or at your option, you may use the ratio of 118 percent.

(ii) Divide the mark-up for profit contained in your base period pricing formula by the ratio determined under subdivision (i). The result is your adjusted profit mark-up to be used in your adjusted pricing formula.

(2) Profit mark-up included in overall mark-up factor. If your base period pricing formula contains an overall mark-up factor which covers profit and other elements of cost (e. g. general, selling and administrative expenses and profit) you use the multiplier that you determined for the elements of cost as your adjusted overall mark-up factor, including profit, to be included in your adjusted pricing formula.

Example 1: Assume that in using your base period pricing formula you marked up factory cost by a mark-up factor of 40 percent to cover general, selling and administrative expenses and profit. Your base period percentage relationship for general, selling and administrative expense was 25.1 percent of factory cost, and your 1951 percentage relationship for the same factor was 22.3 percent of factory cost (you determine these percentage relationships under paragraph (b) of this section). Therefore, your multiplier or cost change ratio for general, selling and administrative expenses is 88.8 percent (22.3 percent÷25.1 percent). Your adjusted mark-up is 88.8 percent multiplied by your base period mark-up factor of 40 percent or 35.5 percent. This adjusted mark-up factor of 35.5 percent is used in your adjusted pricing formula to cover profit as well as general, selling and administrative expenses.

Example 2: In your base period pricing formula you used a "machine hour rate" which covered all factory labor and overhead, general, selling and administrative expenses, and profit (generally a "machine hour rate" is a stipulated multiple of the labor rate for the machine). Your base period labor rate on machine X was $1.50 per hour and the machine hour rate for machine X was $4.50. Therefore, this machine hour rate was 300 percent of your labor rate ($1.50×3=$4.50), which resulted in a mark-up over labor of 200 percent to cover other costs and profit. Your base period percentage relationship for factory overhead and general, selling and administrative expenses was 125.2 percent of direct labor, and your 1951 percentage relationship for the same factor was 120.1 percent (you determined these percentage relationships under paragraph (b) of this section). Therefore, your multiplier or cost change ratio for factory overhead, general, selling and administrative expense is 95.9 percent or .959 (120.1 percent÷125.2 percent). Your adjusted mark-up is 95.9 percent multiplied by your base period mark-up of 200 percent, or 191.8 percent (95.9 percent×200 percent). This adjusted mark-up factor of 191.8 percent is used in your adjusted pricing formula to determine your machine hour rate. The labor rate for machine X on July 26, 1951, was $1.75 per hour, therefore, your machine hour rate calculated by using your adjusted pricing formula would be $5.11 [$1.75+(191.8 percent×$1.75)].

(f) Application of your adjusted pricing formula to determine your ceiling price. You must apply your adjusted pricing formula determined under the foregoing paragraphs of this section as follows:

(1) Estimate direct costs using costs or rates in effect as to you on July 26, 1951. In making this calculation you must exclude all costs which are expressed as mark-ups of other elements of cost in your adjusted pricing formula. Section 7 of this supplementary regulation explains how you must determine July 26, 1951, costs. The term "direct costs" is explained in section 11 (Definitions).

(2) Using the costs determined under subparagraph (1) apply your adjusted pricing formula. The result is your ceiling price.

(g) Reports. Before you may use your adjusted pricing formula determined under this section you must file a report of your calculations by registered mail with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., on OPS Public Form 152 in accordance with the instructions which are a part of this form. In addition, your adjusted pricing formula must be approved in writing by the Director of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 4. Optional method of determining adjusted ceiling prices using your base period pricing formula and price adjustment multipliers. This section provides a method which you may use instead of section 3 to determine your adjusted ceiling prices if your net sales during the specified 1951 accounting period are not greater than 160 percent of your net sales for the same period in 1950. Paragraph (a) explains how you determine whether or not you may use this section, and the remaining paragraphs of the section explain how you must develop your base period pricing formula to determine a "tentative price" which is adjusted by appropriate price adjustment multipliers to determine your adjusted ceiling price.

(a) Net sales ratios. Determine your net sales from your applicable profit and loss statement for your 1951 accounting period. If you do not maintain appropriate profit and loss statements (monthly, quarterly or semi-annually), determine your net sales for the period January 1 through June 30, 1950, and for the period January 1 through June 30, 1951, from your actual sales records of these periods for your entire manufacturing and service operations without reference to profit and loss statements (specifically excluding sales of any commodities of which you are not the manufacturer). Divide the dollar amount of your 1951 net sales by the dollar amount of your 1950 net sales, as determined above. If the result is not greater than 160 percent, you may elect to use this section.

Example: Your net sales for the 1950 period were $1,000,000 and for the 1951 period $1,250,000 ($1,250,000÷$1,000,000=125 percent). Since the result is less than 160 percent you may use this section.

(b) Base period pricing formula. Develop your base period pricing formula in accordance with the method provided in section 3 (a) of this supplementary regulation. If you have different formulas for different categories of commodities, or different formulas for the same category of commodity based upon volume or other variable, you must separately develop each such formula you use.

(c) Application of your base period pricing formula—(1) Tentative price. Estimate direct costs using costs or rates as in effect to you on July 26, 1951. In making this calculation you must exclude all costs which are expressed as mark-ups of other elements of cost in your base period pricing formula. Section 7 of this supplementary regulation explains how you must determine July 26, 1951, costs or rates. The term "direct cost" is explained in section 11 (Definitions). Apply your base period pricing formula to these costs. The result is your tentative price.

(c) Price adjustment multipliers. This paragraph contains the table of price adjustment multipliers that you must use in determining your ceiling price if you use this section. You determine the multipler applicable to you by using the sales volume ratio in column I determined in accordance with the method provided in paragraph (a) of this section.

TABLE OF PRICE ADJUSTMENT MULTIPLIERS

Column I	Column II
Sales Volume Ratio (Ratio of First Half 1951 Sales to First Half 1950 Sales)	Price Adjustment Multiplier (To be Applied to "Tentative Price")
115% or less	95.1%
Over 115% to 120%	94.5%
" 120% to 125%	93.9%
" 125% to 130%	93.3%
" 130% to 135%	92.7%
" 135% to 140%	92.2%
" 140% to 145%	91.7%
" 145% to 150%	91.3%
" 150% to 155%	90.9%
" 155% to 160%	90.5%

(d) Reports. Before you may use ceiling prices determined under this section you must file a report of your calculations on OPS Public Form 153 in accordance with the instructions which are a part of that form. This report must be sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. As soon as you receive your return postal receipt confirming receipt by the Office of Price Stabilization you may use ceiling prices determined under this section. However, the Director of Price Stabilization may at any time revise or modify ceiling prices determined under this section, require further information or direct you to use your Ceiling Price Regulation 30 or General Ceiling Price Regulation ceiling prices until further notice.

SEC. 5. Sellers who cannot adjust base period pricing formulas under section 3 of this supplementary regulation. If you are unable to adjust your base period pricing formula and determine your ceiling prices under section 3 of this supplementary regulation because your accounting records do not permit you to develop the information required by that section, or if you claim the base period or accounting periods established by this supplementary regulation are not normal periods of operation for you because of strikes, lockouts, flood, fire or other unusual and abnormal conditions which affected your ability to produce, you may apply for an alternate method of adjusting your base period pricing formula, a substitute base period or substitute accounting periods in accordance with the provisions of this section. The substitute accounting periods may not cover a longer period of time than the accounting periods established by this supplementary regulation. Your application under this section must be filed by registered mail with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., on OPS Public Form 152 in accordance with the instructions which are a part of that form, insofar as you are able to comply with these instructions. In addition, your application must contain the following information:

(a) A specific reference to this section 5 of this supplementary regulation.

(b) An explanation of your reasons for making an application under this section, that is, why you believe your records are insufficient or why you believe that the base period or accounting periods of this regulation are not normal for you.

(c) A statement of your proposed adjusted pricing formula, your proposed alternate base period, or your proposed accounting periods and an explanation of why you believe ceiling prices computed using such a formula, period or periods, will be in line with ceiling prices computed in accordance with section 3.

Upon receipt of this application the Director of Price Stabilization may approve your proposed adjusted pricing formula, or substitute accounting periods, or substitute base period, disapprove such formula, period or periods, establish a different formula, period or periods, or request additional information. You may not use an adjusted pricing formula, a substitute base period or substitute accounting periods proposed under this section until you have received written approval from the Director of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 6. Profit and loss statements, and corrections or adjustments. This section explains the meaning of the term "applicable profit and loss statements", and tells you how to correct or adjust such statements for the purposes of your calculations under this supplementary regulation. If you adjust your base period pricing formula under section 3 of this supplementary regulation you are required to submit your applicable profit and loss statements as a part of your report on OPS Public Form 152. If you use section 4 of this supplementary regulation to determine your ceiling prices by reference to a price adjustment multiplier you are not required to submit your applicable profit and loss statements.

(a) Applicable profit and loss statements. For the purposes of this supplementary regulation the applicable profit and loss statements are the first of the following profit and loss statements which are available from your normal accounting methods for the periods required by the section of this supplementary regulation under which you are determining your adjusted ceiling prices:

(1) The divisional or departmental profit and loss statements covering only sales of the commodities and services included in your report or application.

(2) The divisional, departmental, or plant-wide profit and loss statement covering sales of commodities and services included in your report or application, and sales of the other commodities and services in the same division, department or plant.

(3) Your overall profit and loss statement covering all manufacturing and service operations, but excluding all unrelated activities such as the reselling of commodities not produced by you.

The profit and loss statements must be detailed at least to the extent required to make the necessary calculations under the section of this supplementary regulation that you are using to determine your adjusted ceiling prices. Where important elements of cost are allocated in the preparation of your divisional, departmental or plant-wide operating statements, you must, if you are required to submit your applicable profit and loss statements, attach a separate sheet to your report explaining in detail the methods used in making such allocations.

(b) Items which may not be included in your applicable profit and loss statements. Your applicable profit and loss statements must be corrected, if necessary, to exclude the following items:

(1) Any depreciation in excess of normal depreciation, regardless of increase in usage.

(2) Accelerated amortization of emergency facilities pursuant to a "Certificate of Necessity", or otherwise.

(3) Depletion, except where it is based upon a cost of acquisition of the wasting asset.

(4) Unusual development costs in the base of wasting assets.

(5) Any item which constitutes a distribution of profits, including bonuses, payments on any profit sharing plans, or dividends.

(6) Interest.

(7) Losses on sales or disposition of capital assets.

(8) Costs due to unusual and non-recurring events, such as losses due to fires, floods, civil disturbances, or fines, awards or settlements, together with legal or court costs connected therewith.

(9) Costs attributable to services rendered prior to the period in which they were paid, such as a retroactive wage award paid during the period but covering services rendered prior to whatever period you are using.

(10) Amortization of costs under pension or welfare funds attributable to past services.

(11) The excess of costs for major repairs over normal amortization or other charges.

(12) Capital expenditures.

(13) Unreasonable or excessive expense accounts or entertainment costs.

(14) Wage, salary or other compensation paid to an employee in contravention of any regulation or order promulgated under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

(15) Payments for any materials or services in excess of ceiling prices at the time of their sale established under any regulation or order issued under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

(16) Expenditures for the personal benefit of any owner.

(17) Income or profit taxes.

(18) Charitable contributions during the period in excess of five percent of net income during that period.

(19) Excessive or unreasonable payments to affiliated persons for materials, services, licenses or for any other purpose.

(20) Losses on inventory, including inventory write-downs.

(21) Any cost which is unreasonable or excessive.

(c) Treatment of non-recurring expenses. Any non-recurring expense not excluded by paragraph (b) occurring within either period must be distributed over an appropriate period in accordance with sound accounting practice.

(d) July 26, 1951, prices and costs. Your applicable profit and loss statement for the period you used in 1951 may be adjusted to reflect the effect of all changes in cost occurring up to July 26, 1951. If you make such cost adjustments the net sales in your profit and loss statements must also be adjusted to reflect ceiling prices in effect on July 26, 1951.

SEC. 7. Determination of costs and rates in effect on July 26, 1951. This section explains how you must determine costs and rates in effect as to you on July 26, 1951, for the purpose of making the calculations required by this supplementary regulation to determine your adjusted ceiling prices either by the use of an adjusted pricing formula or by the use of price adjustment multipliers.

(a) Labor rates. The labor rates that you must use in determining your ceiling prices by applying your adjusted pricing formula or in determining ceiling prices by reference to price adjustment multipliers are the rates you paid on July 26, 1951, for each classification of labor that you used on that date or in the two weeks period ending not later than July 31, 1951. You may include, in determining your labor rates, any wage increase given under a contract retroactive to a date prior to July 26, 1951, provided that the contract was entered into prior to July 26, 1951, and that the only condition attached to the payment of the increase was that it be approved by the Wage Stabilization Board. If you require the use of labor of a classification not employed by you during the two weeks payroll period ending not later than July 31, 1951, you must use as the rate for that classification of labor the rate last prevailing on or before July 26, 1951, in the area in which you are located. If labor of that classification was not employed in your own area on or before July 26, 1951, you must use the rate on or before that date in the most comparable locality as accurately as you are able to determine that rate by the use of reasonable diligence.

(b) Materials costs. To determine the July 26, 1951, costs to you for materials, parts, subassemblies, subcontracted services, or expendable tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, moulds, patterns or work-holding devices, you must use the first of the prices listed below available to you. In no event may the price you use be in excess of the ceiling price in effect on July 26, 1951, for the commodity or service under the applicable ceiling price regulation:

(1) The net price per unit of the material, part, subassembly, or expendable tool, die, jig, fixture, mould, pattern, or work-holding device shown on the invoice for the last delivery of the particular commodity or service to you on or prior to July 26, 1951. If, however, the delivery was received more than thirty days prior to that date or was pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than sixty days prior to that date, you need not use this subparagraph (1). If within thirty days prior to July 26, 1951, you received more than one delivery of the same commodity or service, you must use an average cost. You obtain this average cost by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the commodity or service during the thirty-day period preceding July 26, 1951, by the total number of units of the commodity or service delivered to you during that period.

(2) The net price per unit of the commodity or service stipulated in the written contract for the commodity or service in effect on or last prior to July 26, 1951, provided that it was entered into not more than sixty days prior thereto.

(3) The net price per unit of the commodity or service stipulated in the written offer for sale of the commodity or service to you made on or last prior to July 26, 1951, provided that you still have the written offer or obtain a copy of it from the offeror.

(4) The price shown on the spot market quotation for the week ending closest to July 26, 1951, or the price quoted in trade journals published last prior to July 26, 1951.

(5) If you are unable to determine your July 26, 1951, costs for any material in accordance with subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph you may use the current cost of the material reduced by a percentage factor derived from a comparison of July 1951, Bureau of Labor Statistics index figures for the same, or most comparable, material or commodity with index figures from the same source (BLS) for the most recent month for which such index figures are available. The complete title of the "BLS Index" is as follows: "Wholesale Price Index (1947–49=100), Indexes for Groups, Subgroups and Product Classes of Commodities, 1947–1951". This index is issued monthly by the United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, and covers all basic raw materials and commodities.

Example: In your operations you are using a material for which you must determine July 26, 1951, cost under this subparagraph. The current cost of this material is $10.00 per unit. The July 1951, BLS Index figure for this material is 119, and the most recent BLS Index figure is 120. Your reduction percentage or multiplier is 0.99 or 99 percent (119÷120=0.99). Your July 26, 1951, cost for this material is, therefore, $9.90 per unit ($10.00×.99=$9.90).

SEC. 8. Adjustable pricing. You may, in connection with your application for an adjusted pricing formula under section 3 or 5 of this supplementary regulation, request the Director of Price Stabilization to make your proposed adjusted pricing formula effective from the date of your application (or any subsequent date) for the purposes of establishing your ceiling prices for commodities or services delivered prior to the date upon which the order is issued in response to your application. After filing your application and submitting the foregoing request, you may deliver a commodity or service covered by your application at a price which may be adjusted upward in accordance with the action taken by the Director of Price Stabilization in response to your application, provided also that you have notified your purchaser prior to such delivery that an action is pending under this supplementary regulation with respect to that commodity or service. Upon delivery, you may accept payment in an amount not exceeding your ceiling price in effect at that time for the commodity or service sold, but you shall not demand or receive any additional payment until the issuance of the order in response to your application and in accordance with the adjusted ceiling price determined in accordance with that order.

SEC. 9. Applicability of CPR 30 and supplementary regulations to CPR 30.—(a) CPR 30. Except as modified in this paragraph, all provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 30 not inconsistent with this supplementary regulation remain applicable to you.

(1) You are not required to file, or to have previously filed, OPS Public Form 8, in connection with your application for adjustment under this supplementary regulation.

(2) If you were not covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 prior to your application for adjustment under this supplementary regulation, you need not make any of the calculations required by Ceiling Price Regulation 30 in connection with the establishment of your Ceiling Price Regulation 30 ceiling prices except as you may by letter be requested to do so in response to and in connection with your application for adjustment under section 5 of this supplementary regulation.

(b) Supplementary regulations to CPR 30—(1) General. No other supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 (including Supplementary Regulation 2, Revision 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30) is applicable to your calculations or ceiling prices determined under this supplementary regulation.

(2) Relation to Supplementary Regulations 4 and 5 to CPR 30. This supplementary regulation supersedes and replaces Supplementary Regulations 4 and 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 with respect to the establishment of adjusted ceiling prices for formula priced commodities and services covered by this supplementary regulation. On and after November 6, 1952, you may not sell any formula priced commodity or service covered by this supplementary regulation at a ceiling price established either under Supplementary Regulations 4 or 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30. In addition, your application for adjustment under this supplementary regulation may be made separately from your application for adjustment under Supplementary Regulations 4 or 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30, and your adjusted ceiling prices determined under this supplementary regulation may be made effective separately from your adjusted ceiling prices determined under Supplementary Regulations 4 or 5 to Ceiling Price Regulation 30.

SEC. 10. Records and reports—(a) CPR 30 records and reports. If you use this supplementary regulation you must comply with the record-keeping and reporting requirements of Ceiling Price Regulation 30 except as expressly modified by this supplementary regulation.

(b) Additional records required by this supplementary regulation. In addition to the records required by section 44 of Ceiling Price Regulation 30, you must prepare and preserve for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, all records necessary to substantiate that you have determined correctly your adjusted pricing formulas under this supplementary regulation, including appropriate worksheets, showing your computations under the provisions of this supplementary regulation. In addition, you must preserve for a period of two years all records showing the prices at which you have sold or offered for sale, commodities subject to this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 11. Definitions.—(a) Definitions for this supplementary regulation—(1) A pricing formula. A pricing formula is a method of determining the price of a commodity or service by relation to the cost, or certain elements of cost of that commodity or service. A pricing formula may consist of several factors, including, but not limited to, estimated materials cost, materials handling charge, estimated labor cost (based on estimated hours times hourly labor rate), and mark-ups to cover other costs, such as factory burden, general, administrative and selling expense, and profit. A pricing formula is applicable to custom designed and fabricated production, and cannot be applicable, for purposes of this supplementary regulation, to standard commodities for which you issue price lists or catalogues, or for which there are established distributive channels, such as wholesale and retail outlets. In order to have a base period pricing formula within the meaning of this supplementary regulation, you must have base period records which show your pricing formula and its application as required by section 9 (a) of Ceiling Price Regulation 30. If you do not have such records, you must secure approval of a proposed base period pricing formula under section 9 (b) of Ceiling Price Regulation 30 before you can apply for an adjusted pricing formula under this supplementary regulation.

(2) Base period and accounting periods. These terms are defined in section 2 of this supplementary regulation.

(3) Direct costs. For the purposes of this supplementary regulation the term "direct costs" means any element of cost used in a pricing formula which represents estimated actual cost and is not determined by the application of a percentage mark-up on some other element.

Example: One element or factor in your pricing formula is "materials handling". You determine the cost to be included for materials handling by applying a percentage factor of 10 percent to your estimated actual cost for materials. Therefore, materials is a direct cost, but materials handling is not. Other examples of costs which may be treated as direct costs are as follows:

(i) Direct or production labor actually used in the fabrication or processing of the commodity being produced or in the performance of the service being sold.
(ii) Engineering expenses.
(iii) Machine set-up expenses.
(iv) Royalty payments.
(v) Outbound transportation charges, if included as a part of your price.
(vi) Spoilage.

(4) Mark-up. The term mark-up means any element of a pricing formula which is used to estimate cost as a predetermined or stipulated percentage of some other element or elements of cost.

Example: See example under definition of direct costs. The 10 percent factor which is applied to estimated materials cost to determine "materials handling" is a mark-up.

(5) Major elements of cost. Major elements of cost are the more important elements used in a pricing formula, such as, direct materials, direct labor, factory overhead, general, selling and administrative expenses, etc.

(6) Minor elements of cost. Minor elements of cost are those elements which are a part of, but not all of, a major element of cost. Examples of minor elements of cost are: materials handling charge, engineering expense, machine set-up expense, and other costs which are part of factory overhead cost, but none of which constitutes all of factory overhead cost.

(b) CPR 30 definitions. Except as provided in this section, or unless the context otherwise requires, all terms used in this supplementary regulation have the same meaning as in Ceiling Price Regulation 30.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective October 7, 1952.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this supplementary regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 30, Supplementary Regulation 9]

CPR 30—MACHINERY AND RELATED MANUFACTURED GOODS

SR 9—ADJUSTMENTS TO REFLECT INCREASED OUTBOUND TRANSPORTATION RATES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2, this supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation authorizes manufacturers subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute, by the Office of Price Stabilization, or by another federal or state regulatory agency.

Under CPR 30 the extent to which a manufacturer has been able to pass on increases in outbound transportation costs has depended on his base period practice of quoting prices. If during the base period he followed the practice of quoting prices f. o. b. plant, CPR 30 established his ceiling prices on this basis and he has been able to pass on to buyers increases in outbound transportation costs. Those manufacturers, however, who during the base period customarily sold on a delivered price basis, have been required to continue this practice, and as a result have been required to absorb increases in outbound transportation costs except insofar as adjustments are permitted by section 31 of CPR 30 and by Supplementary Regulations 4 and 5 to CPR 30. Section 31 of CPR 30 permits a manufacturer to add to his delivered ceiling price the dollars-and-cents amount of the increase in outbound transportation costs for his products between the end of his base period and March 15, 1951. SR 4 and SR 5 permit a manufacturer to add to his delivered ceiling price the dollars-and-cents amount of the increase in his outbound transportation costs between the end of his base period and July 26, 1951.

As a result, manufacturers in some industries have been required to absorb substantial increases in outbound transportation costs while other sellers, sometimes other sellers of the same commodities, have not been required to absorb such increases.

In view of the lapse of time since CPR 30 was issued, and the number and size of the increases in transportation costs that have occurred since that time, it is deemed appropriate at this time to allow all manufacturers under CPR 30 to be treated the same with respect to the passing on of outbound transportation cost increases. Accordingly, this supplementary regulation allows those manufacturers with ceiling prices determined under CPR 30 including those who have adjusted such ceiling prices under SR 4 or SR 5 to CPR 30 or under GOR 20 or GOR 35, to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases resulting from increased transportation rates authorized since the "cut-off" date to which increases in costs have until now been recognized.

Determination of the manner in which such adjustments should be permitted to be made has presented serious problems. Because of the number and variety of industries covered by CPR 30, no one technique could be singled out as universally desirable. A technique achieving perfect accuracy necessarily involves detailed computations, while one which is simple and easy to calculate must necessarily ignore many of the variable factors peculiar to particular industries. Therefore, two methods are provided. The first method permits an accurate adjustment for individual commodities or a group of commodities having the same unit transportation costs. The second method permits the calculation of an average transportation cost factor for a product line or category. Such an averaging technique is necessarily less accurate but simpler to apply than method one.

In particular instances different methods than those provided in this regulation may be appropriate. Accordingly, a procedure is provided by which manufacturers may apply for approval of such an alternative method.

In view of the broad coverage of this supplementary regulation, special circumstances have made consultation with all industry representatives, including all trade association representatives, impracticable. However, the relief provided by this supplementary regulation has been requested by many individual manufacturers and representatives of trade associations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation to Ceiling Price Regulation 30 are generally fair and equitable and are consistent with the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes methods by which manufacturers under CPR 30 may increase their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute or by OPS, or other federal or state regulatory agency. This supplementary regulation permits adjustments of ceiling prices established under CPR 30, or a supplementary regulation thereto, including such ceiling prices as adjusted under General Overriding Regulation 20 or 35. The methods which may be used are set forth in Article II of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 2. Applicability of CPR 30. All provisions of CPR 30 shall be applicable to you except as those provisions are limited, modified or supplemented by this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for new commodities and new sellers—(a) Modified commodities. In determining ceiling prices under section 8 of CPR 30 subsequent to your calculation of the adjustment under this regulation, you use as your adjustment to reflect increases in outbound transportation costs the same adjustment calculated under this supplementary regulation for the commodity before modification.

(b) New commodities. For those commodities whose base period prices you have determined under section 9 of CPR 30 you use either of the following:

(1) If you have established an average adjustment for a particular group of related commodities, such as a product line or category, and the new commodity may be classified as part of such group of related commodities, you apply the same transportation cost increase factor to the new commodity as was established for the appropriate group of related commodities.

(2) If subparagraph (1) is not applicable to your particular situation, you may propose a method for reflecting transportation cost increases in accordance with section 24 of this supplementary regulation.

(c) Ceiling prices established under section 43a of CPR 30. Inasmuch as ceiling prices for new sellers and other ceiling prices as established in accordance with section 43a of CPR 30 are required to be in line with ceiling prices otherwise established by the regulation, none of the adjustments permitted by this supplementary regulation may be applied to reflect transportation costs occurring before the establishment of such prices.

SEC. 4. Reporting and record-keeping requirements. You must keep available for inspection by OPS for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, records showing the method(s) used in determining the adjustments calculated and the commodities to which each method applies, and all records and worksheets which you used in determining an adjustment under this supplementary regulation. All reporting and record-keeping provisions of CPR 30 remain applicable to you except that you need not report the adjusted ceiling prices you determine under this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 5. Rounding. You may round your ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation as provided by section 28 of CPR 30.

SEC. 6. Use of transportation bill. Wherever this supplementary regulation requires you to find what your transportation cost for a shipment would have been on the basis of rates in effect on your base date, you need not determine the rate in effect on the base date and calculate such transportation cost if you have a transportation bill which shows the transportation cost for such a shipment at a time when the base date rate or a higher rate was in effect.

SEC. 7. Allocation of costs of mixed shipments. Where for purposes of this regulation it is necessary to determine the transportation cost for a commodity included in a mixed shipment with one or more other commodities, you may determine such cost by allocating the amount of the transportation cost of the mixed shipment among the commodities included in it in any reasonable manner. Where you use this section in determining the current transportation cost of a commodity, you must determine the corresponding transportation cost of the commodity on the base date by the same method of allocation applied to the transportation cost of the same mixed shipment at the rates in effect on the base date.

SEC. 8. Recalculation. You may recalculate your transportation cost adjustments under this supplementary regulation at any time.

SEC. 9. Definitions—(a) Generally. Except as otherwise provided in this supplementary regulation, or as required by the context, the terms used in this supplementary regulation have the same meaning as in CPR 30.

(b) Base date. Your base date is March 15, 1951, or any later date you select for any particular shipment if on such later date the March 15, 1951, rate or a higher rate was in effect. However, if the ceiling prices which you adjust under this supplementary regulation were determined under SR 4 or SR 5 to CPR 30 or under GOR 20, your base date is July 26, 1951, or any later date you may select for any particular shipment if on such later date the July 26, 1951 rate or a higher rate was in effect.

(c) Transportation costs. This term means the actual net amount paid by you to carriers for transporting the commodity, from your manufacturing plant to the buyer or to a distribution point as defined in paragraph (d) (3). It does not include payments to any person who is an employee, subsidiary or affiliate of yours, or of whom you are a subsidiary or affiliate, or any amount for which you are reimbursed by the buyer. The term includes payments made to railroads, trucking companies, water carriers, payment for railway express, air freight, or parcel post shipments, etc., insofar as these payments are not in excess of the rate authorized by statute, by OPS, or by other federal or state regulatory agency. It does not include warehouse charges, handling, unloading, sorting, checking, and other similar charges or expenses.

(1) The case in which a manufacturer sells to all buyers at the same delivered price, or sells to all buyers in a zone or area at the same delivered price.

(2) The case in which a manufacturer quotes an f. o. b. price plus a transportation charge, and the transportation charge does not represent the actual transportation cost incurred by the manufacturer.

(3) The case in which a manufacturer quotes a price f. o. b. a distribution point not located at his manufacturing plant where it was the manufacturer's practice during his base period to ship the commodity from the manufacturing plant to the distribution point prior to shipment from the distribution point to the buyer. Adjustments under this supplementary regulation for ceiling prices f. o. b. distribution points must be calculated in the same manner as prescribed for a uniform delivered ceiling price for a zone or area, treating each distribution point as a separate zone.

(e) Same shipment. This term means a shipment of the same commodity with the same packaging and delivery terms, of the same weight, via the same carrier (or a carrier with the same or a higher rate), and between the same points.

ARTICLE II—ADJUSTMENT PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. How you calculate your transportation cost adjustment. Three methods of calculating a transportation cost adjustment are provided by this article. You may use any method at your option. You may, except as limited in the succeeding sections, use one method for some of your commodities and another method for others.

SEC. 22. Method 1—Individual commodity method—(a) Adjustments for individual transactions. You will use this paragraph if you wish to adjust your delivered ceiling prices to reflect the exact dollar-and-cent amount of the increased outbound transportation costs per unit for each sale which you make.

(1) First, for each delivery of a commodity which you make, find the dollar-and-cent amount of your current transportation cost per unit, as defined in section 9, for shipment of the commodity from your manufacturing plant to the point of delivery to the purchaser.

(2) In the same way, find what the dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost was or would have been per unit for the same shipment at the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). The difference is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling price per unit for the delivery in question.

(4) If you have made the calculation described in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph for a shipment of any commodity, you may add the difference found under subparagraph (3) to your ceiling price for another shipment of the same or any other commodity having the same transportation cost per unit instead of repeating the calculations outlined in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph.

(b) Average adjustments for deliveries within a defined area. If you have uniform delivered ceiling prices for a commodity in one or more defined zones or areas or if you have ceiling prices f. o. b. one or more distribution points, as defined in section 9 (d), you may use this paragraph to determine an adjustment for each such ceiling price.

(1) Find, for each such zone, area, or distribution point, the total dollar-and-cent amount of your actual transportation cost, as defined in section 9 (c), for the shipments of the commodity from your manufacturing plant(s) to the zone, area, or distribution point which you made during your last accounting period of not less than three months.

(2) In the same way, find what the total dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost would have been for the same shipments using the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). Divide the difference by the number of units of the commodity included in the shipments which you used in determining your transportation cost under subparagraph (1). The result is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling prices for sales of the commodity delivered to that zone, area, or distribution point.

(4) If you made more than four hundred shipments of a commodity to a zone, area, or distribution point during your last accounting period of not less than three months, you may, at your option, make the calculations set forth in subparagraphs (1) through (3), using the shipments made in the first, fourth, seventh, and tenth weeks of your last accounting period of not less than three months, but you may not use a week in which you made fewer than thirty shipments. If in the first, fourth, seventh, or tenth week you made fewer than thirty shipments, you must use instead of such week the first succeeding week in which you made thirty or more shipments.

(5) You may make the calculation described in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph, for any group of commodities having the same unit transportation cost at the time of your calculation and at your base date, to determine a uniform adjustment for that group of commodities.

SEC. 23. Method 2—Average adjustment for a group of related commodities. This section permits you to determine a transportation cost adjustment factor for any product line, or category of commodities whose base period prices were delivered prices. This calculation is made in the following manner:

(a) Find the total dollar-and-cent amount of your outbound transportation cost for the product line or category incurred during your last accounting period of not less than three months. You may, but you need not, make a separate calculation for each zone in which you have a different ceiling price. The result is your current transportation cost.

(b) Find what the total dollar-and-cent amount would have been for those same shipments using rates in effect on your base date.

(c) Find the total dollar-and-cent net sales value of the shipments used in determining your current transportation cost under paragraph (a).

(d) Subtract your transportation cost found under paragraph (b) from your transportation cost found under paragraph (a). Divide the difference by the value of shipments found under paragraph (c). The result is the transportation cost increase factor by which you may increase your delivered ceiling prices for such commodities.

SEC. 24. Method 3—Option to propose an alternate method for calculating a transportation cost adjustment. If you believe that the preceding sections of this supplementary regulation do not provide an adequate method of reflecting the transportation cost increases which you have experienced you may propose an alternate method for determining an adjustment.

You must submit your proposed method in writing by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Your proposal should be identified as an "Application under section 24 of SR 9 to CPR 30" and must include the following:

(a) Your business name and address and a general description of the commodities you produce.

(b) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the methods provided by the preceding sections of this regulation do not permit you to properly reflect the transportation cost increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(c) A detailed step-by-step description of the method you propose and the commodities to which it will apply. If your proposed method applies only to part of the commodities which you manufacture, state the method or methods which you propose to use for your other commodities and the commodities for which such methods are proposed to be used.

(d) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the method which you propose will more adequately reflect the increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(e) Illustrations of your computations of transportation cost increases using your proposed method.

The Director of Price Stabilization may approve or disapprove your proposal in whole or in part. You may not use a transportation cost adjustment calculated by using your proposed method until such time as you have been notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed method has been approved.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective October 2, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amdt. 11 to Supplementary Regulation 13]

ADJUSTABLE PRICING

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, Executive Order 10161, and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2, this Amendment 11 to Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Supplementary Regulation 13 provides an adjustable pricing provision adapted to the immediate needs of the industry. Substantial increases in freight rates on coal consumed in producing coke have occurred since the base period; the latest of which became effective in May of this year, and the Director is informed that increases in wage rates also have occurred. It is intended to permit the making of sales with provision for adjustable pricing pending the completion of a survey of the industry to determine the need for an adjustment in ceiling prices. It is limited to coke producers, their sales agents and distributors. This amendment permits the use of this adjustable pricing provision for a period of 45 days from the effective date of the amendment.

It is believed that the 45-day period should be sufficient to enable the industry to provide this office with full information on which to base its determination of the need for adjustment, if any, to which the industry is entitled. Upon determination of any such adjustment, sellers who have adjustable pricing agreements with their buyers as permitted by this amendment, may then "carry back" any increase in ceiling prices, applying it to deliveries made after the date of their agreement.

In the formulation of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, impracticable.

So far as practicable, the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the National effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and to relevant factors of general applicability.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, as amended, is further amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 9 is added as follows:

SEC. 9. Adjustable pricing. From September 29, 1952 to November 12, 1952, inclusive, producers and distributors of coke subject to Supplementary Regulation 13 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation, are authorized to sell or agree to sell coke at prices not in excess of ceiling prices at the time of delivery, but by agreement between seller and buyer, such prices may be subject to adjustment upwards retroactively to the date of such agreement, in accordance with such order or orders which the Director of Price Stabilization may issue subsequent hereto.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Supp. 2154)

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 122]

GCPR, SR 122—ADJUSTMENTS TO REFLECT INCREASED OUTBOUND TRANSPORTATION RATES

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This supplementary regulation authorizes manufacturers subject to the General Ceiling Price Regulation to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute, by the Office of Price Stabilization, or by another federal or state regulatory agency.

Under the GCPR the extent to which a manufacturer has been able to pass on increases in outbound transportation costs has depended on his base period practice of quoting prices. If during the base period he followed the practice of quoting prices f. o. b. plant, the GCPR froze his ceiling prices on this basis and he has been able to pass on to buyers increases in outbound transportation costs. Those manufacturers, however, who during the base period customarily sold on a delivered price basis, have been required to continue this practice, thus requiring them to absorb increases in outbound transportation costs.

As a result, manufacturers in some industries have been required to absorb substantial increases in outbound transportation costs while other sellers, sometimes other sellers of the same commodities, have not been required to absorb such increases.

In view of the lapse of time since the GCPR was issued, and the number and size of the increases in transportation costs that have occurred since that time, it is deemed appropriate at this time to allow all manufacturers under the regulation to be treated the same with respect to the passing on of outbound transportation cost increases. Accordingly, this supplementary regulation allows those manufacturers with ceiling prices determined under the GCPR, including those who have adjusted such ceiling prices under GOR 20, 21, or 35, to adjust their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases resulting from increased transportation rates authorized since the "cut-off" date to which increases in costs have until now been recognized. This supplementary regulation, however, does not apply to ceiling prices established under certain specified supplementary regulations to the GCPR which have already made some provision for increased transportation costs. Thus, a manufacturer of building materials under SR 106 to the GCPR may not use this regulation to adjust ceiling prices which he has determined under SR 106, although he may, if he wishes, use this regulation instead of SR 106 to adjust his ceiling prices for such building materials established by the GCPR.

Determination of the manner in which such adjustments should be permitted to be made has presented serious problems. Because of the number and variety of industries covered by the GCPR, no one technique could be singled out as universally desirable. A technique achieving perfect accuracy necessarily involves detailed computations, while one which is simple and easy to calculate must necessarily ignore many of the variable factors peculiar to particular industries. Therefore, two methods are provided. The first method permits an accurate adjustment for individual commodities or a group of commodities having the same unit transportation costs. The second method permits the calculation of an average transportation cost factor for a product line or category. Such an averaging technique is necessarily less accurate but simpler to apply than method one.

In particular instances different methods than those provided in this regulation may be appropriate. Accordingly, a procedure is provided by which manufacturers may apply for approval of such an alternative method.

In view of the broad coverage of this supplementary regulation, special circumstances have made consultation with all industry representatives, including all trade association representatives, impracticable. However, the relief provided by this supplementary regulation has been requested by many individual manufacturers and representatives of trade associations. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this supplementary regulation are generally fair and equitable and are consistent with the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 24 issued under sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816 as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154. Interpret or apply Title IV, 64 Stat. 803, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2101–2110, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

ARTICLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 1. What this supplementary regulation does. This supplementary regulation establishes methods by which manufacturers under the GCPR may increase their delivered ceiling prices to reflect increases in their outbound transportation costs resulting from increases in rates authorized by statute or by OPS, or other federal or state regulatory agency. This supplementary regulation permits adjustments of ceiling prices established under the GCPR, including such ceiling prices as adjusted under General Overriding Regulation 20, 21, or 35. This supplementary regulation does not apply to ceiling prices established under the following supplementary regulations to the GCPR: 73, 80, 82, 83, 86, 92, 95, 100, 103, 106, 109, 113, 114, 115, 116, 121. The methods which may be used are set forth in Article II of this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 2. Applicability of the GCPR. All provisions of the GCPR as that term is limited by section 1 shall be applicable to you except as those provisions are limited, modified or supplemented by this supplementary regulation.

SEC. 3. Ceiling prices for new commodities and new sellers. In determining ceiling prices under section 4 or 6 of the GCPR subsequent to your calculations of adjustments under this regulation, you may use as the ceiling prices of the appropriate comparison commodities or of the appropriate competitor's commodities, ceiling prices adjusted under this supplementary regulation. If after you have determined a ceiling price on the basis of a competitor's ceiling price, the competitor adjusts his ceiling price under this supplementary regulation, you may then recalculate your ceiling price on the basis of his new ceiling price.

SEC. 4. Reporting and record-keeping requirements. You must keep available for inspection by OPS for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and for two years thereafter, records showing the method(s) used in determining the adjustments calculated and the commodities to which each method applies, and all records and worksheets which you used in determining an adjustment under this supplementary regulation. All reporting and record-keeping provisions of the GCPR remain applicable to you.

SEC. 5. Rounding of ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices as adjusted under this regulation to the nearest cents or fraction of a cent you normally employ. However, if you elect to round as permitted in this section you must round all your ceiling prices adjusted under this regulation whether such rounding results in an upward or downward change in your ceiling price. In no event may the increase be greater than 1 percent of your ceiling price prior to rounding.

SEC. 6. Use of transportation bill. Whenever this supplementary regulation requires you to find what your transportation cost for a shipment would have been on the basis of rates in effect on your base date, you need not determine the rate in effect on the base date and calculate such transportation cost if you have a transportation bill which shows the transportation cost for such a shipment at a time when the base date rate or a higher rate was in effect.

SEC. 7. Allocation of costs of mixed shipments. Where for purposes of this regulation it is necessary to determine the transportation cost for a commodity included in a mixed shipment with one or more other commodities, you may determine such cost by allocating the amount of the transportation cost of the mixed shipment among the commodities included in it in any reasonable manner. Where you use this section in determining the current transportation cost of a commodity, you must determine the corresponding transportation cost of the commodity on the base date by the same method of allocation applied to the transportation cost of the same mixed shipment at the rates in effect on the base date.

SEC. 8. Recalculation. You may recalculate your transportation cost adjustments under this supplementary regulation at any time.

SEC. 9. Definitions. (a) Generally. Except as otherwise provided in this supplementary regulation, or as required by the context, the terms used in this supplementary regulation have the same meaning as in the GCPR.

(b) Base date. Your base date is January 26, 1951, or any later date you select for any particular shipment if on such later date the January 26, 1951 rate or a higher rate was in effect. However, if the ceiling prices which you adjust under this supplementary regulation were determined under GOR 20 or 21, your base date is July 26, 1951, or any later date you select for any particular shipment if on such later date the July 26, 1951 rate or a higher rate was in effect.

(c) Outbound transportation costs. This term means the actual net amount paid by you to carriers for transporting the commodity from your manufacturing plant to the buyer or to a distribution point as defined in paragraph (d) (3). It does not include payments to any person who is an employee, subsidiary or affiliate of yours, or of whom you are a subsidiary or affiliate, or any amount for which you are reimbursed by the buyer. The term includes payments made to railroads, trucking companies, water carriers, payment for railway express, air freight, or parcel post shipments, etc., insofar as these payments are not in excess of the rate authorized by statute, by OPS, or by other federal or state regulatory agency. It does not include warehouse charges, handling, unloading, sorting, checking, and other similar charges or expenses.

(1) The case in which a manufacturer sells to all buyers at the same delivered price, or sells to all buyers in a zone or area at the same delivered price.

(2) The case in which a manufacturer quotes an f. o. b. price plus a transportation charge, and the transportation charge does not represent the actual transportation cost incurred by the manufacturer.

(3) The case in which a manufacturer quotes a price f. o. b. a distribution point not located at his manufacturing plant where it was the manufacturer's practice during his base period to ship the commodity from the manufacturing plant to the distribution point prior to shipment from the distribution point to the buyer. Adjustments under this supplementary regulation for ceiling prices f. o. b. distribution points must be calculated in the same manner as prescribed for a uniform delivered ceiling price for a zone or area, treating each distribution point as a separate zone.

(e) Same shipment. This term means a shipment of the same commodity with the same packaging and delivery terms, of the same weight, via the same carrier (or a carrier with the same or higher rates), and between the same points.

ARTICLE II—ADJUSTMENT PROVISIONS

SEC. 21. How you calculate your transportation cost adjustment. Three methods of calculating a transportation cost adjustment are provided by this article. You may use any method at your option. You may, except as limited in the succeeding sections, use one method for some of your commodities and another method for others.

SEC. 22. Method 1—Individual commodity method.—(a) Adjustments for individual transactions. You will use this paragraph if you wish to adjust your delivered ceiling prices to reflect the exact dollar-and-cent amount of the increased outbound transportation costs per unit for each sale which you make.

(1) First, for each delivery of a commodity which you make, find the dollar-and-cent amount of your current transportation cost per unit, as defined in section 9, for shipment of the commodity from your manufacturing plant to the point of delivery to the purchaser.

(2) In the same way, find what the dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost was or would have been per unit for the same shipment at the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). The difference is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling price per unit for the delivery in question.

(4) If you have made the calculation described in subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph for a shipment of any commodity, you may add the difference found under subparagraph (3) to your ceiling price for another shipment of the same or any other commodity having the same transportation cost per unit instead of repeating the calculations outlined in subparagraphs (1) through (3).

(b) Average adjustments for deliveries within a defined area. If you have uniform delivered ceiling prices for a commodity in one or more defined zones or areas, or if you have ceiling prices f. o. b. one or more distribution points as defined in section 9 (d), you may use this paragraph to determine an adjustment for each such ceiling price.

(1) Find, for each such zone, area, or distribution point, the total dollar-and-cent amount of your actual transportation cost, as defined in section 9, for the shipments of the commodity from your manufacturing plant(s) to the zone, area or distribution point which you made during your last accounting period of not less than three months.

(2) In the same way, find what the total dollar-and-cent amount of your transportation cost would have been for the same shipments using the rates in effect on your base date, as defined in section 9.

(3) Subtract the cost determined under subparagraph (2) from that found under subparagraph (1). Divide the difference by the number of units of the commodity included in the shipments which you used in determining your transportation cost under subparagraph (1). The result is the dollar-and-cent amount by which you may increase your ceiling prices for sales of the commodity delivered to that zone, area, or distribution point.

(4) If you made more than four hundred shipments of a commodity to a zone, area, or distribution point, during your last accounting period of not less than three months, you may, at your option, make the calculations set forth in subparagraph (1) through (3), using only the shipments made in the first, fourth, seventh, and tenth weeks of your last accounting period of not less than three months, but you may not use a week in which you made fewer than thirty shipments. If in the first, fourth, seventh, or tenth week you made fewer than thirty shipments, you must use instead of such week the first succeeding week in which you made thirty or more shipments.

(5) You may make the calculation described in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph, for any group of commodities having the same unit transportation cost at the time of your calculation and at your base date, to determine a uniform adjustment for that group of commodities.

SEC. 23. Method 2—Average adjustment for a group of related commodities. This section permits you to determine a transportation cost adjustment factor for any product line, or category of commodities whose base period prices were delivered prices. This calculation is made in the following manner:

(a) Find the total dollar-and-cent amount of your outbound transportation cost for the product line or category incurred during your last accounting period of not less than three months. You may, but you need not, make a separate calculation for each zone in which you have a different ceiling price. The result is your current transportation cost.

(b) Find what the total dollar-and-cent amount would have been for those same shipments using rates in effect on your base date.

(c) Find the total dollar-and-cent net sales value of the shipments used in determining your current transportation cost under paragraph (a).

(d) Subtract your transportation cost found under paragraph (b) from your transportation cost found under paragraph (a). Divide the difference by the value of shipments found under paragraph (c). The result is the transportation cost increase factor by which you may increase your delivered ceiling prices for such commodities.

SEC. 24. Method 3—Option to propose an alternate method for calculating a transportation cost adjustment. If you believe that the preceding sections of this supplementary regulation do not provide an adequate method of reflecting the transportation cost increases which you have experienced you may propose an alternate method for determining an adjustment.

You must submit your proposed method in writing by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Your proposal should be identified as an "Application under section 24 of SR 122 to the GCPR", and must include the following:

(a) Your business name and address and a general description of the commodities you produce.

(b) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the methods provided by the preceding sections of this regulation do not permit you to properly reflect the transportation cost increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(c) A detailed step-by-step description of the method you propose and the commodities to which it will apply. If your proposed method applies only to part of the commodities which you manufacture, state the method or methods which you propose to use for your other commodities and the commodities for which such methods are proposed to be used.

(d) A statement of the reasons why you believe that the method which you propose will more adequately reflect the increases in outbound transportation cost which you have experienced.

(e) Illustrations of your computations of transportation cost increases using your proposed method.

The Director of Price Stabilization may approve or disapprove your proposal in whole or in part. You may not use a transportation cost adjustment calculated by using your proposed method until such time as you have been notified by the Director of Price Stabilization that your proposed method has been approved.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation is effective October 2, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Overriding Regulation 32, Special Order 2]

GOR 32—ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES FOR MATERIALS TO THE MINIMUM PRICES FIXED BY STATE LAWS

SO2—SELLERS OF CIGARETTES IN MAINE

CEILING PRICES RAISED TO CONFORM WITH MAINE UNFAIR SALES ACT

Statement of considerations. This special order raises the ceiling prices for Maine cigarette sellers above those previously established under the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization where necessary to conform to the minimum prices required to be charged by the Maine Unfair Sales Act. This special order does not presently affect the ceiling prices of Maine cigarette sellers which are at or above the minimum prices required by that act on the effective date of this special order. Provision is also made for the adjustment of ceiling prices for cigarette sellers subject to the Maine Unfair Sales Act in the event of a change in the minimum prices computed pursuant to that act and for the establishment of ceiling prices for new brands of cigarettes sold in Maine.

This special order is issued pursuant to section 5 of General Overriding Regulation (GOR) 32. That regulation was issued by the Office of Price Stabilization to conform to the requirements of section 402 (1) of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. GOR 32 sets forth certain facts which must be shown to exist in a particular State before the Office of Price Stabilization is required by the above noted statutory provision to raise ceiling prices to the minimum prices required by the law of that State.

It appears from the information contained in the application of the Maine State Tax Assessor that the Maine Unfair Sales Act was in effect and enforced on June 30, 1952, and on August 8, 1952 (the date of the application); that the act has not been held invalid by any court of competent jurisdiction; and that the ceiling prices of some cigarette sellers in the State of Maine are lower than the minimum sales prices required to be charged by that act.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the Statement of Considerations and pursuant to section 5 of GOR 32 this special order is hereby issued.

1. Ceiling prices of cigarette sellers subject to the Maine Unfair Sales Act, which are below the minimum sales prices computed pursuant to that Act, as specified in paragraph 5 hereof, are hereby raised to those minimum sales prices.

2. If the minimum prices for brands of cigarettes sold in Maine on August 8, 1952 (the date of the application by the Maine State Tax Assessor under GOR 32) are increased after that date pursuant to the Maine Unfair Sales Act, such higher minimum prices shall become ceiling prices as hereinafter specified in this paragraph, upon the sending of a report by the State Tax Assessor by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. That report will indicate the reason for the change as well as the computations by which the new required minimum prices have been determined and will list the new prices for the various brands of cigarettes. The higher minimum prices so reported shall be established as ceiling prices for the sellers affected by paragraph 1 hereof and any other cigarette seller subject to the Maine Unfair Sales Act whose ceiling prices would, as the result of such change, be below the new required minimum prices. If the minimum prices for brands of cigarettes sold in Maine on August 8, 1952 are decreased after that date pursuant to the Maine Unfair Sales Act, the ceiling prices of the sellers affected by paragraph 1 hereof shall be established at the new required minimum prices. However, where such lower minimum prices are below the ceiling prices in effect immediately prior to the date of this special order these ceiling prices shall be in effect after such change in the minimum prices.

3. If new brands of cigarettes are sold in Maine after August 8, 1952, those cigarette sellers subject to the Maine Unfair Sales Act who are unable to compute ceiling prices for the new brands pursuant to section 5 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation (because their comparison brands are not priced under section 3 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation but are priced under paragraph 1 or 2 of this special order) shall take as their ceiling prices for such new brands the minimum sales prices computed for them in accordance with the Maine Unfair Sales Act. These prices shall be established as ceiling prices for such cigarette sellers upon the sending of a report by the State Tax Assessor by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. This report will set forth the brand names of the cigarettes and the minimum sales prices required to be charged for them in accordance with the Maine Unfair Sales Act, and will indicate how these minimum prices were computed.

4. Nothing in this special order shall prevent a cigarette seller subject to the Maine Unfair Sales Act whose ceiling prices would be affected by the State Tax Commissioner's filing the report set forth in paragraph 2 or 3 hereof from filing such report in his own behalf. The individual seller may use as his ceiling prices the minimum prices required by the Maine Unfair Sales Act upon his mailing of such report unless and until such seller is notified by the Office of Price Stabilization that the reported prices are disapproved or that further information is required. In the event of a request for further information, the reported minimum prices shall not be used as ceiling prices until such further information is sent by registered mail to the Grocery Products Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

5. As used in this special order, the term "Maine Unfair Sales Act" means that act as amended up to June 30, 1952 (Chapter 170 of the Revised Statutes of Maine, 1944, as amended by Chapters 130 and 134 of the Public Laws of 1947) insofar as such act applies to the sale of cigarettes.

6. This special order or any provision hereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization.

(Sec. 704, 64 Stat. 816, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 2154)

Effective date. This special order is effective October 3, 1952.

NOTE: The reporting requirements of this special order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

JOSEPH H. FREEHILL,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

App. Sup. 2071; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.; secs. 402, 405, E. O. 10281, Aug. 28, 1951, 16 F. R. 8789; 3 CFR, 1951 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this order does. The purpose of this order is to provide for the restoration and maintenance of reasonable inventories by distributors of brass mill products. It describes how orders for brass mill products shall be accepted and filled by distributors and how such shipments shall be replaced by brass mills. It authorizes distributors to place authorized controlled material orders within certain limitations, sets forth limitations on the required acceptance of such orders by brass mills, and revokes the authority of distributors to place orders certified under Direction 1 to NPA Order M-11.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "Base period" means the period commencing January 1, 1947, and ending June 30, 1950.

(b) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(c) "Brass mill products" means copper and copper-base alloys in the following forms: sheet, plate, and strip, in flat lengths or coils; rod, bar, shapes, and wire (except copper wire mill products); anodes, rolled, forged, or sheared from cathodes; and seamless tube and pipe. Straightening, threading, chamfering, and cutting to width and length, and reduction in gage, do not constitute changes in form of brass mill products except as determined by NPA. The following related products which have been produced by a change in form of brass mill products are not included in the definition of brass mill products:

Circles.
Discs.
Cups.
Blanks and segments.
Forgings (except anodes).
Welding rod, 3 feet or less in length.
Rotating bands.
Tube and nipples—welded, brazed, or mechanically seamed.

(d) "Brass mill" means any person who produces brass mill products.

(e) "Item of brass mill products" means a particular brass mill product of one given dimension (except length), shape, temper, alloy, and finish.

(f) "Inventory" means brass mill products owned by a distributor or held by him on consignment within the United States, its territories and possessions, for resale as brass mill products. It does not include brass mill products held by him for fabrication, whether for his own account or for others, or direct mill shipments by a mill to a distributor's customer.

(g) "Distributor" means any person (including a warehouseman or jobber but not a retailer) engaged in the business of stocking brass mill products received from a brass mill or another distributor at a location regularly maintained by him for such purpose, for sale or resale in the form or shape as received, or after performing the operations described in this paragraph, and who, in connection therewith, maintains facilities and equipment necessary to conduct such business. Such operations are straightening, threading, chamfering, cutting to width and length, and edging. A distributor shall be deemed to be such only with respect to such brass mill products as are regularly maintained in his inventory. Occasional or accommodation sales, or purchases from brass mills or other distributors, shall not constitute engaging in the business of distributing brass mill products. Any brass mill maintaining an inventory of brass mill products at a location other than the mill and regularly engaging in the business of making sales from such inventory as a distributor shall be deemed to be a distributor with respect to such inventory and business for the purposes of this order. Any distributor operating more than one warehouse may consider all warehouses operated by him as one warehouse for the purpose of this order.

(h) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

SEC. 3. How a distributor obtains brass mill products. (a) Commencing on September 1, 1951, and subject to the quantity limitations contained in sections 4 and 7 of this order, a distributor may apply the allotment symbol X-6 to orders for brass mill products for the purpose of replacing his inventory of such products.

(b) A delivery order bearing the symbol X-6, together with the certification provided for in section 8 of this order, shall constitute an authorized controlled material order for the purpose of all CMP regulations.

(c) Commencing on May 28, 1952, any distributor who during the preceding calendar month has delivered brass mill products from his inventory to fill authorized controlled material orders which bear program identifications consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, followed by a digit, or the program identification Z-2, or a program identification containing the suffix B-5, in obtaining materials to replace in inventory the brass mill products covered by such orders may append as a suffix to the X-6 allotment symbol the program identification B-5, so that the authorized controlled material order placed by him will contain a program identification which reads X-6-B-5.

(d) Subject to the limitations of any other applicable NPA regulation or order, a distributor may purchase brass mill products without limitation where such purchase is not a purchase made from a domestic brass mill or another distributor which will result in a violation of section 4 or 7 of this order. A distributor may apply the allotment symbol X-6 to all his orders for brass mill products. Such orders are hereby designated authorized controlled material orders for the purpose of section 17 (d) of CMP Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 4. Monthly X-6 quotas on orders placed with brass mills or other distributors. Any distributor who during the preceding calendar month has delivered brass mill products from his inventory to fill authorized controlled material orders placed with him may place an order with a brass mill or another distributor for replacement in his inventory of an equal weight of brass mill products, to which order the allotment symbol X-6 may be applied. In addition, a distributor whose inventory (by weight) on the last business day of any calendar month is less than his average monthly inventory (by weight) during the base period may place an order bearing the allotment symbol X-6 with a brass mill or another distributor during the succeeding month for 15 percent of the difference between his average monthly inventory (by weight) during the base period and such inventory at the end of the month. The total weight of material covered by orders placed by any distributor with brass mills and other distributors in each month and bearing the allotment symbol X-6 shall, however, in no event exceed 150 percent of the average monthly weight of deliveries of brass mill products from brass mills and other distributors to such distributor during the base period. In determining average monthly inventory during the base period or average monthly deliveries of brass mill products during the base period, a distributor may exclude any months during the base period in which he was not engaged in the business of distributing brass mill products.

SEC. 5. Limitations on acceptance of X-6 orders by brass mills or distributors. (a) A brass mill or another distributor need not accept an X-6 order from any distributor if such distributor was not a purchaser of brass mill products from him during the base period.

(b) A brass mill or another distributor need not accept an X-6 order from a distributor for any item of brass mill products which such distributor did not purchase from him during the base period.

(c) Any distributor who is unable to place an order bearing the allotment symbol X-6 due to the limitations of this section should apply to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M-82, specifying the brass mills or distributors that refused to accept the order. NPA will assist him in locating sources of supply.

SEC. 6. Limitations on acceptance of orders by distributors. (a) A distributor may not accept for delivery from his inventory orders for any brass mill products in excess of the distributor's inventory of such products (including such products in transit to the distributor) on the date of the receipt of such order. Distributors are not required to accept an authorized controlled material order for more than 2,000 pounds of any item of brass mill products or 50 percent of the distributor's inventory of such item, whichever is less, unless otherwise directed by NPA. For the purposes of the quantity limitations of this section, a distributor shall regard separate orders placed for delivery in the same month for the same item by any person as one order.

(b) A distributor may accept an order for brass mill products for direct shipment from the brass mill to the customer only to the extent that such order is acceptable to the brass mill. Such a transaction shall not be considered a sale or delivery by a distributor for the purposes of this order. In forwarding such an order to the brass mill for acceptance, the distributor must furnish the brass mill with the name and address of the customer, the date and number of the customer's order, the authorized controlled material order allotment symbol, and a copy of the certification, which copy, however, need not be a duplicate original. An order for brass mill products for direct shipment from the brass mill to the customer may be shipped to the distributor who placed the order with the brass mill, but in that event the distributor may not incorporate the material so received physically in his inventory, and must use all such material only for the purpose of filling the order for which it was received.

(c) A distributor may not accept any order for copper controlled materials except an authorized controlled material order, or ship or deliver any copper controlled material except pursuant to an authorized controlled material order valid for the calendar quarter in which delivery is requested, unless the quantity of material to be delivered on any one sale to any one person aggregates less than 25 pounds. Only sales on authorized controlled material orders are replaceable under the provisions of the first sentence of section 4 of this order.

SEC. 7. Inventory limitations. No distributor may accept delivery of brass mill products from domestic brass mills or other distributors if his inventory is, or by such receipt would become, in excess of his average monthly inventory during the base period (excluding therefrom the months during which he was not engaged in the business of distributing brass mill products) or in excess of a practicable minimum working inventory as defined in NPA Reg. 1, whichever is less.

SEC. 8. Certification. Any order for brass mill products placed by a distributor with a supplier and bearing the allotment symbol X–6 pursuant to this order shall contain a certification in substantially the following form:

Certified under CMP Regulation No. 1 and NPA Order M–82

This certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place an authorized controlled material order under the provisions of this order to obtain the material covered by the delivery order.

SEC. 9. Applicability of other regulations and orders. Nothing in this order shall be construed to relieve any person from the obligations of complying with such limitations as may be contained in any other applicable regulation or order of NPA or of any order of any other competent authority.

SEC. 10. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available at the usual place of business where maintained for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of NPA.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 11. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, that any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, by letter in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: M–82.

SEC. 13. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order is guilty of a crime, and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This amended order shall take effect October 2, 1952.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,

[F. R. Doc. 52–10844; Filed, Oct. 2, 1952; 11:42 a. m.]

M–25—CANS

This amended order is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended. In the formulation of this amended order there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all trades and industries affected by the issuance of this amended order has been rendered impracticable because the amended order affects a very substantial number of different trades and industries.

EXPLANATORY

This amended order affects NPA Order M–25 as amended May 14, 1952, and as further amended by Amendment 1 of August 15, 1952, in the following respects:

The definition of "can" in section 2 (b) is amended to exclude fibre-body cans. Section 7 is deleted as surplusage and a new section 7 is substituted. Section 8 is amended to change the title and to add a reference to the program identification B–5. Similar references to the program identification B–5 are added to subparagraphs (1) and (3) of section 9 (c). Section 9 (b) is amended by adding terneplate to the list of exempted materials (mill accumulation plate, unassorted temper tin plate, and unmended menders were added to this list by Amendment 1 of August 15, 1952). Subparagraph (2) of section 9 (b), relating to fibre-body cans, is deleted. Schedule I is revised throughout by adding certain additional items, by renumbering items, by changing the can specifications in various respects, and by providing certain additional exceptions, as listed at the head of Schedule I.

Directions 2, 3, 4, and 5 to NPA Order M–25 are unaffected by this amended order, and remain in full force and effect in accordance with their terms.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order places restrictions upon the acceptance of, the delivery of, and the uses of cans. Schedule I sets out required plate specifications which vary according to the products packed. NPA Order M–24 permits the use of tin plate and terneplate for cans in accordance with the terms of this order. NPA Order M–8 sets forth specifications for solder that may be used in the manufacture of cans. Under the Controlled Materials Plan (CMP) allotments of tin plate, terneplate, and black plate are made to can manufacturers for the production of cans.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this order:

(a) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

(b) "Can" means any unused container made in whole or in part of tin plate, terneplate, or black plate, which is suitable for packing any product. The term does not include fluid milk shipping containers, crown closures for cone-topped cans, fibre-body cans, or glass containers having closures or fittings made of tin plate, terneplate, or black plate.

(c) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States Government or of any other government.

(d) "Packer" means any person who either (1) purchases or manufactures empty cans and fills such cans in packing any product, or (2) purchases empty cans and has them filled for his account by another party, but who controls sale and distribution of the finished product after packing.

(e) "Tin plate" means steel sheets coated with tin, and includes electrolytic tin plate, hot-dipped tin plate, primes, seconds, unassorted, tin plate waste-waste, menders, unmended menders, and unassorted temper tin plate. Tin plate (except waste-waste) is furnished as "specification production plate" or "mill accumulation plate," and each such class includes primes, seconds, and unassorted. Specification production plate is plate produced against orders for specific end uses. Mill accumulation plate is plate arising in the production of specification production plate not applicable against such orders.

(f) "Terneplate" means steel sheets coated with terne metal, and includes special coated manufacturing ternes (SCMT), manufacturing ternes, primes, seconds, unassorted, and terneplate waste-waste.

(g) "Waste-waste" means hot-dipped or electrolytic tin-coated steel sheets or steel sheets coated with terne metal which have been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted.

(h) "Unmended menders" means tin-coated steel sheets arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate which have been set aside by the producer by reason of surface appearance which disqualifies such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted.

(i) "Menders" means tin-coated steel sheets arising in the production of electrolytic tin plate which have been set aside by the producer by reason of surface appearance which disqualifies such sheets from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted, and mended either into coke tin plate primes, seconds, or unassorted by hot-dipping in tin; or into primes, seconds, or unassorted terneplate by hot-dipping in terne metal.

(j) "Unassorted temper tin plate" means primes, seconds, or unassorted tin plate, arising in the production of hot-dipped or electrolytic tin plate, which has been packaged without regard to temper.

(k) "Waste" means protective sheets and lacquered or lithographed misprint sheets of tin plate, terneplate, or black-plate, and includes scrap such as strips and circles produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing cans, and tin plate strips, terneplate strips, or black plate strips, produced in the ordinary course of manufacturing tin plate, terneplate, or black plate. The term also includes tin plate, terneplate, or black plate parts recovered from used cans.

(l) "Black plate" means steel sheets (other than tin plate or terneplate) 29-gage (128 pounds) or lighter. The term includes can manufacturing quality black plate (CMQ), chemically treated black plate (CTB), primes, seconds, and unassorted.

(m) "Black plate rejects" means black plate 29-gage (128 pounds) or lighter, which has been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such black plate from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted, and which has been segregated as to gage and size.

(n) "Black plate wasters" means black plate 29-gage (128 pounds) or lighter, which has been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such black plate from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted, and which has been segregated as to gage but not as to size.

(o) "Black plate waste-waste" means black plate 29-gage (128 pounds) or lighter, which has been rejected during processing by the producer because of imperfections which disqualify such black plate from sale as primes, seconds, or unassorted, and which has not been segregated as to either gage or size.

SEC. 3. Restrictions on use of cans. Subject to the exceptions set forth in section 9 of this order, no person shall use cans for any purpose other than for packing a product listed in Schedule I in accordance with the groupings, the quota percentage limitations, and the can material specifications set out in Schedule I appearing at the end of this order.

SEC. 4. Restrictions on manufacture, sale, and delivery of cans. No person shall manufacture, sell, or deliver cans which he knows or has reason to believe will be accepted or used in violation of the terms of this order or any other order or regulation of NPA. No person shall sell or deliver empty cans which he knows or has reason to believe will be exported outside of the continental limits of the United States, its territories and possessions (unless such export is to Canada) except as permitted under section 9 (d) of this order.

SEC. 5. Restrictions on quantity of cans that may be accepted. No person shall accept delivery of any cans at a time when his inventory thereof exceeds, or by acceptance of such delivery would be made to exceed, a practicable minimum working inventory of cans, as defined in NPA Reg. 1, as now in force or as hereafter amended.

SEC. 6. Restrictions on quantity of cans that may be used for packing. (a) Commencing with the first calendar quarter of 1952, a packer shall select either the calendar year 1949 or the calendar year 1950 as the packing base period on the basis of which he shall predicate and compute his permitted usage of cans for packing each product which he packs. He may select either 1949 or 1950 for any particular product, but he must thereafter, until otherwise ordered, directed, or authorized by NPA, continue to use the base year so selected for a particular product as the basis for predicating and computing his permitted can usage for packing that product.

(b) During the second calendar quarter of 1952 and each subsequent calendar quarter of 1952, no person, unless otherwise authorized by NPA, or except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section, may use cans for packing any particular product listed in Schedule I of this order in excess of a quota of cans determined by applying the percentage listed in column (2) of Schedule I opposite the particular product to the amount of cans which he used for packing that particular product during the corresponding quarter of his selected base year.

(c) The term "amount of cans" as used in this order with respect to packing a particular product during a particular calendar quarter of a packer's selected base year means the total area of tin plate, terneplate, and black plate (including the total area of tin plate waste, terneplate waste, black plate rejects, black plate waste-waste, black plate wasters, and black plate waste) used in the manufacture of the cans and parts of cans which the packer used for packing that product during that quarter.

(d) If, for packing any product during the second or any succeeding calendar quarter of 1952, a packer uses cans or parts of cans having a tin-coating lighter than that specified for that product in Schedule I, he may use for packing that product, during the same or any succeeding calendar quarter or quarters of 1952, an additional quantity of cans to the extent that he does not exceed the total tin usage (by weight of tin) as established by the tin specifications listed for that product in Schedule I and by computation of his quota for that product under paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) Where the word "unlimited" appears in column (2) of Schedule I opposite a particular product, a packer may use the specified cans in an unlimited quantity to pack that particular product, subject to the inventory restrictions contained in section 5 of this order. Where a quota percentage appears in column (2) of Schedule I opposite a particular product, and a packer uses less than the limited quota of cans permitted for packing that particular product during any calendar quarter of 1952, he may, unless otherwise directed by NPA, use the unused quantity for packing that particular product during any succeeding calendar quarter or quarters of 1952. Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as permitting a packer to use, after December 31, 1951, any carry-over quota or quotas attributable to any calendar quarter of 1951, or any part or parts of any such quota or quotas.

(f) No packer may assign, transfer, or surrender, to or for the benefit of any other person, his permissible can quota or quotas for any calendar quarter, or any part or parts of any such quota.

(g) In certain instances column (2) of Schedule I of this order authorizes one quota for packing a particular product in cans of a larger size or sizes and a different quota for packing such product in cans of smaller size or sizes. In such instances, the packer's base-period usage for packing that product in cans of larger size or sizes determines his permitted base for packing such product in such larger size or sizes, and his base-period usage for packing such product in cans of smaller size or sizes determines his permitted base for packing such product in such smaller size or sizes.

SEC. 7. Manufacture and use of cans conforming to former specifications. Schedule I of this order as amended October 2, 1952, establishes, for packing certain products, can material specifications differing from those established for packing those products by Schedule I of this order as amended May 14, 1952. Schedule I of this order as from time to time hereafter amended may similarly establish can material specifications for packing a certain product or products differing from those theretofore established. Whenever the can material specifications respecting the packing of any product are amended, a can manufacturer shall continue to make, sell, and deliver cans and/or parts of cans conforming to the specifications for packing that product which were in force immediately prior to the effective date of the particular amendment, and shall not make any cans and/or parts of cans conforming to the specifications established by that amendment, so long as there is available to him specification production tin plate, terneplate, or black plate which was intended for his use in making cans for packing that product in accordance with the specifications in force immediately prior to the effective date of that particular amendment, and which, on the effective date of that particular amendment, was in process of manufacture for his account and cannot be converted to the specifications established by that particular amendment, or was held for his account by the manufacturer, or was held in his own inventory. Moreover, whenever the can material specifications for the packing of any product are amended, no packer shall use for packing that product any cans and/or parts of cans conforming to the specifications established by that amendment so long as any plate, cans, and/or parts of cans conforming to the specifications for packing that product which were in force immediately prior to the effective date of that amendment are available to him, whether in process of manufacture for his account, or held for his account by the manufacturer, or held in his own inventory.

SEC. 8. Preference in filling defense orders. So far as practicable, every can manufacturer shall schedule his operations (including his ordering of tin plate, terneplate, and black plate) so as to insure delivery of all rated orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), and any other orders under NPA directives.

SEC. 9. Exceptions—(a) Small business. (1) Any person who, during 1949 or 1950, purchased cans for packing and not for resale and who used such cans for packing, but whose total use of cans for packing all products during each of those years was not more than 250 base boxes of tin plate and terneplate, may purchase and use for packing in any calendar year, irrespective of the quota limitations in this order, but in accordance with the can material specifications in Schedule I, a total quantity of cans equivalent to not more than 250 base boxes of tin plate and terneplate. This exemption does not apply to any person who buys empty cans or parts thereof and sells such empty cans or parts thereof to a packer.

(2) During the second or any succeeding calendar quarter of 1952, any packer having only one line of equipment for packing all of his products in cans may use, for packing all such products, sufficient cans to utilize such facilities for the equivalent of twenty-six 8-hour shifts in each such calendar quarter.

(3) The use limitations of section 6 of this order and the can material specifications in Schedule I do not apply to cans used to pack any product in home canning, community canning, or institutional (meaning such institutions as prisons, vocational schools, and mental hospitals) canning where the product is not to be sold. This exception also applies to cans for packing laboratory samples and control samples, but not to cans for packing samples distributed for the purpose of advertising or for promoting the sale of a product, or to any cans used for packing products which are later repacked and sold.

(b) Can materials. The can material specifications and the quantity usage limitations of this order do not apply to cans or parts of cans made entirely of any of the following materials or entirely of any combination thereof:

Unassorted temper tin plate.
Unmended menders.
Tin plate waste-waste.
Tin plate waste.
Terneplate.
Terneplate waste-waste.
Terneplate waste.
Black plate.
Black plate rejects.
Black plate waste-waste.
Black plate wasters.
Black plate waste.

(c) Defense requirements. (1) Rated orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), are exempt from the restrictions in sections 5 and 6 of this order on the quantity of cans that may be accepted and used.

(2) The use of cans for packing any product which is required to be packed in cans, set aside, and reserved for purchase by any authorized Government agency under the United States Department of Agriculture Set-Aside Program is exempt from the quantity usage limitations of this order, but not from the can material specifications of Schedule I: Provided, however, That there may be used, for all or any part of a packer's pack of any such set-aside product, 0.50 electrolytic tin plate for those soldered or nonsoldered parts of No. 10 cans for which 0.25 electrolytic tin plate is specified in Schedule I, when outside enamel is not provided for such parts.

(3) The can material specifications set out in Schedule I of this order shall not apply to rated orders bearing a program identification consisting of the letter A, B, C, or E, and one digit (including the program identification B–5 where it appears as a suffix), and requiring the packing of products in accordance with military or Federal specifications for the Department of Defense for use outside the 48 States of the United States and the District of Columbia by the Armed Forces of the United States, including the United States Coast Guard.

(4) The restrictions of this order shall not apply to military requirements for cans of a special design or style not normally produced or used commercially, or to cans for emergency rations and supplies for lifeboats.

(d) Export. The provisions of this order shall not apply to the sale or delivery of empty cans where the person selling or delivering the same has received a validated export license therefor from the Office of International Trade, or has received from another person a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form (the inapplicable words stricken therefrom), shall constitute a representation to the seller and to NPA, and shall be filed with each purchase order with the person selling or delivering to such other person cans for export:

To ----------, seller: The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties, that (he has received a certification from another person that) the Office of International Trade has issued to (him) (such other person) validated export license No. ---------- for export shipment of all of the items included in the attached purchase order, and that all purchases from you of items included in the said purchase order and the acceptance of the same will be in compliance with the said validated export license.

In cases of export to those countries where the Office of International Trade does not require an export license, no certificate shall be required until such time as an export license is required by the Office of International Trade.

(e) Special allotments of can materials. As used in this paragraph the terms "allotment," "controlled materials," and "authorized production schedule" shall have the same meanings as in CMP Regulation No. 1. If the allotment or any supplemental allotment of controlled materials made to a can manufacturer for the first or second calendar quarter of 1952 includes in express terms a specified weight of mill accumulation plate, tin plate waste-waste, unmended menders, unassorted temper tin plate, or "other coated secondaries" (as defined in NPA Order M–24, as amended), for use by him in fulfilling his authorized production schedule, then, to the extent that he orders and accepts delivery of any such secondary material and to the extent that he manufactures cans or parts of cans or both made entirely therefrom, he shall offer such cans and parts of cans so manufactured, or an equivalent quantity of cans, among his customers on a pro rata basis. If, upon the first or any subsequent offering, any customer fails to order any cans or parts of cans representing his pro rata share, the cans and parts of cans so unordered also shall be offered by the can manufacturer among his remaining customers on a pro rata basis. The can manufacturer shall deliver to each purchaser of any cans or parts of cans supplied under this paragraph a certificate reading substantially as follows:

Certified for use in accordance with section 9 (e) of NPA Order M–25.

Any packer purchasing any cans or parts of cans so certified may use the same, or an equivalent quantity of cans, during any calendar quarter or quarters of 1952 for packing any product irrespective of the quota percentage limitations and the can material specifications of this order.

SEC. 10. Certification of delivery of cans. No manufacturer, jobber, or distributor shall sell or deliver cans unless he has received from the purchaser a certificate signed manually. This certificate shall be by letter in substantially the following form, shall constitute a representation to the seller and to NPA, and, once filed by a purchaser with a manufacturer, jobber, or distributor, shall cover all future deliveries of cans from the manufacturer, jobber, or distributor to that purchaser:

To ----------, manufacturer, jobber, or distributor: The undersigned purchaser certifies, subject to criminal penalties, that he is familiar with Order M–25 of the National Production Authority, and that all purchases from you of items regulated by that order, and the acceptance and use of the same by the undersigned, will be in compliance with said order, and any amendments thereto.

SEC. 11. Request for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that his business operation was commenced during or after the base period, that any provision otherwise works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests for adjustment or exception claiming that the public interest is prejudiced by the application of any provision of this order, consideration will be given to the requirements of the public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing, submitted on Form NPAF–38, in triplicate, and shall set forth all pertinent facts, the nature of the relief sought, and the justification therefor. Form NPAF–38 must be executed as therein required. A packer who requires cans for a new product he desires to pack may file a request on Form NPAF–38 with NPA for consideration in establishment of a can quota.

SEC. 12. Records and reports. (a) Each person participating in any transaction covered by this order shall make and preserve, for at least 3 years thereafter, accurate and complete records of receipts, deliveries, inventories, production, and use, in sufficient detail to permit the determination, after audit, whether each transaction complies with the provisions of this order. This order does not specify any particular accounting method and does not require alteration of the system of records customarily used, provided such records supply an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals by those persons who, at the time such microfilm or other photographic records are made, maintain such copies of records in the regular and usual course of business.

(b) All records required by this order shall be made available for inspection and audit by duly authorized representatives of the National Production Authority, at the usual place of business where maintained.

(c) Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942 (5 U. S. C. 139–139F).

SEC. 13. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: NPA Order M–25.

SEC. 14. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or any other order or regulation of NPA, or who wilfully furnishes false information or conceals any material fact in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Schedule I is hereto attached and made a part of this order.

This amended order shall take effect Oct. 2, 1952.

By GEORGE W. AUXIER,
Executive Secretary.
